THREE MONTHS IN JAIL WITH HARD LABOR

Wm. Anglesey Sentenced by Magistrate Dumble for Teft of $15.

The next three months of William Anglesey's life will be spent in the county jail, according to the decree of the court. It will be remembered that he stole $15 from Miss Graham, of Selwyn, while she was staying at a local hotel. He pleaded guilty to the charge and was remanded until to-day.

During the past week inquiries have been made by the authorities as to his character and actions in the vicinity of his home near Young's Point. It was learned that he had been guilty of a previous theft of a valuable ring. He had nothing to say for himself before the sentence was passed. Magistrate Dumble said that the accused had deliberately stolen the money and there was no excuse for him. He believed that six months in the Central would not be too severe, but, to be lenient, he sentenced him to three months in jail at hard labour.

EDISON CAR WAS OFF THE TRACKS THREE HOURS

Jumped the Rails on Park Street Near C. G. E. Works.

The C. G. E. car was out of use yesterday afternoon for three hours owing to its having left the rails just opposite the new C. G. E. building that runs east and west. The car was going at the usual rate of speed and, in turning a corner there, the flanges of the wheels failed to keep the car on the tracks. The car was almost turned completely around and the wheels were up to the axles in mud. With the assistance of a Jackson Park car, the C. G. E. car, after toilsome efforts lasting three hours, was restored to its normal way of travelling. It was just in time to catch the people from the C. G. E. Works.

"MY VALET'S" NEW PRESSER

The man who likes his clothes well pressed, so as to stay pressed, will be glad to learn that the Wesley Bros., proprietors of "My Valet," 204 Charlotte street, have secured the expert services of a Cleveland professional garment presser. He works on a plan of his own, and does a job that makes the ordinary tailor feel flat. The garments are first cleaned and repaired, and then the kink is put in them to make them look just like the fashion plates. Mr. Brady will make you delighted with your shabby clothes after they have passed through his magic hands. "My Valet" calls for and delivers the goods.

EXCAVATION WORK IS ALMOST FINISHED

Material for Foundation of New Collegiate is Already on the Ground.

The excavation for the new Collegiate Institute is being rapidly carried on and the foundation work will likely be commenced in a day or so. A large staff of men are at work upon the excavation. They have evidently gotten below the level at which burials were made, as only an occasional bone is being discovered. The material for the stone work of the foundation is already on the ground.

PENNY BANKS HAVE 285 DEPOSITORS

System Introduced in Port Hope Proves a Good Success—$84.50 on Deposit First Week.

Peterborough people pride themselves on the progressiveness of this city, and compare it with Port Hope, as evidence of its advanced state of enterprise. There is, however, one respect in which Port Hope has given evidence of more progressiveness than this city. A short time ago the system of penny banks was established in that town, and a despatch from there to-day states that its introduction has been a splendid success. The despatch referred to is as follows:—The canvas for the Penny Bank in our Public Schools has been completed and the returns show 285 deposits and a total of $84.50. For the initial step this is a remarkable showing and no doubt the number will be increased each week.

CHIEF ROSZEL HAD A SURE THING

G. T. R. Conductor Fined for Obstructing Stewart Street by a Train of Cars.

A fine of twenty dollars and costs of one dollar and eighty cents was the sentence imposed by the court upon F. Gassein for allowing his train to impede traffic on Stewart street on Thursday, April 11. Mr. Gassein is a conductor on a G.T.R. freight and on this occasion he arrived in Peterborough and stopped his train in the vicinity of the Protestant Home. The engine ran down to the station for water and was gone longer than five minutes, and, of course, the street was blockaded for the same length of time. Chief Roszel was returning from dinner at the time and did not fail to be exact as to the time spent waiting for the return of the engine.

Mr. Gassein pleaded guilty and his counsel, Mr. Gordon, asked for leniency on the ground that his train was 1100 feet long and the cars were laden with grain and iron. The yard is in the centre of the city and it is difficult to avoid breaking the law. Magistrate Dumble remarked that it was not the fault of the city, and fined Mr. Gassein $21.80 to be paid in ten days.

Kennedy will have everything in the line of Choice Meats for Saturday buying. When you phone your order to Kennedy's for meats you get the best in the shop, just the same as though you called.

PRECISION AND DISPATCH FEATURE OF POLICE COURT

Five Cases Were Dealt With in Less Than Thirty Minutes This Morning.

Frank Gassein, G.T.R. conductor, pleaded guilty and was fined $21.80.

Frank Cameron pleaded guilty to charge of wounding three men. Remanded for one week.

Samuel Detchor pleaded guilty to having been drunk and disorderly yesterday. Was fined two dollars.

Frank McGirr pleaded guilty to the charge of being a vagrant. Sentenced to six months in gaol with hard labour.

William Anglesey remanded from last week for sentence, to-day, for theft of $15.00 from a Selwyn young lady, was given three months in gaol at hard labour.

Such was the docket at the police court this morning with which Magistrate Dumble had to deal. In many respects this morning's was a record session. There was not one witness examined and the precision and dispatch with which the cases were handled was of the Toronto court variety. They occupied a little less than thirty minutes which is certainly a record.

G. N. BABCOCK, Eye Specialist

412½ GEORGE STREET, PETERBOROUGH

UNSOLICITED TESTIMONY

The Tate Optical Co., Peterborough:

DEAR SIRS—During the last three or four years (prior to May last) my eyesight had failed to such an extent that I was unable to read or see anything at close range and could get no Glasses that would help me. I tried two different Opticians in Toronto and was told by both that they could do nothing for me, and that my sight would never be better. A statement of my case was sent to Montreal by a Hastings optician and several pairs of Glasses sent me, but with the same result my vision could not be improved. Last May, while looking at a Pair of Glasses you made for Mr. John Fife, Keene, and talking with him he advised me to consult your Mr. Babcock, and I am pleased to say that the Pair of Glasses he made for me have given me entire satisfaction and I can do now what I have not done for years past—read any ordinary print and see distinctly at close range. I feel very grateful, not only for the interest you have taken in my case, but particularly so for the blessing of good eyesight. Thanks to your knowledge and skill.

Yours truly,

(Signed) JOHN CARTER, Sr.,

GET NO GOVERNMENT GRANT

Supplementary Estimates in Legislature Do Not Provide for $4000 for National Dairy Show.

A GREAT DISAPPOINTMENT

If the promoters of the proposed National Dairy Show, are depending on the Ontario Government for a grant, there will be no show held this year. The supplementary estimates have been brought down in the Legislature, but the $4,000 which had been expected from the Government for assistance in holding the show, was not forthcoming.

The Canadian Dairyman, referring to the matter, says:

It is both hard to find the reason, and it is evident that the responsibility for the stand taken by the Government rests with Hon. Nelson Monteith. Most of the members in the Legislature, who represent dairy counties, have expressed their approval of the assistance being given, as well as at least two members of the Cabinet, Hon. Mr. Foy and Hon. Dr. Pyne. Mr. G. P. Graham, the leader of the Opposition, also, has promised to support the movement for a national dairy show. This shows that Hon. Mr. Monteith had no reason to anticipate any difficulty in inducing the Legislature to make the desired grant. The very member of the Government whom one would expect naturally to be the first to support a movement that is backed by the leading dairymen, of all classes, in the province, is the only one to block it for the present.

On one or two occasions Hon. Mr. Monteith has shown an unwillingness to do anything that would seem to favour Toronto. Criticism on this point could hardly be expected in view of the fact that the dairymen themselves from both Eastern and Western Ontario, have agreed unanimously that Toronto is the only point where such a show as is proposed, can be made the success desired. It is possible that Hon. Mr. Monteith may not want to start another show until that white elephant, the winter fair, at Ottawa, has been taken off his hands. One thing however is certain, the dairy industry needs, and must have, a national dairy show. It is possible that the movement has been delayed but it will not be for long. This show when it is held must not be tied up with any other kind of a show. It must be conducted by dairymen for dairymen. Having a clear conception of what they want dairymen have only to keep pressing their just claims to ensure their receiving them.

We understand that, as it is, an effort may be made to hold a central dairy show next winter. Some of the leading dairy supply firms are looking over the field, to see if it will be possible to raise by special subscription the funds that would be required. It would be a splendid advertisement for our dairy industry were it possible to conduct a big dairy show without a government grant especially as the Fat Stock Show at Guelph required a government grant last year of $7000. While the movement to hold a dairy show next winter may not prove practical without a government grant especially as the Fat tion and the hearty support of all interested in the proposed show.

PROFITS IN VIEW IN COBALT

This is the Opinion of Managing Director of Canada Mines, Limited, in News Letter.

Mr. H. C. Barber, manager director of the Canada Mines, Limited, in his news letter on the Cobalt situation, from a speculator's standpoint, says:

The market during the past week may be termed a "waiting" one, with immediate buying, by those appreciating conditions, of such stock as was offered by weak holders. There is little doubt that those now, picking up such stocks as Nipissing, around $13, Silver Queen at $1.55, Trethewey at $1.28, Empress around 90c., Cleveland at about the same price, Abitibi at about 25c, etc., will make large profits within the near future from a speculative point of view, and with an excellent assurance as well from the standpoint of investment. The unusually late spring, which must surely arrive soon now, has delayed matters not a little, and then, of course, the late slump in the New York stock market and tight money has had its effect, though less than might have been expected.

MUST STAND TRIAL FOR HER LIFE

Grand Jury Find True Bill Against Mrs. Perkins For Murder.

IMPORTANT NEW EVIDENCE

Dr. Edgar Now For the Defence—Counsel Outlines the Case—Strychnine Cause of Death—Motive For the Crime — Alleged Intrigue With McDonald—Found Poison—Clash Between Counsel.

Cayuga, April 18.—After a lengthy deliberation the grand jury of the Haldimand assizes yesterday brought in a true bill against Mattie Perkins on the charge of poisoning her husband.

Since the preliminary trial the crown officers have strengthened their case very materially. Now witnesses will be asked to show that Mrs. Perkins has enquired for strychnine and warned the person not to let her husband know of her enquiry; that a box containing strychnine was found in a drawer in the kitchen; and that a guilty liason existed between Mrs. Perkins and Thomas McDonald.

There was an unexpected sensation, however, when it was announced that Dr. J. W. Edgar of Hamilton would be a witness for the defence.

Early Tuesday morning Dr. Edgar, who, it has been understood all along, was to be a leading medical witness for the crown, was told by Mr. Arnoldi that his services, as crown witness, were no longer required.

Dr. Edgar then left for Hamilton. Yesterday morning he was subpoenaed for the defence and returned to Cayuga.

A True Bill.

It was not until 11.30 that the grand jury brought in a true bill. The prisoner replied to the charge in clear steady voice. Asked if she was ready to proceed she replied, "I certainly am."

Mr. Johnston asked that she be allowed to leave the box, and have a seat at the solicitor's table, which was permitted. Mr. Johnston made an application for the production of certain documents in the possession of the crown. His lordship deferred a ruling. Both sides freely challenged, the jury panel being nearly exhausted.

At the afternoon court Mr. Arnoldi outlined the case as of the very gravest character. Poison was one most abominable mode of destroying human life.

"I am not here to convict Mattie Perkins, but to bring out any evidence which might show that the accused woman was guilty of the charge," he said. The jury must erase from their memory all knowledge of the case which had appeared in the public press.

The prisoner and her husband had lived together apparently happily for fifteen years. Prior to Perkins decease his parents came to live with them on the farm. Later they moved to Canfield, where deceased died. Witnesses would show that Perkins was of a cheerful disposition and always in good health until he returned home shortly before Christmas. The prisoner had insisted on burial on Thursday, although cards had been printed for burial on Friday. The doctor who gave a certificate of death from ulceration of the stomach, did so, he would say, because the prisoner objected to a postmortem.

The analyst would say that he examined portions of the body and discovered strychnine.

It would be shown that the prisoner had visited a lady friend, a Mrs. Carter, at Walkerville, last September. She had asked Mrs. Carter where she could get some strychnine. Mrs. Carter said that she could not get it without a doctor's prescription. Prisoner asked Mrs. Carter to allow her little girl to get a doctor's prescription, but Mrs. Carter refused, saying that if prisoner wanted strychnine she could get all she wanted in Detroit herself.

Prisoner said she knew that, and, most significantly of all, said, in leaving: "Don't tell Henry anything I said about strychnine. If he knew I had any in the house it would make him mad."

After her arrest, in one of the drawers in her kitchen bureau, where she kept the knives and forks, was found a little wooden box, which Dr. Ellis would tell the jury contained strychnine. In addition to this, on one of her dressmaking books, was found written the word "Ptomaine," as if she had been reading a book about poison.

Motives for the crime would be shown in an infatuation she had conceived for a man named Thomas McDonald, with whom she had had scandalous relations during her husband's absence.

Counsel Clash.

Mr. Johnston came [illegible] a warm time; and when Mr. Arnoldi, K. C., came to his rescue, an exciting scene ensued. Mr. Johnston accused Mr. Arnoldi of making a statement which was absolutely untrue. Both counsel addressed the judge together.

"I don't propose to be bullied out of my rights," said Mr. Arnoldi.

"My learned friend is an adept at using expressions of this kind, and I don't propose to permit him here." His lordship sustained Mr. Johnston.

The court did not rise until 7 p.m.

The jury is composed of George B. Gorrell, Charles Hendershott, Henry Marshall, Robert Wren, John C. Hewitt, James Lindsay, jr., George V. Parsons, Charles E. Best, Silas Avery, Adam Smith, Francis C. Smith, Robert Cranston.

The defence will call Dr. Graham Chambers, Toronto; Dr. Walker, Toront, and Dr. Cayler, Toronto Junction, to combat the evidence of the medical advisors for the crown.

MAY HAVE BEEN CIGAR.

Origin of Fire at McGill Not Very Clear.

Montreal, April 18.—Although the finding of the fire committee does not indicate that the loss of the medical building was caused by the butt of a cigar falling from the hands of a member of the faculty, everything points to this as being the correct theory of Tuesday's disastrous fire.

One thing is sure, and that is the presence of the faculty in their room at a late hour on Monday night. The statement is made that these gentlemen left the room in question about 11 o'clock, and in two hours that part of the building was in flames. It was in the faculty room where the fire started.

It was Prof. Cox who first discovered the fire. He had been doing some special work in the physics building. As he was proceeding through the grounds he saw fire in the western wing of the middle section of the medical pile. He at first thought that the fire was on the exterior of the building, supposing that it was a heap of rubbish that was being destroyed. He went to examine and found there was fire inside.

The evidence given before Commissioner Ritchie showed that Dr. John R. Balluah had been experimenting in the medical building up to 12 o'clock Monday night. Dr. J. W. Scane, regis rar, said that 14 men had met in the committee room adjoining the faculty room and had been smoking during the evening. There was no waste paper on the floor and he did not see how cigar ashes could cause fire.

AUTO FRIGHTENED HORSE.

Chauffeur Has to Pay $700 Damages For Negligence.

Brockville, April 18.—Yesterday afternoon the jury in the civil action of Wilson v. McDougall awarded the plaintiff $700 damages for injuries sustained in August, 1906, in the Township of Lansdowne, by his horse running through taking fright at automobile driven by the defendant, an iron manufacturer of Montreal.

Wilson is one of the best known dairymen of Leeds County. He swore that for a long distance before the auto reached him the occupants of the auto could see that his horse was becoming uneasy, yet the auto shot past him at 25 miles an hour.

McDougall and his companions said 10 miles. The jury took the view that McDougall had been negligent. Wilson had asked $5.000.

DATE OF SMOKER IS CHANGED

Big Bouts Will be Pulled Off on April 26th—A Great Programme Has Been Arranged.

CARROLL WILL BOX McEWEN

Owing to the appearance of "The Royal Chef" at the Grand opera house, on Monday night, the wrestling and boxing programme arranged for that night has been postponed until Friday of next week. Manager Breen has received several letters asking that the change be made in the date.

The programme will be the best in this line ever given here. The two big bouts are the wrestling match between Harry Burridge of Peterborough, and Kid Dunn, the Toronto Y.M.C.A. man, and the boxing bout between Scotty McEwen, 115 lb. champion, against Jerry Carroll of Ottawa.

Both should be great exhibitions. Dunn has a splendid reputation, and has never been thrown, but he will have his work cut out to down the local boy, who is clever and decidedly aggressive.

Carroll and McEwen will put up a rattling bout. Both are clever and have a good punch but the Toronto boy is the favourite.

In addition to the main bouts there will be several others almost as interesting. Cornie Burns of Peterborough, will stack up against Tommie Daley, the well-known Toronto boxer. The two gave a lively exhibition at the last smoker.

Don't forget the date, Friday, April 26, in the old opera house.

GOOD PROGRAMME FOR THE CLOSING

Y. M. C. A. Gymnasium Closing Exercise on Friday Night Promises to be Most Interesting.

An interesting programme has been prepared for Friday night of this week, when the Y.M.C.A. gym closing exercises will be taken up by the junior boys' class. Dumb bell drill, junior apparatus work and gymnasium games, such as the obstacle race, and Indian club race, will be put on. The final bout in the senior school boys fencing championship, will be put on, for a trophy donated by the fencing master, Sergeant-Major Brittain. This will be an interesting event, as the boys have practised faithfully in this class. An exhibition of wrestling will be given by two members of the senior class. A basket ball match has been arranged between the Harriers, last season's champions, and a picked team. The Harriers have yet to be beaten, and the game will be a fast one. No admission fee is charged and the public is cordially invited to be present.

HEART TROUBLE CURED

In the rush, hurry and worry of modern times, we overwork the heart. Is it any wonder then that there comes a breakdown of this wonderful little engine, when such a continued strain is placed upon it day after day. There are many forms of heart trouble and the slightest derangement of this important organ is extremely dangerous. To strengthen the weak heart it is necessary to use a remedy that will act upon the heart tissue, restore and revitalize it and at the same time tone up and invigorate the nervous system, we have such a combination in

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS

Mrs. Ella Dingman, Morganston, Ont., writes of her experience with them: "It is with the greatest of pleasure that I recommend Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. I was troubled for a long time with my heart; I had weak and dizzy spells, could not rest at night, and I would have to sit up in bed the greater part of some nights, and it was absolutely impossible for me to lie on my left side. At last I got a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and they did me so much good I got another box and they effected a complete cure. I have not been troubled with my heart since."

Price 50 cents per box or 3 boxes for $1.25 all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

FIVE EXTRA TEAMS FOR MIDLAND LEAGUE

The Football Men of the Belleville District Would Like to Enter.

The Midland Association Football League will have an extra district attached to it this year, according to the statements of a Trenton man.

Mr. J. E Sullivan, secretary of the League had written several of the towns down east, and yesterday he received a letter from a Trenton man, stating that a district was being formed there.

Teams will be entered from Trenton, Desoronto, Belleville, Picton and Napanece, so that with five extra teams in the League, its importance will surpass even that of last year.

The Trenton writer did not state what series the district would enter, but it is probable that it will be either intermediate or senior. He asked for further details from the secretary, when the decision will be made.

SEMI-FINALS IN FENCING CONTESTS

The semi-finals of the Y.M.C.A. senior school boys' fencing championship, was run off last night in the Y.M.C.A. Gymnasium. The first bout was between M. Dobbin and H. McGuire and was won by Dobbin by the score of 3—2. The second bout was between E. Mann and B. Ingham, and was won by Mann by the score of 3—1. Both bouts were well contested.

The finals between Dobbin and Mann will be put on at the Y.M.C.A. closing exercises to-morrow — Friday — night. The boys are evenly matched and have made good progress in the art and the bout will be interesting. All are invited. No admission. The programme begins at eight o'clock.

MILLBROOK'S VERY FAST JUNIORS

Will Make Application for Admission to the Scheddle in Junior C. L. A. Series

Millbrook has organised a lacrosse team and wants to play junior C.L.A. At a meeting of lacrosse enthusiasts last night, a club was formed and officers elected. It is the intention of the management to place a team of youngsters in the C.L.A. junior series, if the other teams in this district are agreeable. Application to this effect has been made to the secretary and the president of the association, and a reply is anxiously awaited. The Millbrook club has a bunch of youngsters who would make the best of the teams in this district go some to beat them, and it is to be hoped that their request to be included in the schedule will receive favourable consideration by the officers of the association and by the other teams in the district.

It is believed that it will be a good thing for the game in this section and it is not anticipated that their will be any objection raised by the local team.

BOXING

Owing to the appearance of the "Royal Chef" at the Grand on Monday night the athletic entertainment arranged for that night has been postponed until Friday of next week. SAMUEL DETCHER FINED FOR BEING DRUNK

Francis McGirr Received Sentence of Six Months in Jail With Hard Labor.

Samuel Detcher pleaded guilty to being drunk in a public place yesterday.

"Why," said the Magistrate, "we had a Sam Detcher here over one hundred years ago." Samuel however, is no Rip Van Winkle, and was not the same man. He was fined two dollars to be paid at the usual time. He had nearly the required amount, but the law demands the last cent.

Francis McGuire, just out of gaol, was once more face to face with Magistrate Dumble on a charge of vagrancy. He is 60 years of age, and somewhat mentally deranged. He was given six months in the county gaol, with hard labour.

QUIET IN CIRCLES MUNICIPAL THIS WEEK

This week is a quiet one in municipal affairs. With the exception of a meeting of the Committee of the Whole on Monday night, there have been no committee meetings called this week which is pretty near a record for the 1907 council. There will likely be another meeting of the Committee of the Whole on Monday night of next week, so that the aldermen will not remain long in idleness.

BASIS OF EDUCATION IS GOD'S WORD

Two Excellent Addresses Delivered at Charlotte Street Church Last Night.

MINISTERIAL EXAMINATIONS

A public meeting in connection with the examinations of the probationers for the Methodist ministry which was begun this morning, was held in the Charlotte Street Methodist Church last night. There was a good attendance, and the addresses delivered by Rev. Mr. Henderson, of Port Hope, and Rev. Mr. Burns, of Tweed, were of an interesting character and contained many words of sound advice. Rev. J. A. McCamus filled the position of chairman in a satisfactory manner. The usual custom on such occasions has been to hold a public meeting, at which the young ministers deliver addresses. However, this was not entirely practicable last night, hence the substitution. The probationers, he stated, are men who have been on heavy work on missions and these studies for matriculation. Those who will show that they are fully qualified will receive their ordination only after five more years, three of which are spent on circuits or missions, and the other two at college. Their university course is thorough, as was shown by the syllabus which the chairman read. Rev. Mr. McCamus then called upon Rev. Mr. Burns to address the gathering.

Rev. Mr. Burns

Rev. Mr. Burns chose an excellent subject to speak on, "Education in General," and his treatment of it was scholarly and well arranged.

The term education is derived from educo, to lead forth. There must be something to lead forth, to develop, and we have our natural endowments given us by God which must be developed. The first form of education was in the home, and is still there. The speaker gave an historical review of the development of systematic teaching, from ancient times through the pagan era, and, later, through the Christian age. "How far are the systems of education useful to the world?" he asked. Many people look more to the ornamental than to the useful, but the object of education is the right ruling of conduct in all directions; in other words, to live properly.

The field of education is very comprehensive, and cannot be covered by everyone. First of all, there is that phase which leads to self-preservation, and, second, that ministers to the needs of man. That which relates to the home is a third branch. Then there are the moral and spiritual activities, and, last, the miscellaneous studies, including the fine arts.

The highest thoughts should be towards the knowledge that leads us to live the perfect life, living up to the ideal. We are living in a practically golden age. Knowledge to-day is peerless in quantity, whatever it may be in quality. What has Christianity to say to this evolution of education? It says that we should hearken to it, for it springs from God. It develops our reasoning powers. Education fails when we take God out of our thoughts and life. He is the basis of all true knowledge and culture, and all truth.

If the world were deprived of the Bible and of our dealings with God, the world would be dark and nothing of value would be left.

Rev. Mr. Henderson

Rev. Mr. McCamus next called upon Rev. Mr. Henderson. The latter stated that he had not chosen any particular subject to speak upon, but would have a little heart to heart talk with the people. In his remarks he dealt chiefly with individual evangelism, and pointed out what every lay person could do in this regard if he made an honest effort. The speaker also said that everyone should be influenced by a proper motive, otherwise the attempts may fail. The pulpit and press, said the speaker, are to-day teaching individual evangelism. In former days thousands were led to Christ on the same occasion, but there are many instances in which individuals were brought to Christ by individual work. Great evangelists have picked out certain persons, and, by personal advice, exortation and prayers, have led them to a better life and have accomplished great results. And there is reason to believe that this medium is greater than the pulpit. The speaker told of experiences related by evangelists, and also cited a personal experience of his own, which occurred in Port Hope. In this work of winning men to God, tact (applied in its true meaning) must be used in dealing with men. Care should be taken lest they be repelled instead of won. He that winneth souls is wise; he must be wise in order to win men to God.

Approach a man along the line and level he sympathizes with, and you can generally win him. In other words, interest him in the work of God and His love. The speaker said that the ordinary layman does not realize what he can do in this direction, and especially when acting for the love of God. To be effective workers, men must be filled with the Spirit of the Living God. God can do wonders for us if the work is done for the true end.

MOCK PARLIAMENT AT THE CLOSING

The Y. M. C. A. Debating Club Conclude Successful Season—Bachelor Tax Widely Discussed.

CLOSED WITH A BANQUET

The closing meeting of the Y. M. C. A. Debating Club, which took the form of a mock parliament, was held last night, and proved to be an evening of pleasure combined with profit. The governmental proceedings were held in the Y.M.C.A. parlours, arranged in House of Commons fashion, and the subsequent banquet was held in the board room above. The mock parliament was, of course, the feature of the evening's programme. A large number of excellent parliamentary addresses were made by both the members of the Government and of the Opposition, and many of them would have done justice to the House of Commons in reality. The speeches were brief, bright and pointed, and the arguments advanced by both sides of the House were, indeed, deserving of complimentary remarks. The arguments centred upon the clauses involved in the speech from the throne of the Governor-General, which was moved and seconded by two members of the Government.

The platform of the Government rested upon two planks. They proposed to introduce compulsory military training into the country in order to compel the whole masculine population over the age of 18 years to become soldiers. They proposed to make more stringent laws in favour of the "protection of home industries" policy, and lastly, to impose a tax upon all bachelors over the age of 25 years of an annual fee of $5.

As stated above, the various speakers made excellent addresses, but their orations were principally aimed at the third mentioned plank of the platform—the tax upon bachelors. The chief argument of the Government in favour of this was their desire to tax all luxuries, and they concluded the freedom of the unmarried man to be one of the greatest. In opposing it, the Opposition leader and his colleagues claimed that if such a law were enforced, immigration to Canada would be soon at an end.

The duties as Speaker of the House were admirably performed by Mr. J. E. Hodgson, who read the speech from the throne. The Prime Minister's chair was occupied by Mr. R. A. Lillie, and the seat of the leader of the Opposition was graced by Mr. W. Shiner. Their respective followers from the constituencies of the Dominion faced each other, as did their leaders, while Mr. F. Simpson performed the duties as Clerk of the House. The speech from the throne was moved by Mr. Greenhalgh and seconded by Mr. Howarth.

The following were present:—

Government Speakers

Hon. R A Lillie, Toronto, Prime Minister, and Messrs. Greenhalgh, Howarth, Geo. Armstrong, C Coleman, H R H Kenner.

Opposition Speakers

Hon. W Shiner, Peterborough, Leader, and Messrs. F Ray, Common, M Rosenburgh, and W H Collier.

The other members of the Government and Opposition present were Messrs. R E Harding, W Richardson, G H Williamson, W Langford, Frank Simpson, Clerk of the House; Northcott, Redgrave, D Downie, J Hardwicke, Geo R Coleman, W J Coleman, A E Walker, Airries, R Lees, A MacFarlane, C E Sisson, Taylor, D R MacRae and R T Huston.

The Banquet

Parliament adjourned shortly after 10 o'clock, when the members repaired to the banquet room upstairs. There, their appetites were amply satisfied by a tempting supper in the Board room. Following this a number of toasts were proposed and responded to in the usual hearty manner which made this by no means the least enjoyed part of the proceedings.

Mr. R E Harding occupied the seat of honour at the head of the table and conducted the toast list. The King's health was first heartily drunk, after which "Canada and the Empire" was proposed by Mr. R A Lillie and responded to by Mr. Howarth. The "Y.M.C.A." was proposed by Mr. C Coleman and responded to by Mr. Richard Lees, while the toast to the "Former Members" was in charge of Messrs. G. H. Williamson and M. Rosenburgh.

The toast to the "Critic," Mr. J E Hodgson, was proposed by Mr. W. Shiner and was accompanied by the presentation of a book of Tennyson's poems to Mr. Hodgson as a recognition of his services at the various winter meetings of the club. Mr. Hodgson replied briefly thanking the club for their kindness. The toast to the "Ladies" was honoured by Messrs. Greenhalgh and Common, who told of the greatness of the fair sex. The delightful evening was brought to a close by the singing of Auld Lang Syne.

The Debating Club is much indebted to Mr. Richard Baker and others for their kind assistance in the preparation of the banquet and in the serving of the supper.

Interesting Presentation To Historical Society

Harold Lynn Gives an Old Padlock of Historic Significance to the Local Society.

A VERY OLD NEWSPAPER

The Peterborough Historical Society which had itself almost passed into history, is being revived and under the new board of officials is taking on new life and activity. The museum which contained a very creditable collection has recently been enriched by a very interesting souvenir of the French occupation. Mr. T. J. Wallace, the energetic new secretary of the society has received from Mr. Harold Lynn, son of Mr. Lambert Lynn, of the engineering staff of the Trent Valley Canal, a padlock, found in the ruins of old Fort Louisburg, Cape Breton, the most easterly outpost of the French in Canada, when that nation held sway in this country. This fort, captured by Amherst, was dismantled when the British, by the Treaty of Paris, came into possession of Canada about the middle of the eighteenth century. During the progress of a civil survey, in which Mr. Lambert Lynn assisted, passing over the site of the old fort, this old rust-eaten, but still fairly sound padlock, was found. The lock is about three inches in general diameter and very strongly and substantially made—evidently by hand. Through Mr. Lynn's kindness the padlock—after being out of commission and buried for one hundred and fifty years, again sees the light of day in the cabinets of the Peterborough Historical Society.

Another Interesting Relic

It is probable that another interesting relic will be added to the museum. Mr. Lambert Lynn to-day showed the Examiner a copy of a military and naval gazette — "Mottley's Naval and Military Journal," of the venerable age of 108 years, bearing date Oct. 14th, 1799. The paper contains a map of the operations in Holland, in the Seven Years' War, and also contains a report of the battle of Aboukir Bay in connection with Napoleon's descent upon Egypt. Though this great victory of Nelson was won on August 1st of the previous year, 1798, a detailed description did not appear in Mottley's Journal till October of the following year. Newspaper enterprise was conducted under less favourable conditions than to-day. The means of communication were no more rapid than sailing ships at sea or couriers on land, and newspaper publishing was otherwise handicapped. The copy of Mottley's Journal mentioned, bears in the lower right hand corner of the first page the stamp "three pence" which had to be placed on every copy. No wonder the price per copy of a small sized four page sheet was sixpence—ten cents.

The paper was sent to Mr. Lynn by Mr. Wilmot, of Shulie, N. S., an old associate of his father, Mr. William Lynn, at one time chief engineer of the Portsmouth Dock Yards, with which the Lynn's, father and son, were long connected.

Mr. Lynn is an enthusiastic collector of relics and has many of the greatest historical interest. "Mottley's Naval and Military Journal" may pass into the possession of the Historical Society.

GAVE A LECTURE ON "CHRISTOPHER COLUMBUS"

Rev. Father McColl Was Heard With Delight by Large Audience in Lindsay.

On Tuesday afternoon Rev. Father McColl was in Lindsay and delivered a lecture on "Christopher Columbus," under the auspices of the Catholic Literary Association, of that town. The Post referring to the event says that in spite of the blizzard which raged that afternoon there was a good attendance. Referring to the lecture the same paper says: — The treat of the evening, to which all were, of course, looking forward with impatience, came next — a lecture on "Christopher Columbus," by Rev. Father McColl, Rector of Peterborough Cathedral, and former curate of St. Mary's. The address met the expectations of all, and was listened to with keen enjoyment.

The Toronto Board of Control decided not to do anything in the matter of a wider devil-strip on King street.

Coal Bills Will Vanish; Citizens Are Now Burning Ashes; A Great Discovery

Experiments Have Proved That It Will Do What is Claimed—Local Householders Have Tried It.

A DEMONSTRATION GIVEN

The Proportions of Ashes, Coal and Salt Water to Use—A Scientific View of the Matter.

It's a mighty bad time for new coal companies to commence business if the stories of burning ashes are substantiated by facts. Yesterday's despatches stated that the Altoon cobbler's secret of burning ashes was out — all you had to do was to mix with the ashes a little coal, and a solution of salt and water, and you had a better fuel than the real coal, and a result of the discovery, every second man this morning was putting the truth of the statement to the test. and it is said that the majority of them were successful.

The Examiner was advised to-day that it is scientifically impossible to burn ashes — that is, of course, providing the combustion has been perfect in the first place, and all the energy has been extracted — and that time would demonstrate that the alleged wonderful discovery would prove like that of liquid air, and the others, of no practicability, from a commercial standpoint.

In the meantime though, those have been trying to burn ashes by the new process, and have succeeded, and who have visions of their coal bills going down to the vanishing point, are satisfied. They find that with the mixture referred to, added to the ashes, they obtain as much heat, sometimes more, as with straight coal, and the fire burns longer.

As to the fact that it is a scientific impossibility, what do they care about the science of it so long as their coal bills are reduced—and the salt doesn't cost too much.

For the benefit of those who have not tried it yet, the Examiner gives its readers the following formulae, free of charge. Try it and see what the results are, and let us know:

To four bushels of ashes, add 34 pounds of coal and mix it thoroughly. Dissolve two handsful of common salt in a bucket of water; dampen the ashes and coal with the brine and it is ready for use. Throw a shovelful on the fire, and await developments. If it does not burn better and longer than an equal quantity of coal, tell the one who gave the advise to use it, a prevaricator, or anything else.

Mr. G. K. Martin, who read the despatches yesterday tried the experiment last night, and he is convinced. He states that he is quite satisfied that it will do all the Examiner claims for it.

The George Matthews Company, too, have decided to make an experiment with it this afternoon, and if it is successful they will use the new fuel in their furnaces in future.

It is demonstrated that the new fuel is workable, and that it is economical; ashes will soon be at a premium, and the great trouble will be to get the ashes.

The Toronto Globe was in receipt yesterday of a postcard, signed, "A Puzzled One." It read—"If I burn one part of coal to two of ashes and it forms a good fire and burns to a powder, where the ashes eventually come from?" The question was submitted to the Globe's mathematician who went down to the Globe's coal pile and figured. His final conclusion was that the public ought to burn ashes and coal one day, and pure coal the next, and then—when the coal operators had starved to death—buy the mines cheap, and dig out enough to last another little while.

One man in town, who should be vitally interested in the new discovery, is showing a glaring lack of faith in it. That man is Mr. J. E. A. Fitzgerald, coal and wood dealer. This morning he had a gang of men at work commencing operations on the extension of his coal sheds near the creek. When the addition under construction is completed his storage room for the black diamonds will be doubled.

OBITUARY

MRS. JOSEPH CRAIG

The death occurred in Oshawa on Tuesday of this week of Margaret Brown, widow of the late Joseph Craig. The deceased was a sister of Mrs. John Craig, East City, and was a former resident of Peterborough, being well known to a large number of citizens. She was in her 73rd year. The funeral took place this afternoon at Oshawa.

INDIAN LONGBOAT WINS THE GREAT MARATHON RACE

Lowers the Record by Three Minutes---Another Canadian Establishes a New Record---Fowler Was Second---200,000 Spectators Saw Race.

Special to The Examiner by J. R. Heintz

Boston, April 19. — Longboat, the Canadian Indian racing machine, won the Boston Marathon race to-day, in record time, lowering the record made in 1901 by J. J. MacCaffery, another Canadian runner, by three minutes.

The Indian secured a lead early in the race and was never headed, and as the race progressed, he increased his lead, until at the end of twenty-five miles he was seven minutes ahead of the second man.

There were nearly one hundred competitors in the race, but the Canadian was a prime favourite with the betters, who were giving odds on him.

The weather, though cold was favrouable for the race, which was witnessed by fully 200,000 persons, who lined the course, and who cheered the lusty Indian on to victory.

Longboat finished the race 2 minutes and 31 seconds ahead of the second man.

Fowler finished second, though he was at no time a dangerous competitor to Longboat.

DIFFICULTY IN GETTING CARS FOR NORTHWEST

Intending Settlers Find it Hard to Get Cars to Carry Effects to Points Along Line of C. N. R.

A BIG FREIGHT BUSINESS

The C.P.R. agent here has received a number of inquiries for cars this spring from persons who intend to go to the West this spring, and the present prospects are that several Peterborough County families will locate in the Canadian West during this season. The task of securing cars however, is no easy one. Yesterday a gentleman who intends to go to the West and settle along the line of the Canadian Northern Railway, called at the C.P.R. office to make arrangements for a C.N.R. car, but no hopes were held out that his request would be granted. The Canadian Northern has use in the West for all the cars they can corrall, with hundreds of loaded cars standing on sidings along the line of their railway waiting to be moved to their destination and unloaded.

The freight traffic of the C.P.R. is still going forward by leaps and bounds. The local officials state that whereas a few years ago it was necessary to look for business, now there is almost more freight offering than the railway can handle.

Peterborough is becoming more and more an important centre for freight shipments, the local industries' growing trade being evidenced in the rapidly-increasing volume of their shipping.

A CHILD OF DEAF MUTES, THE FOURTH GENERATION

Child Born to Mr. and Mrs. W. O'Rourke, of This City, Has Great-Grandmoter in Peterboro'

INTERESTING HISTORY

Readers of the Examiner will remember reading in its columns an account of the wedding on October 5th, 1905, of Mr. W. A. O'Rourke, and Miss Ellen Darocher. Special interest attached to the ceremony as the nuptials were silent nuptials, both of the parties to the marriage being deaf mutes. A natural sequel to the wedding is that announced in another column, the birth of a girl to Mr. and Mrs. O'Rourke, a fine, healthy girl child, which seems to be in full possession of all the normal faculties. The proud and happy father says it can hear and that, "being a girl, she will soon speak." Another feature of interest is the fact that this baby represents the fourth generation, all living—Mrs. Rogers, the great-grandmother, 75 years of age; Mrs. J. Darocher, the grandmother, — years of age; Mrs. W. A. O'Rourke, the mother, 23 years of age, and last, but by no means least, Baby O'Rourke, at this writing, 80 hours of age, who will at her baptism in St. Peters Cathedral on Sunday next, April 21, be given the Christian name of Mary Helen. The Examiner congratulates the happy parents, and hopes that their first-born may realize all the expectations that spring from her young life.

A NARROW ESCAPE FROM DROWNING

A Percy Township Man Fell into Tail Race at Fowlds' Mill, Hastings, and Was Rescued With Difficulty.

The Hastings Star says:—On Thursday morning, James Orr, of Percy township, lost his balance while standing on the walk around Mr. F. W. Fowlds' flour mill, and fell into the race, and had he not been seen at the time, would have been in grave danger of drowning. Mr. Ryan who saw him fall in, gave the alarm which was heard by Mr. A. Sinclair, who at once came to the rescue and helped the unfortunate man out of the water. Beyond a chill from his early bath there did not seem to be any grave after effects.

THE RETAIL GROCERS TO HOLD BANQUET

A Proposition to This Effect Has Been Discussed—Outside Speakers May Come.

A Peterborough despatch to the Canadian Grocer has the following: A couple of merchants of the Retail Merchants' Association have hit upon the idea of holding a retail merchants' banquet in the near future. The scheme is to get a large majority of the merchants together and then have one or two outside speakers present to give a talk on organization and some of the leading topics of interest to the trade generally. So far, the suggestion has met with favour wherever mentioned, and if those at the head of it proceed with their scheme it will undoubtedly prove a big success.

CHILD GOT HAND IN STRAW-CUTTER

The eleven-year-old daughter of Mr. Charles Yates, Gardea Hill, met with a very painful accident yesterday morning. The man was engaged in cutting straw, and the little girl was playing about unnoticed. When the power was turned on, her hand was caught in the cog wheels and the fingers so badly crushed that one had to be amputated.

One Section—640 Acres

Land for Sale in Alberta

One fine section of good land, about nine miles from the Town of Strathcona on the Canadian Northern Railway. The district is first-class, settled by Americans, Scotch and English. There are no Galicians or Doukhobors in the immediate vicinity, and the country round and about is filling up fast. The class of people coming into that locality is good. The farmer owning the place adjoining this section threshed about 9,000 bushels of wheat last year. The soil is not quite so heavy, as in the Edmonton district and on that account is considered better and the crops are considerably earlier. On this property there is a fine creek. About three quarters of the section is open prairie, the remainder having some brush upon it. Price $12.50 per acre, $3,000 cash, balance may be arranged mortgage at 6%. This is an excellent chance for two young enterprising farmers, desiring to locate in the West, to divide up the section between them and have a first class Farm. Further particulars may be had at the EXAMINER OFFICE, where full information may be had.

SOMETHING WRONG

The disastrous fires which have destroyed two of the most important buildings of one of the greatest seats of learning on this continent, suggests inquiry as to whether the munificent bequests of citizens for the benefit of these, and similar institutions, and the material and educational interests they represent, are being properly encouraged by proper supervision. Are the responsible board of officials of such institutions as McGill University, Montreal, being held to their responsibility? It seems to be indifferent encouragement to men of means and public spirit, to give liberally, as many have done, unless the interests in buildings and equipment resulting from such gifts, are protected, not only from incendrianism or carelessness, but also by reasonable insurance. The two great fires at McGill, meant a money loss of more than a million dollars. Both of the buildings destroyed were the pride of Canada, and the scientific world. But the money loss is not all. The loss of the collections of objects of scientific and educational interest, of the results of research, etc., is absolutely irreparable. That the loss is due—setting aside the theory of incendrianism — to carelessness, or neglect, is plainly evident. Without specific knowledge of the degree of supervision exercised, it is impossible to apportion the share of blame due to neglect; but it seems certain that the question of insurance had not received adequate attention. Confession is practically made of this by the fact that of the $339,500 insurance — not half covering the loss — $150,000 was placed after the fire which destroyed the Engineering Building, at a loss of over $600,000. There should be, it seems, a more exact placing of the burden of responsibility, both in respect of such great public institutions of learning, as McGill and Toronto University. There is something wrong when so great evidences of the absence of responsibility, on the part of those who should be responsible. In regard to Toronto University, the Ontario Government has a responsibility, which should not be ignored.

Health And Vitality For Old People

As old age creeps on vitality is lowered, the heart beats more slowly, the blood becomes more thin and watery, and the power of resistance is lowered. It is the old people above all others who require the new life and energy which come with the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. Thousands of old people depend on this treatment, because it calms and quiets the nerves, gradually and certainly enriches the blood, builds up the system and instils new life and vigour into their shrivelled arteries.

A proposal was received from Mayor Coatsworth by the Toronto Parks Committee regarding a parade and play-ground in the vicinity of the Armouries.

CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY

The mission of the splendid altruistic movement represented by the Children's Aid Society, is of such great importance, that no excuse need be offered for pressing its importance upon public attention. The aims, objects and mission of this Society, may be briefly summarized:

1. The betterment of children in their own homes wherever possible.

2. Their removal, when necessary to ensure a chance of becoming good citizens.

3. The endeavour to assist every child born in the land to receive fair treatment, wholesome surroundings and good moral influences.

4. The finding of eligible foster homes for all children made wards of the Society.

5. Careful supervision, without undue interference after being placed in foster homes.

6. To receive and inquire into any complaints against parents or guardians of neglect or ill-treatment of children.

What has been accomplished in Peterborough may thus be recorded:

The local society was organized in 1893.

In the first five years there were about 75 children rescued and placed in foster homes, or otherwise dealt with.

In the last ten years, 305 children have come into the custody of the society, and placed in foster homes, or otherwise dealt with.

Of these, as far as can be traced, there are 89 cases of former wards of the society, who have been happily married, and are the heads of prosperous and virtuous homes.

Of the total number passing through the hands of the society, ninety per cent. have become good and respected members of society, who, but for their rescue from vicious environments and cruelty, would in all probability have gone to swell the ranks of vice and crime.

What has been accomplished in Ontario is this:

The "Child's Protection Act" was passed in 1893.

Sixty-two Children's Aid Societies have been organized since the passing of the Act.

Over 4,000 children have been made wards of these different societies.

Many of these are now grown men and women; quite a number married, and in their own homes, living respected and respectable lives.

About 3 000 are still under the supervision of J. J. Kelso, Parliament Buildings, Toronto.

A great blessing has been brought to many a childless home through the adoption of a bright little boy or a nice little girl.

The bettering of the home life of an untold number of children.

Every good citizen will, of course, be interested in promoting the objects for which the Children's Aid Society stands. Mothers of children in happy homes, surrounded with every tender care and virtuous influence, will feel sympathy for the many children, unloved, neglected, and surrounded with nothing but vicious influences, and be inclined to help with her sympathy, both moral and material. Fathers, similarly situated, may do the same, as well as all who love their fellowmen. Any who want to know more of the movement may be informed by Mr. W. E. L. Goodwill, of Roger, Bennet & Goodwill, secretary, and any person desiring to contribute to the funds of the society, which stand in need of strengthening, will be welcomed by Mr. Peter Campbell, treasurer, Bank of Toronto.

One of the Best Entertainments

MR. WHITNEYS' INCONSISTENT „CONSISTENCY„

In the Ontario Legislature on Tuesday, Hon. Mr. Whitney took a rather peculiar position in regard to Government aid to railways—no more grants to railways, whether their claim is good or bad. He said:

"The policy of the Government with regard to railway assistance is the same with which we went before the people before the general election. Whether it is a good or a bad one, whether it has merits or not, makes no difference.

"The policy was that grants should stop. It was one of the factors that induced the people of Ontario to give this Government their confidence. What would they think of us if we turned our backs on our professions?"

The Government intended to keep itself in a position, he proceeded, where it could not be attacked for being inconsistent."

This is, to put it most mildly, an extraordinary position for a man in the position of responsibility of Mr. Whitney to take. A policy which may be, and certainly is, in regard to certain interests, a bad one, is to be adhered to in spite of the manner in which the interests of the country may be injuriously affected. It may be using unparliamentary language to describe this attitude as nonsense, but the term is suggested as meeting the occasion. When one considers the important and generally indispensible part railways play in the development of certain regions of the Province, it is worth while adopting a policy of some reasonable elasticity in dealing with the problem of assistance. The immensely beneficial results flowing from the construction by the Ross Government of the Provincial railway, the Temiscamingue and Northern, have justified a hundred-fold all the expenditure incurred. The aid granted in the form of lands to the Algoma Central Railway by the Ross Government was for purely developmental reasons, and was attended with certain conditions whose partial fulfilment has already amply justified the grant of 7,400 acres per mile. These conditions included the beginning and construction of the railway, the construction of certain large and important industrial works at Sault Ste. Marie, of reduction and smelting works, paper and pulp works, etc. A splendid beginning was made in earning the land grant, and good faith was exhibited, but all know the financial conditions that interfered with the fulfilment of the company's plans, and all know how the Ross Government came to the rescue of the "Soo" industries by guaranteeing a sufficient loan to place them on their feet, with the most gratifying results — one of which was that the first steel rails made in Canada were turned out at "The Soo." Everybody will remember the hostility of the then leader of the Opposition and his party, at the time the grant was made, and that Mr. Whitney fiercely denounced the granting of 7,400 acres of land that would be of no industrial or commercial value without access by railway or otherwise, as "the most phenomenal steal, the greatest attempt at public robbery ever attempted in Canada, or on the continent of North America." Yet Mr. Whitney now condones this "colossal steal" and goes one better. The Ross Government gave this land grant on certain specific and well defined conditions, whose fulfilment stands for public benefits equivalent to the land granted, and now Mr. Whitney as he said himself on Tuesday, withdraws all these conditions, and makes the grant absolute and without conditions. He said, as reported in the World:

"He would never lay a straw in the way of the prosperity of the Sault Company; and he would DO NOTHING TO HAMPER THEM, in earning their land grant, BY ANY CONDITIONS, and the Government had consented to an extension of time (two years) for construction."

Here we find Mr. Whitney in the very act of enunciating his policy of no more land grants to railways, violating it, and with the added demerit of withdrawing conditions which the Ross Government, as a safeguard of the Provincial interests, threw around the grant. Hon. Mr. Whitney was very solicitous for his reputation for consistency in regard to carrying out his policy of no more grants to railways. Let us see whether this position, which he claims the country endorsed, has not been departed from, whether his pledges in this regard have not been violated. There is no approach to comparison between the merits of the Algoma Central and Manitoulin and North Shore Railways, yet last session, after his no-grants policy was, according to his claim, endorsed by the people, the Manitoulin Railway was given by consistent Mr. Whitney, for reasons which need not be specified, a subsidy of $5,000 per mile, in addition to the land grant substituted by the Ross Government for cash subsidies. Mr. Whitney is splendidly consistent in his inconsistency.

Woman's Kidney Troubles

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is Especially Successful in Curing This Fatal Disease.

Mrs. J. W. Lang and Mrs. S. Frake

Of all the diseases known, with which women are afflicted, chronic kidney disease is the most fatal. In fact, unless early and correct treatment is applied, the weary patient seldom survives.

Being fully aware of this, Lydia E. Pinkham, early in her career, gave exhaustive study to the subject, and in producing her great remedy for a woman's ills—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—was careful to see that it contained the correct combination of herbs which was sure to control that fatal disease, woman's kidney troubles. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the only one especially prepared for women, and thousands have been cured of serious kidney derangements by it. Derangements of the feminine organs quickly affect the kidneys, and when a woman has such symptoms as pain or weight in the loins, backache, bearing-down pains, scalding or burning sensations or deposits in the urine, unusual thirst, swelling of hands and feet, swelling under the eyes or sharp pains in the back running through the groin, she may infer that her kidneys are affected and should lose no time in combating the disease with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, the woman's remedy for woman's ills.

Mrs. Samuel Frake, of Prospect Plains, N. J., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I cannot thank you enough for what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. When I first wrote to you I had suffered for years with what the doctor called kidney trouble and congestion of the female organs. My back ached dreadfully all the time, and I suffered so with that bearing-down feeling I could hardly walk across the room. I did not get any better, so decided to stop doctoring with my physician and take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I am thankful to say it has entirely cured me. I do all my own work, have no more backache and all bad symptoms have disappeared.

"I cannot praise your medicine enough, and would advise all women suffering with kidney trouble to try it."

Mrs. J. W. Lang, of 626 Third Avenue, New York, writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I have been a great sufferer with kidney trouble. My back ached all the time and I was discouraged. I heard that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound would cure kidney disease, and I began to take it: and it has cured me when everything else had failed. I have recommended it to lots of people and they all praise it very highly."

Mrs. Pinkham's Standing Invitation.

Women suffering from kidney trouble, or any form of female weakness are invited to promptly communicate with Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. The present Mrs. Pinkham is the daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham, her assistant before her decease, and for twenty-five years since her advice has been freely given to sick women. Out of the great volume of experience which she has to draw from, it is more than likely she has the very knowledge that will help your case. Her advice is free and always helpful.

Sick Headaches and Biliousness

ONLY COME WHEN THE LIVER GETS TORPID AND SLUGGISH—THE CURE IS

RR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS.

Sickness is to some extent a habit. This is especially true of biliousness and constipation. So long as you neglect treatment or merely use medicines to move the bowels, the old trouble returns.

Isn't it worth while to follow up a treatment that has positively cured these ailments in thousands of cases?

Mrs. Jas. Monteith, Saurin, Simcoe Co., Ont., writes: "I have used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills for liver complaint, biliousness and terrible sick headaches and have found that they are more effective than any treatment I ever tried. They cleanse the system thoroughly, remove the cause of pains and aches and make you feel fresh and strong again. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are also excellent for stomach troubles."

Such a host of ailments may be directly traced to disorders of the liver that the physician in the great majority of cases prescribes a treatment for the liver the very first thing, so as to eliminate poisons from the system.

On the activity of the liver, to a very large extent, depends the health of the body, and the success of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills must be attributed to their prompt, direct and specific action on the liver.

Healthful liver action ensures a good flow of bile to aid the functions of digestion and regulate the bowels. Biliousness, headache, intestinal indigestion, bodily pains, low spirits and ill-temper, as well as a score of other troublesome symptoms of slow, torpid liver action, soon disappear when Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are used.

The benefits obtained by this treatment are not only prompt, but also thorough and lasting. One pill a dose; 25 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. The portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every box.—Z.

OBITUARY

JOHN McMARTIN

One of the oldest and best known residents of the county passed away at St. Joseph's Hospital this afternoon in the person of John McMartin. The deceased was widely known in the county and particularly in the township of Otonabee where the greater part of his lengthy life was spent as a farmer. His demise at the age of 72 years came this afternoon at 2 o'clock, after an illness of three months from internal troubles, which time was spent in the hospital.

The late Mr. McMartin was born in Ireland and came to Canada in the early years of his life and settled in Otonabee. Surviving him are four sons and four daughters. The sons are James, of Otonabee; Michael, of Nebraska; Richard and John, of Ashland, Wis., the daughters being Nora, Margaret, Annie of New York State, and Mary of Chicago. The surviving sisters are Mrs. Jno. Dwyer, 708 Water street; Mrs. Chas. Fox, Archodel; Mrs. Edward Maher, Nebraska; Mrs. T. Corkery, Harvey street, Peterborough, and one brother, Patrick, of Otonabee.

The funeral will be held from the residence of his brother-in-law, Mr. Jno. Dwyer, Water street, at 3 o'clock on Sunday afternoon to St. Peter's Cathedral, thence to the Roman Catholic Cemetery.

Larder Lake

UNDERWRITERS' SYNDICATE

We extend an invitation to investors to join us in taking over the first issue of shares, which we have underwritten, of a Larder Lake Gold Mining Company at 10 cents per share. The Company has just been organized and will be managed by mining men of highest standing. The Company owns 27 well located gold claims, 1,080 acres in all, which have yielded extraordinary gold value, located in the new gold district of Larder Lake, 60 miles north of Cobalt, New Ontario, which will be systematically developed. All investors who join this Syndicate will share in profits from a ground floor basis, and will participate in immediate profit or increase in market value of shares of 500 per cent. Immediately upon the Underwriters' Syndicate being closed Law & Co. will in their ordinary vigorous manner place the shares upon the market by judicious advertising throughout Canada and the United States at an advance of five times the cost price to the Underwriters Syndicate, in the profits of which all members of the Syndicate will participate.

The Trusts and Guarantee Company, 14 King Street west, Toronto, will act as Trustees for the Underwriters' Syndicate in receiving and holding shares and issuing receipts therefor and also as Registrars and Transfer Agents for the Company.

THORNDYKE WELL KNOWN TO LINDSAY PEOPLE

The Victim of the Attack of Frank Cameron Was Familiar to Hotel Frequenters in Lindsay.

HE FOLLOWED THE RACES

The Lindsay Post, of yesterday, referring to the victim of the attack of Cameron in the Royal Hotel, on Wednesday afternoon, gives the following information:

The victim, Levi Thorndyke, was resident of Lindsay for a couple of months, during which time he was employed as hostler and general helper at the King Edward Hotel, owned by Mr. Ashmore. His home is near Stratford. He first came to town with the trotters on the Canadian circuit of ice races, and remained behind when the horses left. About February 7th he left for Peterborough, where he was engaged as a bartender at the Royal Hotel until a couple of weeks ago. About a week ago he came to town on a visit, and returned to Peterborough on Tuesday night.

The victim was a familiar attendant at horse races of any importance in Ontario, and was known as "Robin" Thorndyke. His injuries are reported to be serious, the point of the weapon having penetrated nearly to the brain, and he lies in a critical condition.

METHODIST MINISTERS' LOT IS NOT ALLURING

Only One Entering the Work in the Bay of Quinte Conference This Year—The Reason

SALARIES ARE TOO LOW

The six young men who are writing on the Probationers' Examinations at the Charlotte Street Methodist Church complete their work to-day, and will leave for their different charges to-night.

It is not anticipated that any of those who have been writing here will be plucked, the examinations consisting largely of drilling in doctrine, and the candidates state that while the examination was a pretty stiff one, they expect to get through.

It is a significant fact that of the six men writing on the examination, only one is a first year man, an evidence of the fact that there are very few young men entering the ministry, the ranks being augmented in this Conference this year by just one. At the same time, there are more places opening for work, and the drought of men for the ministry, not not only in this Church, but in all the Protestant Churches of the Dominion, is becoming a serious matter for the churches.

One of the candidates, writing on this examination, in explaining the reason for the scarcity of men, stated that the work of the Methodist ministry did not appeal favourably to young men to-day. They can make much more money in commercial pursuits, and the prospect of earning big salaries is more alluring to them than the ill-paid work of a Methodist minister.

NEW CARPET CLEANING DEVICE

Messrs. Wilson & Mitchell Have Installed Wonderful Plant.

Old methods are fast changing, and the work that a few years ago was a drudgery, is now done, and better done, by machinery, specially designed for the purpose. A striking illustration of the truth of this statement is the new carpet cleaning plant installed by the firm of Wilson & Mitchell, Aylmer street, near the corner of Charlotte street. The apparatus consists of a large wheel containing three drums, which are so arranged that there is no friction whatsoever upon the carpet. The wheel is turned by a motor and the carpets are carried up thirteen feet and dropped twenty times in a minute. A blast fan carries away all dust, while, by a process of disinfecting, all disease germs are destroyed, as well as moths and other insects which prey upon fabric. A gas is generated and circulated through the carpets by means of a fan, and while not injuring the finest fabrics, will effectually dispose of all disease germs.

The plant has been installed by the W. F. Babcock Company of Brantford, and will be put in operation at once.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

"THE ROYAL CHEF" Opinion Of the Toronto Press

If enthusiasm is an indication of the feeling of an audience towards a production, then "The Royal Chef," which was given its premiere at the Grand Opera House last night, ought to tax the capacity of the theatre at every performance this week.

The attraction is one of the best musical plays of the season. Bright, sparkling music, the kind that the audience hums and whistles when it pours out into the street, greeted the hearers at every turn. Ben Jerome, the composer, conducted the orchestra last night and his melodies were given their full effect.

The book and lyrics were written by Stoddard and Taylor and tell a fairly humourous story. The piece is called a musical comedy, but it is more on the comic opera order. There were encores for every song and many for several, and the whole house participated in the confetti shower which ended the performance. Hundreds of yards of the var-coloured paper was thrown from stage to balcony, festooning the pit, to be torn down and wrapped about the audience as it sought the exits, while on the stage the big company was literally buried under confetti, which fell from the flies, or was hurled back from the audience.

Harry Hermsen, who appeared in Toronto a few years ago as Hans Nix, in "The Telephone Girl," has the chief comedy role and allows none of the lines to lose their effect. Oscar Ragland has also a part which he presents in an entertaining manner. Gertrude Hutcheson, as Princess Teto, sang the leading female part and shared honours with Elsie Frazee and Aimee Buckley.

The story of the play is a simple one. The royal chef is beheaded because he tried to poison the rajah, and the prime minister is ordered to get a substitute or lose his head. Heinrich Lemphauser, of Chicago happens along and is installed by the chef. He is captured by the inevitable comic opera bandit, and is released just before the curtain falls on the last act.

The production is mounted in first-class style, nothing being lacking in detail. Of the many song hits, "Let Me Go Back" and "In the Morning," sung by Harry Hermsen, were the most popular.

In the tableau the management arranged a picture that met with approval, the flags of England and the United States flying together and the chorus singing a catchy air with the lines appropriate to the incident. —Toronto World, April 16, 1907.

LOCAL MASONS ARE IN TORONTO

Attending the Meeting of the Mystic Shriners—Will Take the Degrees.

A number of prominent members of the local Masonic Order are in Toronto to-day attending the meeting of the Ancient Arabic Order Nobles of the Mystic Shrine. Some of the delegation will receive the degree of the Shrine, while others have already done so. Those who will be put through are Messrs. A. P. McLean, A. A. Fowler, Dr. McKercher, C. E. Anderson, S. Taylor, W. A. Brundrette, T. H. Hooper, W. J. McCallum. Others in the party, which left on the 11.45 G.T.R. train were Messrs. J. G. M. Wilson, and W. H. G. Higgins. Mr. Walter Stocker left on the early train, and Messrs. W. H. Walkey, H. R. H. Kennedy and Dr. Carmichael will go up to-night. There will be a big gathering of the Mystic Shriners in the city for the ceremony.

WEDDING BELLS

STENTON-CURTIS

Last evening the home of Mr. Mark Curtis, Douro, was the scene of a very pleasant social event, the occasion being the marriage of his only daughter, Ada, to Mr. John Stenton, son of Mr. Z. Stenton, of Bad Axe, Mich., former residents of Peterborough.

The wedding took place at 7.30, in the presence of about fifty guests, relatives of the bride and groom. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Canon Davidson, in the absence of Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, through illness. The bride was given away by her father and entered the room as the wedding march was played by her niece, Miss Maude Curtis. The bride was dressed in a most becoming gown of cream sun toy, trimmed with baby Irish lace. She carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Bertha Curtis, niece of the bride, was dressed in cream nun's veiling, with lace insertion trimming, and carried pink carnations. The groom was supported by Mr. I. Pimmett of Otonabee.

After the ceremony the bridal party sat down to a dejeuner, at which the health of the bride was proposed, and honoured in the usual way. Mr. and Mrs. Stenton will leave on Monday for Bad Axe, Mich., where they will make their future home.

The bride, who is very popular, was the recipient of a very large number of very handsome presents, evidences of the esteem in which she is held. The Sunnyside branch of the W. A., of St. Luke's, of which she was secretary for seven years, presented her with a set of silver knives and forks. She also received from her brothers, the Messrs. Curtis brothers, a purse of gold, and the same from her brother, Mr. David Curtis. The bride's gift to the pianist was a gold brooch, set with opals, while the groom's gift to the bridesmaid was a pearl ring.

Mrs. Stenton will carry with her to her new home, nothing but the kindest of wishes for her future happiness.

SALES OF "SPIFFS"

The Months When the Shoe Dealer Unloads on the Public.

January and February are the dull months in the shoe trade, and the shoe men waxes this thread and procures to unload all the unsaleable shoes in his store. Whatever may be the public name of his sale, the trade name is a "sale of spiffs," the kind of shoes the salesman gets a bonus for working off at all months of the year.

While hardly an elegant term, "spiffs" is more expressive than descriptive. It may be a worthless shoe or a worthy shoe spoiled by some mishap, perhaps a shoe shorn of its leather wear by proximity to fire or water, or mayhap a shoe which was made wrong.

The wise buyer buys in season and from regular stock, and mostly prefers a shoe like the Slater shoe, the price-stamped Slater shoe, on which appears the Slater seal of certainty. R. Neil, agent, Peterborough.

NOW THEY SQUIRMED

Great Times When Children Had to Take Old-fashioned Cod Liver Oil And Emulsions.

You had to bribe them, hold their noses, in fact go through a regular circus to get them to take it.

That was years ago before the two eminent French chemists, Morgues and Gauthier, discovered how to separate the medicinal element of the cods' liver from the useless, nauseating oil, and produced Vinol.

Vinol is not a patent medicine but a real cod liver preparation containing in a highly concentrated form all the body-building, strength creating elements of cod liver oil, actually taken from fresh cods' livers, with all the useless oil eliminated and tonic iron added. It tastes fine and children love it. Wherever old fashioned cod liver oil or emulsions will do good, Vinol will do far more good.

Mr. McDermid, of McDermid & Jury, our local druggists, says:—"It is because we know so well of what Vinol is made that we ask every mother who has a weak, delicate or ailing child, and in fact every run-down and debilitated, aged or weak person in Peterborough, and every person suffering from stubborn colds, hanging on coughs or bronchitis to try Vinol on our offer to return their money if it fails. McDermid & Jury, Druggists; also at The Market Drug Store, the Ormond and Walsh old Stand.

PILL POUNDERS AT HOME A DELIGHTFUL EVENT

A Pleasant Time Spent in Cards and Dancing Last Evening.

Socially the present post-lenten season has been one of the most pleasurable of many years, each week bringing forth new founds of pleasure from the various social clubs of the city. The Foresters' Hall, Simcoe street, again last evening contained a large and merry gathering of dancers who spent a few pleasant hours under the colours of the Pill Pounders' Club. The dancing hall was graced by about fifty couples who extracted to the extreme the pleasures of the dance. A number of card tables were set about the Foresters' meeting hall so that those who were so inclined might change the programme.

At midnight light refreshments were served by the Pill Pounders and the dance was concluded after 2 o'clock. Splendid piano music was contributed by Mr. Harding of Scott's Colloseum. The event was successful in every particular and many complimentary remarks were made about the manner in which the Pill Pounders Club entertained their guests.

A GOOD PROGRAMME AT THE CLOSING

Y.M.C.A. Gymnasium's Closing Exercises Will Be Held To-night.

An interesting programme is prepared for to-night at the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium. There will be a dumbbell drill, junior class apparatus work, an obstacle race, and Indian club race by the junior boys' class. Final fencing bout for the championship, and a beautiful set of foils as the trophy; an exhibition of wrestling by two of the senior young men; bar work and mat work by intermediate leader's corps, and a fast basketball match, the Harriers against a picked team. A couple of vocal selections will be rendered during the evening. All are invited. Programme begins at 8 o'clock.

G.T.R. STATION RECEIVES RENOVATING

Buildings and Surroundings Have Now a Splendid Appearance.

The G. T. R. has been in the hands of painters and decorators since last autumn and the changes which they have wrought are delightful to the citizens in general, and especially the travelling public. The interior of the station building was completly renovated during the winter and many important changes were made. Now the weather permits the men to do the outside work, which they will soon have completed. The bricks are being painted in a creamy colour, relieved with a partial border of murky red, which gives a splendid effect. The wood work is receiving several coatings of dark green paint, and the station has a fresh well kept appearance, which is sure to be noticed by travellers, as it is by the citizens.

The enclosed lawn fronting on Charlotte street, has been raked and trimmed and the wooden fence has been painted the same colour as the border on the station, resulting in a very pleasing ensemble. For a public place it is well cared for, and is a credit to the company.

The average citizen likes to rest his eye on a well kept lot and when the trees at the G. T. R. station are in bud the beauty of this place will certainly be appreciated by the citizens.

It shows the enterprise of a company when they take such care of their buildings and premises.

THE TUG "BOB HALL" LAUNCHED

New Government Boat is successfully Placed on Otonabee Waters—Canal Officials Were Present for Occasion

HAVE SPEED OF 15 MILES

Amidst the cheers of a large crowd of spectators the new government tug "The Bob Hall" was successfully launched at the Peter St. Charles shipyards yesterday afternoon. Those in attendance includ Messrs. J. H. McClellan superintendent of the Trent Canal; E. S. Clarry, of the staff; Lambert Lye, of the engineering staff of the canal; Frank Fairen and others interested.

The launching was done without a hitch the boat sliding majestically into the Otonabee with Mr. Clarry the sole passenger. As she entered the water Mr. McClellan christened her the "Bob Hall."

The new tug will be a decidedly useful addition to the government fleet on the canal. She will be used exclusively for towing purposes and hence has been contructed on powerful lines. Her dimensions are 51 by 12 1-2 feet, and she will be equipped with a thirty-horse power engine which will give her a speed of from twelve to fifteen miles. The boat has been in the course of construction since the beginning of the year. Mr. Geo. Hickey the well known local ship builder designed her lines and built the craft, the completion of which will be hurried forward. The engines for the tug are being supplied by the Doty Company, of Goderich, while the power will be furnished by the Hamilton Manufacturing Co. Can

MR. DAVID QUINLAN WAS SUDDENTLY TAKEN ILL

His Young Friends Hope That He Will Weather the Attack of Appendicitis.

Mr. David Quinlan of East City, was taken suddenly ill while at work in the C. G. E. at fifteen minutes to six o'clock yesterday. The Dan Spence ambulance received a hurried call and answered at once, and Mr. Quinlan was taken to his home but at a later hour, eleven o'clock, was removed to St. Joseph's Hospital.

It was found that he was suffering from a severe attack of appendicitis, and an immediate operation was necessary. His condition this morning was considered quite serious by his physicians, but it is hoped that he will soon recover.

THE ST. PAUL'S CHOIR WILL GIVE A CONCERT

Splendid Local Musical Organization Will Give Concert In Norwood Soon.

Under the auspices of the Presbyterian Church a grand concert will be given by St. Paul's Church choir (surpliced) of Peterborough, on Friday evening, April 26, in the auditorium of the Presbyterian Church, Norwood.

The programme will consist of choruses, male and mixed quartettes, solos, violin selections, etc. There are over thirty voices in this well-known choir.

A special excursion train has been secured for the choir and their friends to leave Peterborough early in the evening.

MUST GET LICENSE BEFORE FIRST OF MAY

Dog Owners are Reminded That Time for Settling is at Hand.

The dog-owning public of Peterborough is reminded of the fact that May 1 is drawing near, and that the necessary license for this year must be secured before that time. "Come early and avoid the rush" should be the motto adopted in this case, as the people generally wait until the 30th April before they get about getting the necessary neckwear for Towser.

UNSOLICITED TESTIMONY

The Tate Optical Co., Peterborough:

DEAR SIRS.—During the last three or four years (prior to May last) my eyesight had failed to such an extent that I was unable to read or see anything at close range and could get no Glasses that would help me. I tried two different Opticians in Toronto and was told by both that they could do nothing for me, and that my sight would never be better. A statement of my case was sent to Montreal by a Hastings optician and several pairs of Glasses sent me, but with the same result my vision could not be improved. Last May, while looking at a Pair of Glasses you made for Mr. John Fife, Keene, and talking with him he advised me to consult your Mr. Babcock, and I am pleased to say that the Pair of Glasses he made for me have given me entire satisfaction and I can do now what I have not done for years past—read any ordinary print and see distinctly at close range. I feel very grateful, not only for the interest you have taken in my case, but particularly so for the blessing of good eyesight. Thanks to your knowledge and skill.

Yours truly,

OLDEST ENGINEER ON GRAND TRUNK

Late Edwin Taylor, of Belleville, a Most Trusted Employee—Never Had an Accident Due to Carlessness.

A REMARKABLE RECORD

The death of Mr. Edwin Taylor, the G. T. R. engineer, at Belleville, was referred to in the Examiner at the time it occurred. A despatch from his native city gives some additional particulars in reference to him:

He was the oldest Grand Trunk engineer, being for upwards of 34 years one of the most reliable and trustworthy officials of that great railway, and his services were always appreciated. During his lifetime he had the honour of pulling the lever of the engines that drew some of the most distinguished officials of the Grand Trunk that paid their official visits over this part of the line. Among his many associates on the railway, and they were certainly many, he was held in the highest respect. His advice was always acceptable and generous and his good nature won for him the esteem of everyone he met. A noted feature of his life was his willingness to lend a helping hand to a friend or foe in need, and he will be especially remembered by his former employees.

One special feature of the late Mr Taylor's career that deserves special mention is the fact that during his long railway experience as a driver he never had an accident due to his neglect and the company for which he worked so long and faithfully, have shown their gratitude for the same during his illness. His death has certainly left a vacancy in the community that will be hard to fill.

THREE DRUNKS FINED TWO DOLLARS APIECE

Were Picked Up on the Streets and Spent the Night at the Station.

The police last night rounded up three drunks and stored them behind the bars until Police Court this morning. They pleaded guilty to having been drunk and disorderly and were fined the usual sum of two dollars each, to be paid in ten days. His Worship's words of advice invariably fall upon deaf ears. Some of those who are arrested for being drunk in a public place may turn over a new leaf, but the great majority go from bad to worse. Mr. Dumble generally admonishes offenders to save their money and stay sober, but kind advice is no good, and thus, as week follows week, there will always be a certain number of drunks taxed the customary two dollars.

The live stock market this morning was more brisk than usual, and Market Clerk McIlmoyle was kept busy during the whole forenoon. Robert Hambidge, of Otonabee, brought in 14 fat cattle for shipment which were among the finest looking of the season. They tipped the scales at almost 1000 lbs. each. Samuel Deyell, also of Otonabee, had four fine head weighted, which averaged 1060 lbs. The cattle were purchased by Morris & Brown, who shipped two loads from here and one from Montreal to-day. They also shipped a carload of hogs to-day. For the latter the local dealers are now paying $6.40.

Hay this morning was selling from $12 to $14 per ton.

KIDNEY DISEASE
COMES ON QUIETLY

Perhaps no other organs work harder than the kidneys to preserve the general health of the body and most people are troubled with some form of Kidney Complaint, but do not suspect it. It may have been in the system for some time. There may have been backaches, swelling of the feet and ankles, disturbances of the urinary organs, such as, brick dust deposit in the urine, highly colored scanty or cloudy urine, bladder pains, frequent or suppressed urination, burning sensation when urinating, etc.

Do not neglect any of these symptoms, for, if neglected they will eventually lead to Bright's Disease, Dropsy and Diabetes.

On the first sign of anything wrong

Doan's Kidney Pills
SHOULD BE TAKEN.

They go to the seat of trouble, strengthen the kidneys and help them to filter the blood properly and flush off all the impurities which cause kidney trouble. Mr. Thomas Petty, Massey, Ont., writes: "After I arrived in Canada from New Zealand, a couple of years ago, I suffered very much from kidney trouble. I tried several remedies, but they did me no good. Finally my back became so lame I could scarcely work. I was advised to try Doan's Kidney Pills and after taking them I felt like a new man.

Price 50 cents per box or 3 boxes for $1.25 at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The Doan Kidney Pill Co., Toronto, Ont.

MRS. PERKIN'S TRIAL IS PROGRESSING

Counsel In Murder Case Makes Suggestion Against Police.

JUDGE SCORES THE DOCTOR

Damaging Admissions Made By Chief Constable In Regard to Strychnine Box—Crown Witness Called "Disgrace to His Profession"—Witnesses Testify As to How Perkins Died—Public Shut Out.

Cayuga, April 19.—The afternoon session of the court yesterday, in which Mrs. Mattie Perkins is on trial for the alleged murder of her husband, was an exciting one.

Chief Constable Farrell, called to the stand, told of finding a little box with strychnine crystals clinging to it. He was mercilessly examined by Mr. Johnston, and failed to explain why the box had not been produced at the preliminary enquiry.

The sensation thus produced was tremendously heightened when Dr. Ellis, provincial analyst, followed, and after testifying to finding strychnine in parts of the body and that the little wooden box had poison, admitted that Detective Greer did not bring him the box until last Friday, April 12. Previous to that time he knew that the detective had 28 grains of strychnine in his possession. The officer had brought it to him to weigh in a similar box.

"That will do, you may sit down," said Mr. Johnston with a grim smile.

The defence make no secret that they intend to try and show that Greer himself put poison in the kitchen drawer, or that he had it placed there.

Mr. Johnston subjected Dr. Kerr of Dunnville to a savage cross-examination, during which the counsellor charged him with violating his sacred oath as a physician by disclosing immaterial secrets confided to him by a patient, in order "to put the knife" into Mrs. Perkins.

Disgrace to Profession.

The witness became so inaudible toward the close of his examination that after many admonitions to "speak up," Justice Mabee threatened to order him out of the box, saying he was "a disgrace to his profession to behave so."

The morning session was taken up by the evidence of the little group who witnessed Perkins' deathbed sufferings and testified to the twitchings which he underwent on the morning of his death, but Mr. Johnston elicited from them that the body was limp and that there was no difficulty in laying him out. The undertaker engaged for the interment told of the hurried burial.

Defence Scores Heavily.

Last night it was felt that the defence scored heavily. Mrs. Perkins, for the first time during the trial, betrayed emotion and wept as her counsel thundered out his reflections on her behalf on Dr. Kerr. It was noticed that she is not wearing a wedding ring.

At the close of the afternoon session the judge instructed the sheriff to announce to the assemblage of curiosity seekers "that the public will be debarred from attending any further sittings of the trial."

Night sittings will be held until the case is concluded.

"This is not a sewing circle," said his lordship to a group of females who were talking in court, and shortly after, annoyed by the noise of the people constantly filing in, he gave an order to bar the door.

The Death Bed.

In the morning Miss Minnie Moodie, Canfield, said that she knew the Perkins couple, and that Henry Perkins was a sick man.

Cudmore Topp said he saw Perkins on his deathbed. His mouth was open, his eyes staring and his body twitching. He seemed to be in great pain and had difficulty in breathing. He did not speak and "red stuff" was coming out of his mouth.

Jacob Cline, who was with Topp at the time, gave evidence. He and Thomas Macdonald went in together about 10 o'clock on the Christmas morning, half an hour before Perkins died. Perkins seemed to be in a fit and unconscious.

Louis Mehlanbacker, a Canfield hotelkeeper, said that on Christmas morning soon after breakfast Macdonald came and took him over to Perkins' who was moaning and twitching, and asked them to send a repeat telegram to Mr. Spencer of Welland. Then he asked for a drink of water, but did not seem to be conscious for long after.

Twitched Severely.

W. H. Thompson said that every minute or so Perkins would clench his hands and twitch severely in a way which witness illustrated. Afterwards he saw Mrs. Perkins. She said, "I've lost my husband. I never can stay here alone. You know there is no will and they'll put me out into the road."

Henry Wilkinson, a neighbor, said the fits of twitching at first were infrequent, but became very frequent towards the last. His sufferings were so great that witness had to leave the room.

Big Blaze At Montreal Laundry Costs Three Lives.

SEVERAL WOMEN INJURED

Girls Had to Jump From Windows to Save Their Lives—Building Soaked With Benzine Burned Like Tinder—Many Narrow Escapes—Monetary Loss Amounts to Nearly $35,000.

Montreal, April 19.—Three dead and nine injured, several of them severely, is the result of the latest conflagration in this city.

At 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon fire broke out in the second storey of the three-storey brick building on St. Justin street, just below St. Catharine, and occupied by the Canada Laundry and Dye Works.

The fire spread with such fearful rapidity that for a few moments it seemed as though a score of lives would be lost, but by a rear stairway a number of the girls were enabled to make their escape.

Injured.

Miss Albertine Paradis, 38 years, arm fractured and face burned.
Miss Victoria Daigle, 39 years, ankle fractured.
Miss Jeannette Bonenfant, 39 years, face burned and back injured.
Miss Emma Etienne, badly burned.
Miss Bertha McM[illegible], face burned and arm fractured.
Mrs. Georgina L[illegible], hand fractured.
Miss Marie Rodger[illegible] Sal[illegible], badly injured.

Jumped For Their Lives.

There were nearly [illegible] people in the place when the fire started. All the injured met their injuries by jumping for the life net.

The fire started in the cleaning-room, being caused by benzine, which was used in one of the machines, catching fire. In a few minutes the whole place was in flames. A panic ensued amongst the hands, who all rushed to try and escape, but their escape was cut off by the dense smoke.

The man Martineau and the woman Furlong were overcome by smoke and their dead bodies were afterwards found in one of the windows. Mrs. Giroux received her injuries in jumping.

A general alarm was sent to all the hospitals and five ambulances were soon on the scene, the cry that 25 lives had been lost spreading through the city even as quickly as the fire through the building.

Complete Destruction.

There were three alarms all sent in to the fire department, but even though excellent work was done, there was absolutely no chance at any stage of the conflagration to prevent a complete destruction.

There were thirty girls and ten men employed and the majority of the girls lived in the immediate neighborhood of the laundry. As a result of this scores of relatives hastened to the scene, pushing their way madly through the immense crowd that had gathered, and crying for the safety of their loved ones.

It is estimated that the loss by the burning of the building itself will amount to about $20,000 and possibly $10,000 to $15,000 for machinery.

Teaches Bischoff's new and beautiful Dark Work in China Painting; lessons in Oil Painting to advanced pupils; studios, 451 Dongal street

Cuts, bruises, burns, scalds and "scrapes" are common occurrences in every home. Busy house-wives, hustling bread-winners, athletic sons and daughters, and frolicsome children, all get their share of these injuries; and the handy box of Zam-Buk will prove useful all round as a speedy cure.

Zam-Buk recommends itself to all thinking people because it is pure, being made from rich healing herbs and free from animal fats and oils. Because it soothes pain, is a powerful germ-killer, and prevents festering and blood poison. It repairs skin injuries and diseases in Nature's own way.

Mr. Geo. Cooper, of Boston (Ont.), says: "We use Zam-Buk on cuts, bruises and scratches, which are so frequently sustained by the children at school and at play, and are highly satisfied with its healing power. We would not like to be without this handy household remedy."

Do You Suffer from Any of These?

Zam-Buk heals all skin diseases—eczema, scaly sores, ulcers, ringworms, poisoned wounds, barber's rash, pustules, face blemishes due to blood poison, rheumatism and neuralgia. It heals cuts and lacerations, stops bleeding, cures piles, cases fistula, relieves enlarged veins. It cures burns and scalds, and is an excellent "first aid" remedy. It is highly antiseptic. All druggists and stores sell at 50 cents a box, or from ZAM-BUK CO., TORONTO, for price. 6 boxes for $2.50.

THE CHAMPIONSHIP BOUT

Kid Dunn and Harry Burridge Will Clash on Wednesday Night Next—A Great Programme.

SOME FINE BOXING BOUTS

Great interest is being taken in the big athletic programme to be given in the old Opera House on Wednesday night next, when Harry Burridge, of Peterborough, will meet J. (Kid) Dunn, the great Toronto wrestler, in a match for the amateur welterweight championship of Canada. The bout should be a great one. Dunn has never been defeated and has had a long career as a mat artist. Burridge is not so experienced, but is strong, quick and clever, and will give the Kid the time of his life.

The boxing bouts arranged include the following:

Tommy Foster, of Toronto, vs. Kid Lovett, of Ottawa; 6 rounds.

"Connie" Burns, of Peterborough, vs. Tommy Daly, of Toronto; 4 rounds.

Jim Downey, of Peterborough, vs. Jack O'Neil, of Peterborough; 4 rounds.

Jack Broom, of Lindsay, vs. Billy Myers, of Peterborough; 4 rounds.

Mr. Chris. Graham will likely referee the boxing bouts, while Mr. Eugene Hurtubise, amateur heavyweight champion, will be asked to referee the wrestling match.

Those who attended the last smoker arranged by Mr. Breen will look forward to another evening of good sport.

DR. JOHNSTON SOLD FAST TROTTER TO TORONTO MAN

Dr. Johnston disposed of one of his fast mares yesterday to Mr. Rountree, of Toronto, for the sum of $300. "May Belle," a five year old, was the one sold, and although it was not entered in Peterborough still, with good training, it is expected to make fast time. It will be handled by Mr. J. Montgomery, on the Speedway, Toronto, and should certainly make good.

LACROSSE

The Victoria lacrosse team will hold a meeting in the T.A.S. rooms tonight for the purpose of electing officers. The following players are requested to be on hand: Carton, Long, Fox, Munroe, F Heffernan, H Heffernan, Wade, Porter, McNairn, R Johnston, L Johnston, O'Brien, S Laing, Borodaile, F Conroy, Rose and Halpin. Any other person who would like to catch a place on the team is also requested to be there.

BASEBALL

The Peterborough Ball Club will have no difficulty in getting on games this season.

HAD THIRTY-TWO BOILS AT ONE TIME

Two Bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters Cured Him.

Imperfect organic action makes bad blood, as, too, bad blood, in turn, makes imperfect action of every bodily organ. If the blood becomes impure, poisoned or contaminated in any way from constipation, biliousness or any other cause, some especially weak organ must soon become diseased thereby, or the whole system may suffer in consequence.

Pimples, boils, blotches, ulcers, festering sores, abscesses, tumors, rashes or some serious and perhaps incurable blood disease may result. There is no medicine on the market to-day to equal the old and well-known remedy, for all cases of bad blood.

Mr. Ernest B. Tupper, Round Hill, N.S., says: "I think Burdock Blood Bitters a great medicine for boils. I had them so bad I could not work. I had thirty-two on my back at one time. I used only two bottles of B.B.B. and they completely cured me. I cannot recommend it too highly." Price $1.00 per bottle or 6 bottles for $5.00.

REMAINS OF LATE CHAS. FRY LAID TO REST

Funeral Conducted Under the Auspices of the Salvation Army Yesterday.

The remains of the late Charles W. Fry, who passed away on Tuesday were laid in their resting place yesterday afternoon, after an impressive ceremony conducted by the Salvation Army of which he was a prominent member. A short service was held at the residence of the deceased on McDonel street, after which the funeral procession marched down to the Barracks by way of George street. About 100 soldiers of the Army were on the march as their comrade was borne to the barracks and afterwards to the grave. The band was out in full force and rendered a number of selections appropriate to the solemnity of the occasion.

Adj. Wiggins recited the funeral rites over the body of the deceased at the barracks where a ceremony, impressive and solemn, was conducted. The railings of the hall were draped in the colours of the Army—yellow, red and blue. A brief service was also held at the grave in the Little Lake Cemetery where the body was interred. The pall bearers were Messrs. G. Leader, J. Carr, Jno. Hobbs, W. Swimmings, Thos. Lang and S. Dancey. Next Sunday night a memorial service on the life of the departed will be held at the barracks.

A photograph of the funeral procession was taken by Mr. R. M. Roy as it passed slowly down George street.

MINING STATIONS LIKE NEW YORK

So Considers Mr. A. A. Hagerman, Who Has Just Returned From a Trip to Cobalt District.

Mr. A. A. Hagerman, who is managing the installation of the blue clay digger of the Lakefield Cement Company at Drummond Station, was in the city to-day on his way from the Cobalt region, where he has spent the past two weeks. It was Mr. Hagerman's first visit to the great mineral regions of Northern Ontario, and he was greatly surprised to see the importance of the place and the number of people who have already found their way into that district. Stations all along the railway line reminded him of a New York station, or the Union Station in Toronto at Exhibition time.

Men, he states, are flocking there in scores, and from their appearance and freedom from work they must have plenty of money. The hotels cannot begin to accommodate the travellers in that north country. He told of a lively run he and a friend had to make in order to reach an hotel in Englehart before the others. When the train began to slow down they stepped off and made straight for the hotel near the station, where they registered. They were given a room, providing they were content to room together. Many others arrived a few minutes later and were late. A few were allowed to sleep on the floor, but for the remainder there was no accommodation. The general hotel rate there is $2.00, and Mr. Hagerman states that the meals are good, but the furnishings for the comfort of the guests might be greatly improved upon.

Mr. Hagerman was surprised at the amount of farm land available along the railway line. Farming, mining and lumbering can all be carried on with profit in that section of the Province.

THIRTY CARS OF CEMENT FOR THE WEST

Portland Cement Co. of Lakefield to Make This Shipment Next Week.

The Lakefield Portland Cement Co. has ordered 30 cars from the G.T.R. to be delivered by the 22nd of this month, in which a shipment of cement is to be made to the North West by way of Midland. Such is the report that comes from the northern village, where the cement works are the mainstay and pride of the villagers. Thirty carloads of cement is a very large order and it will be necessary for the G.T.R. to divide into two sections in order to make the trip from here to Lindsay. After that the road is more regular and it may be possible to take all the cars together the rest of the way.

These 30 cars of cement must be delivered in Midland in time to transhaip to the boat, which leaves port on the 24th of this month. The boat will carry the cement to the twin cities on the northern shore of Lake Superior, and will be taken by train to different cities throughout the West.

This is an example of the business done by the Lakefield Cement Co., who, by the quality of their cement, are winning a name for themselves in Ontario and throughout the whole Dominion. It has given general satisfaction to contractors and builders and deserves the good reputation it has gained.

The Cement Company has changed Lakefield from a quiet village to a busy little town, where the spirit of the day is beginning to make itself apparent.

TO GIVE HONOURARIUM TO REV. DR. TORRANCE

At a meeting of the office bearers of St. Paul's church, and the members of the recent deputation to Presbytery, the question of the honorarium to be given Rev. Dr. Torrance, who has recently resigned from the pastorate of the church after more than thirty years' service, was discussed, and it was decided, in view of his long and faithful work, to recommend to the meeting of the congregation, which will be held on Tuesday night next, that the honorarium, given in a lump sum, be $2500.

The chairman of the meeting last night was Sheriff Hall, and those who spoke on the question were Messrs. J. C. Shook, G. M. Roger, T. A. S. Hay, Adam Hall, J. Stacey, Dr. Carmichael, W. H. Hill, William Scott, J. H. Connell, J. W. Carey, W. Pringle, W. G. Ferguson, V. Madill, Dr. Eastwood, R. F. McWilliams.

INSPECTOR CONFISCATED MANY SCALES

Twenty Out of Seventy Spring Balances Were Wrong—Junk Dealers Use Them

Mr. G. H. Howson, Inspector of Weights and Measures, has a motley collection of old and new weights and scales of various descriptions in the rear of his office on Water street, which he has gathered during his recent visits of inspection. These weights and scales have been confiscated by Mr. Howson as they did not correspond with the standards.

Of the Spring Balance class of scale he has twenty, all of which are new. They were sold by a New York firm to a local man, and of seventy, only fifty came up to the standard. This class is more frequently found among the junk dealers, and most of them are arranged so as to cheat the seller. Mr. Howson has in his possession an old one which he confiscated from a Hebrew junk buyer. He was informed by the foreigner that the balance was never used, but when he offered to take charge there was a strenuous protest. The inspector has it, however, so there, at least, one opportunity of swindling the public has been thwarted.

It is not widely known by dealers in scales nor purchasers of them that all scales must first be inspected before leaving the retail stores, yet this is necessary according to law.

ADVISES MERCHANTS TO WAIT A YEAR

And Then Elect Aldermen Who Will be "More Sensible"—Take Signs in And Paint Them.

To the Editor of the Examiner,—

Dear Sir, — If you will allow me space in your valuable paper, I would like to state that I have not seen anything done as yet as to the new Sign Bylaw, and haven't noticed any signs coming down. I would like to know if it is going to be enforced; if so, I would advise the merchants to take theirs down, and have them painted and put away and next year perhaps we can elect some more sensible men, along with the six in favour of it, and replace the others.

Yours respectfully,
B. A. R.

SCOTCHMEN'S NIGHT AT CLUB ROOMS

Good Concert at the Conservative Club Rooms—Scotch Songs and Stories.

Last night was Scotchmen's night at the Young Conservative Club rooms, and the programme was appropriate for the occasion. Mr. Peter Gardiner occupied the chair, and delivered the opening address to the large audience that filled the assembly hall. He mentioned the fact that it was a splendid innovation on the part of the club to arrange for these concerts. He spoke briefly on the Scotch character and said that two of the most important things looked up to by Scotchmen are St. Andrew's Day and the life of "Bobby" Burns.

The following programme was then presented:

Recitation — "Glesce" — By Col. Miller.
Song—Mr. Burr.
Vocal Duet — Messrs. Paddick and Greenside.
Song—Mr. Chas. Brown.
Song—Mr. Paddick.
Song—Mr. Pratt.
Song—Mr. Chambers.

The programme was an enjoyable one and an excellent pastime for the evening. The several vocalists rendered fine songs, and were heartily received by the audience.

APPLICATIONS HEARD ON MONDAY NIGHT

License Commissioners Will Meet Then to Discuss the Applications for Licenses for This Year.

The applications for licenses for West Peterborough were not considered last night. The Commissioners met in the office of the Inspector, but, owing to the absence of Mr. Jas. Kendry from the city, it was decided to adjourn the meeting until Monday night, when the applications will be considered. The minutes of the last meeting were read last night and adopted, and no further business was done.

THE FARMERS SHOULD RAISE MORE HOGS

Department of Agriculture Gives Some Words of Advice to the Farmers Of Ontario.

From the interest which is being shown in the special bacon meetings now being conducted by the Department of Agriculture in Eastern Ontario, dairymen are waking to the importance of raising a larger number of hogs of the desired bacon type.

In Glengarry County, there are 31,000 milch cows, but the farmers kill or sell only 21,000 hogs. The production, the Department points out, should be on a basis of two hogs for every cow, which would mean 60,000 hogs for Glengarry, meaning an income to the farmers of over $500,000, or $300,000 more than at present. The cultivation of roots, such as mangolds or turnips, on a large scale is recommended.

The special meetings are being followed by sales which close on the 27th inst.

MR. STERLING PREACHING FOR A CALL

Former Presbyterian Minister at Buckhorn Will Probably Take Pastorate of Western Ontario Church.

The Rev. J. A. G. Stirling, who has been in charge of the Presbyterian congregations at Lakehurst, Buckhorn and Rockcroft during the last five months, is spending some time in preaching in vacant charges with the view of a call. He has left the city to supply a vacancy in the Presbytery of Chatham for two Sundays. Mr. W. M. Potter, brother of the minister of St. Andrew's Church, has been appointed to the charge of the Presbyterian congregation at Buckhorn and associated stations. It is the wish of the people that Mr. Potter should take up the work which is showing signs of rapid development.

A POSSIBILITY

That Became A Fact And Pleases Many People

A. R. Lewis, M.D., in a lengthy article in the columns of the American Journal of Health, says, concerning hair. "Its deterioration is a constant source of worriment to humanity, consequently bald people are readily deceived by 'fake' hair preparatives. The wish that a hair preparation will 'fill the bill' is father to the fancy that it is likely to do so. A rare case in point is that of Newbro's Herpicide, which actually does 'fill the bill.' It destroys the parasite that attacks the hair root, and prevents dandruff, falling hair and baldness."

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to the Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Two sizes — 50 cents and $1. The Market Drug Store.

THE KING'S DAUGHTERS HELD TEA

Very Successful Affair Held in the School Room Last Evening Success Financially.

The King's Daughters held a most successful tea in the St. John's school house yesterday afternoon from four to six o'clock. The affair was very largely attended and as a result a large sum was realized. A very enjoyable time was spent by those in attendance.

The guests were received by Miss Halliday, Mrs. Ritchie, Mrs. Davidson and Miss Hugell. Tea was served by Miss Hugell, Miss Doble and Mrs. Poole. The tables were prettily decorated with flowers and presented a very attractive appearance. A candy table was in charge of Miss English and a table containing home made eatables was presided over by Mrs. Burnette and both departments were well patronized.

During the tea Miss Aylmer contributed some delightful instrumental music.

LONDON WANTS THE GRENADIERS THERE

Toronto Regiment May Go to Forest City Instead of Coming to Peterboro' For Victoria Day.

According to the Toronto News, the Royal Grenadiers are likely to accept the invitation to visit London on Victoria Day, instead of coming to Peterborough. Last night's issue of that paper said: The visit of the 48th Highlanders to London for May 24 has been definitely settled upon, the regiment going on the guests of the 6th Field Battery and the citizens of London.

The 7th Regiment of Fusiliers have invited the Royal Grenadiers to visit London on the same day, and it is the intention to hold a big military demonstration. The Highlanders will troop the colours.

The Grenadiers have declined the invitation to go to Rochester, as the cost was too great. Their choice for the trip lies between London and Montreal.

CONCERT WAS VERY ENJOYABLE

Successful Affair in the S. O. E. Hall—Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Kyle Won Unstinted Applause From Audience.

DELIGHTFUL PROGRAMME

The Daughters of England held a very enjoyable concert in the S.O.E. Hall last night, which was a success from every point of view. The programme was a delightful one and the audience large and enthusiastic, the different numbers being received with marked manifestations of approval.

Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Kyle, the well known entertainers provided the greater part of the programme and their clever acting was the source of much enjoyment to the audience. The two talented artists were seen in three clever sketches which, under their splendid acting lost none of their effectiveness. Both throw themselves thoroughly into the spirit of the part that they are portraying and the result is a wonderfully realistic production. Considering the stage facilities at their command last night their work was decidedly meritorious, and worthy of the hearty applause that it drew from the audience.

The three sketches put on were "Is Marriage a Failure?" "Dropping a Hint" and "A Touch of Nature." The first deals with the quarrel of a newly married couple in which cruel treatment on the part of a husband is cured by his wife's adopting tactics of the same kind. There is much that is humourous and also much that is tinged with sadness in the sketch. The other two were of an equally high standard and all were cleverly presented.

Mr. Kyle won great applause by his singing of the well known coster song "My Old Dutch," which he rendered with expression and a complete command of the Cockney dialect.

Messrs. C E and W J Coleman always favourites with a local audience, were heard to great advantage in several songs which they rendered in the excellent manner that has made their work so popular here.

Miss Moss acted as accompanist for the evening. The Daughters of England are to be congratulated upon the success of their enterprise and for the treat that they gave those who were fortunate enough to be present.

GENERAL SAYS CANADA NEEDS IMMIGRATION

Head of Salvation Army Has a Good Opinion of This Country—Shows Good Comparison With Other Nations.

NO LAND SPECULATIONS

General Booth's impressions of Canada as cabled to England from Vancouver, B.C., are in part as follows:

A great country, fully capable of maintaining a population of a hundred million souls in comfort—not to say in luxury.

The climate is exceedingly healthy.

The inhabitants of the Dominion are lovers of order and good government; they are of a kindly disposition, intelligent, and well meaning, while many beyond question are sincerely religious.

Canada, taken as a whole, shows as low an average for the worst forms of vice and crimes of a desperate character as any nation on earth.

Regarding immigration, he said: Immigration is a prime necessity. The emigrants should be wisely selected, and distributed as the needs of the country require; they should be cared for and assisted until they are able to stand alone. They will then make good settlers and add to the wealth, importance and producing power of the nation.

Land should be allocated to those who will cultivate it, and not to those who will simply exploit it for mere money-making, or this will cause the same ruinous experience as in other parts of the world. Settlers should repay the entire cost of their transportation, thus making opportunity of assisting emigration limitless.

WHAT A CONDENSED "AD." DID FOR ONE MAN

There seems to be no limit to the possibility of a condensed ad. in the Want Columns of the Examiner. This week a gentleman who had a team of horses, set of harness, double wagon, single wagon and several other articles, valuable and necessary to teamsters, wished to dispose of them, and adopted what proved to be the most economical and most speedy means of accomplishing this end—inserted an announcement, costing 50 cents for three days, in the Want Columns of the Examiner—with the result that he found a ready purchaser for the equipment which he had decided to get rid of. He came into the Examiner office last night to express, personally, his pleasant surprise at the most satisfactory results following the insertion of the small ad.

SPECIAL ATTRACTIONS FOR THE FAIR

Mr. R. F. Trevillicke of the New York Vaudeville Company, was in the city last night and was met at the Oriental by the executive of the Industrial Fair, with regard to the attractions for the Exhibition. The executive have made a contract with Mr. Trevillick, which, if endorsed by the directors will be executed. They have a number of new ideas to present which will be innovations to the people of Peterborough.

FREE P. O. DELIVERY IN ONTARIO CITIES

It is learned on good authority that the free postal delivery at Calgary and Edmonton, which is now being organized, will be followed in all probability by the organization of free delivery at Brandon. An announcement is also expected from Ottawa at an early date that the Postmaster-General has decided to give free postal delivery facilities to a number of the smaller cities of Ontario. A number of these have been petitioning for free delivery for some time, and some have recently had a numbering of houses undertaken in order to make ready for the expected boon. The Department has favourably considered some of these requests, and the names of the lucky cities will probably be announced shortly.

May Re-open Question Of Annual Dairy Show

And In That Event it is Considered Probable That Peterboro' Would Secure That for the East.

WOULD HOLD TWO SHOWS

There is, it is stated, a strong probability of the question of the winter Dairy Show being re-opened, and in that event, a decision being reached to hold two, instead of one show, one each for the Eastern and Western sections of the province. Should this be realized, there is no doubt that the question of holding that representing the east in Peterborough would be very favourably considered—in fact, it is regarded as an assured fact that if in the reconsideration of the matter two shows are decided on Peterborough will get one of them. The last issue of the Farming World, referring to this matter says:—

Will the Province as a whole be better represented at an exhibition in the east and one in thew est than by one central exhibition? The railroad rates are quite a consideration. The dairy district of Western Ontario is south and west of Guelph, and there is no doubt that any one who would attend the exhibition at Toronto, would attend an exhibition farther west at Guelph, and there is also no doubt that a larger number, on account of the lessened expense, would go to Guelph who would not go to Toronto. So far as the district east of Kingston is concerned, it may be taken for granted that it would be practically unrepresented at Toronto. A certain proportion of the breeders of pure-bred dairy cattle and those engaged in manufacturing in a creamery or cheese factory would attend the fair, no matter where it was held. It is to their interest to be there, but we hold that it is the men engaged in the production of milk, cream and butter who require to be brought in touch with the most successful methods. Furthermore, the exhibits of all kinds of dairy machinery and supplies are of no particular interest to the dairy farmer. He is only interested in small utensils, such as hand separators, etc., and an exhibit of this kind could easily be arranged for without requiring much additional space at the winter fairs, either east or west. Other large machinery is of interest to the creamery and factory men only.

WORST LIGHT ON THE NORTH SHORE

Capt. Shaw, of Steamer Hercules Characterized Port Hope Harbor Light As The Most Miserable.

Speaking to a Port Hope Times reporter, Capt. Shaw of the tug "Hercules," now engaged in raising the dredge, "Sir Wilfrid," said: — "The signal light at the Port Hope lighthouse is the most miserable light on the north shore of Lake Ontario. Why this should be the case considering the excellence of the harbour, I cannot understand. The greatest disadvantage and danger is experienced when a schooner is endeavouring to make the port from the east. It is then impossible to distinguish the lighthouse light from the electric lights of the town. This nearly resulted in the Emily Maxwell going ashore last fall."

CLOSING BUSINESS IN COBALT

Mr. M. Carton Will Spend Four or Five Weeks in New Liskeard for That Purpose.

Mr. M. Carton writes from New Liskeard to the Examiner, giving the information that he will spend the next four or five weeks in that town closing up his accounts. During the time that Mr. Carton was in the wholesale grocery business he did a big trade with the merchants in New Ontario, and he is interested still in the state of trade there. He will dispose of the balance of the stock held there. Mr. Carton conducted for some time a branch of his business in New Liskeard, handling considerable of his orders from the merchants of the Cobalt district from his depot there.

PRAYER CHAIN LETTERS STARTED AGAIN

A Number are Being Sent Through the Local Post Office—Great Joy Promised in Nine Days.

Post cards, without stamps, and containing one of the "Chain prayers," are being circulated through the local post office. This afternoon a gentleman received a card on which there was the following prayer:—

"Oh, Lord, we implore Thee, Eternal God, to have mercy on all mankind; keep us from all sin by Thy precious blood, and take us to be with Thee eternally. Amen."

This prayer was sent by Bishop Lawrence, commanding it to be written, and he or she who will write this prayer, commenting the day it is received, and send one daily, will on the ninth day experience some great joy. Please do not break this chain.

Endless Prayer Chain.

THE RETIRING DIRECTOR REMEMBERED

Brother of Local Y. M. C. A. Physical Director Favoured by Friends in Port Hope.

Mr. Philip Dingman, physical instructor at the Y.M.C.A. at Port Hope, and brother of Mr. E. Dingman, of the local Association, having completed his duties at the Y.M.C.A. for this season, left yesterday for his home in Berlin. On Tuesday evening a number of the Y.M.C.A. members gathered in the parlour and presented Mr. Dingman with a beautiful suit case. The members have all been greatly benefitted by the director's instructions and as a mark of their esteem for him he was made the recipient of this gift. Brief addresses were made by different members and Mr. Dingman briefly returned his thanks for the kind remembrance.

Will Attend Mass Meeting of Deaf and Dumb Instructors From All Parts of the World.

The many friends of Dr. Coughlin, who is now superintendent of the Belleville Institute for the Deaf and Dumb are always pleased to hear of his work and the results of his efforts in his new undertaking. It is learned that Dr. Coughlin intends to cross the Atlantic this summer to attend a vast meeting in Glasgow, Scotland, of deaf and dumb instructors from all parts of the world. Dr. Coughlin shows that he is determined to manage the institute according to the latest ideas and to keep in touch with the best methods of instructing the deef and dumb. The Catholic Register has the following regarding his intended visit:—

"It is probable that Dr. Coughlin, superintendent of the Deaf and Dumb Institute, Belleville, will, this summer, attend the great convention in Glasgow, Scotland, where instructors of the deaf and dumb from all parts of the world will gather for an interchange of ideas."

HAVELOCK COMPLAINS OF LOAFERS

C. P. R. Station is Made a Loafing Place for the Youth of the Village.

The Havelock Standard says:

For some time past numerous complaints have been made regarding the disorderly conduct indulged in by boys and girls at the station in the evenings, while waiting for the local. This week a prominent gentleman called at this office and desired us to bring the attention of the C.P.R. authorities to the matter. This gentleman, who has had opportunities of observing, states that the continuance of the practise of children loafing around the station, will result in time to sorrow and shame on the part of those parents who allow their children to so gad about. A word to the wise is sufficient.

SIX FEET OF SNOW IN COBALT REGION STILL

A gentleman who has just returned from the Cobalt district gives a reason for the present cold weather in this part of Ontario. He stated that a week ago when he left the camp, about one hundred miles north of Cobalt there were six feet of snow on the level and that the thermometer registered 35 degrees below zero. In view of this startling fact, he did not see how we could expect to have warm weather here.

There had been some warm weather in the region from which he came, but as may be imagined, there had not been very much, and it would be several weeks yet before the six feet of snow disappears.

The Jamestown Exposition

The Jamestown Exposition, which opens on April 26, 1907, promises to be one of the most interesting of the larger expositions which have been held in later years. Its location at Sewall's Point, on the historic Hampton Roads, some nine miles from the city of Norfolk, Virginia, and directly opposite Old Point Comfort, in itself will appeal to many, and the magnificent array of warships that will congregate here from all the countries of the world will attract a tremendous number of people from all parts of the American continent, as well as from abroad. To Canadians who have not had the privilege of visiting the South this event will be the best opportunity that will present itself, and the low transportation rates that are offered will lend an additional attraction.

The only Canadian exhibit at this great Fair will be that of the Grand Trunk Railway System, who have erected a building of their own, in which the resources and attractive features of Canada will be shown, and at which building Canadians will be welcome, and where all information may be obtained. Another feature that is offered is the many different routes that can be taken to this Exposition from Canada, including rail, river and ocean journeys. The true hospitality of the Southern people, the historicity that surrounds the locality, and the many things to see and do, should be the means of inducing a large number to go from the north. Grand Trunk Agents will gladly give information as to rates and routes. 2493 are what use people up.

Most people live pretty well up to the limit of their powers, and so long as everything goes smoothly that is apparently all right; but a "jolt" or a "jar" in the shape of business worries, domestic anxieties, or an attack of La Grippe, Pneumonia, Typhoid, or other wasting disease, suddenly reveals the fact that there is a sad lack of reserve force to meet these contingencies and the result is serious, often fatal. A wise man will see to it that his system is fully fortified against sudden attack. To attain this result nothing is so sure and effective as

Dr. Hugo's Health Tablets
Are just for women
and Contain just what every Sick and Run-down Woman Needs.

Do you know that distinguished physicians say that ninety per cent. of the ills of women result from your peculiar organism.

This should make clear to you the need and advantage of taking a remedy that contains uterine and female tonics.

You know, of course, that remedies made to sell to men as well as women do not contain these. They cannot.

Dr. Hugo's Health Tablets for Women (not for men) contain them all, and you don't have to take our word for this. Chemists and physicians, whose standing makes their statements reliable, say that not one single medical ingredient of any value to women has been omitted from them.

What is the result? Simply this.
When you buy a box of these tablets you get a remedy compounded just for your special needs, and one containing all that medical science can supply in this twentieth century to make you a healthywoman. What more could you ask?

And unless your experience should be diifferent than that of other women, you need nothing more. If you don't feel as well as you would like to, try these tablets.

They Make Healthy Women.

The Hound of the Baskervilles

Another Adventure of Sherlock Holmes.

a tight place. No one can say so more confidently than I."

The proposition took me completely by surprise, but before I had time to answer, Baskerville seized me by the hand and wrung it heartily.

"Well, now, that is real kind of you, Dr. Watson," said he. "You see how it is with me, and you know just as much about the matter as I do. If you will come down to Baskerville Hall and see me through I'll never forget it."

The promise of adventure had always a fascination for me, and I was complimented by the words of Holmes and by the eagerness with which the baronet hailed me as a companion.

"I will come, with pleasure," said I. "I do not know how I could employ my time better."

"And you will report very carefully to me," said Holmes. "When a crisis comes, as it will do, I will direct how you shall act. I suppose that by Saturday all might be ready?"

"Would that suit Dr. Watson?"

"Perfectly."

"Then on Saturday, unless you hear to the contrary, we shall meet at the 10.30 train from Paddington."

We had risen to depart when Baskerville gave a cry of triumph, and diving into one of the corners of the room he drew a brown boot from under a cabinet.

"My missing boot!" he cried.

"May all our difficulties vanish as easily!" said Sherlock Holmes.

"But it is a very singular thing," Dr. Mortimer remarked. "I searched this room carefully before lunch."

"And so did I," said Baskerville. "Every inch of it."

"There was certainly no boot in it then."

"In that case the waiter must have placed it there while we were lunching."

The German was sent for, but professed to know nothing of the matter, nor could any inquiry clear it up. Another item had been added to that constant and apparently purposeless series of small mysteries which had succeeded each other so rapidly. Setting aside the whole grim story of Sir Charles's death, we had a line of inexplicable incidents all within the limits of two days, which included the receipts of the printed letter, the black-bearded spy in the hansom, the loss of the new brown boot, the loss of the old black boot, and now the return of the new brown boot. Holmes sat in silence in the cab as we drove back to Baker Street, and I knew from his drawn brows and keen face that his mind, like my own, was busy in endeavoring to frame some scheme into which all these strange and apparently disconnected episodes could be fitted. All afternoon and late into the evening he sat lost in tobacco and thought.

Just before dinner two telegrams were handed in. The first ran:—

"Have just heard that Barrymore is at the Hall.—Baskerville." The second:—

"Visited twenty-three hotels as directed, but sorry to report unable to trace lost sheet of Times.—Cartwright."

"There go two of my threads, Watson. There is nothing more stimulating than a case where everything goes against you. We must cast round for another scent."

"We have still the cabman who drove the spy."

"Exactly. I have wired to get his name and address from the Official Registry. I should not be surprised if this were an answer to my question."

The ring at the bell proved to be something even more satisfactory than an answer, however, for the door opened and a rough-looking fellow entered who was evidently the man himself.

"I got a message from the head office that a gent at this address had been inquiring for 2,704," said he. "I've driven my cab this seven years and never a word of complaint. I came here straight from the Yard to ask you to your face what you had against me."

"I have nothing in the world against you, my good man," said Holmes. "On the contrary, I have half a sovereign for you if you will give me a clear answer to my questions."

"Well, I've had a good day and no mistake," said the cabman, with a grin. "What was it you wanted to ask, sir?"

"First of all your name and address, in case I want you again."

"John Clayton, 3, Turpey Street, the Borough. My cab is out of Shipley's Yard, near Waterloo Station."

Sherlock Holmes made a note of it.

"Now, Clayton, tell me all about the fare who came and watched this house at ten o'clock this morning and afterwards followed the two gentlemen down Regent Street."

The man looked surprised and a little embarrassed. "Why, there's no good my telling you things, for you seem to know as much as I do already," said he. "The truth is that the gentleman told me that he was a detective and that I was to say nothing about him to anyone."

"My good fellow, this is a very serious business, and you may find yourself in a pretty bad position if you try to hide anything from me. You say that your fare told you that he was a detective?"

"Yes, he did."

"When did he say this?"

"When he left me."

"Did he say anything more?"

"He mentioned his name."

Holmes cast a swift glance of triumph at me. "Oh, he mentioned his name, did he? That was imprudent. What was the name that he mentioned?"

"His name," said the cabman, "was Mr. Sherlock Holmes."

Never have I seen my friend more completely taken aback than by the cabman's reply. For an instant he sat in silent amazement. Then he burst into a hearty laugh.

"A touch, Watson—an undeniable touch!" said he. "I feel a fool as quick and supple as my own lis got home upon me very prettily that time. So his name was Sherlock Holmes, was it?"

"Yes, sir, that was the gentleman's name."

"Excellent! Tell me where you picked him up and all that occurred."

"He hailed me at half-past nine in Trafalgar Square. He said that he was a detective, and he offered me two guineas if I would do exactly what he wanted all day and ask no questions. I was glad enough to agree. First we drove down to the Northumberland Hotel and waited there until two gentlemen came out and took a cab from the rank. We followed their cab until it pulled up somewhere near here."

"This very door," said Holmes.

"Well, I couldn't be sure of that, but I daresay my fare knew all about it. We pulled up half-way down the street and waited an hour and a half. Then the two gentlemen passed us, walking, and we followed down Baker Street and along——"

"I know," said Holmes.

"Until we got three-quarters down Regent Street. Then my gentleman threw up the trap, and he cried that I should drive right away to Waterloo Station as hard as I could go. I whipped up the mare and we were there under the ten minutes. Then he paid up his two guineas, like a good one, and away he went into the station. Only just as he was leaving he turned round and he said: 'It might interest you to know that you have been driving Mr. Sherlock Holmes.' That's how I come to know the name."

"I see. And you saw no more of him?"

"Not after he went into the station."

"And how would you describe Mr. Sherlock Holmes."

The cabman scratched his head. "Well, he wasn't altogether such an easy gentleman to describe. I'd put him at forty years of age, and he was of middle height, two or three inches shorter than you, sir. He was dressed like a toff, and he had a black beard, cut square at the end, and a pale face. I don't know as I could say more than that."

"Color of his eyes?"

"No, I can't say that."

"Nothing more that you can remember?"

"No, sir; nothing."

"Well, then, here is your half-sovereign. There's another one waiting for you if you can bring any more information. Good night?"

"Good night, sir, and thank you!"

John Clayton departed chuckling, and Holmes turned to me with a shrug of the shoulders and a rueful smile.

"Snap goes our third thread, and we end where we began," said he. "The cunning rascal! He knew our number, knew that Sir Henry Baskerville had consulted me, spotted who I was in Regent Street, conjectured that I had got the number of the cab and would lay my hands on the driver, and so sent back this audacious message. I tell you, Watson, this time we have got a foeman who is worthy of our steel. I've been checkmated in London. I can only wish you better luck in Devonshire. But I'm not easy in my mind about it."

"About what?"

"About sending you. It's an ugly business, Watson, an ugly, dangerous business, and the more I see of it the less I like it. Yes, my dear fellow, you may laugh, but I give you my word that I shall be very glad to have you back safe and sound in Baker Street once more."

CHAPTER VI.

Sir Henry Baskerville and Dr. Mortimer were ready upon the appointed day, and we started as arranged for Devonshire. Mr. Sherlock Holmes drove with me to the station and gave me his last parting injunctions and advice.

"I will not bias your mind by suggesting theories or suspicions, Watson," said he; "I wish you simply to report facts in the fullest possible manner to me, and you can leave me to do the theorising."

"What sort of facts?" I asked.

"Anything which may seem to have a bearing however indirect upon the case, and especially the relations between young Baskerville and his neighbors or any fresh particulars concerning the death of Sir Charles. I have made some inquiries myself in the last few days, but the results have, I fear, been negative. One thing only appears to be certain, and that is that Mr. James Desmond, who is the next heir, is an elderly gentleman of a very amiable disposition, so that this persecution does not arise from him. I really think that we may eliminate him entirely from our calculations. There remain the people who will actually surround Sir Henry Baskerville upon the moor."

"Would it not be well in the first place to get rid of this Barrymore couple?"

"By no means. You could not make a greater mistake. If they are innocent it would be a cruel injustice, and if they are guilty we should be giving up all chance of bringing it home to them. No, no, we will preserve them upon our list of suspects. Then there is a groom at the Hall, if I remember right. There are two moorland farmers. There is our friend Dr. Mortimer, whom I believe to be entirely honest, and there is his wife, of whom we know nothing. There is this naturalist Stapleton, and there is his sister, who is said to be a young lady of attractions. There is Mr. Frankland, of Lafter Hall, who is also an unknown factor, and there are one or two other neighbors. These are the folk who must be your very special study."

"I will do my best."

"You have arms, I suppose?"

"Yes, I thought it as well to take them."

"Most certainly. Keep your revolver near you night and day, and never relax your precautions."

Our friends had already secured a first-class carriage, and were waiting for us upon the platform.

"No, we have no news of any kind," said Dr. Mortimer, in answer to my friend's questions. "I can swear to one thing, and that is that we have not been shadowed during the last two days. We have never gone out without keeping a sharp watch, and no one could have escaped our notice."

"You have always kept together, I presume?"

"Except yesterday afternoon. I usually give up one day to pure amusement when I come to town, so I spent it at the Museum of the College of Surgeons."

"And I went to look at the folk in the park," said Baskerville. "But we had no trouble of any kind."

"It was imprudent, all the same," said Holmes, shaking his head and looking very grave. "I beg, Sir Henry that you will not go about alone. Some great misfortune will befall you if you do. Did you get your other boot?"

"No, sir, it is gone for ever."

"Indeed. That is very interesting. Well, good-bye," he added, as the train began to glide down the platform. "Bear in mind, Sir Henry, one of the phrases in that queer old legend which Dr. Mortimer has read to us, and avoid the moor in those hours of darkness when the powers of evil are exalted."

I looked back at the platform when we had left it far behind, and saw the tall austere figure of Holmes standing motionless and gazing after us.

The journey was a swift and pleasant one, and I spent it in making the more intimate acquaintance of my two companions and in playing with Dr. Mortimer's spaniel. In a very few hours the brown earth had become ruddy, the brick had changed to granite, and red cows grazed in well-hedged fields where the lush grasses and more luxuriant vegetation spoke of a richer, if a damper, climate. Young Baskerville stared eagerly out of the window, and cried aloud with delight as he recognized the familiar features of the Devon scenery.

"I've been over a good part of the world since I left it, Dr. Watson," said he; "but I have never seen a place to compare with it."

"I never saw a Devonshire man who did not swear by his county," I remarked.

"It depends upon the breed of men quite as much as on the county," said Dr. Mortimer. "A glance at our friend here reveals the rounded head of the Celt, which carries inside it the Celtic enthusiasm and power of attachment. Poor Sir Charles's head was of a very rare type, half Gaelic, half Ivernian in its characteristics. But you were very young when you last saw Baskerville Hall, were you not?"

"I was a boy in my 'teens at the time of my father's death, and had never seen the Hall, for he lived in a little cottage on the South Coast. Thence I went straight to a friend in America. I tell you it is all as new to me as it is to Dr. Watson, and I'm as keen as possible to see the moor."

"Are you? Then your wish is easily granted, for there is your first sight of the moor," said Dr. Mortimer, pointing out of the carriage window.

Over the green squares of the fields and the low curve of a wood there rose in the distance a grey, melancholy hill, with a strange jagged summit, dim and vague in the distance, like some fantastic landscape in a dream. Baskerville sat for a long time, his eyes fixed upon it, and I read upon his eager face how much it meant to him, this first sight of that strange spot where the men of his blood had held away so long and left their mark so deep. There he sat, with his tweed suit and his American accent, in the corner of a prossic railway-carriage, and yet as I looked at his dark and expressive face I felt more than ever how true a descendant he was of that long line of high-blooded, fiery, and masterful men. There were pride, valour, and strength in his thick brows, his sensitive nostrils, and his large hazel eyes. If on that forbidding moor a difficult and dangerous quest should lie before us, this was at least a comrade for whom one might venture to take a risk with the certainty that he would bravely share it.

The train pulled up at a small wayside station and we all descended. Outside, beyond the low, white fence, a wagonette with a pair of cobs was waiting. Our coming was evidently a great event, for stationmaster and porters clustered round us to carry out our luggage. It was a sweet, simple country spot, but I was surprised to observe that by the gate there stood two soldierly men in dark uniforms, who leaned upon their short rifles and glanced keenly at us as we passed. The coachman, a hard-faced grizzled little fellow, saluted Sir Henry Baskerville, and in a few minutes we were flying swiftly down the broad, white road. Rolling pasture lands curved upwards on either side of us, and old gabled houses peeped out from amid the thick green foliage, but behind the peaceful and sunlit country-side there rose ever, dark against the evening sky, the long, gloomy curve of the moor, broken by the jagged and sinister hills.

The wagonette swung round into a side road, and we curved upwards through deep lanes worn by centuries of wheels, high banks on either side, heavy with dripping moss and fleshy hart's-tongue ferns. Brossing bracken and mottled bramble gleamed in the light of the sinking sun. Still steadily rising, we passed over a narrow granite bridge, and skirted a noisy stream which gushed swiftly down, foaming and roaring amid the grey boulders. Both road and stream wound up through a valley dense with scrub oak and fir. At every turning Baskerville gave an exclamation of delight, looking eagerly about him and asking countless questions. To his eyes all seemed beautiful, but to me a tinge of melancholy lay upon the countryside, which bore so clearly the mark of the waning year. Yellow leaves carpeted the lanes and fluttered down upon us as we passed. The rattle of our wheels died away as we drove through drifts of rotting vegetation—sad gifts, as it seemed to me, for Nature to throw before the carriage of the returning heir of the Baskervilles.

"Halloa!" cried Dr. Mortimer, "what is this?"

A steep curve of heath-clad land, an outlying spur of the moor, lay in front of us. On the summit, hard and clear like an equestrian statue upon its pedestal, was a mounted soldier, dark and stern, his rifle poised ready over his forearm. He was watching the road along which we traveled.

"What is this, Perkins?" asked Dr. Mortimer.

Our driver half turned in his seat.

"There's a convict escaped from Princetown, sir. He's been out three days now, and the warders watch every road and every station, but they've had no sight of him yet. The farmers about here don't like it, sir, and that's a fact."

"Well, I understand that they get five pounds if they can give information."

"Yes, sir, but the chance of five pounds is but a poor thing compared to the chance of having your throat cut. You see, it isn't like any ordinary convict. This is a man that would stick at nothing."

"Who is he, then?"

"It is Selden, the Notting Hill murderer."

I remembered the case well, for it was one in which Holmes had taken an interest on account of the peculiar ferocity of the crime and the wanton brutality which had marked all the actions of the assassin. The commutation of his death sentence had been due to some doubts as to his complete sanity, so atrocious was his conduct. Our wagonette had topped a rise and in front of us rose the huge expanse of the moor, mottled with gnarled and craggy cairns and tors. A cold wind swept down from it and set us shivering. Somewhere there, on that desolate plain, was lurking this fiendish man, hiding in a burrow like a wild beast, his heart full of malignancy against the whole race which had cast him out. It needed but this to complete the grim suggestiveness of the barren waste, the chilling wind and the darkening sky. Even Baskerville fell silent and pulled his overcoat more closely around him.

We had left the fertile country behind and beneath us. We looked back on it now, the slanting rays of a low sun turning the streams to threads of

TO PREVENT BRONCHITIS or CONSUMPTION

Do not neglect a cold or cough no matter how slight as the irritation spreading throughout the delicate lining of the sensitive air passages sooner or later will lead to fatal results.

If on the first appearance of a cough or cold you would take a few doses of you would save yourself a great deal of unnecessary suffering.

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup contains all the lung healing virtues of the pine tree combined with Wild Cherry Bark and other pectoral remedies.

It stimulates the weakened bronchial organs, allays irritation and subdues inflammation, soothes and heals the irritated parts, loosens the phlegm and mucous, and aids nature to easily dislodge the morbid accumulations.

Miss Belle Campbell, Long River, P.E.I., writes: "For some time I was troubled with bronchitis. A friend advised me to try Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. So I procured three bottles but it only took two to cure me."

Be careful when purchasing to see that you get the genuine Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup.

It is put up in a yellow wrapper, three pine trees the trade mark and the price 25 cents as all dealers.

MR. ASQUITH'S BUDGET.

rplus of $28,955,000 Devoted to Reduces Debt.

London, April 19.—No budget statement of recent years has been awaited with so much interest as that of hancellor of the Exchequer Asquith terday. Although it was his second budget, that of last year really as only a legacy from the previous ministration, so his proposals yesterday constituted the first real Liberal budget in 12 years. The House Commons was thronged, and the blic galleries were densely crowded. The financial statement issued the Treasury in advance of the hancellor's speech informed the uses that the exact realised surus for 1906-07 was $26,955,000, which, accordance with the law, would devoted to the reduction of the blic debt.

Mr. Asquith estimated the expenture for 1907-08 at $703,785,000. The venue on the existing basis of taxtion was estimated to be $720,250,000. The permanent reduction of the nal debt for 1906-07, was announced to be $68,570,000.

The duty on tea was unchanged.

Mr. Asquith opened his speech with brief review of the past year, pointg out that with the exception of stock markets, which suffered from money stringency, trade at home d abroad had been remarkably urishing. The Treasury receipts re over $10,000,000 in excess of the timates, unanticipated death duties counting for $6,000,000 of this sum, hile the balance was made up of creased receipts from the coal duty d the mint. The latter was due the increased demand for coinage account of the preposterous state trade and the large amount of silr, aggregating $2,500,000, required various purposes.

LEGISLATURE HAS ENDED LABOURS

Government Placed On Defence Over Spoils System.

THE LOCAL OPTION DEBATE

Mr. MacKay Attacks the Administration of License Laws — Dr. Pyne's Explanation — Petawawa Camp Expropriation — San Jose Pests in Orchards—Hon. G. P. Graham on Three-Fifths Clause.

Toronto, April 19.—The Legislature concluded its business at 1.35 o'clock this morning, and the prorogation ceremonies will take place on Saturday. The most notable debate of the session was precipitated last night by Hon. A. G. MacKay with his speech respecting the adoption of the spoils system in connection with the administration of the liquor license laws. Mr. MacKay's address was judicious, clear-cut, and delivered with such telling effect that the Government were at once thrown upon their own defence. That the importance of the allegations was fully recognized to the right of the Speaker was apparent by the instant concentration of the Government forces, which undertook by force of numbers to minimize the effect.

Dr. Pyne's Explains.

Hon. Dr. Pyne, who was especially taken to task, resorted to a countercharge of a personal nature, and gave an explanation of the Courtney incident. Hon. Geo. P. Graham delivered a notable speech on the three-fifths local option clause, reiterating the Liberal contention that anything but majority rule was un-British and unfair. An incident of the day, which was fully appreciated on the Opposition benches, was the success of a trap cleverly laid by Mr. C. N. Smith and into which the Premier readily fell. The dying hours of the session were marked also by strong speeches by the Premier, the Provincial Secretary and others.

Voted With Opposition.

A Government member, Mr. Gallagher, voted with the Opposition leader on his declaration respecting the three-fifths clause. At an early hour this morning the Government compromised with the Opposition on a resolution respecting the expropriation of Petawawa camp by the Dominion Government, the Premier striking out words to which the Opposition objected as being offensive, and adopting in fact the very words suggested by Hon. Mr. MacKay.

A Motion of Censure.

The San Jose scale and other pests which are working injury to the orchards of the Province were the subject of discussion in the Legislature in the morning. The Opposition pressed a motion regretting the lack of diligence of the Government in dealing with the matter, the motion being, of course, voted down by the Administration's majority.

The House adopted the usual resolution giving effect to the vote of $5,000 in aid of the Thessalon & Northern Railway.

The Spoils System.

Mr. MacKay moved: "That this House is of opinion that the administration of all liquor license laws should, as far as possible, be removed from the realm of party politics. This House, therefore, regrets the introduction by the present Government of what is commonly known as the spoils system in connection with the administration and enforcement of such laws, contrary to the repeatedly expressed and oft recorded opinion of its members while in Opposition."

In speaking to the resolution Mr. MacKay said it was of importance, because it charged the Government with distinct breach of faith, and with the introduction of a general spoils system into this Province. He quoted resolutions moved in past years by the Conservatives when in Opposition in the House. By one of these resolutions, moved in the session of 1890, it was urged that license commissioners in counties should be appointed by the County Councils, and in cities and towns should be elected by the duly qualified electorate. Practically the same resolution was moved in 1896, the ground taken on every occasion being that it was desired to remove the administration of the liquor license from the influences of party politics. The policy of the Conservative party in this regard had been reaffirmed at the conference prior to the last elections by the now Premier, who stated in effect that it should be non-partisan, and commissioners and inspectors should be removed from party influences. But no attempt had been made to put it into effect. As to the system which preceded it, he pointed out that he Liberals had made no false pretence as to what their policy was. Rightly or wrongly, they had adopted that policy, but they had done it openly, whereas the Conservative party, having maintained a certain attitude for 30 years, had abandoned it almost on the moment of entering office.

Premier Expresses Pride.

The Premier said that to-day he was the proudest man in Ontario, because he had from all parts of the Province evidences from clergymen, laymen, good men and bad men that there was widespread satisfaction concerning the administration of the license system. For some time he had sat back under a screen of undeserved invective, yet at what time had he said that they would not appoint Conservative commissioners in the License Department? He had stated that he would remove the department from the influence of party politics on various occasions. As long as he lived he would believe it to be the duty of every man and woman to try to minimize the evils of the drink traffic. He cared not what would be the effect on their popularity, and undoubtedly they would lose votes. They were prepared to meet and defeat the liquor interests, just as they had defeated them two years ago.

Mr. Hanna's amendment to the resolution carried on division, the vote being 20 to 53. Mr. Studholme voted with the Government.

The Three-Fifths Clause.

Mr. Graham moved the second reading of his bill to amend the liquor license law by repealing the three-fifths local option clause, and making it illegal for license commissioners and inspectors to carry on business with persons in the liquor trade. He prefaced his remarks on the motion with the statement that the cure for the spoils system which had been the subject of so much discussion was a system of civil service reform. As to the three-fifths clause, it was his desire in advancing the proposition to maintain the old principle that a majority vote should be sufficient to banish the bars in any municipality. If that rule which had until recently prevailed had not been altered, many more municipalities would now be under local option.

Hon. Mr. Hanna's Defence.

Hon. Mr. Hanna defended the existing legislation, taking the ground that it placed the Province in line with the most advanced of the colonies and provinces of the British Empire, and that it was necessary to secure permanency in local option.

He moved that the bill be read a second time six months hance. As to the clause of Mr. Graham's bill respecting commissioners and their business relations with licenses, he could not accept it. The department was doing everything possible to combat anything of this kind.

The House adjourned at five minutes to 2 o'clock yesterday morning, and prorogation proceedings will take place to-morrow.

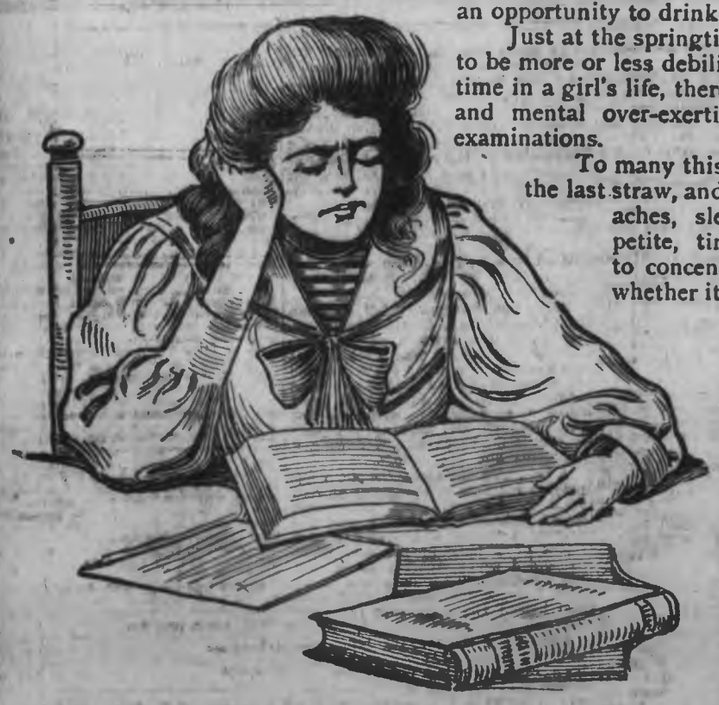
IN THE SPRINGTIME OF LIFE

There comes that critical period when restorative assistance is of incalculable value to the human system.

"Oh, to be free from school life and school worries during the sunshiny spring days," is the wish of thousands of schoolgirls to whom nothing could be of more benefit than outdoor exercise and an opportunity to drink in the fresh air and sunshine.



Just at the springtime, when the human system is sure to be more or less debilitated, and often at the most critical time in a girl's life, there comes also the anxiety, eye-strain and mental over-exertion consequent on the approach of examinations.

To many this extra demand on the system proves the last straw, and the results are made known by headaches, sleeplessness, irritability, loss of appetite, tired, worn-out feelings and inability to concentrate the mind on the work at hand, whether it be mental or physical.

To some there will come St. Vitus' dance, nervous prostration, or some derangement of the vital organs, which may linger to make a life of suffering and unhappiness.

The only means of averting trouble is by the use of external assistance in order to increase the supply of pure, rich blood, and for this purpose there is no treatment comparable to Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Because of its mild and gentle action and powerful restorative influences in building up the system, Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is particularly suited as a treatment for girls and women. Especially during the critical periods of woman's life, such as between the ages of twelve and sixteen, this great food cure, by supplying an abundance of rich, red blood, keeps up health and strength and fills the body with vigor and vitality.

Postmasters' Salaries—$3,000,000 For Harbor Improvements at Montreal.

Ottawa, April 19.—For the greater part of yesterday Mr. Foster led the Opposition, and consequently the proceedings were long drawn out and progress was slow. After a lengthy debate the resolution empowering the grant of a loan of $3,000,000 to the Montreal Harbor Commissioners for harbor improvements was agreed to. Hon. R. Lemieux, referring to conditions in the west, stated that newspaper reports as to the strike of coal miners and a resulting general tie-up in business and transportation were exaggerated. Some of the miners had left work, but the President of the Miners' Union was opposed to the declaration of a strike. The Minister stated that he expected the nomination of a Board of Conciliation would be completed by Monday, probably before. The latter part of the session was spent in supply.

Judicial Vacancies.

Mr. R. L. Borden inquired as to what steps were being taken to fill the vacant County Court Judgeship at Digby, N.S., and the vacancy on the Supreme Court Bench of that Province.

The Minister of Justice replied that a name had been submitted for his Excellency's approval for filling the Digby Judgeship, and the Government had the other matter under consideration. In the meantime he had been assured by members of the Bench and others that no delay was being caused in the progress of public business.

Postmasters' Salaries.

Apropos of the last mentioned bill Mr. Borden asked whether the Postmaster-General had considered the advisability of increasing the remuneration of postmasters.

Mr. Lemieux said he hoped to make an announcement some day with regard to the postmasters, but he pointed out that a fact that should not be overlooked was that out of 12,000 or 13,000 postmasters there were 5,000 or 6,000 whose total receipts were not equal to the salary they received.

Montreal Man Arrested on a Charge of Cruelty.

Montreal, April 19.—Geo. Blanchette was arrested early yesterday on the heretofore unheard of charge of placing his five-months-old child in a basket and then putting it in a hot oven.

It is also alleged that Blanchette plied the infant with whiskey until it had convulsions.

The case has been taken up by the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Women and Children on the complaint of the prisoner's mother-in-law, on the plea that his wife was afraid to make a charge against Blanchette.

Simla, India, April 19.—There were 75,000 deaths from the plague in India during the week ending April 13. Seventy thousand of these occurred in Bengal, the United Provinces and the Punjab.

The epidemic began in the Punjab in October, 1897 since which nearly a million and a half deaths have occurred.

A week or ten days before the White Star Liner Suevic stranded on the Lizard Rock, Mrs. Ellen Davies, of Splott, Cardiff, called at "The South Wales Echo" office and declared that she had foretold the disaster to the Cross-Channel steamer Berlin, and added: "That is not all. I can tell you something else. There will be an accident to a White Star liner." "How do you see these things?" Mrs. Davies was asked. "Do you go in a trance or anything of that sort?" "A trance; Nothing of the kind," replied Mrs. Davies. "I see these things just as I see you before me now, and I tell you there will be an accident to a big liner. She will be a White Star boat. She will go on the rocks and it will be in a fog, and she will be coming home when it will happen." Nothing more was thought of this piece of clairvoyance, and even when the telegrams reported the stranding of the Suevic it was not recalled until afterwards, when Mrs. Davies again called at the Echo office. Mrs. Davies' prediction is no after-date story. It was told and published a week or ten days before the Suevic stranded.

The fisher-folk of Selsey, in West Sussex, are vigorously defending what they claim to be an immemorial right, namely—freedom to store their nets, baskets, and other gear on a certain part of the foreshore near the lifeboat house. The land has been acquired by a syndicate for building purposes, and operations were started recently by a local builder. The foundations of a bungalow for two London gentlemen were well advanced when the fishermen returned from sea. Great was their wrath to find their gear removed, and bricks and mortar in its place. They held a consultation, and then placed a rope round the brickword. A score or more of them hauled on the line, and the structure came tumbling down. A second erection which the builder began the same night shared the same fate. The fishermen warned the builder that they would do the same to any building that might be put up on the spot; but, feeling confident in the right of his position, the builder set his men to begin a new restaurant. The foundations were again demolished.

Mr. Wm. Matthews, a well known resident of Windlesham, Surrey, who unaccountably disappeared recently, has reached the house of a friend in London, after suffering from complete loss of memory. Mr. Matthews was engaged to be married, the banns had been published, and on the evening of his disappearance he called on his fiancee and arranged to visit Reading with her the following day in order to buy furniture. When he left her, he states, all that he could remember was that he must walk on and on, but where he went he cannot tell, beyond a faint idea that he visited Portsmouth. The one word "Reading" was fixed on his memory. When Mr. Matthews came to himself he was sitting on a bed at Rowton House, Hammersmith.

A curious case was commenced at Birmingham Assizes recently, the Great Western Railway Company being sued for damages alleged to have been caused by the contents of a luncheon basket supplied to a passenger on their Birkenhead line. The case for the plaintiff was that he and a friend ordered two luncheon baskets at Birmingham. The plaintiff's basket contained a chicken and ham, bread and butter, and a bottle of claret. He finished the chicken, but thought the ham had a peculiar taste. His friend then examined his own basket, and found the ham apparently bad. The next day the plaintiff felt unwell, and on the following day, while cycling, he collapsed, and was for some time in a critical condition.

The Guardians of Fulham are asking onus another what they are to do with Rosario, a Peruvian half-caste. Rosario, who is a nursery governess, has no knowledge of English. The police found her sleeping out at Fulham. The workhouse officials state Rosario was brought to this country by a Peruvian merchant who wanted a nurse for the children. For a few weeks she appears to have lived happily enough; then the instincts of her semi-civilised nature asserted themselves; she took to roaming and rebelled against hats and long petticoats. She likes the workhouse and particularly the laundry, and she has signified her intention to make that establishment her home for the remainder of her life.

An event which would seem incredible if the facts were not attested by Mr. A. N. Hornby and the farmer interested, was associated with a fox's raid on a hencote at Chorley, Cheshire. The farmer, Mr. Latham, of Top Farm, on the Marquis of Cholmondeley's estate, heard a noise in his hencoot, and, suspecting that a fox had raided it, slipped over the hen slide a bag, into which Reynard bolted when a farm hand entered the cots. Inside the hen ote eleven fine fowls lay dead. When the bag was untied in a loose box Reynard bolted, and then out of the bag walked a fowl and on to the floor rolled an egg. The fox in his flight from the hencote knocked the live fowl into the bag, and the egg must have been laid in the bag.

At Monmouth recently a travelling theatre which had been erected in a meadow was blown down and burned. At the opening performance, the building, capable of holding about three hundred was filled. The first intimation of danger was when the audience felt a rocking sensation. Then one of the side galleries raised a few feet from the ground, gave way. Ten minutes later a terrific gust of wind blew the building over, and there was a wild panic. To add to the terror of the scene the gasoline lamps used to light the building set fire to the debris, and the structure set fire to the debris, and the structure was completely destroyed. One man was killed.

IRELAND

Much interest has been aroused by the discovery of a cave on the side of a hill at Kingsland, near Boyle. Some young men who were building a fence accidentally opened the cavern which was about 8 feet deep and from 20 feet to 30 feet in length. There were about a dozen large stone slabs covering the mouth, and on each of them were some inscription and carving emblematic of historic battles in the time of Cromwell. The stones were covered with moss, earth and shrubs, and the place had thus escaped detection. On exploring the cave a stone coffin was found containing a skeleton over six feet in length, dressed in a rusty armour. From the remains of rich military trappings adhered to it the bones are supposed to be those of a Tanist, or chieftain of high rank, who met his death in a battle near by, and was taken into this retreat by his followers. Explorations are still in progress.

The sudden death of the Right Hon. Sir Daniel Dixon, M. P., for North Belfast, occurred recently at Belfast. He was taken ill while going to the parish church at Holywood and died in a few minutes from heart failure before it was possible to carry him indoors. Sir Daniel, who was 63 years of age, was one of the best known men in Ireland and was exceedingly popular. He was Lord Mayor of Belfast for 8 years and was chairman of the Belfast Harbour Commissioners, and managing owner of the Lord Line of Steamers plying between Ireland and America. He was made a baronet in 1903 on the occasion of the King's visit there. He was first returned for the North Belfast division.

The story of a sad mishap comes from Barry where, with her flag at half mast the steamer Prah arrived recently from Dublin with the dead body of John Watts, the chief officer on board. During the voyage one of his children, a little girl fell into the sea from the bridge deck, where she had been playing with her brother. The father at once dived after the child but was too late to prevent her from being caught in the propellor, and drawn under the vessel. The engines were reversed and a boat lowered, and in ten minutes the crew was able to recover Watts from the water, but he was exhausted and almost unconscious, and died a little later.

Some excitement was caused at Glasnevin, a Dublin suburb, recently, owing to a report that Mrs. Maher, of Botanic View Cottage, was to be evicted. It proved a false alarm, however, for the sheriff's officer did not put in an appearance and the little knot of people who had assembled in the vicinity in the pouring rain soon disappeared. Elaborate preparations had been made to oppose the sheriff's men. A green flag floated over the roof, and a barricade of galvanised iron and wood was erected around the garden boundary. The cottage was strongly garrisoned and ammunition for the defenders in the shape of boiling water and a quantity of soda, had been prepared.

In the Belfast art gallery and museum there is at present on view an interesting link with the far past i the ancient bell of Bangor Co. Down. This bell, an old seal and a still older book are about the sole relics now existing of St. Comgall's once famous and much sought after monastery, and university of "Bangor the Great," as it was called, to distinguish it from Bangor, in Britain. They may be regarded as tenth century work, or even possibly earlier, for the foundation of the monastery dates from 550 A.D., and it was in the ruins of the old Abbey that the bell was found by the great grandfather of Colonel McCance, the present owner of the relic.

Extraordinary scenes were witnessed at a meeting in Dublin recently. Ald. Cole, a member of the corporation, opposed recently a resolution sympathising with the position of the Roman Catholic church in France. A meeting of his constituents was called to censure his attitude, but the alderman and his friends attended in force and a free fight ensued. A large force of police was called in to quell the disturbance. In the confusion Ald. Cole seized the chair and put to the meeting and declared carried a resolution approving his own conduct, amidst great uproar.

A garrison boat from Spike Island captured just off Queenstown pier recently, and two boatsmen, natives of Queenstown, were drowned. But for the bravery of a customs officer named Scantlebury, who jumped into the sea from the customs launch, the two other occupants, Lt. Brierley and Sergt. Attrell, both of the Royal Garrison Artillery, would also have lost their lives. He kept them above water until assistance arrived and they were rescued in an exhausted condition.

The audience in the Empire Theatre, Dublin, was astonished a few nights ago, by hearing a small boy in the gallery sing the chorus of a song, and they loudly applauded. It was afterwards discovered that the boy was an orphan, and destitute, and gained his living by singing in the streets. Several of the artists were about to find employment for the youth, when the manager of a fishmonger's establishment offered to receive the boy into his own home, and the offer was gratefully accepted.

Thirteen Belfast boys were recently injured and four of them very badly, by the explosion of a dynamite cartridge. The windows of all the houses in the vicinity were smashed. The boys found the cartridge at Queen's Island Shipyard and brought it home. When the match was applied to the fuse they ran away, and so escaped death.

At Runcorn recently, Joseph McVeagh, of Belfast, a young sailor on the steamer Cheshire, of Liverpool, had his leg caught in a coil of rope when leaving the moorings and the limb was torn off at the hip. He died in the hospital a few hours later. McVeigh was to have been married shortly.

SCOTLAND

An unique case of civil imprisonment has occurred in Dundee. Some time ago an action was raised in Dundee Sheriff Court by a brother against his sister, both elderly persons, for the recovery of certain articles, including a much-prized grandfather's clock. It was a family dispute, and judgment went against the sister, decree being granted for the delivery of the articles. The woman, however, stuck to her position, and absolutely refused to give up the clock and other articles. The warrant obtained by the brother's agent was under the Small Debt (Amendment) Act, 1889, and he was "entitled to all lawful execution hereon." After consideration, the somewhat unusual course, for which, however, a precedent existed, of having the woman imprisoned, was adopted. She was arrested by a sheriff officer and lodged in Dundee Prison, where she has been for the past two months. Her refusal to deliver up the clock after having been ordered to do so amounts to contempt of court, for which the woman has suffered pretty severely, but it is stated that she is still determined not to part with the clock, and as the period of imprisonment in such a case is not prescribed by the Act, she may be kept in durance vile for an indefinite period, so long as those responsible for her being there contribute threepence per day towards the cost of her "board and lodging."

At a public meeting in Glasgow recently, under the chairmanship of Rev. G. H. Morrison, Wellington United Free Church, a branch was formed for Glasgow of the National Society, which was started in Edinburgh in December to foster and encourage Scottish song, music and literature. Mrs. Garden, Aberdeen, a daughter of the Ettrick Shepherd, wrote expressing regret that Scottish songs were now little sung. One reason was that most of them were difficult to sing, and another was that, although all young people were taught to sing, they were not, and probably could not, be taught to sing with expression. Even in church concerts a Scottish song was rarely sung, but the most trashy songs were preferred.

An unusual cause of death was given on the verdict of an inquest held over the body of a labourer, named William Menzies, killed on board the S.S. Leister, in Glasgow. Menzies was steadying a bucket of sand which was being heaved out of the hold by means of a crane, but, holding on to the bucket too long, he was lifted off the tunnel on which he was standing and jammed between the bucket and the coamings of the hatchway. He was killed instantaneously, the heart having been penetrated by a fractured rib.

Mr. Samuel Whittle, the pride of Poole, who turns the scales at 336 lbs., recently accepted a wager that he would not appear in Highland dress for a month. An order was sent to a London establishment for a complete costume "to fit a gentleman 63 inches round the chest and 50 round the waist." The order was rather a startling one, but by using 40 yards of material the firm were able to execute it.

The police have arrested a man named William Currie, belonging to Kilmarnock, on suspicion of being concerned in the robbery at Braehead. Currie, who has been frequently in trouble, is well known by the soubriquet of "The Human Pin-Cushion," having been for some time on exhibition on Barnum and Bailey's Show, where he stuck pins in his body and arms without drawing blood.

A heavily loaded mineral train was proceeding up the incline between Dukinfield and Stalybridge recently, when some couplings broke at the entrance to the latter station. At once over 50 wagons began to run back in the direction of Dukinfield with great impetus. Fortunately the signalman at the Dukinfield cabin saw the wagons coming, and, with great presence of mind, turned the runaways into a siding, where they came in contact with the stop blocks.

The unusual spectacle of trout swimming in the water at Glasgow Harbour was seen recently. Two fine specimens were observed in the midbasin of Prince's Dock, and several attempts were made to capture them. One of them disappeared, but the other was lifted from the water, and placed in a pail of fresh water. The trout, which was fairly lively, weighs close upon two pounds.

A serious accident befell ex-Dean of Guild Mackay, Campbelltown, recently, in the sawmill of his cartwright works. He was working at the circular saw, when a heavy plank of wood was inadvertently pushed against it and was hurled with great force a considerable distance. The plank struck Mr. Mackay obliquely on the chest, knocking him down and rendering him unconscious.

A boy, named James Temple, while playing recently in the street at Berwick with a companion, was seized by an unknown gentleman who was driving a motor and placed on the knees of a lady in the car, which proceeded south at full speed. The boy screamed, his aunt raised an alarm, and the gentleman slowed down and kicked the child into the roadway.

The will of the late Sir James Colquhoun, Bart., of Luss, which has been registered in Edinburgh, directed that his body should be dressed for burial in full evening costume, and laid in a plain, oak coffin, so that those who cared for him during his life might see him for the last time.

J. D. Sullivan, superintendent of the Halifax & Southwestern Railway, dropped dead at Bridgewater, N.S.

The supplementary estimates contain an item of $10,000 for colonization roads in the clay belt in New Ontario.

ALL RUN DOWN

Weak---Nervous---Unstrung.

Thousands get run down and become invalids before they realize anything is wrong. By permitting low vitality to develop, the way is paved for fevers, pneumonia and diphtheria. To put off makes it all the harder to get well. The time to repair the system is right now, before the damage gets any worse. The remedy is Ferrozone; it revitalizes, renews, builds up vitality that outlasts old age.

FERROZONE is a genuine invigorator that banishes weakness, and instils surplus force and vigor into every organ of the body. Ferrozone sharpens the appetite, produces rich nutritious blood, and thereby contributes that sense of buoyancy that adds so enormously to one's pleasure and usefulness in life.

For all forms of debility, weakness, lack of blood or nerve tone, sleeplessness, tiredness and exhaustion, there is no medicine so vitalizing and potent as Ferrozone. Even one trial demonstrates its rapidly and certainty of action.

To restore the energy of youth, to get back your vital stamina and reserve force, there is positively no treatment so certain as Ferrozone. You have only to try Ferrozone to know the enormous benefit it invariably brings to all in poor health.

FERROZONE

Miss Dorothy E. Leduc of Chester gives the following convincing evidence of Ferrozone's power:—"My work compels me to rise early in the morning and work ten hours daily as a saleslady. Last Spring I was run down, lost my color, and fell off in weight. I seemed to lack ambition and the life was out of me. A friend recommended Ferrozone, and I took one tablet after meals with wonderful results. Ferrozone brought back my complexion, and has given me new strength and abundance of energy and spirits. I would advise all young ladies to use Ferrozone."

Mrs. H. G. Wilder of Dexter says:—"My daughter was not very well last Winter, and lost her strength completely when the Spring came. I gave her Ferrozone, and am glad to say it did wonders. After six boxes were used my daughter was strong, and looked the picture of health."

Gave New Strength

FERROZONE

It makes the weak strong, the sick well, and assures lasting good health.

REV. F. J. SCOTT HAS REACHED BOLIVIA

Letter Received in Toronto Tells of His Safe Arrival There

The Toronto Globe to-day says:—A letter to Rev. J. G. Brown announces the safe arrival at Oruro, Bolivia, of Rev. F. J. Scott and wife, after a six-weeks' journey, in the course of which he visited Peru. He found mission work flourishing at Lima. After six months' study of the language in Oruro he expects to go to La Paz, the capital of Bolivia, to reopen the Baptist work there.

An official of the C. P. R. stated that there was no trouble on their western lines.

A GOOD DEMAND FOR CANNED GOODS

Canadian Grocer Has Some Gossip on the Prices Charged in Peterborough

Referring to the price of canned goods in Peterborough, the Canadian Grocer, of this week, says:

The demand for canned goods this year is very good. All the merchants report quite as large, and some report a little larger sales, than usual. The price, of course, has a good deal to do, with this. When the cost to the retailer was raised, it was not increased in proportion to the consumer. Corn, peas, beans and pumpkins sell at 10 cents, and three for 25 cents, there being two grades. Tomatoes sell at 10 cents and 12 1-2 cents. The merchants, therefore, are not making a fortune out of it, as they are paying $1.17 per dozen. On the whole the consumption of canned goods in this city is much larger than in previous years owing to the substantial gain in population. But had the prices not been kept down, the demand would certainly have fallen off. As it is a few merchants put the price up to 12 1-2 on the corn, tomatoes and peas, and their trade in these lines decreased.

BETTER THAN SPANKING

Spanking does not cure children of bed-wetting. There is a constitutional cause for this trouble. Mrs. M. Summers, Box W. 61, Windsor, Ont., will send free to any mother her successful home treatment, with full instructions. Send no money, but write her to-day if your children trouble you in this way. Don't blame the child; the chances are it can't help it. This treatment also cures adults and aged people troubled with urine difficulties by day or night.

Warsaw, April 17. — Judging from the advance copies of the programme of the concert to be given by the Warsaw choral society, on Friday evening, April 19th, the large number who have purchased tickets have in store a rare treat.

The chorus will contribute six numbers to the programme, and among the others who will take part are Miss Mona O'Shea, soprano; Mrs. Paterson-Mowry, elocutionist; Miss Carrie E. Reesor, soprano; Master Ewart O'Shea, Highland dancer; and Mr. Gilbert Markle, violinist.

Mr. William F. Payne conducted service at the Carmel Methodist church on Sunday.

At the Methodist church a pleasant evening was spent on Monday by about thirty of the young people. Light refreshments were served in the basement by Mrs. (Rev.) Nickle, after which a programme was given, in which a number took part. The topic of the evening however was a discussion on Epworth League affairs and it was decided to form a League in connection with the church and to meet each Monday at 8 p.m.

The members of Bethel church will give an entertainment at the church on Tuesday next, April 23. A tea will be given at 8 p.m., a feature of which will be the serving of hot maple sugar and fresh buns. Arrangements have been made whereby Rev. Dr. Crothers of Peterborough, will give an address, the subject of which will be "The Young People of the Twentieth Century." The Misses Chasty and several other members of the George street Methodist Epworth League will also assist in the programme.

Mr. S. Herron of New Liskeard, Ont., was a guest of Mr. Albert Heeps last week.

Mrs. R. Gliddon of Peterborough, was in town on Friday.

Messrs. G. L. McClennan, G. Wellbanks and R. Kidd, visited Peterborough on Saturday.

Miss Marjory Coate returned home on Sunday having spent a couple of weeks in Peterborough.

Mr. William Gow has returned to Toronto to continue his studies in railroading.

SUFFERING BABIES.

Mothers can find sure relief for their suffering little ones in Baby's Own Tablets. These Tablets are a gentle laxative that do not gripe the little one and cure all the minor ills of babies and little children. They are pleasant to take, prompt in their action and unlike "soothing" stuffs they never do harm, and the mother has the guarantee of a Government analyst that they contain no drugs harmful to even the youngest baby. Thousands of mothers give their little ones nothing else but Baby's Own Tablets, when constipation, stomach trouble, indigestion, colds or worms bother the baby, or when the dreaded teething time comes. Mrs. Jos. Mercier, Plessisville, Que., says: "My baby was a great sufferer from constipation, but thanks to Baby's Own Tablets the trouble has disappeared." The Tablets are sold by all druggists or by mail at 25 cents a box, from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

Dear Sir,—I understand that the bylaw regarding the allowing of boxes, crates, etc., to remain on the sidewalks in front of the stores of our business men, has been changed somewhat. The question that naturally arises is, "Are the city fathers going to make any compensation to those merchants who were fined for breaking the old law, but who, under the new one, would not be liable?" This seems the only fair thing to be done now, since the noxious bylaw has been partially shelved. I do not think it was fair to the merchants as it was first drawn up, and I agree with your article in your issue of Wednesday, in that the Council would better spend their time in dealing with municipal matters of importance than in harrassing the merchants with petty bylaws regarding over-hanging signs and such like.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, I am,
Yours, etc.,
FAIR PLAY.

GROWING OLD WHILE YET YOUNG

What a number of women there are who feel that these words exactly suit their case.

There are thousands of females all over our land, broken down in health and dragging out a miserable existence, overburdened with disease peculiar to their sex, apparently growing old while yet young.

From early morn till late at night they have been on the go year after year, attending to the household duties. Is it any wonder then that sooner or later there comes a general collapse? Palpitation of the heart, nervous prostration, smothering and sinking spells, weakness, dizziness, sleeplessness and many other troubles follow. INTENSIFIED FRUIT JUICES AN IMPROVEMENT ON NATURE

A Discovery that is Revolutionizing Medicine.

Remarkable Success Attends the Finding of a New Medicinal Compound by Combining the Juices of Apples, Oranges, Figs and Prunes.

Fruit helps to keep one healthy. Fruit, in itself, will not cure disease. The medicinal principle—or that part of fruit which has a curative effect—is in such infinitesimal quantities, that it is unable to overcome a diseased condition of the stomach, liver, bowels, kidneys or skin.

Just here is where science stepped in. An Ottawa physician did what nature could not do. He first found that some fruits were stronger medicinally than others—and that apples, ranges, figs and prunes contained a the healing properties of other fruits. There are two principles in fruit juices—bitter and sweet. After extracting the juices of the four fruits mentioned, this physician succeeded in replacing one atom of the sweet principle by one of the bitter. This resulted in an entirely new combination being formed. This new compound was many times more active medicinally than the fruit je... Practical Ideas For Post-Easter Bridesmaids' Costumes.

The bridesmaids at a recent wedding wore empire gowns of white chiffon topped by brown hats, with brown plumes matching in color the fichu-like girdles. Two girls wore pale blue sashes, four pink and four mauve, but they all carried mauve and white lilacs, while satin girdles and fichus gave a pinafore effect, ending in two wide sash ends. The hats were on the Charles II. order and of dark brown mallines, with wide, low crowns. The two long ostrich plumes fell over the left side.

Hats this season are rather inclined to be large, but they range from medium to large, and even the smaller hats appear good sized when trimmed and in most instances have mushroom shaped brims. As for shape, there is no limit. The tasteful milliner bends brims at will.

Poke bonnets will be worn by those pretty enough to venture such an innovation.

Mercerised linen makes the dainty gown worn by the little girl in the swing. It is of a lovely rose shade, trimmed with white embroidery. A narrow belt connects the waist and skirt, and the entire dress is closed at the back. JUDIC CHOLLET.

Colored Shirt Waists Popular—Hints For Jumper Costumes.

There is just a chance of the plain white shirt waist having to forfeit some of its popularity, for colored and striped blouses both in silk and wash material are made up in the very best materials and style.

Linen, madras and lawn are the most suitable materials for the severe shirt waist, but dimity is an attractive fabric for warm weather shirts. A deep blue

Unless you intend your jumper suit to be a fancy reception gown it should be made at least four inches clear of the ground, so as to be a comfortable walking length. These gowns are often cut quite low in front to reveal the lacey blouse.

The mushroom hat, that is going to be popular, is very trying, for the wearer will be apt to look either very smart or equally dowdy, depending not so much upon her type as the way she carries herself, for there is actually no between. A tall figure will become this drooping style, but her shorter sister, unless possessed of chic, will do well to avoid it.

The use of delicate color contrasts on white or neutral colored linens is as pronounced as it was last season. This in the best model is never overdone. just enough of the contrast being employed to give relief and tone to the general design and trimmings.

Lingerie batiste is a new material that is being used extensively for underwear. The corset cover and drawers seen in the illustration are of this material. The corset cover is especially well adapted to wear under blouse waists and is made with frills on the front, edged with lace.

INDIGESTION CURED

By Dr. Williams Pink Pills After Six Doctors Had Failed to be of Benefit.

That gnawing pain in the stomach, sometimes shooting up into the chest, often producing a choking sensation in the throat; fierce pains around the heart; a feeling of drowsiness and a distaste for food—that's indigestion. Its victims are numbered by the thousands. To them life is a burden. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done more towards relieving this suffering than any other medicine. Often they have cured after all other help had failed, as in the case of Mr. Willis Herman, of St. Catharines, Ont., who says:—"I had been afflicted with indigestion and stomach trouble for years. At times my suffering was almost indescribable. Sometimes for whole days I was unable to touch food. I dieted and at different times was treated by six doctors but they did not help me; I only grew worse. For a time I was living in New York and while there consulted a specialist, but he was unable to give me any relief. I then decided to try Dr. Williams Pink Pills and in less than a month I felt some relief. I continued their use for a couple of months longer and gained in weight; my appetite improved; the pains left me and I now feel better than I have at any time during the past twenty-five years. I will always gladly recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to other sufferers believing that they will surely do for others what they have done for me."

When you use Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as a blood builder and nerve tonic you are not experimenting—they have been tried and proved successful in thousands of cases. It is their power to actually make new, rich, red blood that enables them to cure such troubles as anaemia, indigestion, rheumatism, kidney trouble, St. Vitus' dance, partial paralysis and those special ailments of girlhood and womanhood that cause so much misery. For sale by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

YIELDS UP THE DEAD.

Sale of Some Articles of Jewelry Leads to Solution of a Mystery.

A sensational murder mystery was partially solved last week when the body of a wealthy young man named Hentchel, who disappeared from home at Munich three years ago, was dug up on a piece of waste land outside the Bavarian capital.

Hentchel was the son of one of the wealthiest business men in Munich. He spent money lavishly, attended the pleasure resorts regularly, belonged to the fashionable clubs, gambled and kept race horses and motor cars.

He was very friendly with another young man named David Niederhofer, son of the proprietor of a stationary circus at Munich. Hentchel and Niederhofer were nearly always together, Hentchel finding the money for their amusements.

Disappeared In 1904.

Hentchel suddenly disappeared on May 24, 1904, and not the least trace of him could be found. Crime was suspected, but the police abandoned their investigations without finding the least clue.

A few days ago Niederhofer attempted to sell to a jeweler several articles of value which formerly belonged to Hentchel, and, as it happened, the jeweler remembered that they corresponded with particulars circulated by the police describing articles of jewelry which Hentchel commonly wore. There included diamond rings and an extremely expensive bracelet. The jeweler immediately communicated with the police, and detained young Niederhofer until they arrived to arrest him.

Publication of the news of Niederhofer's arrest brought other suspicious circumstances to light. A former employe at the Niederhofer circus informed the police that David Niederhofer ordered him about three years ago to dig a deep hole in waste land adjoining the circus. He had no idea for what object the hole was dug, but offered to show the police where the hole was made.

The Body Found.

Excavations on the waste land began early one morning, and continued all day without success. When they were resumed next morning, young Niederhofer was brought to watch the work, handcuffed and fettered, between two policemen.

After some time Hentchel's body was recovered, amid the intense excitement of all present. Niederhofer trembled violently, and was quite unable to overcome his agitation. He was then taken back to prison.

Fascinating Garden Hats — Warm Weather School Gowns.

A bow of black is the cachet of the newest models of garden hats for the coming summer. Wonderful to behold are these chapeaux, with their gorgeous and overabundant trimming of flowers and knots of black velvet. The knots are always placed where their glory may not be hidden, directly over the left ear, holding the brim up at that point. Their tails, numbering as many as an up to date muff, are made of inch wide ribbon of all lengths that dangle at will on the shoulder.

For school wear, when the weather gets warm, brown or blue linens make serviceable dresses trimmed with stitching and worn with a black or red tie.

Printed batistes, silk mulls and even dimities show many of the designs popular in chiffon cloth and silk muslins that have been worn during the winter. For example, there may be groups of fine black stripes set at rather wide intervals on a white ground and the continuity of this striping interrupted by little flower sprays or tiny floral wreaths of delicate colors set into the stripe.

A foreign authority declares blue to be the prettiest color for children's frocks—in light shades for indoor wear and in deeper shades for the street. In tub frocks particularly it would seem, however, that white is the most satisfactory and most generally becoming. These may be worn with colored ribbons to change them a little if so desired.

Here is a really fascinating little model for a child's summer frock. It is of dotted batiste trimmed with embroidery. The tiny tot in the picture wears a dress of embroidered flounceing. JUDIC CHOLLET.

FORECAST OF THE MODE.

Madeira Work For Summer Gowns. Dainty Velvet Dog Collar.

Madeira work, which is much like the broderie anglaise of last summer, is coming in on the new waists. Silkier and more attractive than ever are the new cottons, though "cotton" is no longer an evidence of their cheapness, for they are going to make very dressy gowns.

The proper length of the spring and summer coats will be about whatever the wearer chooses. Some of them end about the middle of the back, others at the knee.

A becoming dog collar to wear with an evening frock is of six strands of very narrow velvet ribbon, feather-boned and decorated with tiny jet buckles. The fastening is at the back under a row of little bows or buckles.

The woman who must make one cloth costume do for many occasions will be delighted to know that there are adjustable garnitures both for dresses and coats, which changes their whole appearance. One of the most beautiful of these accessories is of sage green broadcloth, with blue embroidered flowers in the body of the collar, combined with silk braid and blue velvet tabs, the whole outlined in black and gilt and trimmed in buttons of sage green. This garniture has long tabs reaching to the waist.

Plain coat and skirt costumes of heavy linen, severely tailored and made with plaited skirts, and semifitting coats of moderate length are, as usual, much in demand for the summer wardrobe. Soft cream color, straw color and natural tone lines rival white in number and popularity.

The sun plaited skirt is to the fore again this season, and the skirt of the gown illustrated is of this style, carried out in old rose chiffon voile. The chemisette and sleeves are of lace, and the square tabbed hanging bertha is of a pale shade of pink, toning in with the old rose and covered with English embroidery. JUDIC CHOLLET.

How Nutmegs Are Cured.

A writer who has explored New Guinea describes the nutmeg region. Upon a fine piece of table land he came across three houses erected in the very heart of the forest. These were used by the natives for drying nutmegs. The country was everywhere magnificent and the aroma of the spice laden air delicious. Nutmeg and other equally valuable trees were everywhere growing in great profusion. The fruit of the nutmeg in appearance resembles a pear, and when ripe it opens and displays the nut covered with a beautiful red coating of mace. The nuts are then picked and taken to the houses, where they are husked and placed on shelves. They are then partially roasted over a slow fire until all of the moisture is extracted, after which they are cooled and sent to market.

An Effective Cure.

The present crown prince of Ger, many had as a child a great dislike of being washed. The emperor tried various means to cure him and at last hit on the right one. The young prince came running to him one day in a great rage, saying the sentry had not saluted him as he passed.

"To be sure," said the emperor, "I gave orders they were not to salute a dirty prince, but only a clean one."

The child's pride was hurt, and he took to the bath. He never again objected to being washed.

The Strangest Grave.

"Which is the deepest, the longest, the broadest and the smallest grave in the cemetery?" a traveler asked of his companion as they were walking through a silent city in Boston.

"It is this in which Miles Button is buried," was the reply.

"How do you make that out?"

"Because it is Miles below the sod, and therefore the deepest; Miles in length, and therefore the longest; Miles in breadth, and therefore the broadest, and yet, after all, it is but a Button hole."

Supplementary Estimates Provide For Construction Of Southern Outlet Of The Waterway

PETERBOROUGH WELL TREATED

About $1,000,000 Included in the Estimates for This District---$700,000 for the Canal---Armouries Get Total of $60,000---Many New Wharves Are Provided For.

EXPENDITURES IN PETERBOROUGH DISTRICT

Trent Canal Construction	$700,000 00
Dam at Bobcaygeon	22,000 00
H. Burnet, Claims in Connection with Rebuilding Dam at Peterborough	19,016 00
Peterborough Armoury, additional	30,000 00
Peterborough Public Buildings	2,000 00
Gannon's Narrow Bridge-wharf	1,200 00
Gore's Landing Wharf	1,000 00
Hale's Bridge-wharf	950 00
Lakefield Wharf	3,850 00
Peterborough Steamboat Landing	1,200 00
River Otonabee Dredging	5,000 00

The supplementary estimates were brought down in the House of Commons last night at 9 o'clock, and, as will be seen from the summary given above, Peterborough has been well treated, nearly $800,000 having been placed in the estimates for work in the immediate vicinity of this city, and on work in which the interests of this city are affected.

$700,000 For the Canal

The most important of these is the granting of $700,000 for Trent Canal construction. This, however, does not by any means represent all the work which will be done on the canal construction, contracts having been entered into involving an expenditure of about $2,000,000. Of this amount, $700,000 will be expended during the present year.

A Good Share

Out of a total vote of about $10,000,000, included in the supplementaries, about $1,000,000 is for work to be carried on in the Midland district of Ontario, a proportion which indicates that the representatives have not been idle.

Work at Peterborough

The $30,000 voted for the Peterborough Armouries is an additional vote, an equal amount having already been voted. This will cover the work to be done until the next session at the close of this year. The $2,000 for public buildings is for repairs and improvements contemplated in the Customs House and postoffice.

New Wharves

A new wharf at Gannon's Narrows will cost $1,200, and to complete the wharf at Gore's Landing, on Rice Lake, $1,000 has been asked.

The item of $3,850 for a wharf at Lakefield is to construct a wharf on the Otonabee, below Lakefield, on the Doure side, to facilitate the shipment of cement, the trade which, with the opening of the canal, has increased considerably.

A new steamboat landing will be constructed below the locks at the end of the street car line, and for this, $1,200 is included in the estimates. Additional dredging in the Otonabee River will be done to the extent of $5,000.

On Georgian Bay

In addition to the work which will be done in the immediate vicinity of Peterborough, there are included in the estimates sums totalling several thousands of dollars for work in improving the harbour facilities on the Georgian Bay, which will form part of the Trent Canal system. These sums include $76,500 for dredging at Midland, in addition to $40,000 already voted for that purpose. For dredging at Victoria Harbour, $10,000 will be asked.

NAVIGATION OPENS ON THE OTONABEE

Steamer Monarch Was the First to Make the Trip Around To-day with Passengers

Navigation on the Otonabee River opened for the season this morning, when the steamer Monarch made her first trip up from the Rice Lake ports, with a good passenger list and considerable freight.

Mr. Harris stated to the Examiner that he had encountered some ice on his trip, the harbour at Harwood being blocked this morning. Otherwise the trip was easy. He will make regular weekly trips with the Monarch in the meantime, and will commence daily trips as soon as practicable. The Monarch was the only steamer to navigate the Otonabee to-day.

THE SCIENTISTS SAY IT'S IMPOSSIBLE, BUT PRACTICE PROVES THAT ASHES BURN

Some Interesting Experiments Were Made Last Night by Citizens of Peterborough—Druggists Big Business.

MANY PERSONS TRY IT

The Experience of The Examier With the New Fuel—What a Scientist Says of It—An Impossibility.

"There is one thing which is an absolutely fixed equation, and that is that ashes, by which I suppose is meant the residuum left after complete combustion, have no heating power left whatever, and no possible treatment can make them produce heat, whether in conjunction with fresh coal or otherwise.

"Their constituent elements are abottly stated, silica, alumina, lime, and oxide of iron in varying quantities, with some other elements in trifling proportions, which, however, do not count. Under no conditions could these give out heat, and the suggestion that by any special treatment heat results can be obtained, is simply an absurdity."

This is the substance of a scientific opinion given the Examiner yesterday on the much-discussed question of burning ashes, and in all probability it is scientifically correct—that, after coal has been subjected to perfect combustion, the residue has no heating properties—but the results of those who have, during the last day or two, tried burning ashes in the way described in the Examiner, give reason to believe that, with the present method of burning coal the combustion is not perfect, and that after it is generally supposed that all the heat possible has been obtained from the fuel, there is still some heat energy left, and, if by the addition of a solution of salt and water that heat can be obtained, the majority will be of the opinion that it's worth trying.

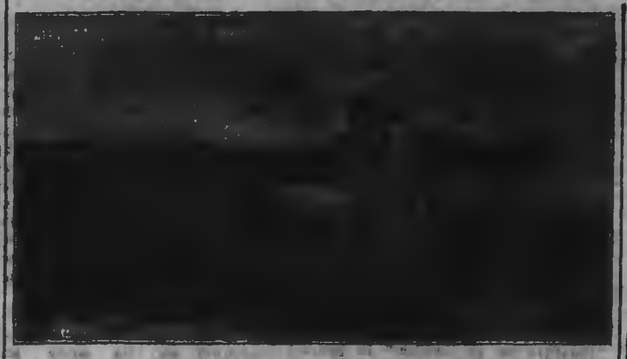
That there are a good many persons in this city who have been sufficiently interested to try the experiment is evident. Last night a local druggist informed the Examiner that after six o'clock he had served at least twenty persons who wanted oxalic acid for the purpose of putting to the test the statement that with it and salted water ashes could be converted into fuel.

There is no doubt that the ashes will burn. This was demonstrated last night in the Examiner furnaces. One bushel of ashes taken from the ash pile was mixed with two stovefuls of coal and a solution of one pail of water and half a pint of salt was added. It was thrown on the fire, on a bed of coals, and burned brightly, giving a good heat for several hours without replenishing.

It may be, as the scientist states, that it is a scientific impossibility to burn ashes and obtain any heat from them, but there can be no doubt that in the mixture referred to there is something that burns—and gives heat.

Continued experiments on the use of this new fuel will no doubt demonstrate its practicability or otherwise. In the meantime, a good many citizens have proved to their satisfaction that it burns.

Mr. J. E. Hodgson of the Collegiate Institute staff, informed the Examiner to-day that he had given the new fuel a day's trial, with the result that he had a satisfactory fire and used only about half the quantity of coal that he would ordinarily use.



Peterborough Lift Lock, the head of navigation, which will be opened by the completion of the southern outlet of the Trent Canal, contracts amounting to $2,000,000 for which have been let.

A HUNT FOR THE OLDEST SUBSCRIBER IS INSTITUTED

Who is the oldest subscriber to the Examiner? The other day a gentleman stated that between himself and his father they had taken the Examiner for thirty-five years.

This is a pretty good record, and the Examiner is proud to think that this paper has been appreciated to the extent indicated.

It is believed, however, that this does not constitute a record, and that there are families in Peterborough County, who have been subscribers of this paper (Daily or Weekly) for a longer period than that.

In order to ascertain just who is the oldest living subscriber, the Examiner has decided to offer a year's subscription to the Daily Examiner free to the person who substantiates his claim to being the oldest subscriber. By this it is meant the one who has taken the paper for the longest period continuously.

Those who are of the opinion that they are eligible for this class are invited to communicate with the Examiner, giving the date on which they became subscribers to this paper, and observations in reference to the paper at the present time as compared with that when they first became readers, the condition of Peterborough at that time, and anything which would be of general interest, and to send their latest photograph.

Who will be the first to respond?

THEY NEED ASHES IN SAN FRANCISCO; COAL SELLING AT $12 TON NOW

Residents of the City of the Golden Gate in this City Tell of Conditions There a Year After the 'Quake.

THE CITY IS RE-BUILDING

Mrs. Knittel of Santa Fil, California, who, accompanied by her children, Miss Constance and Master Leonard, is visiting her cousin, Mrs. P. Simons, Rubidge street, gave some information to the Examiner this morning which should prove very interesting in view of the fact that just one year ago Thursday the terrible earthquake occurred in the city of the Golden Gate.

Santa Fil is across the Bay from San Francisco, and about one hour's steamboat journey away, and the inhabitants were given their full share of the fright which attended the shock. The houses rocked and people got out into the streets in their night clothes, while chimneys came crashing down and it looked as if the end of the world were at hand. Mrs. Knittel's relatives all resided in San Francisco, and for four days following the quake they heard nothing of them, and had no means of telling whether they had perished or not.

San Francisco is being rapidly rebuilt, although, of course, there is an immense amount of work to be done yet, and it is estimated that it will be four or five years before building will be completed. In some sections it is like a Nevada mining camp, with street after of small wooden shacks. The merchants, for the most part, are in temporary premises, most of them in private houses, and will remain there until the business section is built up. The greatness of the calamity that befel the city is shown by the fact that one year after the shock there are still a large number of people living in the refugee camps, which were established immediately after the earthquake. They will not be permitted to do so much longer, however, as an order has been issued by the city that the camps must be broken up before August 1st.

Big wages are of course being paid, carpenters receiving $6 per day. Workmen from all over the States have poured in there, but there is work for all. The result is that trade is flourishing. The cost of living is, however, very high. Coal has been selling from $15 to $22 a ton, and at certain periods it has been impossible to get any. San Francisco would seem to be a good place for the industrious hen, as eggs have been selling at 60c per dozen, while butter is retailed at 80c per pound. Rent is as high as everything else, and the wages must necessarily be good in order that people may live. Even as it is, there are constant strikes for higher wages in all lines of work.

On Wednesday night a big banquet was given at the Fairmount Hotel to commemorate the shock, when 1003 persons were expected to be present.

Mrs. Knittel has not visited Peterborough before in 33 years, and naturally sees many changes for the better.

In Union Hall

Mr. W. P. Douglas will preach tomorrow night at 7 o'clock in the Union Hall, Simcoe street, above Browns feed store. All are welcomed.

SHRIEKS OF BURNING WOMEN AT CHAPLEAU BEYOND DESCRIPTION

Mr. Edward Turner of London, England, Gives Graphic Account of the Terrible Wreck—Was in Car That Went Down Embankment.

HIS SAMPLES WERE BURNED

The scenes of horror which met the gazes of the surviving passengers of the ill-fated train which met its doom in the terrible Chapleau wreck a few days ago were graphically told to an Examiner representative this morning by Mr. Edward E. Turner, of London, England, who was in the city to-day on his homeward journey. Mr. Turner was one of the passengers in the first-class car which ran down the embankment, at the bottom of which fifteen persons were cremated after all means of escape from the horrible trap were eliminated. He is a commercial man for the Tabourier Dry Goods Co., of Paris, France, and to-day called upon Mr. Robert Fair, who deals extensively with that company.

Mr. Turner was on his way to Western Canada, and had intended to go to Victoria, B.C., had it not been for the wreck, which has caused him to return to England. His dry goods samples were burned, so that it would have been useless for him to proceed. His only injury was a slight scratch on one finger, as the coach in which he was sitting was not overturned.

A Harrowing Scene

Of the train load of cars, only four tumbled down the fifteen feet of embankment into the edge of the lake. The first was a baggage car, the second and third were colonist, and the fourth was a first-class passenger car. The fifth was pulled off the rails, and the remainder, including the engine, first baggage, and express cars were left on the track above, with nothing but the torn and twisted rails connecting them.

The scene of the burning of the cars on the edge of the lake, Mr. Turner states, was a sight never to be forgotten. Human beings were encased in them, struggling with all their power for life so dear to them. The doors were blockaded by persons fighting to gain an exit into the fresh air and away from the scorching, deadly fire, which spread almost instantly throughout the car.

The shrieking of the men, women and children heard above the crackling of the fierce flames were heartrending and beyond description. The rapidity with which the blaze spread was amazing. Mr. Turner was only about a quarter of a minute in getting the outside, and at that time the first colonist car was all aflame. He attributes the cause to the fire escaping from the stove in that car and exploding the acetylene gas. The first explosion burst a hole in the roof and threw up a flame five inches in diameter about six feet into the air.

Back to Chapleau

The surviving passengers were all taken back to Chapleau, a distance of about 25 miles. In order to get an engine, a telegraph message had to be sent by way of Chicago, as the train had broken a pole and cut off the connections to the west. The message travelled about 1,000 miles to tell of a disaster only 25 miles distant. It was there that medical aid was summoned to care for the wounded and burned.

Mr. Turner believed that had the train been lighted by electricity and had side doors been used the loss of life would have been nothing.

This was the second wreck in which Mr. Turner has been, and in both he has had miraculous escapes. While travelling in the United States a few years ago a train was derailed, severely injuring 40 people, but he passed through it with only slight injuries.

C. G. E. NEW BUILDING A HIVE OF INDUSTRY

Cement and Carpenter Work is Being Rapidly Pushed Forward

The construction work on the new C.G.E. building is progressing rapidly. The roof of the whole building is almost completed and the cement pillars are being rapidly built up to full height. The method of moving the cement from the mixer to the place where it is needed is quite interesting. There is a steam hoist which lifts the cement to the very roof and is quickly transferred to iron wheel barrows as it is needed. About twenty feet from the ground there is a wide platform extending around the building but the cement pillars are far higher than this and there is a movable chute which leads from the roof to the pillars and which can be moved along to any pillar.

By these arrangements the cement is taken to the roof in large quantities; a row of iron barrows is ready and as they are filled the labourers wheel them to a chute and the contents of each is quickly dispatched to the wooden mold for it. Thus it does not take long for a pillar to be built up. The flooring of the first gallery is also being laid and there are evidences of business all around the building.

IMPROVEMENTS TO SOUTH END BRANCH

Bank of Ottawa Presents a Much Improved Appearance—New Grill Work In.

Considerable improvements have been made to the south end branch of the Bank of Ottawa, and in future the staff will be in a position to serve the bank's customers more comfortably.

New grill work has been put in, and linoleum laid on the floor. With these improvements the bank presents a much better appearance and is a credit to the institution and to the local manager.

ONE Sunday morning recently the pastor of a church in a town of Western Massachusetts, remarked to his wife, upon returning from service:

"Mary, there was a stranger at service this morning."

"What did he look like?" asked the wife.

"I don't know," was the answer, for I didn't see him."

"Then, how do you know he was a stranger?"

"Because I found a dollar in the contribution box," replied the pastor.

DRUMMOND AND LAURIER
Montreal Witness.

BY DIFFERENT means the late Dr. Drummond and Sir Wilfrid Laurier have spent their lives towards the same end — to sweeten the intercourse between French and English-speaking Canadians, to make each known to the other, to further a compact based upon mutual respect and liking. Sir Wilfrid has succeeded by silver-tongued oratory, a magnetic personality — by refinement. Dr. the highest character, by the strength and the graces of the gentleman. Dr. Drummond succeeded in depicting the lowly, by showing us kindliness, humour and pathos in rustic settings. He has made a garden where there was none before, and the flowers in it shall be perennial.

IS THIS SWORN TO!
Belleville Intelligencer.

A MANITOBA farmer one day this spring found a score of men putting up telegraph poles all over his best field. He ordered the men away, but they wouldn't go. They showed him a paper that gave him authority to put up their poles wherever they wished. The old man looked at the paper, saw that it was lawful, and walked away in silence. He went into the barn and turned a savage red bull into the field. The bull made for the men, and the men fled at full speed, and the farmer shouted after them: "Show him your paper! Show him your paper!"

One Section—640 Acres

Land for Sale in Alberta

One fine section of good land, about nine miles from the Town of Sanfordly on the Canadian Northern Railway. The district is first-class, settled by Americans, Scotch and English. There are no Galicians or Doukhobers in the immediate vicinity, and the country round and about is filling up fast. The class of people coming into that locality is good. The farmer owning the place adjoining this section threshed about 9,000 bushels of wheat last year. The soil is not quite so heavy, as in the Edmonton district and on that account is considered better and the crops are considerably earlier. On this property there is a fine creek. About three quarters of the section is open prairie, the remainder having some brush upon it. Price $12.50 per acre, $3,000 cash, balance may be arranged mortgage at 6%. This is an excellent chance for two young enterprising farmers, desiring to locate in the West, to divide up the section between them and have a first class Farm. Further particulars may be had at the EXAMINER OFFICE, where full information may be had.

IS IT RESPONSIBLE GOVERNMENT?

Not satisfied with largely conducting the Government of the province by commission, the Whitney Government seems to have developed a weakness for governing by order-in-council, with the practical effect of side-tracking the Legislature, which is responsible to the people, who, in the last analysis, are the most concerned, and have the greatest right to full information. The proposal in the University Bill, permitting that two million dollars of the peoples' money may be expended by the Governors of the University on approval of the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council, otherwise the Government, was combatted by Hon. A. G. McKay, in the form of an amendment, providing that "all such orders-in-council shall be presented to the legislature for ratification." In speaking to his amendment, Mr. McKay said he wanted every farmer in the farthest township to take as much interest in the University, as in the little red school house. The Government was not taking the right way to interest the people in the University, by conveying the idea that its governing body was spending the people's money behind closed doors, and without consulting, and receiving, the approval of the peoples' representatives in the Legislature. It was proposed to pledge the credit of the province to the extent of two millions. What objection is there to letting the peoples' representatives pass upon the subject, by approving or disapproving of the orders-in-council, by which the money is directed to be spent? On principle it would be just as business-like to pass the estimates by order-in-council, without consulting the Legislature. No suspicion of evil, and, what, is more important, possibility of evil, can result from the Government taking the Legislature into their confidence, and informing it of the details of the proposed expenditure. As Hon. Mr. McKay truly says: "Knowledge begets confidence, and ignorance breeds suspicion." The University, no matter how highly it is benefitted with public funds, cannot exercise its greatest usefulness without its management financially enlists the confidence of the public. It is a poor way to win the peoples' confidence by devoting so great a sum as two millions of dollars of the peoples' money to be expended by the Board of Governors, on the authority of an order-in-council, without the peoples' trustees, the Legislature, being informed of, or sanctioning the details of the expenditure. Hon. Mr. Graham very pertinently asks, "What earthly excuse is there for not letting the Legislature know?" Is it responsible Government? In the days of the Family Compact we had government by order-in-council, and we know what came of it.

A GOOD OPENING

The Review is conducting a crusade of publicity. In spite of the conglomerate energy it is throwing into the contest, it is not meeting with very great success in exploiting the principle that newspaper reporters should be admitted to all meetings of School Board committees. It may have got a convert or two, but it has failed to convert the great statesmen it delights to honour, Hon. Mr. Whitney. He and his majority have given our esteemed contemporary a decided black eye. The Government led by Mr. Whitney, and its majority voted down an amendment of Hon. A. G. McKay favouring the admission of reporters to the meetings of the Board of Governors of Toronto University, who are to expend two millions of the people's money by Order-in-Council. Will the Review be consistent, and condemn and slang-whang Hon. Mr. Whitney, the Government and its supporters, as it has done the School Board? The University matter affords a good opening.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

"Ephraim is joined to his idols." The last act of the Whitney Government was to order the voting down of Hon. Mr. Graham's Bill to repeal the three-fifths local option clause.

Last year the British revenue from tobacco, did not realize expectations, and the revenue from the alcoholic groups showed a formidable decline. This is hard on the treasury, but good for the home.

The coal dealer smiles at the idea of burning babes. Even if the scheme is successful he will still smile. We can't get the babes without burning coal. Which goes to show that, as Hamlet philosophises, "a man may smile, and smile, and smile, and be a —coal dealer."

A Montreal brute, masquerading as a man, put his five-months-old baby in a basket and placed it in a hot oven. Human law hardly apply an adequate punishment, but a fitting punishment will come if the good old hard pan theology, which kept hell at a white heat, was right and is still in force. The man was given to drink, and in his cups was a veritable brute. His wife was afraid of him, and his mother-in-law put the law in motion and had her precious son-in-law arrested. Score one for the much-maligned mother-in-law.

Europe spent in round numbers £200,000,000 on its army and £80,000,000 on its navy in 1906, as against £146,000,000 and £60,000,000, respectively, in 1898. That is to say, Europe spends to-day £280,000,000 on its army and navy as against £206,000,000 in 1898, a total increase of £74,000,000, or, say, 20 per cent. Seventy-four millions a year is equivalent to 4 per cent. interest upon a capital sum of £1,850,000,000. That remarks the Review of Reviews, is the fine in which the Governments have mulcted their peoples by their refusal to act upon the stand-still proposition of the Czar in 1899, and to adopt the peacemaking methods recommended by The Hague convention.

Assessors' returns show that the population of Ontario County was nearly six hundred less in 1906 than it was in 1905. Eleven townships out of eighteen show a falling off. Thomb declined by 80, Reach by 72, Scott by 60, and Pickering, a township famous the continent over for the number of well-known breeders located therein, fell off to the extent of 47. Ontario is suffering loss of manhood in the interests of the Canadian West. The numerous farmers, the bullion of our population, are not lost to Canada, but they are a great loss to Ontario. Our Provincial Government, if it can't stop this drain of population, might take some more energetic steps to counteract its effects by good British immigration.

The use, or, rather, abuse, of strong drink is becoming every day more unpopular, both as a matter of general habit, and as an object of governmental repression and regulation. In Quebec Province the crusade against drink excess takes the form of moral antagonism, expressed by clerical activity in promoting temperance organizations and episcopal condemnation of the habit. In Ontario, local option is largely employed as what the sportsmen call a "runner-up" for prohibition. In France, even, Government activity is enlisted against drunkenness. M. Clemenceau, in a circular issued, says that the abuse of spirituous liquors attracts the public attention so largely that the Government is not justified in remaining indifferent. In conformity with the anti-alcoolic groups of the Senate and Chamber of Deputies, pending the enactment of new measures, the Government enjoins upon local officials the rigourous application of existing laws to suppress drunkenness and decrease the number of drinking places.

UNFAIR TREATMENT

There is a suggestion of cowardice in the Government's treatment of Mr. Hastings. The truth is that Mr. Hastings was dismissed on demand of the license-broking, ward-heeling element of the Conservative party, and not on account of any failure of duty or of any dissatisfaction with the manner in which the work was performed. This was officially confessed by the Minister who ordered his dismissal, and it is unfair now to blacken his character and misrepresent his service. It is noteworthy that when he appeared before Commissioner Starr he was treated with respect and discretion, and that nothing was suggested or established which was to his discredit. Ministers and members of the Legislature know also that Mr. Hastings acted with reserve, showed no petty malice and no vindictiveness, and was not at all eager to use his opportunity to discredit either local Conservative politicians or members of the Government. In short, Mr. Hastings was a good public officer, he was dismissed for strictly party reasons, and it is useless and ungenerous for the Government, Mr. McNaught or any other Conservative politician to seek to create any other impression in the public mind.—Toronto News.

THE CHURCH OF THE FUTURE

The Rev. Dr. Symonds gave the last of this season's addresses to students of the city in Christ Church Cathedral, Montreal, last Sunday evening, and took as his subject:—"The Church of the Future." He earnestly declared that the age needs a simpler Gospel, that the Church should cling less to tradition and appeal more to scripture and common sense. And with a simpler gospel would come of necessity a wider fellowship. "Let us suppose, said Dr. Symonds, "that our Lord commissioned us to be the organizers of his church. Let us suppose that he revealed to us the principles which were to underlie it. That He said: The society that you have to form is to be a universal society. It must be so constructed that all men shall be able to realize their common nature, their common relationship to God, their common brotherhood with each other. The society is not to destroy other forms of social organization, but it is to include them in its wider scope. The two principal things which are to prevail in it are the love of God and the love of man. What these really are—what I mean by the love of God and the love of man—I have shown you in my own life and by my own words. So long as you are faithful in the promotion of this very society, so long will my spiritual presence be with you, to help and cheer you in the task. Now, with such instructions, let us suppose that we met together to carry them out. Can you imagine that any one would get up to say: The best possible way in which to organize this universal society and to realise the fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man is to start a dozen smaller societies, each quite independent of the other, each worshipping in different ways, each composing its own creed and each organizing itself as it sees fit?" The first and supreme purpose of the Universal Church, says Dr. Symonds, is the realization in it of the true spirit of the Master, the spirit of love to God and love of man. There must be organization, as no society could exist without it, there must be some statement of belief; but the creed of the universal society or church must be made wide, as elastic as possible, and organization and creed should not be exalted above the principles and spirit of Jesus Christ. Dr. Symonds believes it to be possible to provide for various types of worship within one body, and for the maintenance of harmony in that body, even if everybody did not see eye to eye in everything. Whether such an organization may seem possible to every reader or not, or even whether it may seem the true fulfilment of every one's ideal of the spiritual church, what Dr. Symonds says is food for thought, and one cannot but admire his earnestness and the love which prompts him to counsel unity and suggest way to that end.

"THE LILY OF QUITO" THE SUBJECT

A Very Able Essay by Mrs. V. Donaghue Before the St. Peter's Literary Society.

LARGE AUDIENCE PRESENT

A large audience assembled last evening at the regular meeting of the Ladies' Literary Society of St. Peter's T. A. S. in the assembly hall to enjoy the excellent programme presented. This consisted of an able essay on "The Lily of Quito," by Miss V. Donoghue and a bright musical programme introduced by Miss Crowley, who occupied the chair for the evening.

In very beautiful language, quite in harmony with the life of this humble servant of God, Miss Donoghue, in a pleasing manner presented to the audience a most accurate account of her life, showing wherein she was an exemplification of piety, humility and patience.

The following is a short resume of this very interesting essay:

For the purpose of manifesting the force of His Divine grace and of enlivening the fervour of faith among the inhabitants of South America, it pleased Almighty God at the commencement of the seventeenth century to place before the world a most astounding example of extraordinary perfection and holiness in the person of "The Lily of Quito," which she was fittingly called. Her advent was hailed with inconceivable joy and she served as a shining light to all humanity.

The birth took place on the 31st of October, 1618. Her father was a nobleman, a descendant of one of the most illustrious of Spanish families of that kingdom. Her parents possessed so much devotion and Christian piety that they were as a model to the whole community in which they resided. At its earliest infancy God took possession of this precious soul and filled it with the treasures of His grace, preparing it for that lofty perfection to which form all eternity he had destined it. As the devout child advanced in years she daily increased in perfection. A disrelish and disgust for the things of earth, a love of solitude and silence, a fervour of piety and devotion and the greatest delicacy of conscience were every day more and more visible in her. Her life was one of solitude in her own home, where she subjected herself to various forms of penance. When not employed in innocent occupations her time was spent in acts of piety. Her cell became her paradise, prayer her element and she enjoyed that tranquil faith which is sweetest worship, because it seems to say that all is at peace, because God is concerned.

Although extraordinary graces were bestowed upon this pious soul, yet she received very severe crosses, realizing as she did that suffering is the one grand similitude of Christ she bore all her sufferings with the sweetest patience. During the last years of her life she suffered much. On the 25th of May, 1645, after a very severe illness, which she bore with unparalelled fortitude, her pure spirit quitted her mortal body and was calmly yielded into the hands of her creator, whom she had so faithfully served. For a just soul like hers death was something sweet and desirable, delighted as it was at the idea of reaching its longed for goal. Her mortal remains were consigned to the tomb with all the ceremonies befitting such a peaceful death.

The fame of the wonderful "Lily of Quito" and the odor of her heroic virtues still remain, not only in South America but in all parts of the Catholic world, where her memory will ever remain as a model of extraordinary patience and suffering.

The heroic virtues of this precious soul very very ably portrayed by Miss Donoghue and the essay proved to be a source of much interest to all who had the pleasure of hearing it.

The musical programme, both in the election and manner of presenting it, afforded great pleasure to the audience. The various renditions reflected much credit upon the performers and proved to be most artistic.

The following was the musical programme presented:

Instrumental—Miss B. Flynn.
Vocal Solo—Miss N. Fitzgerald.
Vocal Solo—Master Joe Clancy.

The accompanists of the evening were Misses Geraldine Rudkins and Josie Clancy.

The next meeting of the society will be held on Friday evening, April 26th, when a paper on "The Heroines of Shakespeare," will be read by Miss K. McGrath.

A wedding of considerable local interest took place at Richfield Springs, N.Y., on Wednesday last, when, at the home of the bride's father, Miss Mabel Markel, was united in marriage to Mr. William Haggart, son of Mr. James E. Haggart of this city. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Cook, in the presence of the immediate relatives of the contracting parties, and a few intimate friends. The bride and groom were unattended. Mr. and Mrs. Haggart are in the city at the present time on a visit with the former's parents, and will remain for a few days. They will reside in Richfield Springs.

CLOSING EXERCISES OF GYM. CLASS

Physical Department of the Y. M. C. A. Gave Enjoyable Programme Last Night in Gymnasium.

SPLENDID WORK WAS DONE

Last night the gymnasium of the Y.M.C.A., contained perhaps the largest audience that has ever gathered in it, the occasion being the closing exercises of the Winter Gymnasium classes, under the direction of Mr. E. Dingman, who is now closing his first season's work as Physical Director of the local association. The young men gave exhibitions of physical work, which not only delighted but surprised those who saw them.

Every class, excepting the Business Men's Class, was represented in the exercises last night, and the work of some of the younger boys, especially, was a revelation to the spectators.

Mr. G. L. Galley, the chairman of the Physical Committee of the Committee of the Association, acted as chairman, and in a few words expressed the pleasure which it gave him, as representing that branch of the work of the association, to welcome so many of the friends of to their closing exercises. This evidence of interest in the work was very gratifying to the boys and to the one who had charge of the work.

The performance of the different classes was a high tribute to the work of the Physical Director, whose efficiency has been amply demonstrated. During the evening a vocal solo was given by Miss Howell, and was greatly enjoyed.

The Junior School Boys' Class gave the first portion of the programme, their work including class apparatus work, and musical dumbbell drill, obstacle race and Indian club race. A fencing bout for the championship of the association, between M. Dobbin and E. Mann, created considerable interest. It was won by Mann, who was presented with a set of fencing foils by the fencing master, Sergt.-Major Brittain, who, during the season just closed, has instructed a class from the senior school boys, and who has taken a deep interest in their instruction.

An exhibition of wrestling was given by H. Staunton and A. Elliott. Elliott getting the first fall, and the second bout was declared a draw.

This was followed by work on the parallel bars and mats by the Intermediate Leader Corps, and in this they were assisted by H. Lees and D. Lees, of the Junior Leaders, whose mat tumbling was exceptionally good, and the little lads' work was greeted with great applause.

A senior basketball game between the Harriers and a picked team, resulted in a win for the former by 48-20.

Peculiar Position In Which Mayor Is Placed

Correspondent Asks Which Duty Has Precedence—That of Mayor or Lawyer—He Defends An Acknowledged Law-Breaker.

A CONFLICT OF DUTIES

Editor of Examiner,—

Dear Sir, — I note with pleasure your appreciative article yesterday upon the Children's Aid Society. I was pleased to see this. I take a great interest in this society, which is doing a good work, and, with proper support and enforcement of the laws which govern it, is capable of doing much more. This suggests a little inquiry as to a peculiar position in which, it seems to me, the Mayor has placed himself. A few days ago a man was tried, and convicted, of the serious offence of assaulting and obstructing an officer of the law, the agent of the Children's Aid Society, in the discharge of his duty. The Mayor, who, as first magistrate of the city, is particularly charged with the enforcement of the law, was active in professionally preventing the enforcement of the law. Is there any inconsistency in this? Is it permitted to play, in other guise, the role of Dr. Jekyl and Mr. Hyde? As a lawyer, Mr. McWilliams is to be commended for doing his best for his client. But which capacity shall have the precedence when the question of enforcement of the law is involved, and especially the law in relation to the Children's Aid Society, which has special claims upon all classes of citizens? I know of cases where local lawyers have refused retainers to defend persons charged with an offence against this law. One lawyer accepted such a brief but, when he learned that his client was charged with an offence against the Children's Aid Society, he very commendably threw up his brief, and refused to act. I don't object to Mr. McWilliams practising his profession, but I should like to know, what his professional duty, and his duty as Mayor, come into conflict, as in the case referred to, which is to have the preference? It strikes me that in the Cochrane-Duncan case the Mayor's place would have more properly been seen on the bench with the police magistrate than on the floor of the court room, defending, and condoning, if even under admittedly proper professional privilege, a breach of the law which, as Mayor, it is his peculiar duty to enforce. Am I right?

OBITUARY

MRS. CHRISTOPHER CROWE

The many Peterborough people who summer at the east end of Stony Lake as well as many residents of Peterborough County will regret to hear of the death this morning at Crowe's Landing, Stony Lake, of Mrs. Christopher Crowe, who has lived for many years at that point. The cottagers at the lake were accustomed to secure eggs, milk, etc., from her and she was thus very well known and liked by the members of the summer colony.

The deceased is survived by her husband, one daughter, Miss Cora, and one son Walter, residing at home. The funeral will take place on Monday morning to the Norwood Cemetery, and Mrs. Haggart are in the city

One could not tell all there is to tell about Semi-ready Tailoring. From the book, "Dress and Address," one may gain some clear idea of the Semi-ready tailoring system.

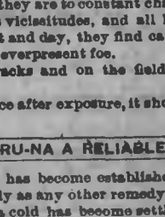
The foreman of the Montreal Herald, who printed the book, said, "If a man is not convinced by studying this book, there may be something the matter with the book; but if the same man has not been benefitted by the study of some Semi-ready book, there is something the matter with the man." This is the book which is being given away at the Semi-ready department in Cressman's big store.

BIG RACE TO TAKE PLACE TO-NIGHT

George Street Clothing Merchant and His Clerk Will Run Eight City Blocks at 11 O'clock

At 11 o'clock to-night there will be pulled off a foot-race that promises to excel in interest anything that has taken place in Peterborough since the Examiner road race. The contestants are a well-known George street clothing merchant and one of his clerks, who is equally well known. It seems funny to hear that a daylight merchant is going to run races after dark, but it is nevertheless true. The course will be from Hunter street to Smith street, and it is expected that the night-watchman will not look up the city until after 11 o'clock. Both are anxious to beat all existing records for the fastest time between these two points. The Radial Railway Co. at present hold the record.

The Piano Loved by Musicians



There are pianos, living off their past reputation. There are others that do not enjoy the same reputation in Canada that they are supposed to hold in other lands.

The New Scale Williams is no such piano. It is loved for itself.

The ravishing tone, in all its glorious sweetness, evenness and volume—the sensitive, sympathetic touch—the power and possibilities of this magnificent instrument—make it the delight of the artist, the proudest possession of the home.

The builders of the New Scale Williams make price the last consideration. It is solely a question of superiority at every stage of the work.

The New Scale Williams Piano

is mechanically and architecturally perfect. Its creation from wood and metal is the work of master hands, directed by the deans of the art of piano building.

It is, beyond question, Canada's finest piano, and one of the world's masterpieces. It is the virtuoso's preference—the singer's greatest assistant—the choice of the teacher—the joy of the amateur.

Fill in the coupon below—take to your local dealer or send to us—and receive, absolutely free, several booklets issued by us—all beautifully illustrated and wonderfully interesting to anyone contemplating the purchase of a piano.

Our easy payment plan enables practically everyone to buy one of these superb instruments.

ADMIRAL'S WORDS CARRY WEIGHT.

REAR-ADMIRAL HICHBORN is one of the best known admirals of our navy.

His statement concerning Peruna will have much weight as it goes out into the world.

What he says is echoed by many other naval officers of high standing.

WHAT THE ADMIRAL SAYS.

Philip Hichborn, Rear-Admiral United States Navy, writes from Washington, D. C., as follows:

"After the use of Peruna for a short period, I can now cheerfully recommend your valuable remedy to any one who is in need of an invigorating tonic."—Philip Hichborn.

AN EVERPRESENT FOE.

The soldier and the sailor are especially subject to catarrh in some form or phase.

Exposed as they are to constant changes, subject as they are to various vicissitudes, and all kinds of climate, wet and dry, night and day, they find catarrh to be their most insidious and everpresent foe.

In the barracks and on the field, Peruna is equally efficacious.

Taken at once after exposure, it should prevent catching cold.

PE-RU-NA A RELIABLE REMEDY.

After a cold has become established, Peruna will break it up as quickly as any other remedy known.

Even after a cold has become settled in some organ of the body, Peruna can be relied upon to promptly dispel it.

Peruna will relieve catarrh, whether acute or chronic, but a few doses taken in the first stages of the disease will be more effective than when the disease has become chronic.

If you suffer from catarrh in any form, do not neglect it. Take Peruna at once. Delays in such matters are dangerous.

CHRONIC CATARRH OF THROAT.

"I was troubled with catarrh of the throat particularly, and suffered considerably as a result thereof for a period of about five years, and my general health was affected.

SOUGHT CHANGE OF CLIMATE.

"Three years ago I was forced to give up business, and took up my residence in the Western country, looking for relief in change of climate as well as a change in the method of treatment for my ailment.

RELIEF IN PE-RU-NA.

"After much expense, both here and in the West, I was induced by a friend to try Peruna. I continued the use of it for about five weeks, at the end of which time I returned to New York, both well and happy."—Wm. H. Switeu, 225 E. 33rd street, New York City.

USED PE-RU-NA IN HIS FAMILY.

"I have used Peruna in my family with very satisfactory results for the last two years. Besides I have recommended it to all whom I think are in need of it.

"I urge all who are afflicted to buy a bottle and begin its use at once. I have never heard of any who have used it to be dissatisfied with the results."—Frank W. Harris, box 24, Basic City, Va., member A. F. & A. M.

A TYPICAL TESTIMONIAL.

Mr. J. H. Galbraith, 880 West Second Ave., Columbus, Ohio, writes:

"I have been a sufferer of catarrh of the stomach and kidneys for seven years. Doctors did me no good, and after taking Peruna for six months, at intervals, I believe I am cured. My appetite returned, I sleep well and work every day. I always have it in the house."

No remedy ever yet devised has received such unstinted eulogy from so many renowned statesmen and military men as Peruna.

We have on file thousands of testimonials like those given above. We can give our readers only a glimpse of the vast array of endorsements Dr. Hartman is receiving.

DEPUTY GRAND MASTER VISITS MASONIC LODGE

Rt. Wor. Bro. E. R. Bounsall, of Bowmanville, D. D. G. M., of Otonabee District, No. 20, paid an official visit to Corinthian Lodge, No. 101, G. R. C. last night. There was a very large attendance of the brethren present and the work was greatly enjoyed. The usual banquet followed the business meeting.

HOW WISE MEN MAKE MONEY VERY FAST

By buying land in the way of a growing city you convert your dollars into hundreds and your hundreds into thousands. The more you buy the more money you must make. I know for a fact, that land bought 10 miles outside a city's limits for $100 per acre sold within 20 years for $5000 per acre—$4900 was a good profit per acre. I offer you land on Western Avenue less than a quarter of a mile outside Peterboro's limits and in the way of the most rapid growth. In Blocks of 8 lots, 30x140 feet for $75.00 per lot and only ask you to pay $10 cash and $5.00 per month. Those lots will be worth say $800 each within 10 years or $6,400, besides having the use of the land. You make a clean profit of $4800 on each block of 8 lots.

Assets Largest Of Any Library In The Province

Report of Library Inspector States That Local Library Has Larger Assets Than Any Other Free Library.

SOME INTERESTING FACTS

A report, supplementary to the annual report of the Minister of Education, dealing with the public libraries, literary and scientific institutions of Ontario, has been published by the Legislature of Ontario. From it some interesting facts concerning the public libraries of the Province are learned.

The Peterborough Public Library last year, according to the report, had a total revenue of $1,432.74, made up as follows: Legislative grant, $6,190.39; members' fees, $541.35; other sources, $701. The expenditure is given as $1,136.09. There are 401 members, and in the library are 10,393 volumes, the number issued during the year being 13,945. There were 88 periodicals on the tables. The financial condition of the library is excellent, assets of $12,636.74, and liabilities of only $240. So far as the assets are concerned, Peterborough Public Library is ahead of any other public library in the Province by several thousand dollars.

One of the most interesting features of the report is that in reference to travelling libraries, the Inspector speaking of them, says:

One of the greatest obstacles hindering the growth of public libraries in small communities is the difficulty experienced in securing sufficient funds for the purchase of new books. The Government grant, being based upon the amount expended annually for books, is necessarily small, consequently demands are constantly made for a larger grant. A very large increase would be necessary to effect any substantial improvement among the small libraries, as the major portion of the grant would be absorbed by the larger libraries. A systematic and continued effort should be made to give access to collections of good books by farmers and the residents of small villages. To accomplish such a desirable result, I recommend the development of and increase in the number of Travelling Libraries. Heretofore the Travelling Libraries of the Province have practically been confined to the lumber camps of New Ontario. The camps are only operated on an average of six months in the year, consequently during the balance of the time the books are idle. In view of the fact that struggling libraries in the older portion of the Province would gladly circulate the books at any time it is evident that a change should be made under the Travelling Libraries will be kept constantly in use.

The failure of small libraries (Several of which have been closed during the past year for lack of funds) can be easily traced to the following causes:—

1. The purchase of books not suited to the class of readers. These are usually valuable books, including many costly historical works, which the community declare "uninteresting."

2. Infrequent supplies of new books.

I have not found a small library languishing when new and suitable volumes have been supplied. With fresh books a country library remains as vigourous as a city library.

To inaugurate a new system of library, extension, simple, practical and economical, it is necessary to enter the Travelling Library. Each library should consist of about fifty books, to be sent out in a convenient case. The outfit should contain a small register and a type-written catalogue. Said libraries should be loaned to the small or struggling Public Libraries for three months. By establishing circuits of from ten to twelve libraries in a county or group of counties the cost of changing the libraries would be reduced to the minimum and the duplication of books guarded against. A few of the libraries should be made up to suit the needs of special organizations, clubs or localities. Under such a plan these libraries would be used in four different places during the year, and it is safe to say that the circulation of the books by this means would be quadrupled. The local library would pay transportation charges and for any volumes lost or damaged beyond ordinary wear.

A few travelling libraries have been prepared and sent out as indicated. The system will be rapidly extended in 1907.

Dealing with the general condition of the libraries of the Province the report says:—

During the past year library conditions in the Province show a steady improvement. The conditions have been very favourable, arising principally from the erection and equipment of the libraries which have received gifts from Mr. Andrew Carnegie. These libraries are placed on a permanent basis, they are able in many instances to secure the services of trained librarians who have inaugurated modern methods of classification and numerous other improvements fruitful in good results. The friends of library progress upon the library boards and scattered through each community have taken heart, while the Ontario Library Association has exerted a powerful influence for progress. The combined result is shown in the education of the people, in the growing conviction that a Public Library is an essential part of the educational system that its maintenance is as necessary as is the maintenance of a public school. Once public sentiment upon this subject is aroused and educated through the press, from the platform and by individual appeals the result no longer can remain in doubt.

The Sun Was The Subject At An Interesting Lecture

Rev. Dr. Marsh's Edifying Address Before the Local Planet [illegible] of the Astronomical Society---The Attendance Was Large.

Solar physics was the subject dealt with at the meeting of the Peterborough section of the Royal Astronomical Society, at their meeting in the Y. M. C. A. hall last night. The principal part of the evening was occupied by an address on the sun by Rev. Dr. Marsh, of Springville, president of the society, whose remarks were listened to with great pleasure by the large number in attendance and proved exceedingly interesting and instructive. The lecture was illustrated by a large number of stereopticon views of the sun and other heavenly bodies, the majority of the slides being made from photographs. These aided greatly the speaker's remarks and made the lecture much more interesting than could have been the case without them.

The chair was occupied by Mr. Wm. Pringle, vice-president of the society, who presided in a most capable manner. The programme was opened by a song by Mr. Freeland, who has an excellent voice, and was warmly received last evening.

In speaking of the "Sun," Dr. Marsh stated at the beginning that it was not much use dwelling on the distance of the solar body from the earth. The distance between the two bodies, ninety-three million miles, was so great that the human mind could not grasp it. The sun is the centre of our solar system. Around it the different planets revolve and are kept in position by the central body. Although several hundred times larger than the earth, the sun is only a speck in the great dome of the heavens. If it were to disappear it would would not be missed among the myriad of stars that form the wonderful canopy of the skies. We, on this earth, would miss it, in fact, we would cease to exist just as soon as the sun was gone, but if some astronomer was left to view the heavens after the sun had disappeared he would likely only remark that one small star was missing from the great dome. The sun is a star, one of the second magnitude. Stars of the first magnitude are bluish white in colour and those of the second magnitude yellow. The sun was one of the latter. It is the source of all heat, life, vegetation; in fact, of nearly everything that exists on earth. The mighty rivers that carry their waters to the sea, the roar of the torrent, the music of the little brook that trickles down through the mountains, the green on the hillside and the vegetation that clothes our plains, are all the work of the sun. It has been only during the past fifteen years that astronomers have been able to study the sun satisfactorily. It is impossible to view it through an ordinary telescope owing to its great heat and light. But during the past fifteen years instruments have been invented that can be adjusted to the telescope which make it possible for the astronomer to study the sun with as much ease as he would turn his glass on the moon if he desired to view that body closely. The object of the instruments invented is to turn aside the heat and light of the sun and to let only a small quantity of these strike the eyepiece of the telescope when it is in position for observing the great solar body.

The views given of the sun showed the photosphere, chromosphere and feculae of the sun and also the solar prominences. The latter are the great fires that belch out from the edge of the sun and shoot off into space thousands of miles. They can be seen very plainly with a telescope and are a wonderful sight. Dr. Marsh expressed the opinion that meteors and comets were caused by this matter which shoots off from the sun. His theory was that at times these great fires belched so far out into space that they got beyond the sun's gravity and kept on travelling through the heavens. The sun, said Dr. Marsh, is a great gaseous, molten body that is forever on fire.

At the close of the lecture a hearty vote of thanks to Dr. Marsh was moved by Mr. D. W. Dumble and seconded by Mr. J. Coyle Brown.

Several minor matters in connection with the society were discussed before the close of the meeting and a number of new members were added to the roll. The total membership of the local branch now numbers 45.

The next meeting will be held on Friday, May 3rd, when Prof. Chant, of Toronto, a prominent astronomer, will give another lecture on solar physics, taking up other phases of the subject than those dealt with last night. The local branch is making great progress, a fact that was evidenced by the well-filled hall last evening.

"SUN BONNETS" WAS A SUCCESS

Amusing Dialogue Presented at the Y. W. C. A. Last Night to a Large Audience.

VERY ENJOYABLE EVENING

The Y. W. C. A. gymnasium was crowded last night, when a very successful entertainment was given under the auspices of the Domestic Science Committee. The chief feature of the programme was a very amusing dialogue, entitled, "The Sun-bonnets," which was cleverly presented and much enjoyed by the large audience present.

The dialogue consisted of two acts and proved the source of much amusement. The different parts were made the most of by the young ladies taking part, and the result was a very pleasing and enjoyable entertainment, which was punctuated at frequent intervals by outbursts of merriment from the audience.

Following is a list of those who took part, and the characters which they represented:

Mrs. Butterfield, Miss Bawden.
Charlina, Marion Dean.
Mrs. Pheelan, Miss Ross.
Mrs. DuBois, Miss Hazel Dean.
Mildred, her sister, Miss Lilian Dean.
Miss Tryphena Sandford, Miss Lochead.
Mrs. Martin, Miss Glady.
Mrs. Pendleton, Miss Burns.
Miss Malvina Simpson, Miss Fry.
Mrs. Crannon, Miss Hallett.

A very enjoyable musical programme was also rendered consisting of piano selections by Miss Wilhelmina Gumpricht; a vocal solo, by Miss Carrie Reesor, and a violin solo, by Miss K. Walks, all of which were ably rendered and greatly enjoyed, being greeted with loud applause.

The success of the entertainment must indeed be gratifying to Miss Bawden and the members of the Domestic Science Committee, who are to be congratulated upon the excellent entertainment which they arranged.

Health And Vitality For Old People

As old age creeps on vitality is lowered, the heart beats more slowly, the blood becomes more thin and watery, and the power of resistance is lowered. It is the old people above all others who require the new life and energy which come with the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. Thousands of old people depend on this treatment, because it calms and quiets the nerves, gradually and certainly enriches the blood, builds up the system and instils new life and vigour into their shrivelled arteries.

RUSH FOR CARPETS AT TURNBULL'S SALE

The Opening Days of the Big Brussels Sale Largely Attended.

The great loads of Brussels Carpets which were opened up for sale yesterday at The J. C. Turnbull Company's store were attracting many buyers. The orders on Friday and today justify the assurance that the prices and the qualities will make quick work of the 3,700 yards. The great piles of beautiful samples displayed in the George street show windows have have caused general comment and discussion among housekeepers and others. The Brussels carpets are in beautiful designs and harmonizing colour effects. The carpet rooms were very busy to-day, and there is every prospect of still greater crowds next week, as in many homes spring housecleaning will soon be under way. The big store intends to make carpet history during this sale by selling Brussels carpet at the price of tapestry.

YOUNGS POINT PIER NEARLY COMPLETED

New Gates at Burleigh Give: Steamers Better Time.

The work of installing the new cement pier at Young's Point is now almost completed. It stretches from the new bridge, across the canal to a point about 350 feet above. The channel has also been widened to permit of an easier entrance to the locks and will be a great convenience to the steamboatmen, particularly on dark nights.

The Burleigh locks have also been greatly improved. Three pair of new gates have been installed with the latest valve on the market. The improved system of opening the gates has also been used, so that now they can be swung in half the time as before. This will allow steamers to go through the locks in much less time than was necessary in the past. The work at Burleigh Falls was completed by Contractor John Henthrone.

CHORAL CLASS ACHIEVED SUCCESS

Under the Able Leadership of Mr. W. E. McCann, of the Conservatory of Music.

The Conservatory of Music for the second time this season, delighted a Warsaw audience with a concert conducted under their auspices. Its chief feature was the work of the Choral Class of Warsaw, the members of which have received singing lessons from Mr. W. E. McCann, of the Conservatory staff. They were taught as a chorus and some individually, and Mr. McCann should be highly elated with the excellent results he has achieved. Lessons were commenced in November last, and this concert marked the conclusion of Mr. McCann's efforts. The class has forty-two members, and the work of teaching the different mixed voices has been thorough, judging from the quality of their singing. This is the first year for the Warsaw Choral Society, and it behooves the members to co-operate and make it an even greater success by another year's tuition.

The Choral Class contributed four numbers and were encored several times. They were particularly effective in "The Violet and the Bee," and in a "Goodnight" song. There were no opportunities for solo work, but the ensembles were excellent and the class followed Mr. McCann in every variation of tone and pitch. It is a distinct proof of his ability that he has been able to cultivate so many voices in such a short time and to render in public such standard selections without a falter. Mrs. McCann as accompanist, greatly assisted the class.

The rest of the programme was made up of numbers contributed by local pupils of the Conservatory. Miss Julia Choate delighted the audience with two violin solos, played with the finesse that is always a feature of Miss Choate's selections. Miss Choate's success is eagerly followed by the people of Warsaw.

Mrs. Patterson-Mowry gave several readings which were also greatly appreciated, and return numbers demanded.

Mr. L. Mendel contributed a mandolin selection and was given a warm encore, and the Mandolin Club, composed of Messrs. Holland, Cranfield, Mendel and Theobald, were heard twice, and as often recalled.

The concert was well attended, and was in every way an unqualified success.

PRESENTED ADDRESS TO MR. M'CANN

Leader of the Warsaw Choral Society Agreeably Surprised by His Pupils at Close of Season's Work.

A CONCERT AND SUPPER

At the conclusion of the concert held in the town hall in Warsaw last night the Choral class and the pupils from Peterboorugh who assisted were invited to the music hall over Mr. Choate's store where a sumptuous spread had been prepared by the ladies of the village. About sixty people were seated about the prettily decorated tables, the seat of honour being occupied by Mr. McCann, the efficient conductor of the Warsaw Choral Society and Dr. Douglas acted as chairman for the toast list that followed.

Ample justice was done the dainty feast, of which nothing was stinted to make it enjoyable by all. An impromtu list of toasts were drunk and a short musical programme given by some of the musicians present.

The main toast was to our guest, proposed by Dr. Douglas and responded to by Mr. McCann. Dr. Douglas paid Mr. McCann many glowing triubtes as a gentleman and as a musical director and referred to the culture that he had brought to the young people of Warsaw by his weekly visits. He then read the following address:—

Mr. McCann:

Dear Sir,—As the term of the Choral Society comes to an end to-night, we cannot let the occasion pass, without expressing to you our appreciation of your work during the past winter.

We believe your work to be of a thorough and high order, and look forward with pleasure to the next season's term, when, we believe, much better may be expected of us, through your teaching.

Your uniform courtesy and sustained energy has been noticed by all and the Society wish to thank you for your unflagging interest, even under trying conditions.

On the Conservatory notifying us of their selection of you, they said that it was their feeling, a better selection could not have been made. We are in a position to-night to sustain that judgment.

Your teaching on piano and organ has been equally satisfactory, and good progress has been made by the pupils.

We believe a much larger class of pupils will be available next term, and that your motto "Quality before Quantity" is amply justified.

May abundant success ever follow you, is our earnest wish.

Before closing, let us say that we appreciate the enterprise of the Conservatory in bringing the advantages of such a training to our doors.

Signed on behalf of the Society,

A. F. CHOATE,
G. L. McCLENNAN,
T. DOUGLAS, M. D.

Mr. McCann although taken completely by surprise made an appropriate reply thanking the people of Warsaw for this evidence of the kindness which they had always extended towards him. Not only was he pleased with the evidences of willingness to learn singing on the part of the pupils but it was a greater pleasure to have met so many good people and be able to class them as friends. He made mention of the assistance Rev. W. L. Atkinson had rendered when the society was in its infancy and it was a source of regret to the speaker that Rev. Mr. Atkinson was not present.

The evening was brought to a close after the ladies had been formally thanked for their kindness and their unfailing efforts to make the banquet a success. Auld Lang Syne was heartily sung by the gathering and a very delightful evening passed into the history of Warsaw as the best ever enjoyed.

MR. SAUNDERS AND HIS ORGAN RECITAL

Mr. Saunders, at the George Street Methodist Church on Monday night, 29th April.

There are many "Storms" for the organ but most of them are merely cheap demonstrations of noise and thunder. "The Storm," by Saunders is undoubtedly the best, as apart from its dramatic interest, it contains some choice themes. It begins softly and after gradual crescendo, a theme suggestive of falling rain is heard, then the full volume of the organ is brought into play, and the storm is at its height. Then follows a hymn such as shipwrecked mariners might sing. The storm seems to revive and then gradually subsides and dies away.

The pedal solo is written for the simultaneous use of both feet — the hands play a secondary part.

Mr. Saunders renders this magnificently. Miss Davies and other artists take part in the recital.

OFFICIAL VISIT TO CORINTHIAN LODGE

Peterborough will be honoured on the 24th of May by the presence of a large number of the members of the Knights of Columbus. The convention here on that date will embrace representatives from Belleville and Lindsay, chiefly, and will number between 250 and 300 Knights.

It will be the occasion also of a large number of initiations which always take place at the time of such assemblies.

Last year this convention, it will be remembered, was held at Lindsay and proved to be successful in every particular.

CANADIAN INDUSTRIES PAY

Another Successful Year of a Leading Canadian Manufactory.

Montreal, April 19. — The annual meeting of the shareholders of the Slater Shoe Company was held at their offices in Montreal a few days ago. The address of the president laid stress on the continuous upward progress of the company's business since the standard price Slater Shoe became the feature of their business.

The Slater Company were the first Canadian manufacturers to adopt newspaper advertising as an adjunct to the more economical selling of their goods. In five years their business has more than doubled. In 1906, the increase over 1905, was exactly $200,000. While this year achieves the largest gross increase in a single year, it is also by far the largest percentage of increase in twelve months. The orders for the first two months of the present fiscal year exceed those of the corresponding months of the previous year by $159,000.

Ninety-eight new agencies were opened by the company during the year. Orders came unsolicited from many foreign countries, including South Africa, the West Indies and from Newfoundland. The president pointed out the need for more factory accommodation. "We have outgrown our present quarters," he said. The directors arranged to hold a special meeting to deal with factory requirements and extension.

The financial report of the secretary-treasurer, with the dividend declaration of 7 per cent. on both preferred and common stock, and a substantial balance added to the rest account, was received with approval by the shareholders.

The board of directors were elected as follows: Charles E. Slater, president; William Starke, vice-president; Anson McKim, J. N. Kim, W. F. Borland, William Smith, J. W. Woods and Major Robert Starke.

R. Neill, agent Slater Shoe, in Peterborough.

UNSOLICITED TESTIMONY

The Tate Optical Co., Peterborough:

Dear Sirs—During the last three or four years (prior to May last) my eyesight had failed to such an extent that I was unable to read or see anything at close range and could get no Glasses that would help me. I tried two different Opticians in Toronto and was told by both that they could do nothing for me, and that my sight would never be better. A statement of my case was sent to Montreal by a Hastings optician and several pairs of Glasses sent me, but with the same result: my vision could not be improved. Last May, while looking at a Pair of Glasses you made for Mr. John Fife, Keene, and talking with him he advised me to consult your Mr. Babcock, and I am pleased to say that the Pair of Glasses he made for me have given me entire satisfaction and I can do now what I have not done for years past—read any ordinary print and see distinctly at close range. I feel very grateful, not only for the interest you have taken in my case, but particularly so for the blessing of good eyesight. Thanks to your knowledge and skill.

Yours truly,

POISON THE CAUSE OF HIS DEATH

Symptoms In Perkins Case At Point to Use of Strychnine.

LARGE DOSES WERE TAKEN

Toronto Coroner On the Stand—Says Result of Analysis Left No Doubt—Line Defence Will Take—Counsel Asks For Production of Important Documents—Brother of Deceased Gives Evidence.

Cayuga, April 20.—Comparative quiet was observed in the Haldimand Assize Court yesterday as a result of Justice Mabee's decision to exclude the "assembly of curiosity seekers." The order is much resented by townspeople, many of whom have country visitors who had come in for the occasion.

The morning session was entirely taken up with medical testimony, the object of the defence being to account for Perkins' death as being primarily due to kidney disease, accelerated by strychnine taken in his medicine.

"Nobody here will deny that strychnine was found in the body, and that it contributed to his death," said Mr. Johnston, K. C., to Coroner Johnson immediately before that witness stated that strychnine in medicinal doses might be fatal if the subject was suffering from uraemic poisoning.

Applies For Documents.

Counsel for the defence made application for certain documents containing statements made by Thomas MacDonald and his mother, Justice Mabee ruled against the application.

Fred Goulding, who watched the Perkins' home on several occasions while MacDonald was there, was severely handled by Mr. Johnston, and admitted he was not on good terms with MacDonald.

"This witness—I will not call him a man," was typical of Mr. Johnston's mode of address.

Mr. Johnston endeavored to incriminate Detective Greer in suggesting evidence to witnesses, but none would admit that the evidence had been so influenced.

Mrs. Perkins retained her usual composure as she sat in court, looking paler than usual, and leaning over now and then to make a suggestion to counsel. She wept quietly while Mr. Johnston rebuked Mrs. Johnston of Amherstburg in the words taken from her letter, "if it hadn't been for Mrs. Perkins I would have lost my baby."

The defence intend to put Mrs. Perkins in the witness-box, and will also call on Dr. Edgar.

Medical Evidence.

As soon as the court opened, Mr. Johnston put in an affidavit and made application for certain written statements of Thomas MacDonald and his mother in the possession of the crown.

Dr. Baner of Hamilton was recalled, and said that the post-mortem revealed that the deceased had suffered from appendicitis.

Dr. A. Jukes Johnson, chief coroner for Toronto, said the symptoms and post-mortem led him to conclude that strychnine poisoning was the cause of death. If Perkins had taken 25 or 30 of the heart tablets it would have been a dangerous dose.

Mr. Johnston asked witness if he had ever given expert evidence and changed his opinion.

"Yes," said witness, "I have in this case."

"And you may again?"

"I may will your assistance," retorted the witness.

Mr. Johnston produced a book on poisons, which Mr. Johnson recommended to him some years ago as the best book on the subject, and cross-examined him at great length.

Would Be Disastrous.

Dr. Bruce Smith, inspector of prisons and public charities, followed, and was asked the result if a man, suffering from a disease of the kidneys, such as uraemic poisoning, were to take a small dose of strychnine.

"The effect would be disastrous," said witness.

Frank Arnoldi, K. C., produced a little dressmaking book found in Mrs. Perkins' home, and asked witness what the word "ptomaine," found there, meant. He described it as a form of poison arising in the system as a result of decomposed food.

Mr. Arnoldi replied to the application for documents. He said the defence could learn what were in the documents by putting the MacDonalds in the box. Mr. Johnston replied that the committal was partly in consequence of the testimony of the MacDonalds, and their statements were all material to the defence. The judge decided that he could not order the production, but would be open to consider any authorities Mr. Johnston might produce.

The Brother's Evidence.

John Perkins' name caused a little excitement. He is a civic foreman in the employ of Winnipeg. He said he knew the prisoner as his brother's wife, and had received a letter when he was in Winnipeg. Mrs. Perkins' read the letter with much agitation and admitted it as being hers. It told details of Henry's illness.

He came to Canfield in reply to a telegram from his sister, and saw Mattie Perkins on Feb. 6. She spoke about having the property settled, but witness said there was plenty of time about that. The property was worth about $2,500, and there was no life insurance.

The letter said: "As you know, Henry has been sick for years," but witness had never heard that. He had not been in Canfield for twenty-five years.

There was some feeling between Henry and his wife and witness sister. Once, he said, he had been sued by his father for money sent him, and the father got judgment.

His only motive in coming down in February was to enquire into his brother's death. He denied that the main object was to obtain possession of the property. Since coming down he had done all he could do to aid the crown in making up the case. Mrs. Perkins told him that if Henry had died strychnine he must have got it from Dr. Kerr.

The Eyewitness.

Fred Goulding, who lives near the Perkins' house in Canfield, had several times observed Thomas MacDonald going to the Perkins' house, in October, November and December, both by daylight and dark, mainly at night, between 7 and 11. On the occasion he saw him go in at 11 o'clock he waited on the opposite side of the road for two hours, but MacDonald did not come out.

Purchase of Poison.

The evening session came to an abrupt close, owing to the absence of a medical witness to prove that strychnine had been bought.

Mr. Arnoldi called upon Detective Seymour of Detroit to prove that it had been purchased in Detroit.

Mr. Johnston objected on the ground that no foundation had been laid for this evidence by first showing that poison had been bought. He said he would ask for an adjournment, rather than have a link missing in the chain of evidence.

John Perkins was recalled. He was with the search party that found the books and pill-box in Mrs. Perkins' kitchen. High Constable Farrel Thursday said that Detective Greer found the book, but witness said Crown Attorney Murphy found it. He also differed from Farrell in telling of the personel of the couples who conducted the search.

He Won't Tell.

Detroit, April 20.—S. K. Trembley of Brown's pharmacy, this city, refuses positively to go to Ontario to testify in the Perkins' murder case at Cayuga. Mr. Trembley's connection with the case is only through an entry on the drug store book that early in November he sold 60 grains of strychnine to a woman who signed herself "Mrs. Davis, Canada."

BRITISH BUDGET DEBATE.

Labor Members Acknowledge Chagrin —A Middle Class Budget.

London, April 20.—Judging by the debate which followed the budget it will meet with a larger degree of general approval and less sectional antagonism than usually falls to the lot of budget statements.

The most persistent complaints emanate from the extreme section of the labor party, which is disappointed at the postponement of the pension scheme and the absence of any direct relief in the taxation of the working classes.

James Keir Hardie frankly calls it a "brutal budget," and declares his belief that the Government has no intention of dealing with the question during its lifetime, but purposes to reserve it as an effective election plank when it becomes necessary to go to the country.

That there is some jurisdiction for the complaints of the workers may be regarded from the fact that in the lobbies of the House, the statement was generally characterized as a "middle class budget."

Thaw Stays In Jail.

New York, April 20.—No movement to attempt to secure the release of Harry K. Thaw on bail has been made, and none is likely for some time.

That Thaw must spend another summer in the Tombs is apparently indicated by the departure from the city of nearly every member of the family.

JURY GIVE VERDICT ON THE WRECK

Result of Enquiry Into the C.P.R. Wreck At Chapleau.

RAILWAY FREE FROM BLAME

Accident Resulted From Broken Rail —Use of Acetylene Gas Is Deprecated—Was Cause of the Horrible Deaths—Jury Advocates Better and Safer System of Lighting —Another Broken Rail.

Chapleau, April 20.—The coroner's jury investigating the wreck, in which 15 lives were lost, yesterday returned the following verdict:

"The immediate cause of the accident or derailment of train was a broken rail, located on a curve around which the train was running at the time.

"No blame is attached to any of the railway crew or to the roadmaster or sectionmen or any employe of the railway company for the accident.

"The train was lighted with acetylene gas, except one coach, and upon derailment the gas escaped and ignited and seems to have prevented to a certain extent at least the occupants of one of the coaches from escaping and to render all attempts at rescue almost useless.

"This jury is strongly of the opinion that had it not been for the fire that broke out in the coaches almost immediately after the derailment, the accident would not have been attended with such marked fatality.

"We, the jury, having viewed the scene of the disaster and having carefully considered the facts placed before us, would strongly recommend a safer method of lighting trains than by gas."

Possible Causes.

Coroner S. McCuaig of the Soo conducted the enquiry, assisted by Crown Attorney McFadden.

Roadmaster Faugh was the principal witness. He stated that four men, a foreman and three laborers, had charge of the eight-mile section on which the wreck occurred.

Early on the morning of the day the wreck took place he instructed them to go over their section which they afterwards said they did.

He was of the opinion that the weight of the engine forced down a rail until it came to break, when the flange mounted it, causing a jolt, which probably loosened the rail still more. Broken rails occur more frequently at this time of year owing to frost getting into the steel in the night and being thawed out in the day. There is no method of positively telling when a break had occurred.

As to the likelihood of the track having spread, he thought it might have been possible. If the right elevation of curve had been altered by the frost coming out of the ground and raising the truck it might have spread by the train's weight. The weight of the rail on the curve where the derailment occurred was 73 lbs. to the yard.

Heavy Engine.

Walter Dummert, locomotive foreman, stated that the engine and tender alone weighed 180 tons, without either coal or water. Asked if he thought a 73-lb rail was strong enough for such a heavy engine, he replied that engines of her type ran much easier than locomotives of lighter weight, but could not definitely answer the question.

SECOND WRECK AT CHAPLEAU.

Broken Rail Sends Freight Train Off the Track.

Chapleau, April 20.—A westbound freight train was partly derailed fifty miles west of here Thursday night. Two cars were derailed, severing telegraph connections in their plunge. Three other cars ripped along the ties, tearing up the track for 60 yards. The derailment is thought to have been caused by a broken rail.

Roadmaster Faugh left here early yesterday morning with a wrecking crew, and it will take all day to clear the tracks; in the meantime all passenger trains are held up and the sidings here are blocked with freight cars awaiting power to haul them.

The supply of coal is only sufficient for passenger and way freights for the next two days, unless boats are able to load coal at Fort William at once. All movement of trains will be at a standstill.

I. O. F. REFUSED TO PAY.

But Supreme Court Decides That Society Is Wrong.

Rochester, N.Y., April 20.—A supreme court jury yesterday awarded Mrs. Theresa Bossenbach a verdict for $2,000 against the Supreme Council Independent Order of Foresters; the amount of a policy on the life of her brother, William Marzhauser, of whom she was the beneficiary. The case has been in litigation six years.

The fraternal order refused to pay the policy on the ground that Marzhauser concealed his true habits, alleging that he was a drinking man, while representing himself to be a total abstainer.

Toronto, April 20.—Premier Whitney stated in the Legislature on Thursday that even if there were a hotel in Algonquin Park the Government would not issue a license to it.

The question was raised by G. S. May, who asked whether a permit would be issued to erect a summer hotel there, without which visitors were not attracted.

Machine Shop Burned.

Welland, April 20.—Fire yesterday morning burned the Robertson machinery Company buildings with contents. They carried some insurance. Valencourt's boiler shops were saved, although badly damaged; no insurance.

Farmer Hangs From Bedpost.

Napierville, Que., April 20.—Merula Bougeois, a farmer, in the parish of St. Jacques Le Mineure, hanged himself to the post of his bed yesterday morning.

COAL MINE TROUBLE IS SERIOUS

Labor Department Takes Action to Hasten a Settlement.

REPORTS ARE EXAGGERATED

Eleven Million Dollars Asked—Supplementary Estimates Brought Down in the House — Year's Expenditure Will Exceed $126,000,000 — Ontario's Share—Bill for Creation Department of Mines.

Ottawa, April 20.—The situation as regards the coal mines in the West again occupied the attention of the House yesterday. Several western members read telegrams from Boards of Trade, taking a more or less serious view of the outlook, and urged upon the Government the necessity of taking action. Mr. Lemieux protested vigorously against the exaggerated telegrams and reports that were being circulated, and repeated with emphasis that there was no lockout and no strike. Men were leaving work because of a misunderstanding, arising from the posting of certain notices by some of the mine-owners, an act which he regarded as a violation of the law. In seven of the ten mines in the western district men remained at work. In order to clear the air, however, and to hasten a settlement he announced that it had been decided to despatch Mr. MacKenzie King, the Deputy Minister of Labor, to the scene of the trouble. Mr. Fielding expressed confidence in the ability of the Labor Department to bring about a settlement without having to resort to any of the extreme measures which had been suggested. The bill providing for a creation of a Department of Mines was afterwards discuss in committee. A resolution providing for a loan to the Quebec Bridge & Railway Co. of $6,678,200 for the completion of the bridge over the St. Lawrence at Quebec was adopted, and a bill embodying its terms introduced.

Supplementary Estimates.

Supplementary estimates totalling $10,941,568 for the current fiscal year ending March next were also brought down in the Commons last night by Hon. Mr. Fielding. Of this amount $7,230,847 is chargeable to consolidated fund, making with the main estimates a total of $74,622,026 for the year.

On capital account the supplementary estimates provide for expenditure of $3,710,711. The main estimates provided for $38,298,340, the total for the year on capital account being, therefore, $42,009,051. The grand total which Parliament is asked to vote for all purposes is $126,001,463.

Ontario's Share.

For public buildings in Ontario a half million dollars is provided, and for harbors and rivers in the Province $685,000. Toronto gets $25,000 for a new Meteorological Observatory, $15,000 for an annex to the postoffice for customs parcels purposes, $50,000 for a site for the Union Depot postal station, and for improvements to the western entrance to the harbor the sum of $50,000 is provided. Some of the other large Ontario items are:—$45,000 for Kingston Barracks, $75,000 for Ottawa departmental buildings, $30,000 for Peterboro' Armory, $67,000 for Cobourg harbor, $50,000 for Goderich harbor, $100,000 for improvement of the northern channel in Georgian Bay at Little Current, $50,000 for Midland harbor and $50,000 for Rainy River navigation at Long Sault Rapids.

Transportation.

For the International Railway $2,436,445 is asked, including $1,775,000 for rolling stock and $330,000 for locomotive and car shops. For Trent Canal construction there is an item of $700,000, and $22,000 for a dam at Bobcaygeon. Other transportation items include a survey of waterway, Georgian Bay to Montreal, via French and Ottawa Rivers, $48,000; for Montreal harbar (lower division), $122,500; for Port Colborne harbor, improvements, $23,100, and for dredging purposes, $620,000. Construction of an ice-breaking steamer in Northumberland Straits calls for $150,000; construction and purchase of a lighthouse tender and buoy steamer for the great lakes and Georgian Bay, $150,000; establishment of telephonic reporting stations along the St. Lawrence River between Montreal and Quebec, $23,500.

To provide for the appointment of letter carriers in such cities and towns as the Governor-in-Council may determine $60,000 is asked; to provide for salaries of forty additional railway mail clerks, $20,000.

OWNERS FORCED TO SELL.

Irish Land Bill Passed In British House—Unionists Opposed.

London, April 20.—By a vote of 208 to 60, the House of Commons yesterday passed the second reading of the bill introduced by the Nationalist party, amending the Irish Land Acts.

Under the new law the power of the land commissioners to acquire estates, sell them to tenants, and provide the purchase money, is extended so that they can compulsorily buy out such landlords as Lord Clanricardo and others who refuse to sell. The commissioners will be empowered to themselves fix the prices of the estates to be so acquired.

The Unionists opposed the measure, which they described as being "pure confiscation."

The Attorney-General for Ireland, Mr. Cherry, in behalf of the Government, approved the principle of the measure, but he said that in consequence of the congestion of business it could not become law during the present session of Parliament.

Twenty Thousand Homeless.

Manila, April 20.—The Town of Iloilo, Island of Panay, was totally destroyed by fire yesterday morning, with the result that 20,000 persons are homeless. The conflagration is still raging and, owing to the heavy wind blowing, it is beyond control.

Quake In Carolina.

Charleston, S.C., April 20.—A slight earth tremor was felt here yesterday. No damage has been reported.

CANADIAN IS WINNER.

Longboat of Ontario Captures the Marathon Prize At Boston.

Boston, April 20.—Thomas Longboat, the great Canadian Indian runner from Toronto, Canada, won the Marathon yesterday afternoon, leading all his competitors by a long distance. Longboat ran a game race and showed splendid generalship throughout.

He got off well and for the entire distance was well in hand, always looking as if he could win as he pleased.

About ten miles out he started his spurt and after that was never headed, coming in like a railroad train, leaving his competitors straggling in the rear.

Within three miles of the finish he was five minutes in the lead, and then he seemed to slow down, at the request of his friends.

He was still going at a tremendous pace, however, and finished two minutes in front of all competitors, covering the distance in the remarkable time of 2 hours, 24 minutes, 20 3-5 seconds.

The second man was Fowler, of Cambridge.

The rest of the runners were strung along the road for miles and came straggling many minutes behind the wonderful Indian and the Cambridge man.

HE SAVED THE WOMEN.

Wm. Martineau Played a Hero's Part At Montreal Fire.

Montreal, April 20.—The coroner's jury to investigate the Canada Steam Laundry fire Thursday afternoon when three people lost their lives, was chosen yesterday, but the work of taking evidence was adjourned until next week.

Miss Furlong was employed on the top floor and near at hand were she was stationed was a stairway leading to the roof. It had been a matter of comment on the part of the employes on that floor how easy it would be for them to make their escape to the roof in case of fire. Instead she went to another part of the flat and was lost.

It seems that William Martineau played the part of a hero. He brought several girls out of the fire, and reentered the building on his errand of mercy, only to himself fall a victim to the flames. He got all the women on the top floor out on the fire escape except one.

SHOWERS OF HOT ASHES.

Volcano Is Vomiting Death and Destruction In Chili.

New York, April 20.—A despatch from Lima, Peru, says: The volcano Puyehhue, in the Province of Valdivia, Chile, is still in active eruption and new craters have opened. The losses in the neighboring country are enormous, and the inhabitants are panic-stricken.

Showers of red-hot ashes are falling, and there are continued earthquake shocks, accompanied by underground explosions. Absolute darkness would prevail, but for the light from several fires over an extent of six miles.

A great number of cattle have been killed near Lake Ranco. Several brooks which had furnished drinking water for the people have dried up. The inhabitants, ruined, are fleeing in all directions. The Government has sent assistance.

Property Loss Is Great.

Mexico City, April 20.—Communication has now been opened with all the important points in the section most affected by the earthquake.

The latest reports indicate that the loss of life will not reach a hundred, but many persons have been injured, and the property loss is great.

Vice-President Corral yesterday declared that the whole of the State of Guerrero has been devastated.

Thousands of dollars are being subscribed to the relief fund being raised here.

Diabolical Work Of The Dog Poisoners

Seven Valuable Canines Were Given Doses of Poison in the City Yesterday and To-day.

SOME OF THE LOSERS

The dog poisoner did a land office business in the city yesterday, having put away no less than seven canines which were considered of much value to the owners. Early in the morning a deer hound belonging to Mr. Llewellyn Hall was found with life extinct on Murray street. The hound was a valuable one and much prized by Mr. Hall.

In the afternoon, about 2.30 o'clock, the pretty little black terrier belonging to Mr. Thos. Parker, Hunter street, succumbed to strychnine poison, although the owner tried hard to save its life. Later in the day, Gillespie Stewart, son of Mrs. Jos. Stewart, East City, whilst in the vicinity of Harvey street, lost a coach pup which he prized very highly.

This morning a valuable hound belonging to Mr. Cyril Loch died from poison, the evidences being that it was administered this morning. Early in the morning the dog was all right, and after being on the street a short time it came into the house and dropped dead. Mr. R. H. Jackson is another who is a sufferer from this dog-poisoning fiend, as is also Mr. F. R. J. Mitchell. Rev. Canon Davidson stated this morning that a valuable and entirely inoffensive dog belonging to him had been given a dose of poison yesterday, and although the veterinary surgeon was doing his best, he feared that it would prove fatal. He characterized the action of the persons who were leaving the poison where dogs would get it, as diabolical.

The epidemic seemed to have subsided for some months, but recently the number of dogs killed by poison has been disgraceful. In most cases the best and the innocent dogs appear to fare the worst.

Grand Stand Features Will be of Superior Character This Year—Contracts Already Closed.

MANAGEMENT ENERGETIC

The President of the Peterborough Industrial Fair informed the Examiner to-day that arrangements had been made for a superior line of special grandstand features for the fair this year. Yesterday the manager of this attraction syndicate was in the city from New York, and completed the contract for the appearance here of a line of attractions which Mr. Leary believes will please the patrons. A troupe of trained dogs, one of which makes a high leap of fifteen feet, George and Georgie, who perform many marvellous acrobatic feats, and a lady contortionist are among the features which those who attend the fair this year will have an opportunity of seeing before the grandstand.

A portion of these attractions will be in the Owen Sound Fair, which is to be held just prior to the Peterborough Fair and they, with the others will come on to Peterborough. It is evidently the determination of the management to make the fair as attractive as possible, and in securing the features referred to they believe they are accomplishing this.

The same company are placing the attractions for the new Dominion Park at Toronto, the "Happy Land" at Winnipeg and parks in Montreal and London for the coming season. The above mentioned attractions will be here during the afternoon of the last two days of the exhibition.

"COBOURG, THE HOG OF THE COUNTY"

The Port Hope Guide Resents Indignities Which the Sister Town Has Heaped Upon It.

Under the heading, "The Counties' Hog," the Port Hope Guide hands out a hot roast to Cobourg on the head of a series of indignities which that town has heaped upon Port Hope. The Guide says:—

All the Cobourg papers have been very jolly at Port Hope's expense. It has to be at the expense of some other place; nothing is ever originated or paid for by our Counties' Town. This generosity for themselves has extended through every avenue. Local, Counties', Ontario Government, Dominion Government and the Grand Trunk Railway. Nothing that Port Hope first originates but Cobourg, like a spoiled child, reaches out and cries for.

The Counties' buildings are largely owned by Durham and had it not been for the treachery of some one in Durham, the County House of Refuge would not have been at Cobourg. It is hard though for the Post to call it a house of "refuge."

The sooner Durham is separated from its blood-sucking eastern neighbour the better for Durham.

Take too, the Trent Valley Canal outlet. The Cobourg people never had the remotest hope for it, but they insisted on their route being surveyed because Port Hope had put in a valid claim, and the Dominion Government would have less hesitation in turning down Port Hope's feasible and cheapest route when both were so treated, in favour of the grafters along the Trent River who would thus save their stake. It will cost more money to build the canal by Tory Trenton and maintain it, but what of that the county is rich and Port Hope must be made to suffer.

Cobourg has usually contrived to have a representative with both the local and Dominion Governments, and no Government could change so quickly that Cobourg could not as rapidly right about face.

GOOD PROGRAMME AT CONVENTION

Principal of London Normal School Will Give Lecture on "Men of To morrow" at Teachers' Convention

The teachers of the county will meet in their annual convention at Norwood on Wednesday and Thursday, May 22 and 23. At a meeting of the Executive some weeks ago arrangements were made for the programme, which will be a very interesting one. The chief feature will be an address on the afternoon of Wednesday by Dr. Merchant, Principal of the London Normal School, on "Some Essentials of Method in Their Application to the Teaching of Public School Subjects." In the evening, Dr. Merchant will deliver a popular lecture on "The Man of To-morrow." Reports of the Provincial Convention will be given, and other interesting papers by local talent.

Movement To Celebrate Natal Day Of St. George

In the Past It Has Passed Practically Unnoticed in Peterboro—Only Few Englishmen Who Remember It.

A VERY GOOD SUGGESTION

Next Tuesday will be St. George's Day, and, as usual, it will not be celebrated in Peterborough beyond the flying of the British flag on the S. O. E. Hall and on the Petenborough House, and some patriotic decorations in the store window of Mr. F. R. J. Mitchell. Mr. "Daddy" Taylor, who has charge of the S. O. E. Hall, always remembers when St. George's Day comes around, and up goes the flag. Mr. Head, of the Peterborough House, also celebrates the natal day of England's patron saint, and Mr. Mitchell is another enthusiastic Englishman who never forgets the 23rd of April.

The suggestion was made to the Examiner to-day that in view of the that there was an increasingly large number of Englishmen in the city some public recognition should be taken of St. George's Day. The celebration of St. Patrick's Day has become an established custom in the city, but the patron saints of England and Scotland receive but scant attention from the sons of those two countries, so far as Peterborough is concerned.

Of course, it is too late to arrange anything for the first celebration of St. George's Day, but the suggestion may bear fruit next year.

THE INDEPENDENT FORESTERS' NEW HALL

Court Chemong Will in Future Hold Meetings in S. O. E. Hall, Hunter Street.

Court Chemong, No. 530, Independent Order of Foresters, the members of which have for a number of years met in the C. O. F. Hall, George street, have now arranged for and rented the S. O. E. Hall, Hunter street. The work of removing the paraphernalia of the Court has been completed, so that in future the regular monthly meetings on the last Thursday of each month, will now be held in the S. O. E. Hall, Hunter street.

Bro. A. Bradshaw, D.S.C.R., who has been the means of adding quite a number of new members to the Court, will be on hand with more additions, and Bro. F. C. Rooke, who has also helped to increase the membership, will also have some more new members to initiate, so that the initiation ceremony will equal, if not surpass, those of the previous meetings.

Bro. G. N. Brown, D.H.C.R., who passed through the city the other day, en route for various points in Eastern Ontario, when reminded of the first meeting in the new hall, stated that should his other numerous appointments permit, he would make a special effort to be present. The first monthly meeting will therefore be held on the evening of Thursday, April 25th, in the S. O. E. Hall, Hunter street, and the members are requested to remind each other of the event so that a large attendance may be the result.

NAVIGATION COMPANY SAYS NO CHANGE

Cottagers' Association Must Have Gotten Wrong Impression

Captain Frank Young of the Stony Lake Navigation Company, was in the city to-day, making arrangements for the summer's work of the company. He stated to the Examiner, that the impressions of the Cottagers' Association that an earlier Monday morning boat would be put on from the lakes are entirely wrong. The proposition had been considered at a joint meeting of the navigation companies, the Grand Trunk and the Cottagers' Association, in Toronto some time ago, and although the company of which Mr. Young is manager, and the Grand Trunk, were in favour of granting the request, the other navigation company were not willing to accede.

The steamers will therefore run on the same schedule as last year, and will endeavour to give the best possible service in their power.

The proposed new siding from the G. T. R. track at Lakefield will not be constructed, neither will there be any change in the mail service, as proposed.

AUCTION SALE

Of valuable Flour Mill, Water Power and Hotel property, under the powers of sale contained in two mortgages.

At the Clarendon Hotel, in the Village of Hastings, in the County of Northumberland, on Friday, the 31st day of May, 1907, at 10.30 o'clock, a.m.

The mill property, known as the "Trent Valley Flour Mills," consists of a large stone building three stories high, 45 feet by 54 feet, with four waterwheels and the right to use 300 horse power from the River Trent. There is also a flour store house, 48 feet by 24 feet, and two other store houses, one 24 1-2 feet by 48 1-2 feet and the other 40 feet by 24 1-2 feet, and there is a nice office building, 18 1-2 feet by 17 feet.

This property is along the shores of the River Trent and when the canal is completed, should greatly increase in value. The said property includes the following lots, namely, numbers 98, 99, 100, 101 and 163, according to Wilkin's plan of part of the Village of Hastings.

At the same time and place there will be offered for sale an undivided half interest or share in the Clarendon Hotel property, consisting of the large solid brick hotel building, three stories high, at the corner of Bridge and Front streets.

In this building are two stores, facing front street, one used as a jewelry store and the other as a millinery store.

This is one of the finest hotel properties in Central Ontario and it does a large commercial and tourist business, and since the recent fire in Hastings, it is more valuable than ever.

This property consists of part of Lots Nos. 1 and 2 at the northeast corner of Bridge and Front streets, in the said Village of Hastings.

The owners of the other half share or interest in this hotel property are willing to sell so that the purchaser may acquire an absolute title to same.

There will also be offered for sale, at the same time and place, a large number of vacant lots in Hastings, suitable for business and residential buildings, and also an undivided one-third interest in a number of power or water lots along the River Trent in Hastings.

TERMS OF SALE—Ten per cent. of purchase money at time of sale, balance in 30 days without interest.

For further particulars apply to the undersigned.

The sale is subject to reserve bids.

Dated at Hastings, Ont., the 16th day of April, A. D. 1907.

Good Prospects For Coming Cheese Season

The Cheese Situation in Canada During 1907 Promises to be Most Satisfactory---Good Demand is Assured---Prices Will Open Well Up---Says Local Dairyman.

The cheese market for the coming season promises to be one of the best for a number of years. The present outlook is for increased prices and for a good demand, the advices coming from the English markets being to the effect that there is no overstock there and the result is likely to be that good prices will prevail right from the opening of the season.

A local dairyman ventured the assertion this week that the opening price on the Peterborough board would not be less than 13 cents, and probably higher. The Canadian Dairyman of this week has an interesting article in reference to the prospects for the coming season: It said:

Dairy farmers and all interested in dairying, have reason to feel hopeful in regard to the prospects for 1907. Winter has passed, and throughout the greater portion of Canada we find that the dairy cattle have come through the winter in very satisfactory condition. Last fall it was reported that owing to the very high price of feed many dairy cattle were being sent to the butcher. The fear was expressed that this spring would show a scarcity of good dairy cattle. While this may be the case in some localities the fact is that many farmers are going in for dairying this year who in the past have looked to other lines of agricultural work for their main revenue. This, possibly, is best shown by the fact that never before in Canada have our breeders of pure-bred dairy cattle experienced such a demand for stock. Most of them have been sold out for weeks. An encouraging feature of the demand lies in the fact that more farmers than ever before have asked the breeders to show proof of the milk producing qualities of the ancestors of the animals they offered for sale. This indicates that the day of the utility dairy cow is dawning and the work of the cow-testing associations is bearing fruit.

Realising the importance of gathering as early in the season as possible, some definite information in regard to the number of dairy cows this season, as compared with the number kept a year ago, The Canadian Dairyman has been gathering information on this point. Letters of inquiry have been sent to dairy farmers in all sections of the country. In nearly all sections heard from we find that the number of cows this season is equal to that of 1906. In some cases an increase in the number kept is reported. There is everywhere a great demand for good milch cows and high prices are ruling. The reports of our correspondents indicate that on the whole milk and cream will be sent to the factories this season from a considerably larger number of cows than was the case a year ago. Then, also, it is anticipated, that owing to the great increase in the attention that is being paid to the milk production, of the average cow, the yield per cow this season is likely to be larger than ever.

Condition of Pastures

In considering the season's prospects an important consideration is the condition of the pastures. The reports published elsewhere in this issue show that in the principal dairy sections the pastures, on the whole, are coming out in good condition. Especially is this the case in Eastern Ontario and Quebec, where they have been adequately covered during the cold spells. In Middlesex, Oxford and some of the more southern counties of Ontario, some pastures have been injured somewhat by exposure and heaving. Any injury in this regard, however, can be overcome if the farmers will use some forethought and make provision of green crops to supplement any shortage later in the season.

Markets

From the standpoint of the markets, the reports in our market columns show that the outlook for the season is encouraging. The British market, it is true, is well supplied with cheese, but it is not overstocked. Supplies on this side are almost nil. This fact, as pointed out elsewhere in this issue, corroborates similar reports that have appeared in these pages from time to time. The result is that high prices are ruling for this commodity and there promise to be a big demand for the early make at profitable prices. It is to be hoped that this demand will not lead to the manufacture of much fodder cheese.

A similar state of affairs exists in the case of butter. Prior to the opening of a number of creameries in the early part of this month, the stocks of this product in the home market and in the warehouses at Montreal were depleted to such an extent that the prevailing high prices lead our exporters to bring back Canadian butter from the Old Country, a movement that was almost unprecedented. These facts point to the rapid development of the home trade for this commodity, and as the consumption increases in proportion to the growing population, the demand for this article will necessitate increased efforts on the part of patrons and makers alike. The indications, then, for the marketing of our dairy products may be considered satisfactory. The demand is likely to be good, and the high prices current for butter and cheese last fall should be well maintained this season.

A most important factor in the increasing demand for Canadian dairy products is the excellent work that is being done by the Dominion and Provincial Governments' dairy officials. Not only will the methods for improvement that have been followed in the past be continued again this year, but several important forward steps will be made. Prospects are bright that 1907 will prove a banner year for dairying in Canada.

Mr. Culverwell Scores Hydro-Electric Commission

Managing Director of the Northumberland and Durham Power Co. Writes Setting Forth Some Facts Concerning The Healey Falls Power Lease.

Editor of the Telegram,

Sir,—On behalf of The Northumberland-Durham Power Co., Limited, and as its Managing Director, I wish to state that your article re Healey Rapids, in Monday's issue of the Telegram, requires correction by us, much as we desire for the present to leave the whole matter in the hands of the Cabinet to deal out justice.

The tenor of the whole article shows inspiration from the Chairman of the Hyaro-Electric Commission, or Mr. Cecil B. Smith, its Engineer, and I cannot help but remark that it would be more fitting for the Chairman, instead of rushing to the newspapers to gloss over his defections—rather to make explanations to the Cabinet, written charges having been made by us against him, and Mr. Smith.

There will be no "bomb" thrown by well primed Liberals, as the article intimates—for at my own request Liberal members have consented to refrain this session from bringing the matter up in the Legislature, I having explained the fact that we expected justice from the Cabinet when they became fully seized of the whole facts of the case. Indeed, it is not a matter of politics. Instead, it is something like the case of the watch-dog becoming a wolf, and should only be treated in that light.

The statement in the article that our Company had been unable to procure the necessary consent from the Dominion Government is also wrong. When some twelve municipal councils interviewed the Dominion Government a year ago to secure the lease of their portion of the Healey Rapids for our Company, we were informed by the Government that, while receiving our request favourably, it was necessary for us to wait until the Trent Valley Canal survey was completed and reports laid before the House. Just recently this happened, and we had arranged for a deputation from nine ridings on the lake front to interview the Dominion Government on our behalf, when suddenly we learned that certain members of the Hydro-Electric Commission were evidently not acting in good faith, either with the Government or with the public, and since then we have been endeavouring to have this trouble settled and our Ontario Government lease, as previously promised. We therefore think, in the meantime, our Ottawa trip should be delayed.

Letters of the Company, signed by several officials, have been addressed to the Cabinet. In effect, we submitted that Mr. C. B. Smith, while a member of the Hydro-Electric Commission and ever now its consulting engineer, has been and is antagonistic to our Company, endeavouring to thwart its progress in every way possible, directly and indirectly—becoming President of the Northumberland Paper and Electric Co. at Campbellford, and having for months past been competing with our Company and endeavouring to procure large contracts for electric power at Belleville, thirty-five miles away, for his own private company. We charged him also with using the information and prestige, secured by him as a commissioner and as the engineer, in forwarding and promoting his own private interests in opposition to our Company.

We since have also suggested that the Chairman of the Commission was permitting himself to be used by Mr. Smith in thwarting our Company's progress and aiding Mr. Smith in his private operations, and we protested vigorously against a Cabinet Minister and Government employee using their position to the detriment of a Company, which is strongly backed by the people in the vicinity interested and generously treated by other members of the Cabinet.

Then there is to us a still more serious aspect of the trouble. In our statement of the 15th inst. we reminded the Premier and Cabinet that when a large number of municipal councils interviewed him and the Hon. F. Cochrane and other Cabinet members a year ago, he stated that we need not fear the other applicant, and since then we were granted the lease. We also informed the Premier that he would be surprised to learn that Mr. C. B. Smith, while a commissioner, became a partner in the power company (owning a portion of Ranney Rapids), whose present manager, R. B. Rogers, is the very competitor that we first complained of, and whose associates had been interfering with us at Ottawa in the Healey Rapids matter.

Our desperate predicament is thus seen when our Provincial Healey Rapids Lease is not yet renewed, and the chairman of the Commission stating recently to a lake front legislators that he would block our renewal of the lease, and also previously intimating through some means to Kingston people that he would block the lease, and about the same time to another legislator that power would be transmitted to the lake front from the Trent River from another source than from the Northumberland-Durham Power Company. This last statement of the chairman caused me to write a letter to him dated March 6th, from Kingston which, however, drew no answer from him as other kindly letters did not also. His last statement to this legislator was made no doubt to block my Company organization at that time at Kingston. In fact some of the wealthiest men in Kingston have agreed to subscribe largely for stock upon our Ontario lease being renewed but at the same time they informed me that it was reported, and they felt so too, that the chairman of the Commission would block us.

This stand of the Commission's chairman is all the more extraordinary after having only a few weeks before, on January 11th, told a deputation from five ridings of leading Liberals and Conservatives which waited on our behalf upon him and the Hon. F. Cochrane (now abroad) that he would do nothing detrimental to our interests and also lead the deputation to believe that the lease would be renewed subject to the new terms to be imposed to which we consented. We had shewn that it was really the fault of the Government that we were not able to start actual construction in the four months limit on account of our not securing until after the time limit, the patent from the Government of the 56 acres of land required for a raceway and power works on account of the blockade of a politician antagonistic to us, and who eventually caused us to pay $20 per acre to a mere squatter for worthless farming land valued in the department at $1 per acre. However, we were fortunate to secure a settlement at all.

I interviewed the chairman at the legislature lobby recently, before laying our charges before the Cabinet, and upon complaining to him of Mr. Smith's unfair actions, he treated me in a most churlish manner — notwithstanding my letters and telegrams to him to show we were doing our utmost to conform to the Commission's programme and to the spirit of the Electric Act. In fact the chairman stated it would be the worse for us if I said anything about Smith, and added, that, "Smith is engineer and is going to remain engineer."

Upon my request that he would do nothing detrimental to the interests of our Company—so as to offset the feeling in the lake front that he would block us—he replied that he would give his statement only to the Cabinet. Yet the next day, he told a lakefront legislator (so this gentleman man informed me) and also a third party since, that he would block our lease. Certainly by his actions all through, the chairman has evidenced that feeling.

We want from the Government speedily the renewal of our lease and protection from the detrimental actions of Government officials which are harmful to the interests of our shareholders, who compose the largest manufacturers and business men on the lake front (high in both parties) including the writer, who have subscribed thousands of dollars in good faith.

We desire to transmit power to Cobourg, Port Hope, Trenton, Belleville, Kingston and district from Healey Rapids, as called for in the Hydro-Electric Commission report, and we own already several portions of the Healey Rapids and also the land requisite for the works. Further, the writer has purchased this winter, portions of all the other large powers on the Trent River to endeavour to carry out the unification power scheme as advised in the Commission's report, and in fact have purchased as much power of Ranney Rapids itself as Mr. C. B. Smith's company owns.

Here I wish to publicly intimate that Mr. Smith's Company is not able to fulfil either of the two large contracts that he is attempting to secure at Belleville, for the simple fact that their available one thousand horse power at Ranney Rapids will not supply 4,500 h.p., and especially so, 35 miles distant.

Further, the chairman and engineer will find too that the alleged forfeiture of our Ontario Healey lease will necessarily at the worst, be inquired into legally, not only because it was not our fault that we did not get sufficient land included in our lease, as required, for development works, but it was also not our fault that we did not get the patent of the land until three days after our lease time limit expired, and the fact that the Government did issue that patent after the lease time limit expired showed that the lease was not forfeited and also showed the intention on their part not to formally cancel the lease, as was also further shown when we were promised the lease extension when our deputation asked for it on our behalf.

We do not intend to be played with fast and loose by a Cabinet Minister-chairman with impunity—especially by one who professes so loudly public ownership on the platform and aids his friends in private ownership on the side—with power delivered to the consumer direct—for that is what a letter signed by C. B. Smith as president of the Northumberland Paper and Electric Company, offers to a large manufacturer in Belleville, and that too, while a member of the Hydro-Electric Commission.

Our worthy Premier stated recently before the Private Bills Committee that he would avoid, as he would avoid a gentleman, anything of the nature of confiscation—and it was therefore with a spirit of trustfulness that I read that statement — while certain Government officials show an inclination of this spirit.

In conclusion I wish to express our appreciation of the courtesy and fair play accorded to our Company and our assisting deputations by the Hon. Frank Cochrane, Minister of Lands, Forests and Mines—now travelling abroad.

Yours faithfully,
J. A CULVERWELL,
Managing Director.

P. S.—Letters have been placed in my possession by my engineering friends, which are signed by the present engineer of the Commission, and that too, while a member of the Commission which show that he was using in other matters the knowledge acquired for his own purposes.

J. A. C.,
Man. Dir.

KEEP YOUR HEAD UNCOVERED

The Constant Wearing of a Hat Propagates Dandruff Germs.

There are many men who wear their hats practically all the time when awake, and are blessed with a heavy shock of hair; yet, if the scalps of these same men once became infested with dandruff germs, the parasites would multiply all the quicker for lack of air. Baldness would ensue as the final result. Newbro's Herpicide kills these germs and stimulates unhealthy hair to abundant growth. Herpicide is a pleasant hair dressing as well as a dandruff cure, and contains not an atom of injurious substance.

A Practice Attended By Considerable Risk

Toronto's Health Officer Gives His Opinion on the New "Discovery" of Burning Ashes Mixed With Salt.

IS HARD ON THE STOVES

Scientific men still adhere to the belief that there is no such a boon as we have been led to expect in the discovery that by adding coal and salt to ashes they will burn. Not only do they claim that ashes, once they really become ashes, have no further heating properties, but now it is stated that it is positively unsafe to attempt to burn the salt and ashes. In fact, from the persistence with which the scientists denounce the practice of burning a mixture of coal, ashes, and salt on oxalic acid, one would almost come to the conclusion that they were in league with the coal men.

The Toronto Star, on Saturday night, had the opinion of Dr. Sheard, the Queen City's authority on any subject. The article, in part, read as follows:

"Balderdash!" says Dr. Sheard.

This heartfelt expression of disgust is wrung from the Medical Health Officer by the stories of successful ash-burning which are being brought to him daily.

"It is more than foolish; it is dangerous," he declared this morning. "People should be cautioned as to the use of salt and water with ashes. When brine is thrown on a hot fire, hydrochloric acid is formed, which is one of the most rapid rusters known. A very little of it will very quickly rust out the pipes and all the iron attachments in connection with a furnace. Chloride of iron is produced instantly, and the air and heat reduce it to oxide of iron, which is another name for rust."

If Dr. Sheard if correct in his statement, and he is very positive in making the assertion, the present experiments are being carried on with danger to boilers, and without saving of coal beyond what might be saved by sifting the ashes.

Salt Prevents Combustion

"It is not," says Dr. Sheard, "a question of discovery or speculation, but of positive scientific chemical fact. When I was a boy we used to go up on the roof, and pour salt down a burning chimney. That was the correct principle, for salt generates chlorine, which does not permit of combustion.

"All there is to the 'discovery,'" he continued, "is the fact that in every ash heap there is a certain amount of waste coal; that is, unconsumed coal that has not been sifted out, and that, of course, will burn. There is nothing in salt to burn any more than there is in stone. Ashes consist of aluminum, which is another name for clay; iron, which you know is not a fuel, and silica, which is sand, and from which, in its pure form, glass is made. The result of heating this mixture is the formation of a sort of slag, which could be made very useful, but which the experimentors with the new fuel will hardly produce economically. Such clinkers, with a sufficient amount of iron, make a good foundation for laying concrete upon.

Handed a "Lemon"

"Oxalic acid," explained the head of the Health Department, "is sold commercially as salts of lemon,' but let the public not be deceived, there is no lemon in it. In fact, it is a dangerous poison, and here again the public should be cautioned. Of course, it will burn, but as the wholesale cost is about ten cents per pound, it will hardly prove an economical fuel. It burns because it is rich in carbon and oxygen and is easily decomposed."

Thorndyke's Assailant A Desperate Character

Man Who Gave His Name as Frank Cameron Believed by Toronto Police to be Fred. Chambers, a Desperado.

OUT OF PENITENTIARY

The man who gave his name as Frank Cameron, and who cut himself loose on Wednesday afternoon in the Royal Hotel, is, according to the information from Toronto, a "bad lot." The Toronto Sunday World, of yesterday had the following in reference to this man:—

Fred Chambers, alias Frank Cameron, yesterday pleaded guilty to wounding three prisoners in Peterborough jail before the magistrate of that city. He gave his address as North Bay, but the police were sceptical and sent his picture to this city for identification.

The detective department placed him as Fred Chambers, who has recently been released from Kingston Penitentiary, where he was serving a ten-year sentence for one of the most daring and brutal assaults ever committed in Toronto.

Felled Old Man

Chambers, with one George Slack, entered the grocery store of Henry Asdon, at 216 Victoria street, during the afternoon of Feb. 28th, 1899. They struck down Asdon, an old man, and felled his daughter with an axe. They escaped, but were brought back from Buffalo, where they had fled.

Chambers was given ten, and Slack twelve years in the penitentiary. The latter is still in that institution.

"He is one of the most dangerous criminals with whom we have to deal," said Inspector of Detectives Duncan. "We have been wondering where he has been for some weeks, and this clears it up."

The maximum penalty for the Peterborough offence is nine years.

A SLOW PREACHER IS DYNAMITED

How the Members of His Congregation Hastened His Departure—Demolished Part of Parsonage.

Hazleton, Pa., April 20.—An attempt was made to-day to kill Rev. Matthew Yankola, pastor of St. Joseph's Slavonic Church, with dynamite. A heavy charge of the explosive was placed under the entrance to the parsonage and tore out a portion of the porch, shattered all the windows in the house and splintered the front door. There have been factional troubles in the church for some time. One faction has asked for the removal of the pastor, without success. Several weeks ago Father Yankola received a letter from the Black Hand, threatening him with death unless he left the city. He says that the dynamiting is the work of members of the faction opposed to his retention. The majority of the male members of the congregation are mine workers.

Have Considerable Towing Awaiting Them as Soon as Ice Leaves The Lakes.

The Stony Lake Navigation Co. have considerable towing to do this spring for the lumber companies, and will begin work as soon as the ice in the upper lakes disappears. Their boats will tow down a considerable quantity for the McDonald Company, about 25,000 pieces for the McBurney Lumber Co. and about 45,000 pieces for the Peterborough Lumber Co.

The ice in Clear and Stony Lakes is still several inches in thickness, and although it is fast melting from the shores, it will be some time before navigation will open north of Young's Point. It is stated that the ice has disappeared from Pigeon Lake and that the waters there are now navigable.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

THE KING OF TRAMPS

Large audiences were in attendance at the Grand on Saturday afternoon and evening to see Oscar O'Shea, son of Mr. Jas. O'Shea, city, and a well known Peterborough old boy, perform in Cohan & Sutherland's presentation of the comedy the "King of Tramps." They were rewarded with a very enjoyable performance with plenty of comedy that was really funny and specialties of a high class. There is nothing out of the ordinary in the plot the situations being those generally found in melodrama, but the production is entertaining and acting uniformly good. Mr. O'Shea played the heavy part and splendidly portrayed Mark Hartley, the "villian" of the play. Dave Durden as the "King of Tramps" proved himself to be a comedian of the first order, and his work was decidedly funny while Clyde Lond caused much amusement by his presentation of a score crow. Among the specialties the musical turn by Dave Durden was very clever while songs by Esther Evans and Trixie Lewis were greatly enjoyed.

INTERESTING SOCIAL EVENT IN HARVEY

A Delightful Dance at Residence of Mrs. Bushie's—A Graphic Description of The Event.

The social events of South Harvey are written up in a breezy manner, this week's issue of the Lakeside Canoeist Independent containing the following report of an interesting social gathering in the township of Harvey: We had another glorious evening last Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Bushie, when over 30 people came to have a dance. Ham. Freeman sawed off the music and kept it going till morning. Ham. is a dandy and there is no relieving assistant needed when Ham. is present. Albert St. Thomas, with his soft and melodious voice, called off the sets. Refreshments were served at 12, and Olive again distinguished himself as sandwich man. Mrs Nelson St. Thomas and Mrs. Ed. St. Thomas assisted Mrs. Bushie with the refreshments which were very nice annd much enjoyed. Mrs. Bushie received a hearty vote of thanks for his kind hospitality and his energetic attention to his guests in seeing that their horses were given the best of attention. Everything went off fine and we are now expecting another in the near future at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Thomas.

DOCTORS ENDORSE HERPICIDE

Because Its Formula is Submitted to Them

Alexander McMillan, M.D., a prominent physician of Lansing, Mich., writes: "On three cases I have tested Herpicide for dandruff, and the result has been all that could be desired."

Herpicide is made upon an entirely new principle, that is, that dandruff and falling hair are caused from a microbe that infests the hair bulb, and, by destroying the microbe, one's hair is found to grow luxuriantly. Herpicide is the only hair remedy that claims to and really does destroy the dandruff germs.

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to the Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. The Market Drug Store. Two sizes—50c and $1.

100,000 SPECTATORS; EVERTON LOST

Final Football Championship Game Was Played at Crystal Palace, London, on Saturday Before Record Crowd.

London, April 20.—Fully 80,000 enthusiastic admirers of football arrived in London to-day from as early as 3 o'clock in the morning on special trains from Yorkshire, Lancashire and the Midlands, to witness the final in the English Cup ties at the Crystal Palace, between Everton, the holders of the trophy, and Sheffield. With the contingents from the south, the railway managers estimated that fully 80,000 persons came to London to see the game. The metropolis furnished its full quota, bringing the total number of spectators up to about 100,000, illustrating the hold which the great annual football festival has on the people of Great Britain. By the time the game was opened the standing room was packed. All the seating capacity at the ground was sold a week ahead.

Sheffield kicked off and scored a goal within 20 minutes. Everton then became the aggressor, but Sheffield put up a fine defence, and it was not until just before the end of the first half that the holders of the cup were able to equalize matters.

Half-Time Score.

Sheffield..... .....1 Everton..... 1

At what is known in football here as "three-quarter time" the score was unchanged.

During the last quarter both sides put in their best work. There were many exciting rushes, but the teams were so evenly matched that neither was able to score for some time. Then the Sheffield forwards got the ball, and, with a well-directed kick, won a second goal. Everton was unable to score after that, and Sheffield captured the coveted trophy. The defeat of the cup-holders, who were strong favorites, led to the wildest scenes of excitement. Lord Chief Justice Alverstone presented the cup to the winners.

Final Score.

Sheffield..... .....2 Everton..... 1

PERSIST IN NOT SENDING THEIR SON TO SCHOOL

For the second time this term Mr. George Windover of East City appeared before Magistrate Dumble on Saturday on a charge of neglecting to send his boy to school. He was fined five dollars on the previous occasion, and the dose was repeated on Saturday. For some reason or other the boy is not attending school and of course it is considered that the parents are at fault.

DOCTOR BRIGHAM SAYS

MANY PHYSICIANS PRESCRIBE

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

The wonderful power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound over the diseases of womankind is not because it is a stimulant, not because it is a palliative, but simply because it is the most wonderful tonic and reconstructor ever discovered to act directly upon the generative organs, positively curing disease and restoring health and vigor.

Marvelous cures are reported from all parts of the country by women who have been cured, trained nurses who have witnessed cures and physicians who have recognized the virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and are fair enough to give credit where it is due.

If physicians dared to be frank and open, hundreds of them would acknowledge that they constantly prescribe Lydia E. Pinkham Vegetable Compound in severe cases of feunale ills, as they know by experience it can be relied upon to effect a cure. The following letter proves it.

Dr. S. C. Brigham, of 4 Brigham Park, Fitchburg, Mass., writes:

"It gives me great pleasure to say that I have found Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound very efficacious, and often prescribe it in my practice for female difficulties.

"My oldest daughter found it very beneficial for female trouble some time ago, and my youngest daughter is now taking it for a female weakness, and is surely gaining in health and strength.

"I freely advocate it as a most reliable specific in all diseases to which women are subject, and give it honest endorsement."

Women who are troubled with painful or irregular periods, bloating (or flatulence,) weakness of organs, displacements, inflammation or ulceration can be restored to perfect health and strength by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. If advice is needed, write to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. She is daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham and for twenty-five years has been advising sick women free of charge. No other living person has had the benefit of a wider experience in treating female ills. She has guided thousands to health. Every suffering woman should ask for and follow her advice if she wants to be strong and well.

FIGHT WITH A PANTHER

INFURIATED BEAST CHARGES A LUMBERMAN'S RAFT.

Logs Bumped a Tree on River Bank—Animal Was Asleep — Enraged at Being Disturbed Springs at Surprised Man — Is Tearing Him to Pieces—Companion Comes to Rescue With an Axe.

Henry Rogers, a stalwart lumberman not long ago closed a contract with a large milling concern to cut and raft the timber from a big area of virgin forest down the river to the company's sawmill. It was a big undertaking and Rogers was employed on the job for several months with a considerable force of men.

I had met him on a hunting trip and he invited me to spend a week or so with him at his camp, says a well-known writer. Of course I accepted. He was camped in one of the best hunting sections that could be imagined and I packed my kit, took a large quantity of ammunition and caught the first train for a small town on the lower river, where Rogers met me with a gasoline launch and conveyed my traps and me to his camp, thirty miles down the river.

The forces of men in the woods and the hauling of the logs kept the game stirred up considerably and I had such a hunting trip as I had always dreamed of but had never before experienced. My bag included two bears, many deer and one or two wolves, to say nothing of turkeys, geese, ducks and squirrels without count.

Down River on a Raft.

About the time that my vacation was drawing to a close Rogers made ready an enormous raft of logs, which he intended floating down the river, and as he was to accompany the raft in person I decided to go with him, thinking that this would be a novel trip and possibly an exciting one, but my wildest fancy had not prepared me for the adventure we encountered.

Several tents were rigged up on the raft, where we slept at night as snug as if we had been ashore. The cooking was done on open fires built upon boxes of earth. During the day I traveled generally in the gasoline boat, stopping along from time to time to hunt out some stretch of forest or visit a lake which Rogers told me of, and I had excellent sport., I could travel a great deal faster than the raft, of course, and I sometimes let it get five or ten miles ahead of me or I would run that distance down the river ahead of it and hunt until it overtook me or nightfall made me set out in search of it.

As a rule we tied up at night, especially in difficult portions of the river, where islands and sheals made navigation for the raft beset with dangers of grounding it or splitting it up on snags or the point of an island. However, as we suffered some delay and the contract time for the delivery of the raft at the mill was drawing close, Rogers decided to run as much as possible at night, and after that it was not often that we tied up. Nature favored us. The nights were almost as bright as day after the moon came up, which at that season occurred about 11 o'clock.

The Collision With the Tree.

There was good light after moonrise until morning, but between dark and the hour for the moon to make its appearance it was as dark as a pocket and the traveling was beset with grave dangers. More than once on these occasions did the raft bump into the bank, driving the timbers together with a sullen, crushing sound.

One night, as we were traversing a most difficult stretch of water, a narrow channel where the great raft had scarcely more than room to pass, I was standing out forward where Rogers and three others were working the sweeps, guiding the unwieldy mass of timbers through the narrow channel. We were navigating a difficult bend, a point that required the greatest skill in steering, when the current got the upper hand and the raft was hurled toward the bank with a force that was amazing.

Just at this point a large, crooked oak tree hung low over the water and the raft swept beneath it. The extreme end of the foremost log struck the trunk with a shock that shook the tree as if it had been a reed.

The Panther Spring Upon Him.

I had braced myself for the shock the best I could, and I should have retained my legs if it had not been for a long, lithe object that projected itself out of the rank foliage of the tree straight in my face. It sailed through the air like a flash of light and with an unearthly scream it alighted upon my breast and its sharp claws tore through my heavy hunting clothes as if they had been the veriest gauze.

There was no mistaking what it was. It was a gigantic panther, and my heart turned sick within me as I realized it. The force of the leap threw me flat upon my back, but the enraged animal did not loosen its death grapple in the least. I could feel its hot breath burning my cheek and its sharp claws as they dug deeper and deeper into my flesh. It is a wonder that I did not become unconscious, but I was not to be so spared.

I thought every moment that the animal would seize my throat in its jaws and it seemed an age that I lay there helpless with its cat-like eyes glaring into my own, scarcely six inches away. I was utterly helpless and resigned to my fate.

It certainly was not more than three or four seconds that I lay thus, although it seemed an age before I saw Rogers approaching me with a heavy axe raised above his head.

His Rescue by a Companion.

He was running across the logs and once I saw him leap high into the air, but I did not then know why he did this. Afterwards I discovered that the raft had broken up and that I was upon a small portion of it that had gone on an independent cruise. Rogers had jumped across a rapidly widening space of water to my rescue and had he missed his calculation of the distance his life might have paid the penalty. The panther saw him approaching, and with a snarl of rage it sprang from my recumbent form straight for the approaching woodman. Rogers saw it coming and swung his axe above his head like some ancient conception of the god of battle. Just at this moment the raft swung around a bend of the river, which threw us out of the heavy shadow of the timber into the moonlight.

I have never seen a more inspiring sight than Rogers, standing with his axe poised and every muscle of his magnificent form tense, with anticipation of the shock, and the panther leaping straight for his throat. With a flash of light the axe descended just as the panther poised in air immediately before Rogers. The next instant the blade of the weapon crashed deep into the animal's skull and it fell, inert and lifeless, at the foot of my rescuer.

That panther's skin is the rug beneath my feet as I write, and plainly upon the top of its head is the scar of the blow that ended its life. The taxidermist who prepared it for me wanted to sew up the cut so that it would be invisible, but I would have none of it.

A BAD COLD SETTLED ON THE LUNGS

All the most serious affections of the throat, the lungs, and the bronchial tubes, are, in the beginning, but coughs and colds, and failure to take hold at once and get rid of them will cause many years of suffering.

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup

contains all the lung healing virtues of the pine tree and will certainly cure all coughs colds and lung troubles.

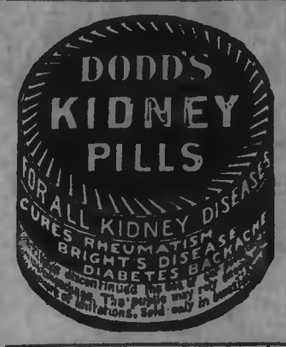
Mrs. Jas. McDowell, Langton, Ont., writes: "In November, 1906, I caught a bad cold that settled on my lungs, so I got two bottles of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, and used one and a half of them and by that time I was cured. I laid the balance of the bottle away for future use. A few days after our eight months' old baby took the whooping cough.

He was so bad we had to call the family physician, but he said he could do but little.

I commenced using the Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup and to my great satisfaction the baby was cured. I only used four 25 cent bottles; a small doctor bill.

I believe there is no other remedy for coughs, colds, etc.

Price 25 cents a bottle at all dealers.



A NOVEL TRIO.

Robin and Sparrow Keep House With a Rabbit.

A sparrow, a robin and a rabbit have lived peacefully together in an old hollow log all winter and seem to be the best of friends. They took up housekeeping in the same abode to keep warm, and apparently have thrived without friction since the first snows came. The rabbit hardly needed feathered companions to add to his bodily comfort, as his kind are well protected by nature, but evidently he longed for companionship.

George S. Hixon, on whose farm the happy family have been sharing quarters, says that he has frequently seen the rabbit occupy the end of the log on cold days in order to keep his companions warm within. Sometimes he would keep his post for forty-eight hours without food, apparently for no other reason than to be sure that his pals within were shielded from the winter blasts.

Went Foraging.

When the weather was agreeable the rabbit, sparrow and robin would go foraging together, the former picking up a living by gnawing the bark of poplar trees and the latter by delving about for what edibles they could find. Several times Mr. Hixon has observed them trailing along back to the log in Indian file. On these occasions the birds either hopped behind the rabbit or fluttered close to the ground.

"I went out one morning after a severe storm to place food where the family could get it and found the log entirely covered," said Mr. Hixon. "As I neared the spot there was a disturbance of the snow and out hopped the rabbit. After him came the sparrow and robin. The birds looked about in a dazed kind of way and then nestled close to their furry companion. At my approach they flew to nearby trees, but as soon as I had retired all three assembled for the feast I left."

New Lamps For Old.

Almost every lamp needs boiling occasionally when the light burns dimly, and no attention to oil or wick will make any difference.

Take the lamp apart, remove the wick and then boil both burner and wick in hot water in which has been thrown some washing soda.

When every part has been thoroughly cleaned and thoroughly dried, put in the wick, trim it, fill the lamp with oil and the light will be brilliant.

Rabbit Fires a Gun.

An extraordinary incident occurred close to the village of Milton, near Newport Pagnell, in Wales. A commercial traveler while driving along the road stopped to speak to two gentlemen who were shooting rabbits alongside the hedge. One of the gentlemen laid his gun on the ground while he placed a ferret in a hole. A rabbit bolting at this moment ran over the triggers of the loaded gun, which it released with its feet, the traveler having a very narrow escape.

PILGRIM'S PROGRESS STAGED.

Bunyan's Immortal Allegory Presented At Imperial Theatre.

Bunyan's immortal allegory was never intended for the stage, and up to now the results of the attempts to fit it to the footlights have not been of a profitable nature.

Yet another version was put up recently at the Imperial theatre for the benefit of the London hospital and the South London Diocesan Church Fund. It had been prepared by Mrs. W. Hadley and Miss E. Ouless, but its principal attraction was in the announcement that it had been fitted with a good supply of old-style music to be interpreted by the choir from Southwark Cathedral, and that by way of illustration there would be a series of tableaux arranged under the artistic direction of Mr. Frank Dicksee, R. A.

Excited Admiration.

And let it be said at once that the tableaux excited the greatest admiration, and that the spectators found some difficulty in complying with the request of the promoters that there should be no applause. The pictures took us from the Wicket-Gate to the scene of Christian losing his burden at the Cross, and so on to Piety, Prudence, and Charity arming the Pilgrim, and later to the River of Death and the Celestial City.

With a mass of material at their disposal the adaptors, it may be supposed, had some difficulty in deciding what to accept and what to reject in order to bring the work within the limits of a single performance, and taking the line of least resistance they selected those passages that presented the fewest stage difficulties, and so while Christian was shown setting forth from the City of Destruction, and passing on, to scenes indicated by the tableaux, we had, in addition, the meeting with Apollyon, the riot of Vanity Fair, the trial of Faithful and his appearance at the stake, and the meeting between Christian and the Shepherds on the Delectable Mountains.

Old Time Characters.

The various characters were most cleverly and intelligently represented, the best, perhaps, being the Christian, Faithful, Lord Hategood, Evangelist, and Hopeful. The most dramatic feature was the encounter between Christian and Apollyon, in which the clash of spear and sword, and the ultimate victory of the Pilgrim, moved the spectators to almost breathless interest and excitement.

BILLINGSGATE MARKET.

Fish Has Been Sold There Since Time of Queen Elizabeth.

Billingsgate, besides being synonymous for language altogether shocking to the ears of polite society, is the name of one of the most celebrated fish markets in the world, situated on the banks of the Thames, near the Tower of London. In fact, it has been the principal fish market of the British metropolis since the reign of Queen Elizabeth, and the decision by the corporation of the City of London to transfer it much farther down the river to Shadwell is encountering no end of opposition, not only on the part of the occupants of the market and of all the fishmongers of London, but likewise from those who are opposed to the removal of ancient landmarks.

Previous to the reign of Queen Elizabeth the fish market was on Cheapside, especially in Friday street, which owes its name to the fact that it was there that the fish for the Friday's dinner was purchased. The reason for transferring the market to Shadwell is owing to the fact that through the phenomenal growth of the metropolis, which has now a population of over 6,000,000 inhabitants, Billingsgate has become altogether inadequate in size, in means of communication, and in internal arrangements. Consequently the fish often deteriorate there so as to become unfit for human food before it is possible to market and remove it.

British Royalties' Carriages.

When King Edward VII. came to the throne reductions were made in all departments, and it was no longer possible for His Majesty to provide horses and carriages from the stables at Buckingham Palace for the rest of the royal family. So, after a certain time, the King gave each of his sisters a carriage and a pair of horses; thenceforward they had to provide their own stables and all things connected with them.

Of course, most of the royal princes and princesses have motors nowadays; not so, however, the Duke and Duchess of Argyll, who go about in a roomy brougham, adorned with two coronets and two coats-of-arms. The duke, however, takes a great deal of exercise, and may often be seen walking back to Kensington Palace for luncheon, or, indeed, if the weather be bad, taking advantage, at a pinch, of the humble Hammersmith 'bus.—Tit-Bits.

Ameer's English Ways.

Since the Ameer of Afghanistan has returned home from his long visit in India his subjects have been on the verge of revolt. They object to the friendship he has shown to British officials, to his European clothes and to his purchases of articles of English manufacture, but they are most wrought up because he joined an English lodge of Free Masons, which they regard as a change of religion. A meeting of Mullahs, or Mohammedan priests was held lately near Jellalabad, at which it was decided that the Ameer is no longer fit to rule. Soldiers dispersed the meeting after sharp fighting.

Death of a Pioneer.

P. H. Bradt, a Fort Garry pioneer, died recently aged 83 years. He had been a resident of Winnipeg since 1878, and had had a remarkable career. He was one of the survivors of those who took an active part in the stirring events of 1837, having served with the Government against W. Lyon Mackenzie. He also wore the medal for Fenian raid services. The old man's memory was remarkable, and, up to the time of his death, delighted to tell of his experiences along the Niagara frontier in 1837. He was on sentry duty on the night the steamer Caroline was sent over the Falls, and saw that occurrence, being probably the last eye-witness of the tragedy.

SHIP FALLS INTO "HOLE."

British Freighter, Steaming Over a Smooth Sea, Pitches Into Chasm.

Of all the extraordinary sea happenings that have ever found place in log books that related by officers of the Planet Neptune is the most remarkable.

It is of a big and heavily laden British freighter steaming quietly over a smooth, moonlit sea, and suddenly pitching head foremost into a chasm which some subterranean convulsion seems to have opened in the ocean's bed.

"It seemed," said Chief Officer Brown, who has just quitted the bridge at the time of the strange occurrance, "that a big section of the ocean's bed had suddenly caved in to some tremendous depth and sunk so suddenly as to have caused a huge, well-like depression on the ocean's surface.

Going to the Bottom.

The bow of the ship plunged downward so suddenly that I thought she was going straight to the bottom."

It is estimated that it was between six and seven seconds before the dipping forefoot found the bottom of the pit. The vessel has about an eighteen foot freeboard forward, and when it is said that a mass of water that was fully fifteen feet in height was "dished" over the bow as the vessel began recovery from her downward plunge some idea of the depth of the chasm can be had.

Standing lookout on the forecastle head was a seaman named Shalberg. After he had recovered consciousness he said that when he felt the bow dropping from under him he instinctively crouched behind the breakwater and grasped a ringbolt. But the weight of fifteen feet of water coiling over his head was too much for his strength.

Curled Around Stancheon.

He was found curled about an iron stancheon, the upper part of his body on one side of the stancheon, the lower limbs on the other. One leg was broken, a wrist dislocated and the man otherwise so severely injured that he will be a cripple for life. The Planet Neptune is from Montevideo, from which port she had sailed Feb. 23. She found the "hole" into which she pitched four days after leaving that port, and when she was about 200 miles off the southern coast of Brasil. The precise latitude and longitude could not be ascertained, but the log book showed that the vessel at noon that day was in latitude 29 deg. 45 min. south, longitude 47 deg. 8 min. west.

Coming Warship.

A paper of great importance, indicating what the battleship of the future will be like, was read at the meeting of the Institute of Naval Architects at the Society of Arts last week.

The paper dealt with the "influence of machinery on the gun power of the modern warship," and showed that if a large number of guns are to be effectively mounted they must all be placed so as to fire on either broadside. In the Dreadnought, out of 10 12in. guns, only eight fire on either broadside.

To enable all the 10 to fire with the utmost effect it was shown that funnels must be abolished, and also all deck-erections. But if the funnels are to be eliminated steam can no longer be used, and the boiler must go. The great firm of Vickers have faced this fact, and after three years' almost continuous research work have now perfected the system of gas machinery for propelling ships. The explosion engine, in a word, is to replace the steam engine.

The design for such a vessel has been worked out. She has no funnels, and is thus an extraordinary-looking craft. Her speed will be higher than that of any existing battleship, and her dimensions are moderate. But she carries a battery more powerful than even the Dreadnought, since all its 13 guns can fire on either beam and six ahead or astern. This is the ship of the future.

Modern Lucrezia.

Frau Ernestine Feige, of Grunau, near Hirschberg, in the Silesian Mountains, has been condemned to death for poisoning a man named Janitschek, and a woman named Brueckner, who had lived with her as lodgers in the years 1903 and 1906. She was also charged with poisoning in four other cases, two of her alleged victims being her mother-in-law and sister-in-law, but as these four cases went back seven years there was some uncertainty as to whether the exhumed bodies showed traces of poison.

Frau Feige has been called the Silesian Lucrezia Borgia, and the trial revealed that she had many points in common with the famous Roman poisoner. In all the cases it was the desire to become possessed of her victim's money which drove her to her terrible crimes.

As lodgers she always sought out incurable people possessed of means. While they were in her hands she sought to influence them to make their wills in her favor. As soon as they did so she began her poisoning operations.

Feige used arsenic in all cases, in this displaying great cunning, for the entire countryside in which she lived is arsenic producing, and the graveyard in which her victims were buried was in special degree impregnated with arsenical ores.

MODISTIC WRINKLES.

Smart Shoes For the Summer—What the Milliners Are Doing.

White shoes for summer show no change from those of last year. Both pumps and oxford ties are in vogue, and both buckskin and canvas are in favor. White calfskin makes a rather smart shoe, but has never seemed to be especially popular. Black patent leather boots, with white canvas or calf uppers, are certainly novel, but too eccentric to be good form.

Brown laced shoes have suddenly become popular and are altogether the smartest walking shoes at present.

FOR HARD USAGE—5606.

They may be worn with either black or brown stockings. For lightweight materials, such as voiles, marquisettes, crepes and silks, fancy short coats are in demand, with the sleeves just below the elbow.

The shepherdess hat is to play a prominent part in the season's millinery. Straw shapes are no longer made with a bandeau of the same, which are heavy and apt to muss the hair. Most milliners now make them of wire, covered plain with tulle and bordered with a narrow bias of velvet. This is sufficiently firm as a support and to accommodate the small ruching of tulle or soft drooping bow of ribbon, which is about the only trimming vouchsafed them.

In hat colorings brown and purple, black and white, black and yellow and green and pink are among the bewildering combinations.

A very Frenchy yet decidedly practical touch which adds much to the usefulness of a lingerie petticoat is an adjustable ruffle of silk buttoned under the lace ruffle.

Here is a good apron for the wee girl to be worn over the frock. It is made of percale and finished with a frill of plain white material.

The "jumper" frock looks very nice with a pompadour ribbon sash, its short sleeves and the line of its bodice outlined with the same. The soft chine flowers are a pleasant change from the everlasting embroidery and contrast delightfully with the lace blouse worn with it.

SUMMER COSTUMES.

Vertical Tuckings on Wash Dresses. Linen Frocks.

Sheer muslin dresses next summer will be inset with vertical tuckings of lawn or mull in a delicate pastel shade.

The tailored linen coat and skirt will hold their own again, and the lingerie frock of lace and band embroidery is more popular than ever. Indeed, any simple muslin if treated with band work even in the form of tucks has a cachet all its own.

Embroidered batiste robes in delicate shades, with bands of insertion to match, are a feature of summer fashions.

Picture weddings are the order of the day, both brides' and bridesmaids' gowns and hats showing the particular features which were supposed to attach themselves to the portraits of the famous old masters. In the matter of material, too, the bride of today no longer adheres exclusively to the conventional duchess satin, and chiffon, gauze, lace and crepe de chine are frequently employed in the construction of the bridal robe.

Lace is more fashionable than ever, and the soft lace ties, bows and jabots are immensely becoming and popular. A band of valenciennes insertion with a narrow edge to match makes a charming tie, the ends finished with a wide ruffle of the same lace. Rare old pieces of laces are making their appearance in this guise.

The waist illustrated is a charming variation of the jumper style just now so much in vogue. It is an exceedingly attractive model and can be made plain or elaborate, as desired. The bodice pictured is of shantung pongee.

Village Bombarded.

The little Sussex village of Selsey has been thrown into a state of great excitement.

A 9.2 inch shell, weighing 380 lb., said to have been fired by the cruiser Warrior during target practice in the Channel, passed over the village, narrowly missing several houses. Its flight was marked by a shrill scream, which was heard by everyone in the village. The shell passed within a yard of the chimneys of the Fishermen's Joy Inn, the current of air drawing up clouds of soot from them. The ceilings in the upper floors and billiard-room were cracked.

A second shell hurtled over the spit of land on which Selsey stands, and plunged into the sea. The first shell buried itself four feet in a field. Mr. H. A. Smith, a local builder, was thrown off his feet by the shock.

War In the Air.

Col. J. E. Capper, commander of the balloon section at Aldershot, has given a lecture, in which he deals with the use of the aeroplane on the battlefield.

"In the near future me may expect to see both dirigible balloons and motor-driven aeroplanes used as aerial scouts. The former suffers at present from serious limitations, and its great bulk seems to render it most vulnerable in the daytime.

"The aeroplane when it comes will be different. It will move fast and be little liable to injury, as bullet holes in the surface will cause but little damage. It will be able to go considerable distances even against strong winds."

Crash Shirt Waists and a Device For Keeping Them In Place.

To hold shirt waists in place nothing is better than a belt of inch wide white elastic the size of the waist, fastened in front with a hook and eye. This device obviates the necessity of pinning dainty lingerie blouses, which proceeding often results in their ruin.

Very new is a wide ribbon with an inch wide border of natural colored linen on each side of a three inch green moire silk center.

There is a new fad among femininity. It is for shirt waists of Russian crash, the real dish towelling kind. The colored border lines are used in various ways for decoration upon the front and cuffs. These waists launder splendidly and are very appropriate for spring wear.

Polka dots amount to a craze, and one French silk, not content with small black dots sprinkled over the white ground, has a deep border of black spots that are as large as half dollars.

The plain skirt is a favorite way of making simple wash dresses. The frock illustrated has a plain skirt made in three pieces—that is, with a front gore, circular side and back portions, the front gore being laid in a plait at each edge. The shirt waist is plain and comes with long or short sleeves.

Millinery Hints—Fads In Separate Wraps.

A smart little toque is made with a crown of pale pink neapolitan and a brim straight up and down, for it is more of a turban than a toque. This upright brim is of folds of shaded rose red taffeta silk arranged in little twist-like loops fastened flatly to the foundation. At the left quite near the front larger loops form a loose chou, and from these two feathery quills start, one longer than the other.

One of the airiest veils for spring millinery is point d'esprit, with a border of lace bands appliqued by hand. Sage green, leaf brown and elephant gray are the colors in which it exploits itself.

Coats and skirts that disagree in material, but harmonize in color, are found at smart tailors'. A fetching costume of cameo colored pongee had a loose jacket of another oriental silk with an indistinct shadow effect in the weave. Perhaps the most predominating millinery feature of the season is the drooping effect in which the trimming is arranged at the back of the hat. It is not at all uncommon for the mass of flowers or feathers to reach nearly or quite to the shoulders, and long streamers of ribbon are much used.

The peculiarity of the present blouse is its trig shapeliness and small waist line. The pouch which gave it its name is a mere memory.

The costume pictured is in one of the new brown panama cloths and is trimmed with silk braid. The collar and cuffs are of tucked muslin and lace in lingerie style. JUDIC CHOLLET.

From the Depths.

After many attempts the sea has been made to disgorge part of a golden hoard which had lain in its keeping since a terrible shipwreck more than four years ago. This catastrophe occurred between Sydney and Auckland, N.Z., when the Elingamite, a passenger steamer, bearing between 100 and 200 passengers, and £17,300 in specie, went down on some dangerous rocks called the Three Kings. The majority of the passengers and crew were saved, but the sufferings of some who were cast adrift on a raft, and subsequently picked up by a passing steamer, read like the romance out of a story-book, many going mad from thirst and plunging into the sea.

Needless to say, the recovery of the specie has been a subject of no little thought, and several attempts were made to get possession of it. The first lot of treasure hunters could not locate the Elingamite; the second succeeded in locating the wreck; but, owing to the accompanying diver's unwillingness to descend, the expedition was abandoned.

A third expedition from Wellington, N.Z., was more elaborately organized. But, owing to bad weather, the difficulties of diving were very great, and, finally, the party returned to Wellington to await the summer and calmer meteorological conditions.

While waiting news came that an American syndicate was on the same errand bent, and that they meant to use scientific operations to assist them. At once the Wellington party set out for the wreck, and the diver's report was a very disconcerting one. The ship had been shattered by explosives, no portion of the wreck was more than 3ft. above the rock, and the bullion had vanished, it being the diver's opinion that the cases had been swept off the shelving rock into the sea.

Then a fifth expedition was made by a syndicate from Aratapu, N.Z., with the result that they report the recovery of 1,500 sovereigns from the wreck.

FACTS AND FANCIES.

The Wasp Waist Again Modish—Pongees In Smart Effects.

Sylphlike waists are again to figure in fashions. With the introduction of round skirts, no one will be surprised to learn this fact, for the two invariably go together. There need be no tightening of the waist. Just a little precaution in the fashioning of the undergarments to prevent bulkiness is all that is necessary, though a little physical culture will keep down any thickening of the waist muscles.

The rough pongees have come back with re-enforcements. Last year the majority of them were plain, but this season they are plaided, blocked, striped and crossbarred.

The foulards shown are unlike those we are accustomed to wear. Few of the new designs are in floral effects. Instead the backgrounds are of wide or narrow stripes with geometrical or scroll patterns.

Leaf designs in the new embroideries are new and striking. The silk passementeries are really gorgeous, the flowered being of soft raised silk and chiffon.

The theater bonnet of the moment consists of a wire framed wreath of flowers and silver tissue with sweeping feathers or an aigret in front or at one side. The coil of hair forms the only crown of this hat in name only.

Flowered batiste makes the small girl's gown seen in the cut. The jumper waist is worn over a chemisette of tucked muslin.

Synopsis Of Canadian North-West HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the North-west Provinces, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land is situate.

Homestead Duties.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:—

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased) of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act, as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

Application for patent should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa of his intention to do so.

W. W. CORY,

Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

Daniel O'Connell Moloney, Ally.

By M. J. PHILLIPS.

Copyright, 1907, by M. M. Cunningham.

Attired for the opera, Morgan Tremaine stepped into the elevator at the twelfth floor of the Alameda, where he had his apartments.

"Good evening, Daniel O'Connell Moloney," he said gravely to the knickerbockered and freckled elevator boy.

Daniel O'Connell grinned cheerfully and whistled through a gap in his front teeth by way of reply. They were sworn friends, the two.

At the tenth floor the car stopped, and the door slid back. Tremaine removed his hat ceremoniously. Mrs. Alderton Ten Eyke, also theaterward bound, large and determined in appearance, marched in. At sight of the young attorney she sniffed, a slight, ladylike, well bred sniff, but nevertheless a sniff. Miss Marjorie Ten Eyke, young and slender, dark eyed and lovable, followed her mother. She did not look at Tremaine, but the faintest hint of added color appeared for a moment in her smooth cheeks. Arthur Benscoter, caressing a fiercely upturned mustache, which emphasized his sparse five feet five, brought up the rear. Sixty-five inches are not impressive, but a hundred thousand dollars for every inch of it is rather a good average, which the militant Mrs. Ten Eyke fully appreciated.

So did Tremaine, with a hungry glance at his lovely former fiancee. When one is a struggling lawyer, just beginning to see light ahead after a two years' battle with callous New York, one gives due consideration to a half dozen millions, especially when the other fellow has them.

"Two months of it," mused Tremaine mournfully, despite his jaunty bearing, when he had reached the street. "Two months without a look or a nod or a smile—because I danced too much with that little Rivers girl! I was a fool to do it and a fool to quarrel over it with Mrs. Ten, on the lookout for Mammon every minute. In her eyes I am a 'briefless barrister,' as the English novels say. And little Benscoter isn't a man; he's just a bank—and a mustache. Marjorie can't like the fellow. Still constant pressure will have its effect sooner or later. If only something would come up to break the ice," and Tremaine got so interested in imagining perilous situations for the fair Marjorie, with himself as the rescuing hero, that he walked three squares beyond his theater.

The next morning he overslept and rushed to the elevator with an important engagement almost due.

"In a hurry, D. O'C. Moloney," he admonished the youth at the controller. "I'm so late now I haven't time to speak your full name."

Daniel O'Connell grinned and imitated a steam calliope by whistling shrilly through the gap in his teeth. With apparent carelessness he consulted the indicator board. There was no one waiting to descend. Stealthily he fumbled with the levers—swish!

The car dropped fifty feet like a dead weight before Tremaine could move a muscle. Gasping for breath, of which the swift descent deprived him, he pictured an awful death when the car should strike the bottom of the shaft. But the mad rush was checked as suddenly as it had begun, and the elevator finished its journey to the ground floor at a pace approved by all sensible and well regulated lifts.

A glimpse of Daniel O'Connell's grinning face in the mirror made all clear.

"You young rascal!" ejaculated the lawyer as he caught his breath. "You did that on purpose!"

"Well," retorted the boy, skipping nimbly out of reach, as he threw the door open, "you said youse was in a hurry!"

Ten minutes later the pedestrians on Sixty-fourth street were much edified to see a good looking young man stop suddenly, slap his thigh resoundingly and laugh aloud. Thereat a fat policeman hastily conned over in a somewhat fat mind the list of those "wanted" at headquarters that day. A newsboy on the wing paused long enough to shout "Bugs!" before he swooped on again, to all of which Tremaine, joyously absorbed in a great, a stupendous idea, paid not the slightest attention.

His high spirits were mysteriously

THE CAR SEEMED TO DROP FROM BENEATH [illegible]

communicative. That evening Daniel O'Connell, in an endeavor to outdo previous calliope performances, almost blew a tooth out. His small chest was puffed like a pouter pigeon as he laid a crisp five dollar note in the lap of his mother.

* * * * * * *

The wintry afternoon was closing as Miss Ten Eyke, in a house gown which to the masculine eye made her beauty simply bewildering, called the elevator to the fourteenth floor of the Alameda. She had spent the afternoon with a girl friend, and as the car stopped her heart beat a little more rapidly over a certain possibility—that she might encounter Tremaine—for Miss Marjorie was very much in love with the young lawyer, despite their quarrel.

She invariably explained to herself at this annoying quickening of the pulses that it was fear, not hope, which made her feel so. Daniel O'Connell approved of Miss Marjorie. She had nice eyes and a friendly way of looking at "a feller." Sometimes they talked—about elevators and books and a guy not having any chance to go to school and how it was a good thing to study nights.

He was a staunch little partisan, too, and talked of his friends of the other sex, chief of whom was Mr. Tremaine. And, although when the conversation turned on the lawyer it usually became a monologue, Miss Marjorie was a good listener. Her eyes would grow soft, and she would sigh a little. One day when Daniel O'Connell gleefully told of a case which Tremaine had just won she gave him a quarter.

"Down!" said a masculine voice, and Miss Ten Eyke's fear—or hope—was realized. The car stopped at the twelfth floor for Mr. Tremaine. He removed his hat with that air of impersonal courtesy which is so annoying when a person is willing to accept an overture of peace. Of course she had returned his ring and sent back his notes unopened and refused to speak to him, but that was two whole months ago. Why couldn't he have been more persistent? Didn't he know a girl could change her mind? Oh, dear! The tenth floor, and he wasn't going to even look—

Swish! The car seemed to drop from beneath their feet. They were falling! An agonized vision flashed into Marjorie's mind, a vision of herself lying crushed and broken at the bottom of the shaft. With a cry which struck remorse to the hearts of the plotters, she turned to Tremaine, hands out stretched.

"Morgan, dear, save me!" And when Tremaine had gathered her protectingly into his arms Daniel O'Connell neatly caught the cable again.

* * * * * * *

Mrs. Ten Eyke was spending the evening in Brooklyn, and by the glowing grate Marjorie and Tremaine planned the wedding down to the last bridesmaid.

"I'd like to have Daniel Moloney there, too, dear," said the young man. "He's a—a sort of accomplice of mine—that is," hastily, "a pal. He's going to be my office boy after the 1st of the month."

"Daniel shall be there," replied Marjorie warmly as she nestled more closely to his shoulder. "I just love that boy! You don't know how much he thinks of you, Morgan. I'm so glad he's to be"—she hesitated a little and blushed charmingly over the pronoun—"our office boy. It would hardly seem natural if he wasn't there."

Morgan winked at a particularly knowing coal in the grate. "Darling," he said impressively, "it wouldn't be a wedding without him."

BE BRIGHT—WELL—STRONG BUILD UP WITH FERROZONE

Ferrozone Adds Vigor and Strength to the System, Purifies and Enriches the Blood, Vitalizes the Nerves and Assures Permanent Good Health.

Let your fight for health begin now, before you feel any warning of physical collapse.

Your whole system needs a thorough cleansing. Likewise, the blood should be purified, made rich and nutritious.

The one cure for that tired, drooping feeling is Ferrozone, the acknowledged king of all tonic medicines.

To restore your appetite you need Ferrozone, certainly you do.

You need it to restore your nerves and to enrich your depleted blood.

The strongest reason why you need Ferrozone is because it will build up your run-down system and make you well.

It's because we know Ferrozone is absolutely certain to cure that we urge everyone in poor health to use it. If depressed, tired, nervous, sleepless, Ferrozone will make you cheery, bright and happy, because it will make you well.

FERROZONE

A Good Appetizer.

MR. AUBREY E. TEMPLEMAN, of Mechias, writes: "I have found the greatest satisfaction in using Ferrozone, and consider it is the best tonic made. I was all run down a few months ago, and in a very miserable state of health. I took a few boxes of Ferrozone, and was surprised at the result. Ferrozone drove away that dull, heavy feeling, and put my system in splendid order. I am never nervous or sleepless, and have a hearty appetite. This is all due to Ferrozone, which I recommend in the strongest way possible."

FERROZONE

Gives Real Vigor.

MRS. NORMAN MACADAM, of Bridgeport, writes: "I am in good health to-day as the result of Ferrozone. Before using Ferrozone I was tired and miserable, lacked energy and ambition. But Ferrozone altered all that. It has built up my system, and given me more real vigor than I ever had before. Ferrozone is a good tonic."

Ferrozone is sold only in 50c boxes, containing 50 Ferrozone Tablets. Six boxes for $2.50. At all dealers or by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.A., and Kingston, Ont.

TREASURE IN THE DEEP

EXPEDITION WILL SEEK MILLIONS UNDER OCEAN'S WAVES.

Party Leaves London to Search For Wealth Off the Coast of Africa—Air of Romance and Adventure—Bullion of Old Dutch Galleons Said to Line Tide Water At Many Places.

There is a fascinating air of romance and adventure about the expedition which left the East India Docks in the steamer Alfred Nobel, to search for sunken treasure worth $30,000,000 off the coast of Africa.

According to Captain C. A. P. Gardiner, of Bloomsbury, who heads the expedition, the African coast is lined with bullion sunk in every kind of vessel, from old Dutch galleons to modern liners. Here is an alluring list of a few of the treasures which, it is hoped, will be brought to the surface:

Immensely rich treasure captured from pirates and sunk in the Wilhelmder Secunda.

Priceless China.

Priceless china bullion, tin, lead and silver, sunk in the Dutch galleon Middleburg, which was scuttled off Hoetje's bay 192 years ago, to avoid capture.

Valuable cargo lost in the Dutch Government's armed merchantman Crazenstein in 1698.

Copper, tin and silver of great value, which went down in the Aberdeen White Star boat Thermopylae.

Captain Gardiner has served in the British and Chinese navies, and is an officer of the Royal Naval Reserve. His attention was drawn to the records of the many wrecks which have occurred along the African coasts, and he spent several years in endeavoring to locate them.

Twenty-Nine Wrecks.

He was rewarded by the discovery of twenty-nine wrecks which could be reached, and the result of his discoveries was the formation of the South African Salvage Company; Limited, with a capital of $125,000.

The steamer Alfred Nobel, once the Oromea, a pleasure yacht, and more recently engaged in carrying dynamite, was chartered, and neither pains nor money was spared in equipping her as a salvage vessel.

There will be twenty hands, including two divers, all ex-navy or naval reserve men. They will sign on for five years, and will be given a 5 per cent. share of all treasure found.

The Cape Government claims 15 per cent. of the value of all silver raised, 25 per cent. of the value of gold and precious stones and 10 per cent. of the value of other articles, but Captain Gardiner is quite satisfied that there will be enough left to please everybody concerned.

"Brainless Dolls."

Remarkable statements about English women are made by a special correspondent of the Berliner Zeitung, who came specially to this country to investigate the matter.

"Anyone who observes English society and sees sweet, dainty women in gorgeous frocks, and then notices how chivalrously and with what reverence men treat them, may easily come to the erroneous conclusion that this display is all genuine. But this outward chivalry is nothing but a sham. The Englishman refuses, on principle, to take women seriously. Woman is, for the Englishman, nothing more than a beautiful doll, useful to amuse the male portion of humanity during those hours of unoccupied business. English women thus become beautiful, but brainless, dolls, an object of sport, and nothing more.

"There is no real community of interests between English husbands and wives. The English wife is frequently ignorant what profession her husband pursues, and the English woman has become in character just what Burne-Jones represents her as being in his pictures—'lifeless, soulless, brainless.'

"The Englishman is to blame for this. He has made the English woman what she is. English women are not treated as human beings, but as articles in man's possession. Woman is an object of sale.

"I have before me a long document, in which a woman whose hand has been sought in marriage states her conditions, naming how much pocket money she desires, what allowance for clothes, and how many horses, carriages, servants, &c., she requires to be placed at her disposal after marriage.

"It is sad, but truth compels me to record the fact that woman occupies a degraded position in England."

Tallest Woman In Europe.

The tallest woman in Europe is to be found at the Hippodrome, London. Mariedl, as she is called, was born in the Tyrol twenty-eight years ago, weighs 365 lbs., and is 8 feet high. Her agent announced that she is the daughter of peasants, and one of seven children, all being of normal height, save herself. There are records of women measuring 7 feet 6 inches having exhibited themselves in the country fairs in England in the last two centuries, and there was a Somersetshire lass, Rose Ford, who created a sensation some thirty years ago, for she was 7 feet 7 inches in height. So Mariedl at present holds the record, and she will consequently attract the curious to the Hippodrome.

Fenian's Romance.

Fenian excitement in the early eighties is recalled by the reappearance in Roscommon of a man who mysteriously disappeared 26 years ago.

His name is Farrell, and he was known locally as "Whaer." He was understood to be closely identified with the Fenian Brotherhood, and to have come under the suspicion of the leaders of the movement. In all probability he received a warning, for he disappeared suddenly, leaving his wife and children behind him. Nothing more had been heard of him until last week; but he had now returned to Roscommon a wealthy man.

The curious part of the story is that, although Farrell has been identified by his old neighbors, his wife and family have up to now repudiated him.

THE CROWN'S CASE IS CLOSED

Evidence That Mrs. Perkins Wanted to Get Strychnine.

DETECTIVE GREER ON STAND

Witness States She Was Told to "Go Easy" on Suicide Theory—Perkins Had Hinted at Self-Destruction—Defence Is Refused Important Document—How the Pill-Box Was Found—Witness Faints.

Cayuga, April 22.—The intention of the defence to heap discredit upon the crown officers who prepared the case was apparent in the cross-examination.

Mrs. Carter of Walkerville, whose importance to the crown's case was considered so great that her non-appearance until noon on Tuesday nearly produced an adjournment, was in the witness box on Saturday.

Mr. Johnston drew out from witness that she had told Detective Mahoney of Windsor about Henry Perkins having said that he suffered from stomach trouble and would rather suicide than die a lingering death from cancer of the stomach, like his father, and that Mahoney told her to "go easy" on that part of the story and that she was not obliged to say anything about it if she were not asked.

Mr. Johnston strenuously opposed admitting the evidence of the Detroit detective, that poisons could be bought in that city, on the ground that the crown had not connected Mrs. Perkins with any transaction in Detroit, and therefore the evidence was only collateral. He reserved his right to state a case in the point.

Wanted to Buy Poison.

Mrs. George Carter of Walkerville was the first witness. Mrs. Perkins visited her last October. After supper one night Mrs. Perkins told her Henry had been very sick with his stomach and had been to an expert in Hamilton. Next morning Mrs. Perkins said she would leave on the 11 o'clock train in the morning. Before she returned she said she wanted to do some shopping. Among other things she asked witness where she could obtain some strychnine. She said she wanted it to poison rats. She asked witness if she would get it for her with a prescription which Mrs. Carter had. Witness declined, telling her where she could get it "over the river"—meaning in Michigan.

In the July previous Mr. and Mrs. Perkins had paid her a short visit. Henry complained of feeling tired on that occasion.

The party also had a steamboat trip and during the night Henry became sick. Previously he complained of thirst and asked for a drink.

In October Mrs. Perkins asked witness not to say anything to Henry about the strychnine. She said: "He would go crazy if he knew I had it in the house."

Had Stomach Trouble.

Perkins said he had stomach trouble and thought of moving to the coast to see if it would do him any good. He spoke of the terrible sufferings his father had when he died of cancer in the stomach, and said that if it were not for the "sin of body" he would rather commit suicide than die a lingering death. Witness saw a detective and told him the whole story, including the portion about Henry's thought of committing suicide, and he told her to "go easy" on that part of the story. The man was Detective Mahoney of Windsor.

Witness replied: "I will tell the whole truth." Mahoney said, "You are not obliged to tell that part if you are not asked."

Greer on the Stand.

Detective William Greer said he was put on this case on the 4th of February by the Attorney-General, and performed his duties up to Feb. 19, when Mrs. Perkins was arrested. On that date he searched the Perkins house in company with Crown Attorney Murphy, Constables Farrell and Everingham. In the front room used as a sitting room he found the book. In the kitchen bureau he found the box produced in court. The drawer was open and contained spoons and bottles as well. He did not get the box back again until the 9th of April. The box had great interest to him because Dr. Snider had given him a similar one a few days previously. He got certain information from the attorney, and, in consequence, took the Perkins' pill-box to Prof. Ellis on April 12, having had it in his possession for three days. He had also taken the Snider box to Prof. Ellis on Feb. 24, and a package containing strychnine which he had purchased and asked that it be weighed.

He told of seeing Mrs. Perkins at her home previously. She told him she and her husband had lived together very happily, and that if he had died of strychnine poisoning, he must have been given it by Dr. Kerr of Dunnville in mistake.

He searched the house and inquired for her husband's trunk, and she promised to let him see it as soon as she could get it from Welland. The trunk was sent to Mr. Johnston's office instead.

The MacDonalds' Statement.

Detective Greer said in evidence, when questioned about the statements made by Mrs. and Thomas MacDonald, that Crown Attorney Murphy and himself heard their stories and dictated the statements to the stenographers and told the MacDonalds to return in half an hour and sign the statements, which they did.

Mr. Johnston asked witness to produce these statements, but Greer said he had not got them. Mr. Johnston then said he must ask the crown to produce them. Mr. Arnoldi refused to do so.

Mr. Johnston appealed to the judge, saying that it was quite proper to show all evidence. An English judge had recently given that decision, and that such statements were good in evidence. These statements were improperly obtained. Greer had testified that parts of these statements were objected to and altered, but he was dissatisfied to rest his case against them merely on Greer's evidence.

Justice Mabee said he would have to rule against Mr. Johnston, who stated he would ask for a reserve case. In the meantime he will endeavor to produce a satisfactory authority by Monday morning.

Detective Greer denied using threats to either Tom MacDonald or his mother. He denied telling Tom MacDonald he would get himself into trouble if he didn't own up.

County Crown Attorney Murphy was called and gave his version of finding the box and book.

Witness said he could not swear positively that the box produced was the same box, because there were millions of boxes like it, but it was a similar one. He saw Greer initial it, but did not know Greer's initials well enough for identification.

The evidence of Crown Attorney Murphy closed the case for the crown, and Mr. Johnston at once proceeded to call witnesses for the defence.

For Defence.

Dr. Emmet of Fonthill said he had known Henry Perkins for many years. He had practiced at Fonthill for forty-two years and had treated Perkins for six or seven years for rheumatism, which was caused by uric acid in the blood. It was a poisonous condition.

Mrs. Perkins sent for a doctor, although Perkins did not seem to desire one.

John MacDonald, father of Thomas MacDonald, said he was in the hardware business in Canfield, and that his family and the Perkinses were on terms of closest friendship. In the fall of 1906 Mrs. Perkins was several times unwell, and Mrs. McDonald stayed all night with her on two or three occasions.

Witness Faints.

At this stage witness called out: "I'm feeling ill," threw up his arms and collapsed in the witness-box. Medical assistance was summoned. Restoratives were given him. He recovered and returned to court later and continued his evidence. He was given a seat in the box. He said the occasions when Mrs. MacDonald and Tom stayed at the Perkins' home was toward the end of November.

Merville MacDonald, a law student in the office of Johnston, McKay, Dods and Grant of Toronto, gave evidence of bringing a trunk from Canfield to Toronto, and identified the contents, which included keys, circulars, empty bottles, three pass books, a writing pad, a "pink pill" box, an atomizer, medical lozenges and some medical tablets. There was a quantity of clothes, also. Prisoner wept bitterly while the items were being enumerated and exhibited.

The court adjourned until this morning.

FOUR YEARS FOR BIGAMIST.

Belbeck At 53 Took 16-Year-Old Girl As His New Love.

London, April 22.—Jas. Belbeck of Exeter, who pleaded guilty to the charge of bigamy, appeared before Judge Macbeth Saturday and was sentenced to four years in the penitentiary.

Although he is 53 years of age, Belbeck became enamored of Ada Harris, a 16-year-old girl, and shortly afterward proposed marriage to her. The girl asked time to consider the matter and held him off for a while. One day she received a visit from Mrs. Belbeck, the prisoner's first wife, who informed her that she was the wife of Miss Harris' intended husband. The girl's parents then made a few casual enquiries in reference to the matter and found that no man by the name of John Bell had been married in this city in years. Miss Harris eventually accepted his offer of marriage.

"Did you tell the girl that you were not a married man?" asked Judge Macbeth.

"No sir, she didn't ask me out and out, your honor," replied the accused. "I lied to the minister who married us, though, and told him that I had never been married."

Strikers Want Speedy Trial.

Ottawa, April 22.—The strikers charged with manslaughter at the fatal Buckingham riots applied on Saturday, for a speedy trial before Judge Talbot at Hull Saturday.

The application was deferred until the 29th, when the judge's decision in the matter will be given.

Sandbagged, May Die.

Winnipeg, April 22.—Footpads probably committed murder Saturday night as well as robbery, when they sandbagged Simon Sherman on Main street. The man was so badly injured he will not recover.

Let Colonies Pay Cost.

London, April 22.—(C. A. P.)—The central unemployed body has decided to suggest to the Colonial Office that the Colonies be asked to contribute to the cost of emigration of the Woolwich arsenal unemployed.

SESSION OF ONTARIO HOUSE OVER

Legislature Prorogued By Lieut.-Governor On Saturday.

LADIES GRACE CEREMONY

Very Few Members Present — Speech From Throne Touches Upon Provincial Rights—Reference Also Made to Cobalt Development — Will Revise Statutes Next Session—Private Legislation Growing.

Toronto, April 22.—At 2.30 on Saturday afternoon his Honor Lieut.-Governor Clark formally prorogued the Ontario Legislature.

The ceremony was very simple and quiet, being marked by none of the pomp or display of the opening.

Only a few members remained in the city to see the end, and only a few ladies occupied places on the floor of the House. Being Saturday afternoon, however, quite a large number of people filled in their leisure by viewing the proceedings from the gallery.

His Honor, accompanied by his aides, Capt. Macdonald and Lieut. Young, was escorted by the Royal Canadian Dragoons. As they approached the buildings a salute of 15 guns was fired by "B" Battery of the Royal Canadian Horse Artillery.

Makes a Long Speech.

His Honor's address was somewhat longer than usual. It mentions all the important legislation of the session, and congratulates the members on the careful attention displayed. Cobalt district comes in for special mention, and his Honor observes with satisfaction "the efforts of my Ministers, by careful legislation, to aid in the development of these deposits in the interest alike of the mining prospector, the investor and the people."

Agriculture and education are mentioned, and statute revision is promised for next session. Private legislation is described as "steadily growing," and a continued increase in the growing revenues is anticipated.

Provincial Rights.

To the question of provincial rights two paragraphs are devoted, as follows:

"Questions of grave character and great importance relating to the respective jurisdictions of the Dominion and the province with reference to railway and other corporations have come before you. A measure has been adopted, namely, an act respecting certain railway and other corporations, which, it is hoped, will serve to protect the province from any encroachments upon its jurisdiction.

"I observe by the terms of the address, which you have presented to me, that another grave question has arisen, namely, the claim of the Dominion to assume, for military purposes, and without compensation, certain lands and timber which are the property of the province. In pursuance of the terms of the address, my Ministers will take all necessary steps to protect the interests of the province in that behalf."

His Honor concluded: "In relieving you from your duties, I desire again to express my thanks for the great public service you have rendered, and join with you in expressing hope that the blessing of Almighty God will continue to rest upon our country and upon our people."

THAW SENIOR A SHRINER.

Policeman Told Juror—Jerome to Find Guilty Party.

New York, April 22.—District Attorney Jerome has received definite information that the Thaw jury was approached by a policeman, who informed one of the jurors that Thaw's father, William Thaw, was a member of the Mystic Shriners.

Juror Charles E. Newton, himself a Shriner, said on Saturday that the approach was made to him, and it is said the policeman who conveyed the information was also a member of that society.

Mr. Newton said he immediately told all the other jurors what had been said to him. All the policemen who did duty with the Thaw jury will be lined up in the district attorney's office on Monday, and Juror Newton will be asked to pick out the man who is alleged to have made the remark.

FOR THAW'S RELEASE.

Aged Mother Is Converting All Her Property Into Cash.

New York, April 22.—A despatch from Pittsburg says when Mrs. William Thaw reached her Pittsburg home on Saturday she collapsed and physicians were summoned. With her is her daughter the Countess of Yarmouth.

Josiah Thaw, who accompanied his mother home, was very busy. He went to the Union National Bank and, after a meeting with J. Denny Lyon, deposited $5,000 to his cash account.

The work of converting part of the fortune of Mrs. William Thaw into cash will, it is stated, begin to-day. Practically every piece of property owned outright by Mrs. Thaw, will be sold and the money received pooled into a fund for bail for Harry K. Thaw.

RESIGNATION NOW IN.

Hon. C. S. Hyman's Letter Read by the Speaker.

Ottawa, April 22.—Hon. Charles S. Hyman has now finally resigned. The letter is as follows:

"April 11, 1907.—Hon. R. F. Sutherland: I beg herewith to tender my resignation as member of the House of Commons for the elective division of London. (Signed) Charles S. Hyman; witnesses, Clarke and Finnan."

The House got into supply at noon and took up estimates of the Interior Department. Two thousand dollars was appropriated towards deporting undesirable immigrants. Last year 137 undesirables were deported.

In discussing Indian affairs, there was a general complaint that Indian lands and islands were being sold for nominal sums to political friends of the Government. Mr. Burns spoke for Algoma, and Mr. Bennett (E. Simcoe) for the islands in the Georgian Bay.

In reply to a question Mr. Oliver stated that F. T. Congdon, legal counsel to the Yukon council, has resigned.

Mr. Fowler revived the Moncton land scandal. Last session the high price paid to Matthew Lodge as middleman was justified by Mr. Emmerson and Mr. Fielding by producing departmental records showing the amount paid a few years before by the Conservative Government for half an acre of land at Moncton. It now transpires that it was 61-2, but in some way the "6" disappeared from the record and the House was deceived thereby.

Mr. Fielding said that he relied upon Mr. Emmerson. The latter was absent.

Mr. Clement (W. Kent) appealed for more protection to the tobacco growers of Canada. Mr. Fielding thought that the farmers already had enough protection.

CLOSE DOWN COAL MINES.

Operators and Employes Confer In Order to End Strike.

Rossland, B. C., April 22.—The last of the coal mines to close down in British Columbia and Alberta was the Pacific Coal Co.'s collieries at Bankhead, Alta., where the men quit on Saturday.

W. H. Aldridge, managing director of the Pacific Coal Co., will leave tomorrow for Fernie, to attend the conference of mine operators and employes for the purpose of endeavoring to end the strike.

The C. P. R. has given notice that, owing to the shortage of coal, it will handle no more freight, and refused freight consigned from Rossland to Greenwood Trail and other points.

A. B. MacKenzie, secretary of Rossland Board of Trade, when interviewed in regard to the coal mine trouble and the situation, said:

"I cannot understand the statement made by the Hon. Rudolphe Lemieux, Minister of Labor, in the House at Ottawa, Saturday, that there was no coal strike or lock-out. There is certainly a strike in all of the coal mines in Eastern British Columbia and Alberta. I see that the statement is made that difficulty has arisen out of posting of certain notices. So far as facts now appear only notices posted were by Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co. at Fernie and International Coal and Coke Co. at Coleman.

BROTHER SLAYS BROTHER.

Rivalry for Affections of Married Woman Causes Tragedy.

Ottumwa, Iowa, April 22.—Because he thought his brother had gained the affections of Mrs. Sallie Morgan, to whom both had been paying attention, Ovitt Thompson of Bedford, Iowa, Saturday shot and killed the woman, mortally wounded Roscoe Thompson and committed suicide. The woman had been separated from her husband for some time and both the Thompsons had been paying her attention.

In the afternoon Ovitt found his brother and Mrs. Morgan together and immediately began shooting.

Two Dead, Twelve Injured.

Birmingham, Ala., April 22.—Two dead and twelve injured is the result of a collision on the Southern Railway at Woodlawn Junction early yesterday.

A southbound freight train, entering the yard limits, found itself without power on the main line.

A passenger train some hours later ran into the rear of this train, though it is claimed a flagman was sent back to protect the freight.

A wrecking train leaving the city yards to clear another wreck ran into the Woodlown Junction wreck.

Buried In Sand Pile.

London, April 22.—Two men employed on the new sewer which is being put down on Dundas street were for 10 minutes buried beneath a pile of sand and shoring at the corner of Dundas and Wellington streets Saturday afternoon. The men were A. Van Conkoghnet and R. McConechy. Neither was seriously hurt, though they were almost suffocated.

Poisoned by Medicine.

London, April 22.—Mrs. James Bone has been dangerously ill at her home for several days past, but is now on the road to recovery.

The cause of Mrs. Bone's illness is supposed to have been a sample package of a patent medicine. The package was left at the door and Mrs. Bone took a dose of it, according to the directions on the wrapper.

French Bombard Native Town.

Konakry, French Guiana, April 22.—A detachment of French troops recently bombarded Boussedou, in Upper Guiana, which was occupied by natives of Liberia, who had pillaged in French territory.

The natives suffered heavily and the French force had two men killed and ten wounded.

Melville Hartley Was Accidentally Shot

Cleaning Revolver When It Discharged and the Ball Entered His Leg at the Knee.

NO SERIOUS RESULTS

A telephone message was received this morning from the manager of the Bank of Montreal, Eglinton, North Toronto, to the effect that on Sunday afternoon Melville Hartley, a son of Mr. E. J. Hartley, of the Auburn Woollen Mills, while cleaning a revolver, had met with an accident, the fire-piece discharging, and the bullet entered his leg near the knee. The lad was taken to the hospital, where the bullet was extracted, and no serious results are anticipated. Melville Hartley was, prior to his transfer to North Toronto, a member of the staff of the Bank of Montreal here, having entered the service of the Ontario Bank, and going over to the Bank of Montreal with the rest of the staff.

He has been in Eglinton for the past few months.

COUNTY POLICE COURT AT LAKEFIELD TO-DAY

County Magistrate Edmison went to Lakefield to-day where he is conducting county police court. Five youths of that village are accused of disturbing a public gathering there on April 9th, the occasion of a concert given by Mr. Gilbert Shorter and Mme. Adams.

THE MILLINERS WORK UNTIL SUNDAY MORNING

In a sermon on "The Signs of the Times," in the Charlotte street Methodist church last night, the pastor referred to the Lack of veneration for the Lord's Day, as one of the signs of the times, and said that because of the lack of consideration on the part of patrons of the city stores the clerks and business men were often obliged to work until after midnight on Saturday, to fill orders which came in late, and delivery men had to be on the streets after the midnight hour.

In order that the women who order new dresses and hats may not be disappointed on Easter morning, dressmakers and milliners are obliged to slave until Sunday morning in order that the contracts may be carried out in time, and the hats ready for use on Sunday.

AN ALLIGATOR SENT FROM FLORIDA

Mr. Harvey Staunton Received One To-day From His Mother.

An unusual parcel was received by Mr. Harvey Staunton through the customs house this morning. It contained nothing less than an alligator, a small one, it is true, and dead at that, but an alligator nevertheless. The animal was sent by Mr. Staunton's brother, Mr. Clarence Staunton, who lives in Jacksonville, Florida, and it is attracting much attention.

ASKS THE CHIEF FOR A NICE QUIET PLACE TO HANG HIMSELF

This morning Chief Ressel received a letter from a man, who said that he had been walking around the streets for the last twenty years trying to keep himself decently dressed, but that he was discouraged; and asked the Chief if he could tell him of a nice, quiet spot, where he could hang himself. He was tired of living, and wanted to end his life.

If the Chief runs across the writer of the letter he will likely give him some good advice, which may change his alleged determination to end his life. If he follows the advice of the Chief he will not go far astray.

Another Burglary At Mervin's Butcher Shop

Second Time Within a Few Days That the Till in This Store Has Been Rifled.

$8 WAS TAKEN LAST NIGHT

For the second time within a week the till in Mr. John Mervin's butcher shop, corner Hunter and Aylmer streets was broken into last night and about $8.00 in change taken. There is a strong suspicion that the burglar is a youth who knows the run of the building pretty well.

Last night shortly before nine o'clock a young lad noticed matches being lit in the store from across the street, and, thinking that someone was in the building who had no right there he looked up Constable Adams, who was on duty last night and told him of the circumstances. Mr. Adams immediately instituted an investigation and found the back door open, and the till empty. He telephoned to Mr. Mervin, who was in bed, and learned from him that there had been about $8 in the till when the store was closed Saturday night. This had, of course, been taken, though when the constable arrived on the scene there was no sign of the intruder.

It is supposed that the burglar obtained entrance through the transom over the front door, it having been left open on Saturday night.

It is the belief that the one who broke into the store a few days ago is the same person who took the money last night.

Little Boy Tumbled From Berth And Broke An Arm

It is not often that accidents occur to a person while he is wrapped in balmy slumber, oblivious of the world around him. But such was the case last week, when the little son of Mr. Robert Fawcett, recently of Otonabee, had his arm broken by falling from his bed in the middle of the night in a train bound for western Canada.

Mr. Fawcett and his family left a couple of weeks ago for Saskatchewan, and on Saturday, friends in the city received word that they had arrived at their destination with no other mishap except the above mentioned accident. The little fellow, who is about six years of age, was sleeping soundly in one of the berths of the sleeping car when the rocking of the train caused him to tumble out of bed on to the floor, with the result that his left arm was broken.

Another View Of The Dog Poisoning Cases

"Progress" Thinks No One Should Have Right to Keep Animals That Destroy Property and Expect Protection.

A "DOG-CURSED TOWN"

To the Editor of Examiner.—

Dear Sir, — In Saturday's issue is an article entitled "Diabolical Work of the Dog Poisoner." What is a "diabolical act?"

Compare the action of the dog owner with that of the dog poisoner, and the onus of reproach rests upon the owner.

What right have I to keep an animal running at large that trespasses on my neighbour's property, destroys his flowers, shrubs and garden, viciously attacks his wife and children, bedaubs with mud his walks and verandah, and even enters his house and carries off the family provisions?

It matters not whether that animal be a horse, cow or goat, or even a "valuable collie," or "choice setter," or "fine hound, or "family pet"—call it by what name you please, the fact is, it's a public nuisance.

My neighbour has just as much right to ask protection that his cow may graze on my lawn, as that I should expect protection for my dog that tears up his flowers; and, indeed, the cow is the least harmful animal.

We are all agreed that the dog is a noble and intelligent animal; in the country he is an absolute necessity, but in town he is a public nuisance. And if ever there was a dog-cursed town it is Peterborough.

I have never poisoned a dog, nor do I know anybody who has, but I am sorely tempted to join the unknown ranks of those who, finding there is no redress for such imposition, are forced, in sheer self defence, to adopt this means of lessening the evil. If three hundred Peterborough dogs were consigned to the lethal chamber it would be one of the greatest blessings to the community.

If some of our aldermen would rid us of some of these underfoot curses — dogs, garbage, etc. — we would willing take chances of overhead signs falling on us. We have to take chances anyway, on the dangerous ones, with live wires, glass, etc. Some of our worthies have had a "brainstorm."

Why not hold the dog owner liable for damages to property by his "household pet;" and in addition have him pay a substantial fee for the privilege of maintaining a nuisance?

One of our civic luminaries proposes to tax a useful, serviceable labourer ten dollars. He would confer a much greater boon to the community if he would place that tax on dogs.

We have private rights, it is true, but we also live in relation to the community. We have no moral right to maintain a public nuisance.

Under present unbearable conditions dog poisoning is the only source of self defence left to the peace and order-loving citizen.

PROGRESS.

Our correspondent is "as mild a mannered man as ever scuttled ship, or cut a throat," and "would not enter on his list of friends a man who needlessly set foot upon a worm." He must feel strongly to write so strongly.

DAMAGES

The Chemong Lake Bridge Gone

SECTION MOVED BY THE ICE

Chairman of Roads and Bridges Committee and County Engineer on the Spot to Replace It

Examiner Special

Bridgenorth, April 22.—About noon to-day the floating bridge over the Chemong Lake was broken about the centre by the weight of ice blown against it by the strong southwest wind which has been blowing down the lake all morning. The ice in some places was piled three feet high on the bridge, and the railing was broken down.

The traffic over the bridge this morning of Ennismore residents going to Peterborough was very heavy, as the great majority of them had not returned when the bridge was broken, the result being that they will have to go home around the rear of the lake, and many of them will have to travel 25 miles to reach home.

Word was at once sent to Mr. Frank Moher, chairman of the Committee on Roads and Bridges, in the County Council, and he came back this afternoon to superintend the repair of the structure. It is understood that it is the intention to cut the bridge near the centre and allow a section to float down the lake until the ice has gone from the lake, which, at the present rate at which it is coming down, will only be a short time. The section out loose will then be replaced.

Mr. J. E. Belcher, the County Engineer, is also on the scene, and with the chairman, will direct the work. It will be a few days yet before the bridge will be open for traffic again.

OBITUARY.

JEFFREY POWER

Jeffrey Power, an inmate of the House of Providence, passed away yesterday afternoon. The deceased was well known in this vicinity and especially in Ennismore, where he formerly resided. The funeral was held this afternoon at 2 o'clock to the Catholic Cemetery after the last rites for the dead were solemnized in the chapel in the House of Providence.

MRS. DAVID QUINLAN

The death of Mrs. David Quinlan occurred yesterday at the ripe old age of 71 years. The deceased was well known in this city and county. She was born in Mitchell's Town, Limerick, Ireland. About 50 years ago she was married to her late husband, who predeceased her 12 years ago. The family lived in Asphodel for many years, but moved to this city ten years ago. The children of the deceased are Michael, city; David, Ennismore; Joseph and Thomas, Chicago; William, New York, and Mrs. Devlin, Mrs. O'Brien, Chicago; Mrs. Owen Woods, Chicago; Mrs. Fraser, Trout Creek, and Miss Elizabeth, Peterborough.

The funeral will take place tomorrow morning, from the family residence, Hunter street, near Aylmer street, to St. Peter's Cathedral, and thence to the Catholic Cemetery.

ROBERT NELSON RODDY

After spanning life to the extent of 70 long years, Robert Nelson Roddy passed away this afternoon at his residence, 384 1-2 Water street. He has been ill for about a year, and his death was not unexpected by his many friends.

The late Mr. Roddy was born in the township of Cavan and has lived in Peterborough during the past 40 years. He was married and leaves three sons and one daughter to mourn his loss.

The funeral will take place on Wednesday, April 24th at 2.30 to the Little Lake Cemetery. By the request of Mr. Roddy expressed before his death, the funeral will be under the auspices of the Chapter of the Royal Black Knights of Ireland, supported by the Orangemen of the county, the Apprentice Boys and True Blues.

THE WEATHER

The recent cold weather that we have been experiencing is unusual for the month of April. Yesterday morning the thermometer registered 22 degrees as the lowest during the night, and around this figure has been the usual night temperature for several weeks. It is said that April to date has had the lowest average temperature of any corresponding month for over fifty years. There are signs however that the cold wave will soon be a thing of the past.

Cameron, Alias Chambers In The Witness Box To-day

Gave Evidence in Case Against Jas. Kelly---States That He Was Taking His Friends' Part in a Free Fight in Royal Hotel.

Frank Cameron, Alias Fred Chambers, who was the principal in the bloody stabbing fray in the Royal Hotel on Wednesday last, took the stand in the witness box this morning to give evidence in the case in which Jas. Kelly, proprietor of the Royal Hotel, is charged with permitting disorderly conduct to be carried on in his house.

Cameron, as he is best known in this city, was brought down from the jail, and the police gave him no chances to live up to his already-established character. Prisoner appeared somewhat the worse for his late experience. His hair was unkempt, his face unshaven, and he wore a brown and gray shirt of regulation jail fashion. His head was bound in white linen to protect the wound he had received over the left eye when he was nearly knocked out with a beer bottle. His language was fairly correct, and he showed that he was not a stranger to a witness box. He signed his name to his evidence in a legible hand, and one is led to believe that he is fairly well educated.

Am I Compelled to Answer?

Mr. McWilliams asked him if he had ever served time in prison, and Cameron said, "Your Worship I am I compelled to answer that question?" Magistrate Dumble replied in the affirmative, and prisoner reluctantly replied that he had been confined in Kingston Penitentiary for ten years for attempted robbery in Toronto. He had just regained his freedom in December, 1906.

The Charge Against Mr. Kelly

In the information against Mr. Kelly, no particular date was mentioned, which Mr. McWilliams strongly objected to. Chief Ressel said that he wished the time to run from April 9 until April 20. Mr. McWilliams declared that he was ready to answer any number of charges, provided they were specific. Magistrate Dumble wanted the authority for this, his opinion being that the time was continuous. Mr. McWilliams' objection was noted, and the evidence of Cameron was heard.

Cameron's Evidence

Cameron was sworn, and stated that he had pleaded guilty in the Police Court to having wounded three men in the Royal Hotel on April 17. "Me and my friend," he stated, "were having several drinks that day and wandered into the hotel. We had no drinks there, as there was a general fight on when we entered. My friend, Jos Lemire, got into it, and went to his assistance. I tried to get him out of the mix-up. I was set upon and beaten. A number of men punched and kicked me, and threw me out the back door. I went around to the front and went in to square matters up; that is, to buy a few drinks and show I was a good fellow. They were all laughing over the matter as I re-entered. Someone said, 'Here he comes again.' I tried to explain matters, but I didn't get a chance. There must have been eight or ten in the bar, and they came at me again. They tore the buttons off my coat and tried to do me up. I was hit with a beer bottle across the face. They let me go, as I staggered back and nearly fell.

Drew a Knife

"Then I drew a knife and threatened to cut the first man that came near me. The first man that approached, I cut, and he went down against the bar, and a second also got a slip. I do not remember slashing a third man. I had no chance to look around, I was too busy." Witness said that he was out in the boot during the fight, the knife, if it was one, piercing his boot and foot.

Cameron recognized Kelly as one of the men who was in the gang in the bar-room. He said he had seen in the bar on Tuesday night last, but although there were "rumours" of fight and loud talk, there was no actual struggle. He had a few drinks that night, treating several that were hanging around.

Witness told Mr. McWilliams that he did not know how the first fight started. Cameron said he did not draw a knife until he was struck with a beer bottle. When he drew the knife, all his assailants, as witnessed termed them, but three, vanished.

To Mr. McWilliams, Cameron said that his right name was Fred Chambers and his home was in Toronto.

This concluded the evidence, and a further argument followed between the Chief, Mr. McWilliams and Magistrate Dumble, resulting in the case being enlarged until Thursday, when Mr. McWilliams must show his authority for demanding specific instances.

Chief Ressel said, "We are not going to show our hand until the proper time comes."

FIRE BRIGADE HAD HAD EXCITING RACE

Were Called to a Chimney Fire on Brock Street To-day.

The fire brigade were given a run this morning, when an alarm was sent in from the residence of Mr. V. Best on Brock street. A defective chimney was the cause of the trouble. No damage was done and the firemen did not have to turn on the water. The run to the fire caused considerable excitement, however. As the hose wagon came up George street with the horses on the run, the horse attached to S. A. Clark's delivery rig broke loose and followed in the track of the flying team, with the result that there was a very pretty race, honours being about even.

SCOTCH FARM HANDS ARE COMING

Mr. Howson Receives Notice That Ten Will be Here About the Middle Of June.

Mr. George H. Howson, Immigration Agent for the Dominion Government, received a letter to-day from John Keith of Thurso, Scotland, informing him that in response to a notice in a Peterborough paper, sent to a number of agents in the Old Land, Mr. Keith among them, he was booking a party of seven unmarried farm labourers, and three married men, for Peterborough. They will leave Glasgow on June 1st and 6th, and the first party will be here about the middle of June. Farmers who will be in need of men about that time of the year, are advised to consult Mr. Howson in reference to securing one from the contingent which will arrive here then. Two of the married men have families; one of them, a man 30 years of age, has a son 20 years old, and six other children.

KILLED WHILE SHOOTING MUSKRATS

B. F. Blakely, a Respected Farmer of Cherry Valley, Accidentally Killed On Saturday.

B. F. Blakely, a prominent and well known farmer of Cherry Valley, was accidentally killed late on Saturday afternoon. Mr. Blakely had been shooting muskrats, and not returning to his home in the evening, a search party was sent out for him. The shocking discovery was made of his lifeless body, where he had evidently tripped and fallen in a pile of brush wood. A shot from his rifle had entered the back of his head and completely shattered his skull.

SERGT.-MAJOR M'GEOWN COMING HERE TO-NIGHT

Will Conduct the Examinations of Signalling Corps on Wednesday Night.

Sergt. Crowley, who has been in the city for some time conducting the signalling class in connection with the 57th Regiment, left on Saturday for Kingston. The examinations of the class will be held on Wednesday night, and Sergt.-Major McGeown, of Kingston, is expected here this evening to take charge of them. There will be about 25 candidates to try the examination, which will be held at the Armouries.

CAVENDISH LUMBER COMPANY'S PLANS

Commenced Operations in Their Mills at Lakefield—Will Cut Timber During the Summer.

The Lakefield News says: — The Cavendish Lumber Company commenced operations in their saw mill on Thursday afternoon, a large number of men being engaged. The mill is cutting last year's logs, enough being in the lake here to last until the drives come down in the early summer. The Company will have a number of gangs of men in the woods cutting logs all summer.

NO DISCRIMINATION RESPECTING THE SIGNS

So States a City Lawyer—Must All Come Down or Be Allowed to Remain

It appears that if the projecting signs are taken down, the illuminated signs, the awnings and all other street projections must also meet the same fate. A prominent barrister of the city to-day stated to the Examiner that the council cannot lawfully use any discrimination in connection with street projections. He added that he would be only too glad to undertake to have such a bylaw repealed as would show any discrimination between illuminated sign owners. "They must either all come down or be permitted to remain," he said.

In support of his contention he read several instances from law books endorsing his statements.

FIRST BOAT GOES THROUGH THE LOCK

Yacht Floradora Opens Navigation—On Her Way to Keene This Morning.

Navigation through the locks below the city was opened this morning, when the "Floradora" the gasoline yacht owned by Mr. W. Faint, with a party passed through on her way to Keene, on a pleasure trip. She was the first boat to go through the locks this season. After passing through the lock she pulled in at Rye's boat house to take on a canvass covering, to protect the passengers from the high sea which was expected in the lake.

MERCHANTS OBJECT TO DUST CLOUDS

Whole Section of Business Men on George Street Up in Arms at Delay in Getting Watering Carts Out.

THEY COMPLAIN BITTERLY

The George street merchants are up in arms over the laxity in connection with the street sprinkling. One of the leading merchants in the city to-day referred in scathing terms to the inactivity and lack of attention to their interests evidenced on Saturday, when, in spite of the fact that the dust was almost unbearable all day, it was late in the afternoon before the watering carts were out.

The result of this was that the dry goods merchants especially were losers to a considerable extent by the destruction of goods displayed at the doors. In fact, one business man stated that it was almost impossible to place high class goods in the windows even without having them spoiled because of the clouds of dust flying.

At the beginning of the season he thought that it was up to some one to take this matter up and see that more attention was paid to this important work this summer than in the past. The whole street watering, according to his opinion, has been very loosely attended to. It is only after the streets have become almost impassable that the carts are brought into requisition, and in the meantime goods have been destroyed. The merchants feel that they should be given some little consideration in this matter, if in no other. They are helping to pay the taxes of the city, contributing a good share towards the maintenance of the city government, and in addition there is a special tax levied for the very purpose of paying for the watering of the streets.

The laxity in respect to this important work has been the cause of considerable annoyance and loss to the business men of the city in the past, and the hope is expressed that a word of suggestion at the beginning of the season will result in the street watering being better attended to this year than in the past.

Mayor McWilliams explained that the Board of Works had done all in its power and had the carts out as soon as the water in the standpipes was turned on.

Dog Poisoners Still At Their Deadly Work

Dr. Poole's Valuable Collie One of the Latest Victims—Evidences all Point to Strychnine Poisoning

SOME OTHER LOSERS

The dog poisoners are still at work. On Saturday night Dr. Poole found his valuable collie dog lying dead in the stable, with all the evidences of strychnine poisoning. The dog had not been around all day but Dr. Poole was busy and had no time to look for it, until night when he found his dad body in the outhouse. Had he found the dog before the poison had done its works he could probably have pulled it through.

This morning another dog was lying dead on Hunter street near the corner of Stewart, and several others report that they have lost dogs of more or less value. Dr. Poole informed the Examiner that the dogs he had attended during the last few days for poisoning gave evidence of having been given strychnine, a very deadly poison. If he could find the person who administered the dose which resulted in the death of his dog, the guilty party would have to suffer.

ONTARIO BANK DIRECTORS INSPECTING PROPERTY HERE

On Saturday Mr. Barlow Cumberland and Mr. J. E. Hammond, of Toronto, two of the directors of the Ontario Bank, elected by the shareholders since the Bank of Montreal took over the business of the former, were in Peterborough. The object of the visit of these gentlemen to the city was for the purpose of looking over the property of the bank here, and the several businesses which have not as yet been finally liquidated.

One Section—640 Acres

Land for Sale in Alberta

One fine section of good land, about nine miles from the Town of Ranfurly on the Canadian Northern Railway. The district is first-class, settled by Americans, Scotch and English. There are no dudlctus or Benchlocers in the immediate vicinity, and the country round and about is filling up fast. The class of people coming into that locality is good. The farmer owning the place adjoining this section threshed about 9,000 bushels of wheat last year. The soil is not quite so heavy, as in the Edmonton district and on that account is considered better and the crops are considerably earlier. On this property there is a fine creek. About three quarters of the section is open prairie, the remainder having some brush upon it. Price $12.50 per acre, $1,000 cash, balance may be arranged mortgage at 6%. This is an excellent chance for two young enterprising farmers, desiring to locate in the West, to divide up the section between them and have a first class Farm. Further particulars may be had at the EXAMINER OFFICE, where full information may be had.

CORPORATION LIABILITY

The public is deeply interested in the question of the liability of municipal corporations, or their officials—Mayors and Aldermen, Reeves and Councillors—for accidents from defective streets and highways. Section 606 of the Municipal Act provides that municipalities were to be held liable for damages under certain conditions, even if no specific notice had been given of the conditions which led to accidents in respect of which damages were claimed. The Municipal Association of Ontario has repeatedly asked the Legislature to make it more difficult for damages to be recovered from municipalities by individuals, in fact, an advocate of the Association, a member of the Legislature, Mr. McGarry, of South Renfrew told the House that the Municipal Association wanted the law amended so that no municipal corporation should be held liable for damages under any circumstances. This was further than the House was prepared to go. The Government wanted an amendment passed however, almost as unreasonable—to the effect that no damages could be recovered unless the person claiming damages, on account of accident, had personally given notice to the officials of the corporation of the dangerous nature of the highway, walk or bridge as the case might be. That is to say, that even if notice had been given by a score of neighbours, the person suffering injury could no receive damages unless he had been one of the score which had notified the council or municipal body. Hon. Mr. Graham, leader of the Opposition, pointed out the absurdity and unfairness of this provision and the amendment was so modified as to provide that if any person notifies the council that a certain highway, walk or bridge is in a dangerous disrepair any other person who may suffer injury or loss from such disrepair may recover damage though the person entitled to so recover has not given notice personally.

The anxiety of the officers of municipal corporations to evade responsibility in respect of defective roads, streets, etc., suggests a lack of appreciation of the relations of these bodies to the ratepayers. The Mayors or Reeves or Councillors do not pay the damages though they are responsible for the conditions that make damages payable. The people, not their representatives, own the streets and highways. The members of the councils are merely trustees of the people—directors of a joint stock company in which ratepayers have so many perpetually unpaid shares, but upon which they pay calls every year in the shape of taxes. The funds resulting from the taxes paid are paid with the understanding, and specific purpose of, among other things, making and keeping highways and streets in repair in the interest of the shareholders. If any shareholder — ratepayer— suffers loss and injury through the neglect, wilful or otherwise, of the directors—councillors—he has an undoubted claim, as a matter of justice, and right, to draw upon the common fund to which he has contributed by way of taxes, to compensate him for the loss he has sustained through the default of the trustees he and other ratepayers have placed for the year in charge of their interests. It is no hardship upon, or injustice to, other ratepayers that he should draw from the common fund, for they, under similar circumstances, are entitled to similar compensation. They pay taxes on the distinct understanding that they are to be applied to the making of good and safe walks, bridges, highways and streets.

It is in the interests of ratepayers that municipal corporations should be held liable for damages for defective public works such as highways, etc., etc. A man, our resident in a municipality, has paid taxes to the amount of hundreds or thousands of dollars. If he gets therefrom good highways, walks, bridges or streets, he collects a dividend and gets what he has paid for. If he does not get these things, he is in a certain way defrauded and if in a certain way the council has been obtaining money under false pretences. And if through the assumed immunity misuse or neglect of the proper use of the money he has paid on certain implied conditions, he suffers loss and injury, his claim for compensation is, in equity, incontestable.

It is very doubtful if the amendment referred to above is in the interest of the people primarily interested—the tax paying public. A bad, defective and dangerous piece of highway, walk, bridge or street may exist. Hundreds may know of it, and this very general knowledge may illustrate the saying that "what is everybody's business is nobody's business. Each may think some other has notified or will notify the council, and so the notice of the defect is not given; and, if through such defect, the bread winner of a family is killed, or a valuable horse killed there is no redress because notice has not been given—not because the claim is not just—a ratepayer by a legal quibble, which a lawyer would delight in, is deprived of his just rights. The Whitney Government and its party have taken strong stand on the question of hostility to corporations, but the amendment in question is an act of favouritism to corporations and an act of hostility to the rights of the people.

It is very certain that the amendment is not in the interest of the highways and streets of the country. The exemption from, and the facility it affords for evading, responsibility will encourage councils in indifference and carelessness in regard to their maintaining streets and highways in proper repair. If officials—aldermen and councillors—feel that they can be held to strict account, be made very uncomfortable, be held up to execration and be chargeable with waste of trust money and liable for damages, they will be influenced to exercise the greater care.

Under the amendment to the municipal act requiring notice, carelessness and indifference are encouraged. With a proper system of supervision there should be no necessity of notice—the proper official of the corporation should be the first to discover a defect, and to promptly remedy it. That would be the best protection to a corporation and most in the interest of the public. But where there is entire lack of system and hap hazard methods defects are bound to occur. Streets and highways subject to continuous inspection, by a competent and responsible official will, if not kept in good order, not be allowed to develop dangerous defects. The keeping of the streets, highways and bridges in proper repair by dint of intelligent oversight and faithful inspection is the best, and only logically proper, safeguard a municipal corporation can have against successful actions for damages.

PETERBOROUGH IS WELL REPRESENTED

A Correspondent Refers to Good Work of County's Representatives in the House of Commons.

Editor Examiner.

The country's stock of wisdom which, to a very large extent, has made Ottawa its headquarters since the 22nd of November last, will, in a few days, disperse to the four winds, and once more parliamentary halls, corridors, smoking and committee rooms will become almost as silent as if they were tenanted by mummies from the land of the Pharaohs. The Speaker of the House of Commons will not have to listen to orators with swelled heads and distended wings, as they hurl stale platitudes at bare walls and at empty seats, nor will the Hansard Reporter have to continue on recording speeches, many of which are made up of "damnosi nonsense."

Peterborough—East and West—has always the good fortune of selecting its best men for parliamentary representatives. My memory goes back to that period prior to Confederation, when W. S. Conger and Lt.-Col. Hault-ain successfully represented the East riding. Conger, a Tory, was an able man, able enough, of course, to stand the foul political odors of that day, but Haultain, being too honest, too pure, could not stand the fetid atmosphere of Parliament, and his high sense of honour accordingly impelled him to resign his seat. I could enumerate other representatives to whom East and West Peterborough have confided the guardianship of their interests, but in that long and respectable roll I cannot indicate the time when they were guarded with more watchful zeal than they are at the present time. Residents of West Peterborough will recognize the fact that in Mr. R. R. Hall they have found a man who faithfully attends, not alone to his obligations to Canada generally, but in an especial manner to the interests of the constituency which he worthily represents, whilst East Peterborough has already abundant proofs that no mistake at all was made when a mandate was given to Mr. John Finlay, to voice their sentiments in parliamentary caucuses, as well as in parliamentary departments, and already his persistent efforts have borne fruit in securing a handsome grant for the wharf at Lakefield, another for a similar need at Hall's Bridge on the Otonabee River, whilst he has been instrumental in establishing new postoffices and improving mail facilities. East Peterborough knew its man when John Finlay was chosen, and there are signs now in the air that at the next election he will be better known and more highly appreciated.

TO WELD THE EMPIRE TOGETHER

Colonial Conference Decides to Establish Secretariat.

SIR WILFRID IS CRITICIZED

Provision for Committee of Imperial Defence — Conference Will Hold Quadrennial Meetings — Proposed Reorganization in Colonial Office—British Press Comments on Situation—Elgin Speaks.

London, April 22.—At Saturday's session of the colonial conference it was unanimously agreed to change the title to "imperial conference."

The conferences will be held every four years to discuss the common interests of the empire.

The Premier of the United Kingdom will be ex-officio president of the imperial conference and the Premiers of the Colonies and Colonial Secretary will be ex-officio members.

The various Governments will appoint other members, but with the exception of the special confirmation of the conference not more than two representatives of each Government shall participate in the conferences. Each Government will have two votes.

A department of the Colonial Office is created with a permanent secretarial staff, which shall be charged with the duty of obtaining information for the use of the conference and dealing tentatively with such matters of general imperial interest as arise in the intervals between the conferences.

Imperial Defence.

The Earl of Elgin, Secretary of State for the Colonies, referring to the matter of military defence, outlined the general principles of an imperial military organization, and the Premiers concurred in his views. The Premiers then explained the defence organisations of their respective colonies, and the extent to which the general organization could be put into practice.

The draft of a resolution creating a general staff for the empire was tabled.

Laurier and Botha.

The only striking feature communicated was the objection of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the Premier of Canada, and General Botha, Premier of the Transvaal, to designating the conference "imperial conference."

All agreed that the conference should be consultative and advisory only, and the Earl of Elgin clinched matters by declaring that the establishment of a body with an independent status of authority would not be acceptable to His Majesty's Government.

Press Comments.

The press describe Saturday's decision on the question of imperial conference as a momentous one recognising in it the germs of imperial federation.

The Morning Post, however, has a bitter article, and says the bureaucracy, the bane of every empire, has recovered much lost ground and succeeded in chaining the conference more firmly than hitherto to the colonial department in Downing street. It describes Lord Elgin's statements regarding the effect of the Deakin suggestions as sheer misrepresentation, inspired by Laurier's confusion of mind and misapprehension. As a result of the deliberations the status of the Dominion is less national and more colonial than before, and it will be easy to imagine that such a development must be galling to Canadians, who are able to realize their position.

Laurier's Attitude.

The Standard says the resolution is thoroughly British in a spirit of compromise. The caution of Laurier's preference for the Colonial Office is not easy understood without fuller knowledge of his speeches.

The Telegraph in an inspired article says Laurier knows the Colonial Office is looking to him as the main support for a "sit down and think" policy. If the Colonial Office can manage to make the conference do this Sir Wilfrid will not be displeased, but he takes no risks in giving too much help. Evidently he was not prepared to see the Colonial Office give up the fight without further effort on Saturday, for he was visibly out of temper for the rest of the sitting.

$100,000 BLAZE.

Montreal Grocery Firm Suffers Serious Loss.

Montreal, April 22.—A hundred-thousand-dollar fire visited Montreal at 4 o'clock Saturday morning, burning the wholesale grocery establishment of N. Quintal Fils, Limited, at 274 St. Paul street. It took the firemen over two hours to get it under control. The building next door, formerly occupied by Daoust Lalode, who had a fire about a month ago, was not damaged at all. The losses will be about $100,000, fully covered by insurance. Luckily for the firm this is the time that their stock is lowest, as a large consignment of goods was expected in a couple of weeks.

Big Blaze at Manila.

Manila, April 22.—Fire destroyed nearly 300 houses and parts of the districts of Singalong, Paco and Bambang, in Manila on Saturday.

The flames, fanned by a heavy gale, swept an area of 100 acres clean within two hours. The damage is conservatively estimated at $200,000 in gold.

Three Children Cremated.

Port Huron, Mich., April 22.—Ethel Hicks, aged 7, her brother Paul, aged 6, and their 10-months-old baby sister were burned to death in their home yesterday by the explosion of a gasoline stove which the two elder children had attempted to light in the absence of their parents.

Quake In Algeria.

Oran, Algeria, April 22.—A telegram received here from Mostaganem says a severe earth shock was felt in that section at twenty minutes before ten Saturday night. The message makes no mention of casualties or damages.

MEN CAPSIZED BOAT.

One Drowned, the Other Rescued by a Young Lad.

Brockville, April 22.—William Mack, 23 years of age, was drowned while crossing from Morristown to Brockville Saturday night, and his companion and brother-in-law, Joseph Mars, narrowly escaped the same fate. The men accompanied two others to the American side early in the evening, and when they started for home in a row boat are said to have been under the influence of liquor.

Mack was rowing, and in some way upset the boat. Neither could swim. Mars managed to cling to the boat, and his cries were heard by a boy named Peter Fraser, rowing from Morristown to Brockville, to whose plucky efforts Mars owes his life. Mars proved too heavy for Fraser to handle, so he towed the belated craft and the man to one of the sister islands.

After landing he was forced to wade out some distance to reach Mars, who by this time was lying on the top of the upturned boat unconscious. He pulled him off, but on reaching shore had not sufficient strength to take his body entirely out of the water. Leaving Mars partly submerged Fraser hurried back to Morristown and got aid. Doctors worked over Mars for two hours before he showed signs of life.

Mack leaves a wife and a young child.

Play Became Tragedy.

London, April 22.—A man, William Zeits, while impersonating a signal man bound to the railroad line by robbers in a moving picture representation of a train-wrecking scene, was killed by a train near Croydon on Saturday. The train ought to have stopped, but failed to do so, owing to an error in the signalling.

Torpedo Boat Destroyer Wrecked.

Valetta, Malta, April 22.—While manoeuvring during a night attack outside the Grand harbor late on Saturday, the British torpedo boat destroyer Ariel collided with the breakwater and sank. One man was drowned. The Ariel lies in deep water and will be a total loss.

Columbia Student Drowns.

New York, April 22.—The body of William Sandler, 18 years of age, a student in the School of Applied Science of Columbia University, was recovered Saturday from the swimming pool in the gymnasium on the university grounds after having been in the water since Friday afternoon.

Death was due to either a weak heart or a fainting spell, and the youth died in the water before submersion, in the opinion of the coroner's physician.

Boy Killed by Gun.

Chatham, Ont., April 22.—As the result of the accidental explosion of a shotgun on Saturday, Francis Barnier, Concession 4, Dover township, aged 15 years, lost his life. In company with a 17-year-old brother, he was shooting muskrats in the Thames river.

Thirteen Hurt, Three Will Die.

Pittsburg, April 22.—Thirteen persons were seriously injured on Saturday night, three of whom will die, when a large car on the East Liberty Express Line of the Pittsburg Railway Co. collided with a wagon heavily loaded with wooden blocks on a steep incline in the Lawrenceville district.

Fatally injured: John Donohoe, special delivery messenger; Larry Gould, motorman wrecked car; Otmar Eichentaub.

Sultan Defies Powers.

Tangier, April 22.—The Sultan of Morocco, according to a courier who arrived here yesterday from Fez, is not willing to carry out the terms of the Algeciras convention. He is said to be delaying facilities for the formation of the international police, and also pays no notice to the French claims relative to redress for the murder of Dr. Mauchamp.

Boy Blinded.

Brockville, April 22.—Playing at school H. Mather of Balderson was accidentally struck in the eye with the end of a broken broom handle by a playmate and blinded, the eye ball being ruptured. Mather is 12 years old.

Health And Vitality For Old People

As old age creeps on vitality is lowered, the heart beats more slowly, the blood becomes more thin and watery, and the power of resistance is lowered. It is the old people above all others who require the new life and energy which come with the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. Thousands of old people depend on this treatment, because it calms and quiets the nerves, gradually and certainly enriches the blood, builds up the system and instils new life and vigour into their shrivelled arteries.

THE MIDLAND LEAGUE SCHEDULE

Drawn Up at Meeting on Saturday Afternoon—Twelve Teams in the League Peterboro' Plays in Two Series.

The schedule of the Midland Association Football League was drawn up at a meeting of the officers and Executive on Saturday afternoon in the Y.M.C.A. parlours. There will be at least 12 teams in the league this year, and the prospects are that a couple of others will be entered within the next week. In the senior series only two teams have entered — Cobourg and the Peterborough Quakers—but the intermediate series will embrace five groups and nine teams. The junior series contains but one district with two teams.

Peterborough will be represented with two teams, one playing senior and the other intermediate. The latter will be known as the Old Country Wanderer team and will be composed chiefly of resident Englishmen in the city. The first game in Peterborough will be played by them on May 18 against Plainville.

At the meeting on Saturday, Mr. Fred Doherty, of Norwood, represented his town and also Campbellford and Warkworth. Mr. T. J. Wallace represented Keene, while the interests of the other clubs were looked after by a number of the officers.

The association game this year is bound to surpass its past record in the Midland League. There will be at least four more teams in the Midland district playing football than last year, so that its growing popularity is in evidence.

Exhibition games were also arranged for at Saturday's meeting. Keene will play Norwood during the earlier part of next month, and Peterborough and Norwood will also exchange games.

The following is the summer's schedule:

Senior Series

June 6—Peterborough Quakers at Cobourg.

June 15—Cobourg at Peterborough Quakers.

Intermediate

Group 1.—
May 18—Port Hope at Oshawa.
May 24—Oshawa at Port Hope.

Group 2.—
May 24—Keene at Norwood.
June 1—Norwood at Keene.

Group 3.—
May 18—Plainville at Peterborough O. C. W.
May 24—Peterborough O. C. W. at Plainville.

Group 4.—
May 24—Warkworth at Campbellford.
June 1—Campbellford at Warkworth.

Group 5.—
Quarters—Bye.

Junior Series

Group 1.—
June 15—Oshawa at Bowmanville
June 22—Bowmanville at Oshawa.

BURRIDGE IS IN GOOD SHAPE

For Big Match With Kid Dunn on Wednesday Night—Some Great Bouts.

Harry Burridge is in great shape for his match on Wednesday night with J. K. Dunn. The event promises to be the best wrestling match ever pulled off in Peterborough, and is arousing great interest among the members of the sporting fraternity. The local boy says that he will give the Toronto wrestler the match of his life and those who have seen him working out lately are confident that he will do so.

The programme for Wednesday night is as follows:—

Boxing

Tommy Daly, Toronto, vs. Cornie Burns, Peterborough—four rounds.

Jim Downey, Peterborough, vs. Jack O'Neill, Peterborough—four rounds.

Billy Myers, Peterborough, vs. Jack Brown, Lindsay—four rounds.

Tommy Foster, Toronto, vs. Kid Lovett, Ottawa—six rounds.

Wrestling

Jack (Kid) Dunn, of Toronto, vs. Harry Burridge, of Peterborough, for the lightweight wrestling championship of Canada.

BETTER PRO. HOCKEY THAN HYPOCRISY

A Strong Letter in Favour of the Scheme to Have Paid Players.

Sporting Editor Examiner.

Dear Sir,—Your idea of finding out the opinion of the hockey-loving public seems to have created great interest. The opinion of some concerning professional hockey in Peterborough seems to be based on the fact that it will be much after the style of prize fights. If the writer of the said opinion knew anything about the inside running of hockey teams he surely knows that at the present time amateur hockey is nothing but a nest of hypocrisy. Take the O.H.A. for instance. There are supposed to be broad-minded men running the said O.H.A., and yet there are thousands of hockey fans who know that every team that played in the O.H.A. series last year had paid men on it. But not the O.H.A. As for bringing outside men in. Where under the sun is there a town or city that does not like to have a winning team, no matter who plays on it? If pro. hockey will give more advertising, and that's what is wanted in Peterborough, why, pro. hockey by all means. Did the city of Peterborough ever have more advertising than that which the intermediate champions brought to it? Another thing, is there a city in the O.H.A. district that has a stronger population for strenuous hockey than Peterborough?

Then, I say, even if it brings hockey to the level of prize-fighting, or, in other words, boxing, which every living man should be able to do, let's have it, and not live under the mantle of amateur sport, when we know that there is cheating going on all the time.

KARE-NOT BASEBALL CLUB ORGANIZED

A Junior Organization Which Will Enter a City League—Officers Have Been Elected.

A meeting was held on the evening of April 20 to organize a boys' baseball club. The following officers were elected:

President—R. J. Soden.
Vice-Pres.—O. E. Stone.
Sec. Treas.—C. Ray.
Capt.-Man.—T. J. Wallace.
Committee—Norman Geale, Victor Carton, Leo Borradaile, Gordon Long.

It was decided to practice on the Oval on Wednesday evenings and Saturday afternoons. The club will arrange for games with outside junior clubs, and will enter the Junior City League, if one is formed. It was also decided that the club should be known as "Karenots."

PRO HOCKEY FIVE VOTES IN THE LEAD

As a Result of First Week's Voting Upon the Question

At the end of a week's voting on the professional hockey question the vote shows a majority of five in favor of the professional hockey. The result of the plebiscite so far is somewhat unexpected. It was thought that the people of Peterborough as a whole were firm supporters of the amateur hockey, but they have failed to show it so far by their votes. However, the vote is not yet over and they still have an opportunity of showing their views on the subject. The vote closes on the first of May and is open to any one who desires to express an opinion on the subject.

TENNIS

The annual meeting of the Nicholls' Oval Tennis Club will be held in a short time, and the prospects for the success of this organization during the coming season are excellent. HOTEL MEN AT THE BOWLING GAME

Will Take Part in the Big Tournament This Week.

There are a large number of entries for the bowling tournament which begins on Thursday night at the Majestic Bowling Alleys, and the event promises to be an unqualified success. The entries close to-night.

There are four entries in the open five-man event, and more are expected to-night. The teams already entered are two teams from the High Lifes, the Independents and the Merchants.

An interesting event will be the competition for hotels, and there are four entries. They are teams representing the Oriental, National, Munro House and Southern Hotel. Four strong teams are entered, and the event will be a good one.

There is a big field in both the singles and doubles.

FOOTBALL MATCH ON WEDNESDAY NIGHT

DOG-TRAIN OF FURS.

Indian and His Dogs Brought Them 300 Miles.

The appearance of a dog-train of furs on Edmonton's main thoroughfare the other morning was a picturesque sight, reminiscent of the frontier days, and one only to be seen at rare intervals now.

The four burly huskies in the train showed signs of fatigue after their long journey of 300 miles from Pelican Rapids, on the Athabasca, accomplished in five consecutive days, with intervals of rest.

Their driver and owner, a square-jawed, capable-looking Indian named Alexandre Dezserlais, preferred to bring his furs and dogs directly to Edmonton, instead of leaving his dogs at Athabasca Landing, as the average trapper does.

Furs Are Quite Valuable.

His furs include seven coyote skins, six cross-fox, eighteen red fox, two otter, seventeen lynx, ten mink, seven marten, three weasel, one large black bearskin, and five moose skins.

Some idea of the value of Dezzerlais' cargo may be had from the fact that marten skins are worth from $10 to $25 each; mink and lynx, $8 to $9; otter, $15 to $25; cross-fox and coyotes, $3 to $5; red fox, $5 to $7.

With moose skins and bear skins, Dazzerlais' furs will total about $500. A great part of this he will exchange for supplies, and will soon wend his way homeward with his dogs to the silent places of the north.

From Peace River Crossing.

Another excellent consignment of furs was that brought down directly from Peace River Crossing, 500 miles north.

It belongs to a young Englishman named H. Pope, of the Crossing, who did a little trapping during the past winter as a profitable form of recreation. A pile of cross-fox, red fox, lynx, and marten attest to his industry.

Mr. Pope reports an unusually severe winter in the north, with many moose ranging near the settlements.

SHORE SEAL HUNT.

Exciting Scenes In a Leading Newfoundland Industry.

Just at this season on the Newfoundland coast the seal fishery is in progress. The seal are floating south on the huge ice floats from the north and they are hunted for their skins, blubber and flesh. The hunt is carried on in two ways. From sealing steamers which carry several scores of men and which count there takings by thousands and from the shore by the inhabitants of the coast who are content with much smaller takings. It is the latter hunt which is described by a writer in The London Standard.

"Old Harp Bobs Up.

"The Bedlamers, or two-year-old seals, have already passed by, and now through the ice the occasional head of an "old harp" will bob up, and after blinking his eyes clear of the ice and water, standing on his tail, will blandly survey the horizon.

"All clear the seal will then roll over on his back, tossing the icy water into the air over his chest, as if he found it almost impossible to get cool enough. Some of the men are out now on the floating ice where, hidden behind gazes of ice, they are waiting for a shot at protruding heads. Seals are now fat enough to float, so that there is a reasonable chance of getting them if one shoots straight.

Swatching Process.

"This process is called 'swatching.' It is really keen sport for the danger of the moving ice and the offchance of getting ashore again on a headland further south, in which direction the ice is running, lends the element of risk which prevents any sport from being dull.

"Of course it is more than sport to us, for a bad shot means three or four pairs of skin boots swimming away and a loss of dog food, fresh meat and blubber, which we sell for fat. Here in this stage lie half a dozen huge carcasses weighing from three to four hundred pounds each. One is more than a man can pull out on to an ice pan by himself. More than once have I had my hook fast to an old dog, and then, fixing myself firmly, tried to rush the carcass high enough up to balance him over the ice edge, and this all in vain till help was forthcoming.

Old Seals Frozen.

"A stranger, peeping into one of these stages, would be sorely surprised to see the floor covered with old seals lying side by side, apparently alive. Really, however, they are frozen and will have to be brought into the house by the fire for several hours before they can be pelted. After that the skins will be well scraped from fat and stretched out in a frame on the house top to dry, out of the reach of dogs.

"Later on these will be steeped in boiling bark from the fir trees in the large caldrons in which we bark our nets. They will then be made into one class of skin boot. In spring, however, when the ice is wet, we use boots made of green skin, for these will keep out the water much better. When the snow is cold and dry the tan boots are better, being softer, for, by allowing free movement of the toes, they are much warmer, nor will they freeze, being quite dry."

RATIONAL SUNDAY LEAGUE.

Organization to Oppose the Lord's Day Alliance.

With a view to counteracting what was termed the "tyrannical and restrictive" efforts of the Lord's Day Alliance there was organized in Toronto recently the Canadian Rational Sunday League, which aims to be an extension of the English National Sunday League. The following committee were appointed to formulate the definite plan of organization: Dr. Goldwin Smith, Messrs. H. P. Dwight, Jas. L. Hughes, Major W. H. Ardagh, G. A. Graham, L. Robertson, W. C. Fox, W. J. Moody, J. S. Granatstein, D. W. Livingstone, D. G. Lorsh, E. Meek and J. Enoch Thompson.

A resolution which was passed fully outlines the result of the discussion among those present. It reads:

"That it is desirable to organize an association similar to the London National Sunday League for promoting healthy and innocent recreation on Sundays, and to oppose tyrannical and restrictive legislation regarding Sunday, and it is felt that recent legislation on this subject has been carried too far, interfering with individual liberty to an extent unknown in any other country under the British flag. That this association be called Rational Sunday League, and that its declared objects be: To promote rational Sunday recreation, to secure the opening of picture galleries, museums and reading rooms on Sundays, to provide music on Sunday afternoons in the parks or other convenient places, to obtain legislation allowing a charge to be made for popular Sunday lectures or concerts, and to oppose restrictive legislation regarding Sunday observance."

In the Wild East.

The courtesies of journalism in Nova Scotia are pre-eminent. Thus we find The New Glasgow Chronicle referring to The Pictou Standard in these endearing terms. "A friend, who is not cannibal as to what he reads, tells us that The Standard's zoological specimen of the mustoline carnivores of the genus Mephitis and allied genera, the variety known as Mephitis Americana or common skunk, is again on the rampage. This is the time of year they generally make their appearance from the hiding places under old barns, and should be chased back with a shotgun if necessary; they are a menace to the public health."

TROUT STREAMS WANTED.

Fisheries Might Be Greatly Improved by Importation of Stock.

A correspondent of The London Times calls attentions to the many neglected trout streams in Great Britain, meaning the smaller tributaries of well-known fishing rivers. These brooks are overlooked by the angler chiefly because the fish are small, a condition which can be easily remedied by building occasional small dams. In the ponds thus made the fish may lie in hot weather, and every such expanse of water is a catch-all for and actual producer of food for the trout. Such a policy, with proper stocking, would vastly increase the amount of fishing water available for the modest angler. These observations apply with considerable force on this side the water—not so much in the way of improving the smaller streams, which the Canadian small boy—more enterprising than his British contemporary — annually fishes to death, but rather by way of suggesting the introduction of trout into waters now given over to coarse fish. Rather few waters are adapted to that fastidious aristocrat, our speckled trout, but the brown trout will thrive in almost any northern stream not hopelessly polluted. He will even maintain himself against the perch and pike kind, but not for long against the omnivorous black bass. There are many streams which now afford only a negligible kind of mixed fishing that would provide tolerable trout fishing. Gradually, the riparian owners will realize, first, that they are neglecting a valuable utility; next, that, since the day of our splendid wilderness trout is passing, it is time to consider the claims of the trout of civilization, the river trout of Europe. It is not given to all of us to fish the great lakes and streams of Canada, but a little thrift would provide plenty of fly-fishing within a hundred miles of home. And with the brown trout will presumably come also such engaging sophistications as the dry-fly, which go far to compensate for a light basket at nightfall.

Spotted Fever Plague.

Prof. Osler, on a recent visit to Edinburgh, gave a lecture to the university medical students. He said in New York some 3,000 deaths had occurred in the last two years from the epidemic known as "spotted fever." The disease was not pandemic, but one of its peculiarities was to appear in widely separated places. Its mortality as an acute affection almost equalled that of plague. They knew of no disease which struck a patient with such lightning rapidity. It had probably the same degree of infectiousness as pneumonia in home epidemics. Many instances proved it could be communicated from one person to another. At present it was not widespread as an epidemic in Britain, and there was no reason why it should be. It was not likely to prevail beyond the winter season. As to treatment, it had been found that frequent hot tubs were a great comfort to patients. Prof. Osler thought it a hopeful feature that a serum had been prepared which had rendered monkeys immune, and it was not unreasonable to look for the elaboration of a similar serum for use in man.

Origin of Hockey.

It is probable that the little boy in the street who calls a hockey stick a golf club is only speaking the truth a few centuries too late. There are many reasons to believe that the Scotch game of golf, sometimes called bandy ball in the old accounts of it, developed into hockey with a flavor of football about it when it came south, and this is borne out by an old fifteenth century print of two bandy-ball players in which the stick used, called bandy because bent, resembled a hockey stick far more than a golf club. The Gentleman's Magazine, in 1795, also mentions shinty as a Scotch game similar to golf, and another writer defines shinty as "an inferior kind of golf played by young people, and in London called hockey."

An Even Break.

There was once a sporting parson at Eastington, a place on the English coast which was a favorite landing place for woodcocks at the time of their immigration to England. When the birds arrived, exhausted by their long flight, everybody in the parish, including the parson, at once turned out to join in the sport of knocking them down with sticks. One Sunday the people were in church, and the parson in the pulpit, when the church door was cautiously opened, and a head appeared with a beckoning finger. "Well, what is it?" asked the parson. "Cooks is coom!" The parson hurriedly shut up his sermon case. "Shut the door and lock it," he cried to the clerk. "Keep the people in church till I've got my surplice off. Let's all have a fair chance."

C. P. R. TRACKMEN GET RAISE IN WAGES

Foremen in Future Will Get $2.45 and the Regular $1.65 Per Day.

Beginning on May 1st, the trackmen of the C. P. R. will receive an advance in their wages which will, of course be very acceptable to them The track foremen will receive $2.45 per day, an advance of 20 cents from the former wages, and the men will receive $1.65 per day, which is an advance of 15 cents.

This change affects the whole of Canada. But in Western Canada, where the expenses of living are greater, the advances have been 25 cents and 20 cents respectively. The higher wage was brought about through the solicitations of the Trackmen's Union, which have been sending deputations to Montreal and Winnipeg for some time.

It is stated that this raise in the trackmen's wages will mean a half million dollars extra to these employees of the C. P. R. throughout Canada.

NEW METHODIST CHURCH AT BETHEL

Meeting of Those Concerned Will be Held To-night to Consider Proposal

An important meeting of the congregation of Bethel church, Otonabee, will be held to-night, when the question of the erection of a new church will be discussed. During the past few years under the pastorate of Rev. J. G. Lewis, the congregation has increased to such an extent that the present building has become too small. It is also the intention, if a new church is built, to change its location. The members of the congregation are deeply interested in the proposal to erect a new and more commodious house of worship, and it is probable that at the meeting to-night a decision to proceed with the erection will be arrived at.

WOULD YOU EAT CORN HUSKS

to get at the corn? Of course, you would not. Then why should you take the greasy oil of the cod's liver to get the valuable medicinal elements contained therein?

The oil or grease has no medicinal virtue, but it is the medicinal elements enveloped in the oil which represent all the tonic and curative properties of cod liver oil.

In Vinol you get all of the medicinal curative elements of cod liver oil actually taken from fresh cods' livers, but no oil. The oil is thrown away for the same reason that you throw away the corn husks.

Mr. McDermid, of McDermid & Jury, our local druggists, says: "Knowing the wonderful medicinal, curative and body-building properties of Vinol, I wish every person in Peterborough, who is overworked, run down, debilitated, every old person, every weak woman, every sufferer with chronic colds, bronchitis, or incipient consumption would try Vinol on our offer to return money if it fails to benefit." ADDRESS TO THE SUN

Those who are engaged in studying the sun, the following beautiful lines from Ossian's poems may be of interest:—

O thou that rollest above round as the shield of my fathers!
Whence are thy beams, O Sun! thy everlasting light?
Thou lookest forth in thy awful beauty,
The Stars hide themselves in the sky; the moon cold and pale,
Sinks in the western wave. But thou thyself movest alone;
Who can be a companion of they course?
The oaks of the mountains fall; the mountains themselves decay with years;
The ocean shrinks and grows again; the moon herself is lost in Heaven;
But thou art forever the same—rejoicing in the brightness of thy course.
When the world is dark with tempests, when thunder rolls, and lightning flies;
Thou lookest from thy beauty in the clouds, and laughest at the storm.
But to Ossian thou lookest in vain; for he beholds thy beams no more,
Whether thy yellow hair flow on the eastern clouds, or thou trembiest at the gates of the west.
But thou art perhaps like me—for a season; thy years shall have an end;
Thou shalt sleep in the clouds, careless of the voice of the morning.
Exult thou, O Sun, in the strength of thy youth! Age is dark and unlovely;
It is like the glimmering light of the moon when she shines through broken clouds;
The mist is on the hills; the blast of the north is on the plains;
The traveller shrinks in the midst of his journey.

ANOTHER SHIPMENT OF CANOES LEAVING

English Company Sent the Fifth Load on Wednesday.

The local canoe companies are experiencing busy times this spring and are finding some difficulty in meeting the demands made upon them for canoes and skiffs. The English Company on Charlotte street on Wednesday will ship a car load of boats for the Hudson Bay Company making the fifth for this year. They have also orders from a great many local people for canoes and are compelled to work at nights to meet the demand.

This company has, during the past four years doubled its output of boats, necessitating twice as many employees since four years ago.

MR. C. L. HARDING LEFT FOR JERSEY CITY

Will be Greatly Missed by the Peterboro Quaker Football Team.

Mr. C. L. Harding who has been in Peterborough for the past few months left the city this morning on the 11.40 train for Jersey City, U. S. A. Mr. Harding came here last autumn with the Dominion Construction and Engineering Company from Montreal and with the exception of spending a short time in Cobalt, has since remained here.

He will be greatly missed by the football men of the city as it was expected he would be one of the Quaker players of this season. Mrs. Harding is remaining in the city.

SWITCH MATERIAL FOR DRUMMOND STATION

Blue Clay Cars Will Soon be Passing Through the City Again.

The material for the construction of the switch at the Lakefield Cement Company's sidings at Drummond station, was taken there on Saturday, and it is expected that the switch as well as the siding will be installed within a few days. The cars for the blue clay will then be taken down, when the work of taking the clay to Lakefield will begin. About 24 cars will pass through the city daily, [illegible] 2493

CHANGE IN SCHOOL CONTRACTORS

Messrs. Baptie Bros, of Lakefield, Will Build Addition to the North Ward School.

McGREGOR & REID WIRING

The addition to the North Ward public school will be built by the Baptie Bros., of Lakefield, instead of by Contractor W. J. Johnston, who was given the contract by the Board of Education at the last regular meeting. The change was brought about by the request of Contractor Johnston, who wrote the Board, asking that the contract be transferred, and, at their meeting on Saturday night the request was granted.

Ald. Johnston wrote that he had so much work on hand that he would not be able to complete the addition within a reasonable time.

The contract for the wiring of the Collegiate Institute was let to the firm of McGregor & Reid, and an inspector of the building of the Collegiate and the North Ward school addition was appointed in the person of Mr. John Kincaid.

Those present were Mr. R. Fair, chairman; and Messrs. Dumble, Hill, Hayes, Robinson, Pringle, Ackerman, Dr. Morrison and J. Belcher, architect.

After hearing Mr. Johnston's letter read, Mr. Dumble said he believed that in view of the quantity of work before the contractor, it would be better to transfer the contract, since it would be accomplished as cheaply.

Mr. Dumble moved, seconded by Mr. Robinson, that W. J. Johnston be permitted to assign the contract of the North Ward school in favour of Baptie Bros., of Lakefield, they giving to the Board satisfactory bonds for the performance of the contract.—Carried.

Mr. Dumble moved, seconded by Mr. Pringle, that the report of the Building Committee that Mr. Kincaid be appointed building inspector for the Collegiate Institute, and the North Ward school, until the work is completed, be adopted.—Carried.

Dr. Morrison submitted the figures of the tenderers for the wiring of the Collegiate Institute, and moved that McGregor and Reid, be given the wiring contract of the Collegiate Institute, at $371, since their tender was the lowest of the three. The figures of the three firms were:

F. J. R. McPherson	$385 00
Alexander & Miller	448 50
McGregor & Reid	371 00

The Board then adjourned.

MR. JOHN CRAIG BUYS PROPERTY

Was the Purchaser of Valuable House and Lot of Mrs. Tedford—Sold at Auction.

Mr. John Craig bought, at auction the residence of Mrs. Tedford, on Water street, below Antrim street. Mr. Craig evidently made a good bargain in his purchase, and has already been offered a good advance on the price at which the property was knocked down. He will probably keep it, and live in the house, which is in excellent repair and in a good location.

DR. DOUGLAS, OF WARSAW, TO GO TO SASKATOON

Will go in a Short Time to Saskatchewan Province---Dr. Moore Will Succeed Him

Dr. Douglas of Warsaw has disposed of his practice to Dr. Munroe, of Blythswood, Essex county, and will leave in the course of a week or ten days for Saskatoon. Dr. Douglas speaks of Warsaw as one of the best country practices there are, and a very desirable locality, socially and otherwise. He has been in Warsaw for the past year and a half, and is greatly pleased with it.

It is mostly for the future of his young children that he is settling in the west, to build up a home.

The Jamestown Exposition

The Jamestown Exposition, which opens on April 26, 1907, promises to be one of the most interesting of the larger expositions which have been held in later years. Its location at Sewall's Point, on the historic Hampton Roads, some nine miles from the city of Norfolk, Virginia, and directly opposite Old Point Comfort, in itself will appeal to many, and the magnificent array of warships that will congregate here from all the countries of the world will attract a tremendous number of people from all parts of the American continent, as well as from abroad. To Canadians who have not had the privilege of visiting the South this event will be the best opportunity that will present itself, and the low transportation rates that are offered will lend an additional attraction.

The only Canadian exhibit at this great Fair will be that of the Grand Trunk Railway System, who have erected a building of their own, in which the resources and attractive features of Canada will be shown, and at which building Canadians will be welcome, and where all information may be obtained. Another feature that is offered in the many different routes that can be taken to this Exposition from Canada, including rail, river and ocean journeys. The true hospitality of the Southern people, the historic city that surrounds the locality, and the many things to see and do, should be the means of inducing a large number to go from the north. Grand Trunk Agents will gladly give information as to rates and routes [illegible]

THE STORE THAT NEVER DISAPPOINTS

Dainties for the Warm Weather

'Twill only be the matter of a few more days before the weather will take a complete somersault and "Old Sol" will assert himself once more; there will then be the rush to have the thin Summer Muslins and Warm Weather Fabrics made up.

Would it not be as well to buy them now and have them made up before the dressmakers are overrushed, thus saving yourself some inconvenience and perhaps a disappointment?

Our Stock is now replete with all the Newest and fine Warm Weather Fabrics, such as Mulls and Batistes, in Popular Sheer Effects, that are being so widely shown in the large fashion centres of America and Europe.

American Muslins

The New Muslins this season are the very essence of beauty; the patterns are the handiwork of the world's greatest fashion artists, consisting of Shadow Checks and Plaids, bringing out the real quality of work done by the American and European weavers; the exquisite floral designs in all the new colourings, giving the whole a suggestion of Spring with its fragrant apple blossoms bursting forth in the warm sunlight. There are also large coin spots, small polkas and combinations of self stripes and spots. In fact we have an assortment of Patterns and Colorings that do justice to this store—we can supply all tastes.

Re-colors;—There is no particular color that can be said is going to be the color for this season—your own tastes will be your best guide—almost all shades are to be worn.

Here Are a Few of Our Leaders:

Fine Checked Mulls and Batistes, in pretty sheer effects; Beautiful Fine Muslins with a floral touch, in the new shades, including the Copenhagen Blue.

Fine Persian Lawns, in Plain White; Dotted Swiss Muslins, with wide open work stripe; Fine Lawns, in coin and small spots.

Prices: 9c, 10c, 12 1-2c, 15c, 20c, 25c, 30c, 35c and 40c. Per Yard.

Just as this ad. was being written there arrived a couple of very pretty lines of Materials for Waists.

HAND EMBROIDERED WAIST LENGTHS

made of Fine Egyptian Batistes, in Floral designs, with the eyelet work and shadow effects. Come and see them.

Naturally your mind will run toward the trimmings most suitable for the materials used at this season of the year. Well, our Stock in this department needs only to be seen to be appreciated. All the new touches in Oriental, Maltese, and Baby Irish Laces, French and German Valenciennes. Medallions are used to some extent, giving very pretty effects.

ACCESSORIES—We have many very dainty Lace and Embroidery Collars and the newest styles in Belts, which give a Modish touch to a lady's wardrobe.

DRESDEN RIBBON SASHES—These are being worn largely in the American cities. They come in a great variety of color combinations, in different widths, and present indications are that they are going to be extremely popular this summer.

ABOUT YOUR HAT—As in the rest of the Ladies' Wardrobe, color is very much optional. Flowers are being used extensively either alone or with plumes and quills. Let us suggest that when you have decided on your New Muslin Dress, take the Safety Elevator to the 2nd floor and consult our Milliner regarding your Hat. Our Hats are copied from the Newest Parisian Styles, in the best materials and with the finest workmanship.

BY-LAW WILL NOT BE RESUMED

There is no Meeting of the City Council To-night—Committee Meetings Arranged.

There will be no meeting of the Council to-night, so that there will be no discussion of the sign bylaw as was expected. The merchants had made arrangements to wait upon the City Fathers to-night, but some of the aldermen were unable to be present to-night, and so the visit of the merchants will have to be postponed. The bylaw, although it has been passed, will not be enforced until after the next meeting of the Council. The Mayor this morning said that not a step would be taken to enforce the measure until after that time.

The round of committee meetings has commenced again, and to-morrow night the Fire, Water and Light Committee will meet, with the probability of a meeting of the Board of Works on Wednesday night.

PLEA FOR MORE ONTARIO WHEAT

Ontario Grain Product Makes Good Flour With Small Quantity of Western Wheat.

That the people of Ontario rely upon the prairie provinces for a considerable portion of their flour is to-day a fact that few would care to deny. It is equally true that the loss of the home market has been the cause of the diversion of money from Ontario and Ontario industries to build up the bustling West. There are to-day in Ontario thousands of farmers who grow less wheat than formerly, and then grumble because the price of bran and shorts has advanced from twelve and fifteen dollars to the almost phenomenal figure of twenty or twenty-two. In spite of the apparently substantial showing made by our province in the production of this our most valuable of grains, when viewed comparatively the output is limited and so far from satisfactory that millers can only run from eight to ten hours a day. Notwithstanding the free advertising of the western wheat fields, western flour could never have gained the foothold it has in the Ontario market if it not not been systematically advertised, and was a "strong" flour rich in gluten. Thus it has won considerable favour which has caused a decline in wheat growing from Glengarry to Essex, and the loss of millions of money to Ontario during the last fifteen years, all owing to a misconception on the part of the consumer.

That the Ontario wheat can be blended before grinding with just enough of its western rival to bring it up to the proper percentage of gluten, while retaining the superior flavour and colour of the Ontario grain is a fact which has a direct bearing on the increase of the market for Ontario wheat. In the Maritime provinces the Ontario blended flour won popular favour and the time is rapidly approaching when Ontario people will give the preference to their home milled wheat, combined in proper proportions with that of the west.

An enlarged market for Ontario wheat created by the demand for blended flours, means increased earning powers for Ontario farms, and implies a welcome decrease in the prices now paid by stockmen for feed. The use of the blended flour is, in fact, a matter of economic importance to everyone interested in the financial progress of old Ontario.

THE SUNDAY SERVICES AT PARK STREET

The Subject of "Education" Formed the Topic for the Morning Service.

It was a busy day at Park Street Baptist Church yesterday. A sermon on "Education" was delivered in the morning by Rev. A. H. Brace, who spoke from the text found in II. Kings, 6, 1-2. The subject was treated under four different heads, as follows: "That a school for the prophets was necessary, and did exist"; "That it was so popular that it became overcrowded"; "That exclusive enlargement became necessary," and they said, "Let us go to Jordan and take every man a beam, and let us build a place where we may dwell." This enterprise was hearty and united.

This had its exact counterpart in the McMaster University, the speaker stated. In McMaster College at Woodstock and the Moulton Ladies' College, the students number 515. There are 113 students for the ministry. Last year 65 students preached in 109 churches during the summer, and 101 persons were baptized. Offerings for Christian education will be taken next Lord's Day at the close of the evening sermon.

The ordinance of baptism was observed and a short reception service conducted. At Communion the new members received the hand of fellowship and were welcomed by the Church.

To-night the B.Y.P.U. will meet, when Rev. J. R. Webb, of Murray Street Baptist Church, will give the address on "Books, and How to Read Them."

On Wednesday a public service will be held, when the pastor will be in charge.

Friday, the Busy Workers will meet at 4.20 p.m.

NEW DEPARTMENT AT CONSERVATORY

Miss Clara Flood in Charge of China Painting and Water Colours.

The Peterborough Conservatory of Music has organized the department of china-painting and water-colours, and has secured Miss Claire Flood as instructor. Miss Flood is a distinguished graduate of the Toronto Art School and has taken an advanced course under two of the ablest teachers of New York. She is prepared to give instruction in china-painting, water-colours and burnt wood, for which work she has been highly recommended.

Miss Flood has in previous years conducted classes in this department in the city, and will be glad to welcome her old pupils and those desiring a course in one or more branches of this work, at her studio at the Conservatory of Music.

SWING BRIDGE WAS OUT OF COMMISSION

Traffic Bridge Across the Ontonabee Temporarily Out of Use—Railway Bridge Ready.

The bridge across the river above the locks was temporarily out of commission Saturday. The frost had heaved the stones at the end of the swing to such an extent that it was impossible to use the swing, and, during the time that repairs were being effected the bridge could not be used, and persons coming to the city had to go around by way of East City. The swing on the railway bridge was tried on Saturday and it is working in first class shape and ready for navigation's opening.

GOSPEL AND SONG SERVICE AT Y. M. C. A.

Illustrated Service Held Last Night—Conducted by Mr. Jas. Stubbs.

A very appreciative congregation was in attendance at the illustrated gospel and song service at the Y.M.C.A. last evening, given by Mr. Jas. Stubbs.

The service was very impressive. A number of gospel songs were illustrated and sung, and views shown of the life of Jesus.

The life and travels of Paul were very faithfully described, and practical lessons for everyday life drawn.

Mr. Stubbs gives his week-night entertainment to-night at 8 o'clock under the auspices of the Boys' Department.

UNSOLICITED TESTIMONY

The Tate Optical Co., Peterborough:

Dear Sirs—During the last three or four years (prior to May last) my eyesight had failed to such an extent that I was unable to read or see anything at close range and could get no glasses that would help me. I tried two different Opticians in Toronto and was told by both that they could do nothing for me, and that my sight would never be better. A statement of my case was sent to Montreal by a Hastings optician and several pairs of Glasses sent me, but with the same result, my vision could not be improved. Last May, while looking at a Pair of Glasses you made for Mr. John Fife, Keene, and talking with him he advised me to consult your Mr. Babcock, and I am pleased to say that the Pair of Glasses he made for me have given me entire satisfaction and I can do now what I have not done for years past—read any ordinary print and see distinctly at close range. I feel very grateful, not only for the interest you have taken in my case, but particularly so for the blessing of good eyesight. Thanks to your knowledge and skill.

Yours truly,

"Dope" Money

Out among the back streets and lanes you will find him—the small boy, hunting carefully and earnestly in every cranny with his bag over his shoulder. Bones, rags, rubbers and other junk are the contents of this receptacle, and many an hour is spent in tireless search by the young urchin. When he has succeeded in gathering a quantity which he thinks sufficient he goes off to the junk dealer and secures a little pocket money, which he generally spends on dope cigarettes.

On Thursday afternoon at 4.15, the Junior Auxiliary is called to meet, and at night the public service will be held, with choir practice at 8.30, and on Friday the Boys' Brigade.

ANOTHER VICTIM OF THE DOG POISONER

Coward is Still at His Nefarious Work —Trouble Brewing.

The individual—or individuals—who has been carrying on such a wholesale poisoning of dogs, is keeping up his nefarious work, and almost every day sees a victim added to his list. Yesterday a bull terrier belonging to Harold Gibbs was given strychnine, and it is reported that several other animals received doses of the poison. The person who is doing the cowardly work stands a first-class chance of being lynched if any one of the many who have lost dogs get their hands on him.

MODERN NOVEL IMPROVER.

Bishop Scores Writers of Degenerable Literature—Mostly Women, He Says.

The Bishop of Norwich has a remarkable sermon against the present-day circulation of improper literature.

There can be no doubt at all, he said, at Norwich recently, that the greatly increased perusal of improper books, notably of sensational novels, constituted a grievous and alarming symptom of the condition of social life at the present day.

"Numbers of works of fiction are now being eagerly read by the affluent classes, by men and women, by young ladies, and even school girls, which but a few years ago would have been banished from every respectable household as being immoral and defiling."

This bishop has never read any of these novels, but he accepts the following figures drawn up by a critic:

Sneers At Marriage.

Out of eighty-seven novels published in the last three and a half years, and obtainable at circulating libraries:

17 sneer at marriage as being played out.

11 raise on a pinnacle imaginary co-respondents in imaginary divorce cases.

22 practically advocate that married men may live double lives.

7 hold up to ridicule the woman who is faithful.

23 describe lives of doubtful morality as openly as they can be described in books which are not to be rejected by the bookstalls.

"Another shocking fact is," said the Bishop, "that the grossest writers of all are now women."

The Bishop's remarks were submitted to several publishers and editors. Some of the former said it was not a question to be discussed, but the editor of one leading literary monthly corroborated the statements entirely.

Women More Daring.

"For the last eighteen months," he said, "there has been a marked increase in this literature of the dunghill, and, in my opinion, it is because women writers rush in where men fear to tread.

"The situations described in many novels are gross, ultra-French, and under the cloak of psychology, the authors are really expounding a morbid pathology.

"Such books are not fit for young minds or for a place in any decent circulating library."

The reader for a large firm of publishers expressed his strong condemnation of the present day sensational stories. "I have had some sent to me, but I have always returned them, as I regard such books as moral pests."

He had noted, he said, a recrudescence in the publication of doubtful stories. "About ten years ago they were popular, now we are in the thick of it again."

"LOYAL TO THE CORE."

Premier of New Zealand Speaks of Coming Colonial Conference.

In the course of a conversation with a representative of Reuter's Agency, Sir Joseph Ward, the Premier of New Zealand, who has just arrived in England, said:

"We New Zealanders are loyal to the core; ours is no lip loyalty, but genuine pride in the growth of strength and development of the Old Country and the outlying possessions. From that aspect I am concerned as representing New Zealand in the work of the two conferences for which I have specially come to England. New Zealand is anxious to help in the strengthening of the navy, and we are desirous of seeing a council of practical usefulness established, so that questions of that character and of the extension and development of trade should be considered from the standpoint of the necessities of the Old Country as well as the requirements of the newer ones. In the matter of the formation of an Imperial Council and of improving trade relationship and of strengthening the navy, we in New Zealand have the deepest feeling, and I am sure that the approaching discussions can only result in good to the old and the new lands."

Asked regarding the effect on the Pacific of Japan's new power, Sir Joseph Ward said: "I prefer to leave this matter until the conference meets. I recognize that the developments of recent years have a very material bearing upon the requirements of England itself. On the question of the importation of colored races into our country I have, of course, a very strong opinion. I am opposed to it. But we know as a matter of practical working that where the requirements of the older land, as in the case of Japan, have to be provided for, its position has to be considered as well as ours."

Saved City $10,000.

Because he is in the employ of the municipality, a bright workman who suggested improvements in the system of scavenging in the Borough of Bermondsey, which saved the Council £2,000 ($10,000) per year, cannot be rewarded. The case has attracted considerable attention.

The man's name is Swallwood, and he is employed in using a sweeping brush in the streets. Nevertheless, he is apparently the type of a man who in New York would soon be the holder of a contract for cleaning the city. He wrote last year to the Bermondsey Works Committee a letter referring to what he called the early nineteenth century methods in vogue. He suggested that street cleaning should be done on scientific principles and submitted plans for saving the offal and improving the street beds, with estimates for saving expenditures which he figured out at £1,769 ($8,845). After a year's trial of his plans the officials found the saving several hundreds of pounds greater. Nevertheless, Smallwood is still sweeping the streets of Bermondsey.

The Employers Present Their Side Of The Story

If the Men Would Give Them a Square Deal, Output of Factory Could be Increased 100 Per Cent.

WHAT THE MEN CLAIM

Yesterday afternoon shortly after 3 o'clock nineteen journeymen harness makers belonging to local Union No. 107, of the United Brotherhood of Leather Workers on Horse Goods went out on strike at B. F. Ackerman & Son's wholesale harness establishment. The strikers state that the reasons for their action are that they want higher wages and one hour less work per week.

The length of their week's labour is now sixty hours, and they are asking that one hour be taken off. They also request a raise of two cents per hour, making an advance of $1.18 on each man's wages per week.

Altogether in the establishment there are thirty union harness makers, so that eleven are still at work. This does not include the collar makers, who are also working as usual, but the strikers declare that if their requests are not granted within a reasonable time they will call upon them also to go out. A number of non-union men are working in the establishment, who are still on duty.

The strikers held a meeting this morning and called the roll, and they intend holding a mass meeting tonight, when the situation will be discussed.

The Employers' Statement

This afternoon the following statement was issued by the employers, Messrs. B. F. Ackerman, Son & Co., in reference to the strike situation:

Peterborough, April 23, 1907,

To the Editor of Examiner,—

Sir, — We have been asked by your representative for a statement of the facts in connection with the strike of nineteen harness-makers. We had not intended making any explanation, as we neither feel abused, nor are we looking for sympathy, but possibly the public, after reading the strikers' statement, would be in a better position to judge the matter fairly after hearing both sides of the story.

In a general way the account published is correct, the present average pay of the union men being $9.60 per week. We submitted to them a new pay sheet which would increase the average to $10.40, in addition to giving them an extra hour per week at our expense, which they did not demand pay for. While $9.60 per week may seem small pay for union men, it is 60 cents per week, over the minimum of the Leather Workers' Union. We charge the Leather Workers' Union with accepting members who can neither produce proof in writing or proof in actual work of being competent journeymen harnessmakers, and this fact makes it almost impossible for us to deal with them as a union. If this association of men will take unqualified mechanics into their union the average wage will be low, because we always have and always will pay our employees according to their merits. We will not submit to our payroll being arranged in Kansas City, unless the views of these American Union officials happen to coincide with ours. As a proof of the above, the present weekly wage of our competent non-union men averages $12 per week, and we intend increasing this to $13. This may seem discrimination, but there is not a union man who can fairly say that we have shown any partiality to non-union men. In the harness trade we have apprentices, helpers and journeymen harness makers. A few years ago we averaged from 10 to 15 apprentices; we now have in our harness room 3, out of a total number of employees of 40. In our business unionism has been so antagonistic to apprentices, that we cannot keep one boy out of every ten engaged. As we cannot afford to pay competent journeymen to do boy's work we must look for helpers, and these helpers are evidently satisfactory candidates for the Leather Workers' Union. In the case of this strike, one of these helpers was sent to us repeatedly as part of the Union Committee to treat for higher wages. This man (not a Canadian) applied to us for work some eighteen months ago; we kept him on through the winter, but as soon as spring opened out, he left us suddenly to become a painter, claiming he could thus earn more money. We were quite satisfied with this, as his time was worth all he could get for it in the open market. When the painting season was over, he came back to work at $9 per week, the minimum union wage, and, in our opinion, every cent he was worth. Now, we do not know if he is a member of the Painters' Union as well as that of the Leather Workers, but from our past experience he is not to be depended on, and he was not included in the advance offered to other union men.

We ask you, sir, to solve the help question for us. Journeymen harness-makers are leaving the trade through old age faster than the union will allow us to make new men. You will note in their statement last evening that they are allowed one apprentice to ten journeymen, according to the union constitution; the result is that we must turn to foreign countries for helpers and be our best to make mechanics out of them, while our own Canadian boys can become labourers. This is a growing country; we could increase our output one hundred per cent. with a staff of men who would give us a square deal. Out of the 19 men men on strike, 11 of them learned their trade in our employ, serving a three years' apprenticeship; they seem to have forgotten something. These men have no solution to offer us in the way of getting our work. We are told they do not frame the union laws, but that they must abide by them. They may be ordered out at any time from Kansas City. This wage question is general throughout Ontario, and other factories in our line are in a similar position. Our wages will compare favourably with those of any eastern factory in our business.

In concluding, we will say that we have advised the men on strike to call for their tools and pay. On no other pretense will they be admitted to our factory. We will not receive any deputation with views towards a settlement of this affair, as we feel that we alone, through long experience, know our own business best.

We thank you, sir, for this space.

B. F. ACKERMAN, SON & CO.

WILLIAM SHAKSPERE

Born April 23, 1564. (St. George's Day.) Died, As To The Body, April 23, 1616.

"Shakspere is the most modern writer in our language. It would seem that in one fruitful moment the genius of England gave birth to a poet who interpreted his country to itself and to the world, once and for all time; his thought and language being the everlasting mind and utterance of his race at its highest."

EIGHTEEN TAVERN LICENSES GRANTED IN PETERBOROUGH

Jas. Kelly, Proprietor of the Royal, is Given Three Months to Dispose of His Business—License Commissioners Met Last Night.

The License Commissioners of West Peterborough met last night in License Inspector Jos. Stewart's office, to consider the granting of licenses, and the renewing of former licenses for the year beginning May 1st.

As a result eighteen tavern licenses and four shop licenses were granted in Peterborough. The only application refused was that of Jas. Kelly, proprietor of the Royal Hotel, who will be given three months to dispose of his business.

There was an application for a license from Nathaniel Pearson of Hall's Glen in the township of Harvey, and supporting it was a petition from about eighty residents of the township. A counter petition claiming that a licensed hotel at Hall's Bridge would be a nuisance and an evil, was also received, and the commissioners, after considering the matter, refused to grant the license.

Harvey township has not had a licensed hotel for years and this in addition to the close proximity of Mr. Pearson's proposed hotel to the Anglican church, were reasons that influenced the commissioners in making their decision.

Following were the licenses favourably considered and granted:

Shop Licenses

A. Rountree,
Alex. Elliott,
F. B. J. Mitchell,
J. C. Sullivan.

Tavern Licenses

W. Snowden, The Snowden House.
Jas. Dolan, The City Hotel.
M. C. Tooley, The Queen's Hotel.
Geo. Lipsett, The Maple Leaf Hotel
T. Cavanagh, The Cavanagh House.
Jas. Head, The Peterborough House.
A. T. Johnston, The Little Windsor Hotel.
C. R. Nixon, The Southern Hotel.
Gus. White, The White House.
Mary Bowman, The New Oxford Hotel.
Margaret O'Shea, The Commercial House.
J. B. LaRoque, The Montreal House.
J. A. Lawless, The National Hotel.
D. Flynn, The American Hotel.
R. J. Munro, The Munro House.
P. Hogan, The Albion Hotel.
F. A. Clarke, The Crown Inn.
Geo. Graham, The Oriental Hotel.

In the case of the Crown Inn, in which the present proprietor, Mr. R. H. Jackson, is about to transfer his business to Mr. Fred A. Clarke, the commissioners were not able to transfer the license until the transaction is consummated.

HE HAS SEEN MUCH ACTIVE SERVICE

Sergt.-Major McGowan, Examiner in Signalling Class, is a Thorough Soldier.

Last night Sergt.-Major McGowan, who will conduct the examinations in the signalling class to-morrow, arrived in the city and was at the drill last night, conducting it. The sergeant-major is a thorough soldier, and has seen considerable active service, having done duty in defence of the Empire in India, Africa, and in Egypt.

At the drill last night he demonstrated that he was thoroughly familiar with the intricacies of the signalling service, and put the class through a stiff drill.

GRENADIERS WILL NOT COME TO PETERBOROUGH

So States Officer of That Regiment—No Official Notice Received.

So far as can be learned, the Grenadiers of Toronto will not visit Peterborough this year. Their decision has not been officially reported to Col. Miller, but probably will within a day or two. An officer of the Grenadiers who is now in the city has stated, however, that the regiment to which he belongs will not come to Peterborough.

SPECIAL COMMITTEE TO MEET ON SATURDAY

Will Determine What the County Shall Pay Towards Buckhorn Bridge.

A special committee, composed of Reeve McNulty, Councillors Moher and Thompson, Mr. E. M. Elliot, and Thompson, Mr. E. M. Elliott, County Clerk; Mr. E. A. Peck, County Solicitor, and Mr. J. Belcher, will convene next Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the county building. The purpose of the meeting is to draw up a memorial to the Government regarding the construction of the Buckhorn bridge.

In March, representatives of the county waited on Hon. H. R. Emmerson and presented a petition that when the new dam is built a cement bridge be built over it. This was supported by the Government, provided the county make a grant towards it. The meeting on Saturday is for the purpose of determining what shall be paid by the county towards the construction of the bridge.

MR. C. N. BROWN'S DOG THE LATEST VICTIM

The Only Animal of Its Species in the City Poisoned.

The latest act recorded of the dog-destroyer is the poisoning of Mr. Chas. Brown's Scotch terrier, the only one of its kind in Peterborough. It got the poison this morning about 10 o'clock, and although a veterinary surgeon was called, the dog had stiffened out just as he arrived. It will be remembered that this was the canine that killed the big muskrat in the cellar of Mr. Brown's store a short time ago.

AN INCREASE IN THE MEMBERSHIP

An earnest effort is being made to increase the membership of Dan Spence Council, Royal Templars of Temperance, in this city, and for that purpose Mr. W. J. Armstrong, of Toronto Junction, Grand Councillor of Ontario, has been spending a few days in the city, working with the local agent, Mrs. Gurney. To-night an initiation will be held at the regular meeting of the Council, and a number of new members will be admitted. To the Examiner Mr. Armstrong stated that the order was making satisfactory progress in Ontario, a number of new Councils having been instituted during the last few months and the membership in the existing Councils has been materially increased.

The growth of the temperance sentiment of which this is an evidence, is of course, gratifying to those interested in the propagation of the principles of temperance, and the future is looked forward to with confidence, but so far as it relates to the broad question of temperance, and to the program of the Royal Templars of Temperance,

WERE TRANSFERS OF THE STOCK LEGAL?

Interesting Case Centring on the Peterborough Cold Storage Company Up At Osgoode Hall Yesterday.

An interesting case in which the Cold Storage Company of this city, is involved, was up for hearing at Osgoode Hall, yesterday. The Globe, reporting it, says:

Re Peterborough Cold Storage Co. —W. E. Middleton and E. H. Wood, Peterborough, for the liquidator, appealed from the report of the local Master at Peterborough, by which he struck from the roll of contributories, six directors, who had transferred all their shares except one each still held by the directors, on the ground that such transfers were to men of straw, and were fraudulent against the company. D. O'Connell, Peterborough, for the directors, contra. Reserved.

MELVILLE HARTLEY IS IMPROVING

Peterborough Boy Who Was Accidentally Shot on Sunday is on the Mend, But Suffers Considerably.

The Toronto World to-day has some further particulars in reference to the injuries sustained by Melville Hartley, the Bank of Montreal clerk, who was accidentally shot on Sunday. It says: "Melville Hartley, junior clerk of the Bank of Montreal, who accidentally received a revolver shot in the knee on Sunday morning, is reported as doing very favourably, but may still have some trouble with his leg. Hartley borrowed the bank's revolver on Saturday night and, it seems, he was examining or cleaning it, when it was discharged, the bullet lodging in the knee cap. Dr. Jeffs was immediately sent for and after dressing the wound had the patient removed to the Western Hospital, where the bullet was removed."

MERCHANTS SUFFER AGAIN FROM THE BOX BY-LAW

J. A. Bell and C. A. J. Duranceau Fined $5 Each—Alex. Elliott Discharged.

Mr. C. A. Duranceau and Mr. Jas. R. Bell were fined $5 each this morning for breaking the box bylaw. Mr. Alex. Elliott was discharged and has the distinction of being the first man who has been summoned to court on this charge and has escaped without a fine. The bylaw was broken a few weeks ago and judgment reserved until to-day, when the charges were finally disposed of.

One Section—640 Acres

Land for Sale in Alberta

One fine section of good land, about nine miles from the Town of Rumfrerly on the Canadian Northern Railway. The district is first-class, settled by Americans, Scotch and English. There are no Galicians or Doukhobors in the immediate vicinity, and the country round and about is filling up fast. The class of people coming into that locality is good. The farmer owning the place adjoining this section threshed about 9,000 bushels of wheat last year. The soil is not quite so heavy, as in the Edmonton district and on that account is considered better and the crops are considerably earlier. On this property there is a fine creek. About three-quarters of the section is open prairie, the remainder having some brush upon it. Price $12.50 per acre, $3,000 cash, balance may be arranged mortgage at 6%. This is an excellent chance for two young enterprising farmers, desiring to locate in the West, to divide up the section between them and have a first class Farm. Further particulars may be had at the EXAMINER OFFICE, where full information may be had.

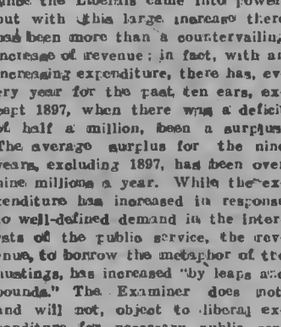
BE FAIR

The Toronto News, generally fair in its treatment of political matters, is not quite disingenuous in its presentation of figures indicating the growth of Dominion expenditure, and, inferentially, our financial condition. On Saturday it gave a table setting forth the expenditure in 1896, the last year of Conservative rule, and that for 1905, showing a very large increase. To be fair, the News should have presented the fact that, in 1896, the Conservative year, with what it wishes to present as a low expenditure — some forty-four odd millions—there was a sufficiently less revenue to create a thumping deficit. Small as we are asked to think the Conservative expenditure was, it far out-ran the revenue. The News table states that in 1905 the total expenditure had increased from forty-four million in 1896 to seventy-eight million in 1905. It would have been fair to state that our revenue, or income, had increased in far greater proportion, and similarly, for the year 1906, there was a large excess of revenue over expenditure. It is frankly admitted that there has been a large increase of expenditure since the Liberals came into power, but with this large increase there has been more than a countervailing increase of revenue; in fact, with an increasing expenditure, there has, every year for the past ten ears, except 1897, when there was a deficit of half a million, been a surplus. The average surplus for the nine years, excluding 1897, has been over nine millions a year. While the expenditure has increased in response to well-defined demand in the interests of the public service, the revenue, to borrow the metaphor of the hustings, has increased "by leaps and bounds." The Examiner does not, and will not, object to liberal expenditure for necessary public services. The people contribute the revenue and have a right to demand its expenditure to promote the commercial prosperity and general growth of the country. We are a growing country, and, as we grow, our needs grow, and there is a growing demand for increased expenditure to help us grow faster. The increase in expenditure in the past ten years amounts to about eighty millions. The surplus of revenue over expenditure for those ten years amounts to over ninety millions. The Liberal Government has increased the expenditure, and it has something to show for the increase. The Conservative Government of Ontario, in its short career, has increased its expenditure at a more rapid rate than the Dominion Government. We do not object to an increase of Provincial expenditure if money is spent in profitable ways, but an increase of expenditure to pay an increased army of officials and to swell ministers' salaries, is not, it will be admitted, productive expenditure which will give an appreciable return, such as increased expenditure for works of development.



MR. JOSHUA PETERS

General Manager of Record Foundry Co.

Mr. Joshua Peters, General Manager of the Record Foundry and Machine Co., of Moncton, N.B., and Montreal, P.Q., was one of the original incorporators of this company when it was first organized in 1882. Since then they have erected a branch in Montreal. The Record Foundry and Machine Co., as manufacturers of the "Calorific" and "Admiral" furnaces and "Penn Esther" ranges, are recognized as one of the largest stove manufacturing concerns in the British half of the North American continent.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Poor old free trade Britain, is not dead, nor bankrupt, yet; but, on the contrary, seems to be in a rather comfortable financial position. In spite of the fact that a reduction in the income tax wipes out $6,500,000 of revenue, Mr. Asquith, Chancellor of the Exchequer, was able to announce a permanent reduction of the national debt of sixty-eight and a half millions of dollars, and a surplus of $17,165,000, of which seven and a half millions is to be set aside to form a nucleus of a fund for the honourable assistance of the aged poor—old age pensions.

THE TRENT WATERWAY

For the past fifty years, the Trent Valley Canal has been in the dream stage of construction; now it has entered upon the working stage of its progress towards Lake Ontario and Georgian Bay. During the past half century it has been the subject of little feeble spasms of activity, in the way of construction, and a constant dribble of repairs. Within the past ten years quite notable additions have been made to the navigable stretch of canalized waters. That great monument of Canadian engineering skill, and Canadian enterprise, the Peterborough Hydraulic Lift Lock, has been completed, and the Peterborough-Lakefield section, and the Balsam Lake and Lake Simcoe section, including another Lift Lock, have also been opened. But a distinct advance, forecasting the completion of the canal has been made by the Liberal Government making contracts for $2,000,000, for the completion of the canal from Healy Falls, the present terminus, to Trenton. Of this amount, $700,000 has been appropriated, all that can be expended in one season. For this we have to largely thank Hon. Mr. Emmerson, late Minister of Railways and Canals, who has taken a personal interest in the matter of the Trent Canal and of the general navigation facilities of this district, for which, in addition to the $700,000 for canal construction, there has has appropriated this session, $13,000 for dredging, wharves, landings, etc., to be expended this season, to the very great benefit of the internal navigation of this district, and the convenience of the public, who make use of our beautiful chain of lakes and rivers. Peterborough has been well served by the Government this year, and a great deal of the credit is due to the representatives of West and East Peterborough for pressing our claims for consideration with so much persistence. The demands that are made upon a government are infinite. They come, not only from Peterborough and the Midland district, but from every one of the two hundred-odd constituencies of the Dominion, stretching a thousand leagues east and west. It is but natural that the Government should hesitate in making appropriations. It is evident that they cannot meet all these demands at once; they must select the most vital; and that representative who is most industrious, most energetic and persistent, in bringing about a recognition of the claims of his district, is most likely to be first heard. In this regard this city, county and district, owe a great deal to the exertions of Mr. R. R. Hall, M.P., and Mr. John Finlay, M.P., Of course these gentlemen were greatly assisted by the existence of the claims of the Trent Valley Canal, as a great national waterway to practical government recognition. The improvement of the subsidiary navigation facilities come as a matter of course, rendering necessary the construction of wharves, landings, etc., and dredging operations.

ST. GEORGE AND SHAKSPERE

There seems to be no unfitness in the three hundred and forty-third birthday of Shakspere, the world's greatest poetic and dramatic genius, falling upon the same date as the legendary anniversary of St. George, the patron saint of Merrie England, the home of one of the greatest races of history, and the makers of the greatest history in human record. St. George as a militant saint, is a fitting type of the muscular Christianity of England, which, with the sword in one hand and the cross in the other, has planted the red cross banner in all the climes of the globe, and placed the evangel of Christianity in the path of most of the nations of men. Shakspere was a man of the people; he was not a scholar but a divinely inspired genius, who with almost effortless endeavour, made his poetry as "harmonious a portion of the world's intellectual life as seed-time or harvest are of its physical life." In Peterborough and elsewhere, the anniversary of St. George, brings little outburst of enthusiasm, and patriotic display, and national-toned fervour as mark the observance of the day devoted to the patron saint of ebullient Ireland, or steady-going Scotland. The Englishman is not wont to wear his heart on his sleeve, nor parade his emotions or sentiments. He has them both, and dearly cherished, too, but they are not for vain show. And we, of the intellectual guild of humanity, of the universal race of Shakspere worshippers, make no great display in celebrating the anniversary of the literary patron saint of all who admire the immortal manifestations of his genius. We feel towards him what we cannot express. We accept him as a magnificent fact, the greatest of the forty poets of the golden age of English—of human—literature, the Elizabethian period, the greatest of the great singers in any tongue, "the greatest of all artists who have represented the soul in words."

THE RADIAL BILL HUNG UP

Measure Not Likely to Go Through This Session.

HOT DEBATE IN THE HOUSE

Mr. Campbell Strongly Supports Bill —Protest Against Invasion of Provincial Rights—Minister of Justice Defines Legal Position— Practically Killed For This Session—Strike in West.

Ottawa, April 23.—It was expected that the Hamilton Radial Electric Railway Company's bill would not be permitted to go through without determined opposition, and expectations were not disappointed. When the bill was taken up in the House yesterday Mr. A. Campbell, Chairman of the Railway Committee, claimed that people living within 100 or 200 miles of Toronto should have facilities to be run right into the heart of the city. Mr. Claude Macdonell vigorously protested against the invasion of Provincial rights attempted under the bill. The Minister of Justice defined the legal position of the matter, referring to a decision of Mr. Justice Street, who had decided that when a street railway crossed a Federal railway it came under the jurisdiction of the Dominion Government. That judgment, said Mr. Aylesworth, was based on a section of the railway act of 1888, and he had been unable to find anything in the British North America Act under which Federal jurisdiction could revert to a Province.

Did Not Agree.

The leader of the Opposition did not agree with this interpretation of the law, holding that Mr. Justice Street's decision meant nothing more than that when a street railway crossed a Federal railroad the crossing came under Dominion jurisdiction. The interpretation of the Minister of Justice came as a surprise to the House, and met with vigorous criticism from the Conservative benches. The debate was afterwards practically confined to the Opposition, Mr. Fielding merely interposing to declare that the Government were not responsible for the bill. For a time it seemed as if there would be an all-night session, but at 11 o'clock Mr. Fielding moved to report progress, and immediately afterwards the adjournment carried. The bill may be taken up again on Wednesday or Friday, but as on both days only an hour, will be reserved for private bills, and as there are several other measures on the order paper, the feeling is that the bill is practically killed for the session.

The Western Coal Mine Trouble.

Mr. Borden asked if there was any fresh news about the coal strike in the west.

Mr. Lemieux said the latest information he had was a telegram from Mr. Sherman, president of the Miners' Union. The telegram was in the following terms:

"Am trying to persuade men to accept temporary and return to mines pending investigation. So far have failed and companies will do nothing pending return of operators' president."

Mr. Lemieux said the operators' president, Mr. G. G. S. Lindsey, was expected to reach Fernie yesterday, and there was at least a strong possibility of a temporary arrangement for the resumption of work immediately. Mr. Mackenzie King would reach Fernie to-day or to-morrow morning.

Hopes of Settlement.

From telegrams from both miners and operators it was apparent that the arrival of Mr. King was awaited with great hopes that his presence would bring about a settlement. He had received another telegram on Saturday from Eckstein, representative of miners on the board, and Mr. Parker, the representative of the operators, stating that they had failed to agree on a third representative. Within a few hours he (Mr. Lemieux) would be in a position to inform the House of the appointment of a third representative.

Mr. W. F. Maclean asked whether it was true that the C. P. R. had only six days' coal and that there was a danger of them closing down

Mr. Lemieux said he thought that was an exaggerated statement.

Replying to Mr. McCarthy, Calgary, Mr. Fielding said it was not the intention of the Government to bring down this session a bill giving land grants to South African veterans. Progress was reported, and the House adjourned at 11.10 p. m.

Rockefeller's Latest.

Here's the Cure for Sick Kidneys

TEST THEM FREE

Perhaps you are skeptical about GIN PILLS. So was Mr. Brown. He had tried so many things for his kidneys, without getting any better, that he had just about made up his mind that he couldn't get well.

When he first read about GIN PILLS he laughed. The second time, he thought. The third time, he said "he would write for a sample just to see if there was any chance of getting well."

He was pretty nearly tickled to death over that box of GIN PILLS. They did him so much good that he would have paid $5 a box for the second, if necessary. The dizziness, headaches and backaches stopped. Those shooting pains in hips and legs died away. Urine lost its high color. He slept through the night without being disturbed by bladder troubles. His appetite began to pick up and he felt better than he had been for years.

34 John St., Hamilton, Ont.

Being a sufferer from my Kidneys and Dizziness in the Head, and could get nothing to help me, I saw in the papers what good Gin Pills were doing. I got a sample box, and they did me so much good, I bought three boxes and am taking them. They have worked wonders for me. I can recommend them to any similar sufferer. Geo. A. Brown.

Don't be prejudiced. Give Gin Pills a fair trial and they will cure you just as they cured Mr. Brown. Mention this paper and we will send you a free sample. The Bole Drug Co., Winnipeg, Man.

THE DOG POISONERS ARE STRONGLY DENOUNCED

"Lover of Dogs" Contributes a Letter on the Subject—High Time Such Cruelty Was Stopped, He Says.

CAPABLE OF ANY CRIME

To the Editor of the Examiner.

Having noticed the inhuman slaughter of our faithful canine pets, I am very indignant, and request you to insert this in your most valuable paper, hoping that it will have some effect on the heartless wretches who are poisonging our dogs.

It is high time that something was done to stop such cruelty. What could be more cowardly than to poison any living creature? Nothing.

Anyone who is low enough to do so dastardly an act is capable of any crime. We must not only look at the cruelty of the act, but also at the loss to the owner of the animal. If some people had lost a valuable dog worth fifty or one hundred dollars they would probably take more interest in this matter. The poisoning may be done thoughtlessly, but it seems to me that such a person can have no heart.

If these dog-poisoners would only think how they would like to be poisoned and die in dreadful agony they would stop this cruel work.

Can not something be done to prevent this slaughter of man's best friend? Can't something be done to catch the guilty parties and punish them?

I hope this disgraceful poisoning will be stopped.

Thanking you in advance for this valuable space in your paper, I am,

Yours respectfully,
LOVER OF DOGS.

ARE WARRING AGAINST TUBERCULOSIS

Story of a Fight That is Being Made Against This Disease by an Aggregation of Workingmen

Victims of tuberculosis outnumber the casualty list in modern warfare. Means for the limitation of the spread of the dread disease and the best methods for its cure are occupying the attention of the medical profession and filling pages in magazines, newspapers and periodicals. All the people are interested for the reason that all of the people are liable to infection. Tuberculosis sanitariums, "farms" and "camps" are numerous and increasing in number. Any intelligent effort at the prevention of tuberculosis is certain to meet with general approval.

Among the wage-earners, tuberculosis is prevalent, a specially with tradesmen or clerks in sedentary occupations. No medicine is more liable to this disease than is the printer. For years tuberculosis has been common in this trade, and the printers have always been alert to ascertain and adopt scientific methods for the warding off and curing of the disease. Union printers conduct a Home at Colorado Springs, and there is attached to this Home a tuberculosis hospital. At present there are nearly fifty patients in this hospital. The superintendent of the Union Printers' Home, in all of his reports, dwells upon the number of cures that result through the scientific treatment of tuberculosis in use at the Union Printers' Home. Hundreds of young men afflicted with the dread disease have gone to Colorado Springs, taken the course of treatment prescribed, and are now at work at the printers' trade, sound in body and fulfilling their mission as useful citizens. A few years ago the board of trustees of the Union Printers' Home decided to establish a tent colony, and this experiment has proven a great success. The Union Printers' Home is supported by the members of the International Tyrographical Union, each member contributing fifteen cents a month to the fund. The International Tyrographical Union has promoted many measures for the benefit and welfare of its membership, but none more praiseworthy or productive of more substantial results than the Union Printers' Home and its hospital annex.

The Union Printers' Home is managed by a board of trustees consisting of seven members. At present two members of the board are located on the Pacific Coast; one in Michigan; one in New York State; one in Colorado, and two—James M. Lynch, the president, and J. W. Bramwood, the secretary—at the headquarters of the International Tyrographical Union at Indianapolis. These gentlemen also are president and secretary of the international body.

Vigor and Health Fully Restored.

THE OLD TIRED, LISTLESS FEELINGS, THE SLEEPLESSNESS AND NERVOUSNESS WERE DRIVEN AWAY BY

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food

The experience described in this letter corresponds to that of thousands of women who have not yet learned of the marvellous restorative and invigorating power of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Mrs. Henry Clarke of Port Hope, Ont., states: "I have used several boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food for nervousness and a completely run-down system, and can heartily recommend it as a wonderfully effective treatment. Before using this treatment I had been in very poor health for some months. I appeared to have no energy or ambition, felt tired and listless most of the time and could scarcely drag myself about the house. I was weak, irritable and nervous, could not sleep well and felt discouraged about my health. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food has taken away these symptoms and given back my usual vigor and health, consequently I endorse it fully."

Weakness, lightheadedness, dizziness at rising is one of the certain indications of thin blood, and an exhausted condition of the body.

The action of the heart is weak, digestion is impaired, and all the vital organs perform their functions imperfectly, giving rise to headaches, feelings of fatigue and depression.

Because it goes directly to the formation of new, rich blood, every dose of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is bound to prove of some benefit under such conditions.

Naturally and gradually the exhausted system is restored until every organ is given back its accustomed strength and vigour. The weight is increased, the form is rounded out, and health and vitality drive out weakness pain and disease.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, the great blood builder and restorative, 50 cents a box, 6 boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. The portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author are on every box. 11

CAN'T WASH THEM OUT.

No other method of home dyeing ever devised gives colours one-half so fast, brilliant and handsome as DIAMOND DYES.

Each of the fifty colours of DIAMOND DYES gives full, bright and fashionable shades that strong sunlight will not fade nor soapsuds wash out, two things that are not true of the adulterated and common dyes sold by some merchants for the sake of larger profits.

When buying dyes for home colouring work see that the merchant hands you the DIAMOND DYES. If he recommends other dyes he does so for his own profit.

If your merchant is out of any special colour of DIAMOND DYES, write to us for them, stating what material you wish to colour — all wool, silk, cotton or mixed goods. Price for all colours of the DIAMOND DYES, ten cents each.

This month we will send free to any address new DIAMOND DYE Booklet and pretty souvenir card, for the baby. Wells and Richardson Co., Limited, Montreal, P.Q.

LAKEFIELD YOUTHS PAID THE COSTS

Charged With Disturbing Concert—The Complaint Laid by Constable Doidge.

Magistrate Edmison held County Police Court in the town hall at Lakefield, yesterday afternoon and disposed of the case against the five boys who were alleged to have caused a disturbance at a concert there on April 19. Mr. O. A. Langley, of Lakefield appeared for the youths, who pleaded not guilty.

The evidence was then taken by the magistrate who found that Vernon Graham one of the boys, was innocent of the charge. The testimony against the others was a little stronger and the magistrate dismissed them with the costs of the action which they willingly paid.

DELAY CAUSED AT CITY STABLES

Writer Says the Watering Carts Were Not Out Earlier Yesterday Because the Horses Had Not Been Fed.

To the Editor.—

Dear Sir,—In reference to the terrible dust nuisance of yesterday, of which the merchants had so good cause to complain, I notice that the Mayor presents a statement of defence which is about as large and inclusive and tentative as a legal gentleman with a bad cause would feel impelled to enter. He says that the cause of the late appearance of the water wagon was due to the stand pipes not being turned on. He told the Examiner that the water carts "were out as soon as the water in the stand pipes was on." Facts glibly have with excuses. As a matter of fact, the stand pipes in the centre of the city were turned on at 7.40 a.m., and the water cart in the central portion of the city was not out till 8.30. Thus, merchants were unnecessarily compelled to suffer an hour from the terrible dust storm that raged yesterday. By 10.40 a.m. all the stand pipes in the city east of George street, and from Hilliard street to Lock street, were turned on, and at 12.40 every stand pipe in the city, with one exception—owing to disrepair—was in commission.

To the Review, the Mayor said that "Mr. Evans was not to blame. Had he been able, he would have had the water carts out two hours earlier." Why wasn't he able? If he was not to blame, somebody else was to blame. The city horses were not fed till 7 a.m. That may explain why the water cart in the central part of the city was not out till 8.30, or nearly an hour after. Mr. Evans, if the horses had been ready, would have been "able" to have had the water carts at work. This morning there was some improvement. The water carts for the central section and the southern section were at work at 7.15. The water cart for the northern section did not get to work till 8 o'clock. The sufferers from yesterday's dust now know where to place the blame.

Yours truly,
MERCHANT.

GEO. STEVENS ACCUSED OF HOUSE BREAKING

"Gusty" Dundas Claims He is the Man Who Ransacked His House.

An information has been laid against George Stevens, of East City, who is charged by Augustus Dundas with breaking into the latter's house in North Monaghan last autumn. "Gusty" claims that while he was in Castle Nesbitt Mr. Stevens went out to his house to obtain some apples from the trees, which he had sold to him, and besides getting them, Dundas alleges that the accused broke into his house and took about $50 worth of goods, including clothing and apples, and ransacked the building as well.

"Gusty" wishes to leave this section of the country in a short time, and he is eager to "get law" on the man whom he accuses. The case will come up before Magistrate Edmison in a few days.

MR. CULVERWELL VS. MR. SMITH

Double-Dealing of Chairman of the Hydro-Electric Commission is Charged.

MR. BECK'S POSITION

Mr. J. A. Culverwell sends to the Examiner the following letter, a copy of which was sent to the Toronto Telegram, and refused by that paper, as well as that printed by the Examiner on Saturday:

To the Editor of the Telegram.

Dear Sir,—Referring to your article in your issue of the 15th inst., the tenor of which cannot help but show inspiration by Mr. Beck, chairman of the Hydro-Electric Commission, or Mr. C. B. Smith, its chief engineer and recent commissioner,—let me ask, "Was the Hydro-Electric Power Commission appointed for the purpose of diverting the public attention from the movement of public ownership of public utilities? I fear Mr. Whitney must feel discouraged from the result thus far, not on account of any fault of his own, as he has been a consistent advocate of public ownership or regulation of power rates in its proper meaning, but from the manner in which Mr. Beck has conducted his campaign, and particularly in condoning the actions of Mr. C. B. Smith, the chief engineer, in his private power operations while a commissioner.

Mr. Beck could take no better course to promote public distrust of the Government policy. While enjoying the confidence of the Government and the Commission, and having access to inside information as to intended undertaking of those doing business with the Commission, Mr. Beck did not hesitate to quietly become president of the rival power concern operating, contrary to the policy of the Commission of the Government he was serving.

Last summer, the Northumberland-Durham Power Co., Limited, who own portions of the Healey Rapids, procured a lease of a large portion of the Healey Rapids from the Ontario Government. This lease contains every safeguard that the Cabinet thought necessary to protect public interests, and to compel the company to furnish power on the lines of Mr. Whitney's power policy (including regulation of rates). Our company accepted the lease with these conditions and informed the Commission of their entire engineering plans and business programme. The lease bound the company to commence work in four months.

In order to utilize the water power it was necessary to acquire fifty-six acres of waste and rock Crown lands, extending from a point one chain back from the River banks. Although this land was valued in the department at one dollar per acre, for some mysterious reason the Company was blocked from securing the patent, of this land for over four months and eventually were caused (by a politician) to pay twenty dollars per acre to a mere squatter. This, the Company paid and the four months being up they asked a reasonable extension, being backed up by a large deputation (affiliated with both political parties) from five ridings. But what happens? After the Ontario Government led the company to believe they would secure an extension, Mr. Beck and Mr. Smith appear on the scene and announced at Kingston, Belleville and other places, where the company intend transmitting the power and were busily engaged in organization work, that the lease renewal will be blocked. Now who gave them power to decide this matter?

What do we find? Mr. Smith looms up as the president of a private company, the Northumberland Paper and Electric Company, seeking to close contracts for power with large factory consumers in Belleville and other towns, quite regardless of his duties to public ownership, and that too in such quantities, viz., for contracts of over 2,000 h.p. each, that could only be supplied by "scooping" in the Healey Rapids power, for which the lease was being withheld from the Northumberland-Durham Power Company. As a matter of fact their private company has only one thousand horse power available for transmission, another large portion of the same power having been purchased by the writer.

When Mr. Beck is appealed to, he supports Mr. Smith, so therefore must assume the responsibility for any censure his party may suffer for this prostitution of public ownership principles and double dealing with the public.

I would be sorry to believe that Mr. Beck would try to profit personally by such tactics, but judging from his actions what is one to think? We are sorry, indeed, to have to reply to inspired newspaper articles which glosses over Mr. Beck's and Mr. Smith's defections, but the statements are too serious for us to wait for action of the Cabinet, to whom written charges have been made by our company against the chairman of the Hydro-Electric Commission and Mr. Smith. It would have been better for Mr. Beck to have made his answer to his Cabinet, which, I happen to know, is expected of him. In conclusion, let me express our appreciation of the courtesy and fair play accorded to our company and several assisting municipal deputations from twelve and more municipalities by the Hon. Frank Cochrane, Minister of Lands, Forests and Mines, now travelling abroad.

ARRANGEMENTS FOR THE INSTITUTION

About Fifty Oddfellows Will Go From This City to Marmora to Take Part in Organizing New Lodge.

A large number of members of the two local Oddfellow Lodges will go to Marmora to-morrow night to assist in the institution of the new lodge in that town. Last night at the meeting of Otonabee Lodge arrangements were completed for the trip. A special train will leave the C.P.R. station at 7.15, and it is expected that about fifty of the local members will take the trip.

Mr. J. A. Tully, through whose efforts the lodge is being organized left to-day for Marmora to complete the arrangements at that end, and at noon to-morrow about half a dozen members of the District Committee from the lodges here will go down as an advance party. Grand Master Johnston, will also be present at the institution. The three degrees will be exemplified by degree teams from the lodges in this city.

GRASS FIRE CALLED THE BRIGADE OUT

A Wild Goose Chase Took Fire Fighters to East City.

A grass fire on Munro avenue, East City, was responsible for the brigade being given a long jaunt for nothing this morning. There was not the slightest reason for sending in an alarm, and the men were called from work to go on a wild goose chase. The fire was in the midst of a field, through which ran a creek, and there was no danger whatever of it doing any damage. The brigade are too often called out for such trivial causes as this, and people should see that there is need of them before sending in an alarm.

FIRST MARCH-OUT OF THE REGIMENT

The Citizens May Have an Opportunity of Seeing the Soldiers on Parade Next Tuesday Night.

It is expected that if the present favourable weather continues, the first march-out of the 57th Regiment may take place next Tuesday night, though it is possible that it may be postponed until the first Tuesday night in May, which is two weeks off. The weather since the drill season opened has been rather unfavourable for outside work, but it is hoped that to-night some good work will be done, and that with the first of May active drilling may be commenced.

ENGLISHMEN PROVE GOOD WORKMEN

"Daddy" Taylor Finds That Without Exception They are Making Good in Peterboro'—A Good Record.

"Daddy" Taylor is one of the best immigration agents in his own way, that the Dominion has. Last season he placed over 300 Englishmen in positions in and around the city, 150 having been found jobs by him on the C. P. R. alone. He is starting out this season in a way which gives promise of beating his record of last season. Already about 50 Englishmen, who have arrived in Peterborough during this season have been placed by him, and, unlike some immigration agencies, "Daddy" does not lose interest in them as soon as he gets them placed in a position. He has just completed a round of investigation among the men he has secured jobs for this season, and states that in every case, so far as he could learn, the men were proving satisfactory.

He takes this fact to be proof that the Englishmen, when given a show, are proving good citizens of Canada, and good workmen.

At the present rate at which he is getting his fellow countrymen into positions, he will exceed this year his remarkable record of 1906.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

THE ROYAL CHEF

A capacity house greeted "The Royal Chef," Ben Jerome's big musical comedy at the Grand Opera House last night, and the crowd went away delighted with the production. Nothing better in the line of comic opera has been seen here for some time, sharp, snappy wit, sweet melodies and catchy song hits making the performance one long to be remembered by local theatre-goers.

The music, which is by Ben Jerome, is particularly charming, while the story and lyrics, by Chas. S. Taylor and Geo. Stoddard, are vivacious and brilliant, overflowing with rich, intelligent humour and hitherto untouched ideas that never for a moment veer to monotony, either in colour or style. The plot is not an elaborate one. The chef of the Rajah of Oolong has been detected in the act of attempting to poison his royal master, and the Prime Minister is commanded to secure another before sundown. Heinrich Limphausser, a German American from "dear old Chicago town," arrives on the scene and is forced to take the position of royal chef. His troubles are increased when he is carried away by the Oolong bandits, and is only rescued before the curtain falls for the last time.

Harry Hermsen is easily the most interesting of a fine company and his portrayal of the title role is said to be one of the most finished character creations introduced to the stage in many a day. His complete mastery of the rather difficult, and laughable mixture of broken, or, rather, pulverized English and German dialect was admirable. Almost equally important is the fact that he has a fine singing voice and renders his numbers in a manner exhibiting cultivation.

The supporting company is an especially strong one. The feminine portion is composed of attractive young singers and dancers, a fact taken advantage of by capable and inventive stage management to form handsome young creatures into bouquets, garlands and tableaux galore.

The song hits were numerous and triple encores were common last night. Mr. Hermsen's two songs, "Let Me Go Back" and "In the Morning" were great favourites and were warmly received. Other numbers that caught the audience were "The Tale of the Tailless Frog," "What Colour Eyes Do You Love Best," "O'Reilley," "What's the Matter Wit' My Man in the Moon," and "Nagance."

The delightful song written by Mr. Croyland Yokome, of this city, entitled "The Flower of Japan," was sung by Mr. Isador Lachman, one of the company, and made an instantaneous hit. The words are clever and the idea new, while the musical setting is catchy. The merit of the song lost nothing through its rendition by Mr. Lachman, who exhibited a melodious tenor that was perfectly suited to the number. It was received with great applause, and two encores had to be given before the audience was satisfied.

Return by Special Request

The Charles H. Yale Amusement Companies' latest and most successful musical hurrah, "Painting the Town," which played its first engagement in this city earlier in the season, is booked for a return engagement at the Grand Opera House on Thursday, April 25. Seldom, if ever, has a musical play given so much general satisfaction to our theatre-goers, and there is no question but a crowded house will welcome its return. "Painting the Town" has more excruciatingly humourous scenes in it than a dozen of the modern farces; it is uproariously funny from start to finish; its side-splitting complications are simply irresistible, and he is a blase theatre-goer indeed who can remain unmoved by its farcical situations. It has music of good opera calibre, songs that thrill with their tunefulness and please with their humour and brightness; a chorus that has never been surpassed, either in beauty or wealth of voice; comedians of a high class order, and last and least of all, a magnificent company throughout.

WISE WAYS TO READ WISE BOOKS

Mr. Duncan Walker's Interesting Address Before the B.Y.P.U. Last Night.

Mr. Duncan Walker, public school inspector, gave a very interesting address before the B. Y. P. U. of the Murray street Baptist church, last night. His subject was "Wise ways to read wise books," and it proved highly interesting and profitable, under Mr. Walker's skilful handling. Mr. B. A. Lillie was in the chair, and there was a large attendance of members present.

Mr. Walker, in the course of his remarks, quoted from Bacon, "Some books are to be tasted, others to be swallowed, and some few to be chewed and digested." He advised his hearers not to be in a hurry to read the latest books, but to wait until they had been tried by others. He condemned the reading of the latest books just to be able to take part in polite conversation about them, and felt that the reader should have a definite object in view in reading. If the people had the ability, it was right to skip in reading, to pick out important parts in books and instanced some famous men who had done this.

At the conclusion of Mr. Walker's address a hearty vote of thanks was extended to him. The programme was in charge of the Literary Committee.

SPECIAL MEETINGS

An emergency meeting of R. B. P., No. 261, will be held in the Orange Hall this evening at 8 o'clock, to make arrangements for the funeral of the late Sir Knight Roddy. By order of the Worshipful Preceptor. E. G. Clarke, Reg.

The members of the R. B. Three Hundred Families Are Made Homeless

Examiner Special.

New York, April 23.—Four men are dead, three are missing and ten firemen are badly injured as the result of an early morning blaze on the East Side to-day. Two fire engines were wrecked in collision with street cars, 250 horses were burned to death, and a property loss of $200,000 completes the record of loss. Practically every fire company on the East Side was in action for several hours.

It is estimated that three hundred families were driven from their homes by the flames. The most serious fire destroyed the Dispatch Express Co. stables, where the men and horses lost their lives.

LIFT LOCK WILL OPEN IN FEW WEEKS

Force of Men Employed Now Making Repairs to the Canal Embankments.

The Lift Lock at Peterborough will be open for use in a few weeks. At the present time a force of men is employed making some repairs to the embankment, preparatory to the opening of that section of the canal. With the opening of the canal it is expected that the traffic will commence at once. The volume of canal traffic this year, judging by the present prospects, will be the largest in the history of this waterway.

GREAT PROGRAMME FOR THE BIG SMOKER

Burridge-Dunn Bout Will be a Fine Exhibition—Other Attractions.

There promises to be a big crowd at the wrestling and boxing tournament in the old opera house to-morrow night under the direction of Billy Breen. The chief interest centres in the wrestling match for the championship of Canada between "Kid" Dunn of Toronto and Harry Burridge of this city. Both are in good condition and will put up a great exhibition. The Toronto boy will have to exert himself to the limit if he expects to throw Burridge, as those who saw the latter defeat Geo. Gauthier some weeks ago will realize.

The boxing bouts will be in keeping with the wrestling bout. "Kid" Lowett of Ottawa and Tommy Foster the well-known Toronto 125-pounder, will meet in a six round bout. Tom Daly of Toronto and Cornie Burns of Peterborough are also on the bill, and there are other attractions as well.

BATTERY MEN HAVE A GOUD SEASON

Good Prospects In View For The New Peterborough Representatives in Artillery Service.

The present prospects are for a successful season for the new 24th Field Battery, under the command of Major Young. Last season, as was natural, considerable organization work had to be done, and, in spite of this handicap, the battery made a splendid showing at camp. This season, however, it is expected that the record will be much better. Major Young stated to the Examiner to-day that he confidently expected that the battery this year would do credit to the city.

MR. WEBB SPOKE AT PARK STREET CHURCH

Pastor of Murray Street Church Gave Interesting Address to the Young People Last Night.

A musical and literary evening was spent last night at the Park street Baptist church, under the auspices of the B.Y.P.U. Two instrumentals on the violin and organ were given by Miss and Mr. W. Leader, a solo by Mr. Chas. Barrie, and a duet by Mr. H. Jewett and J. Tranter. The pastor introduced Rev. J. R. Webb, pastor of the Murray street church, as a very interested and warm friend of the Park street Baptist church. He gave a most thoughtful address on "Wise ways to read wise books," dealing with history, biography and poetry, outlining several books worthy of diligent study; also emphasizing how to read profitably.

Mr. Webb was very heartily received and his return will be looked for. A unanimous vote of thanks was tendered him. The large crowd was well repaid for the effort of turning out.

UNSOLICITED TESTIMONY

The Tate Optical Co., Peterborough:

DEAR SIRS.—During the last three or four years (prior to May last) my eyesight had failed to such an extent that I was unable to read or see anything at close range and could get no Glasses that would help me. I tried two different Opticians in Toronto and was told by both that they could do nothing for me, and that my sight would never be better. A statement of my case was sent to Montreal by a Hastings opticlan and several pairs of Glasses sent me, but with the same result my vision could not be improved. Last May, while looking at a Pair of Glasses you made for Mr. John Fife, Keene, and talking with him he advised me to consult your Mr. Babcock, and I am pleased to say that the Pair of Glasses he made for me have given me entire satisfaction and I can do now what I have not done for years past—read any ordinary print and see distinctly at close range. I feel very grateful, not only for the interest you have taken in my case, but particularly so for the blessing of good eyesight. Thanks to your knowledge and skill.

Yours truly,

Even Better Than Frumenty

Old English Dish Is Now Surpassed by a Malted Grain Food.

Writing on the food problem and advocating a rational health diet, Dr. Josiah Oldfield, author of "The Claims of Common Life" and other well-known works, declares a sufficiency of grain food is necessary and refers to the old English dish of frumenty as a most excellent article of food. He also speaks of malted grain as a food for increasing years. This eminent author thus strikes the very keynote of health and strength.

There is a modern food which embraces all the qualities of frumenty and has even more, for it is malted grain. We refer to Malta-Vita—all pure grain and nothing else.

Malta-Vita is made by an extended and elaborated process of the old way of making frumenty. The whole wheat grain is thoroughly cleaned, then boiled in water and cooked in steam to gelatinize the starch. After the starch cells have broken down, the wheat is mixed with pure barley malt extract which converts the gelatinized starch into maltose, or malt sugar, highly nutritious and easily digested even by the weakest stomachs. Then each grain of wheat is rolled into little wafer flakes and goes to the great ovens where, under intense heat, it is baked crisp and brown, "done to a turn," and ready for your table.

All grocers sell Malta-Vita. 10 cents.

DOCTORS DISAGREE ON CAUSE

Conflicting Evidence By Experts In Cayuga Murder Trial.

THE MYSTERIOUS PILL BOX

Testimony for Crown Flatly Contradicted — Doctor Says Death Was Due to Bright's Disease—Witnesses Swear Pill Box Found by Detective Greer Was Not In the House—Hammock Incident.

Cayuga, April 23.—The trial of Mrs. Mattie Perkins resumed at one o'clock yesterday afternoon, and the defence submitted some strong testimony concerning the mysterious pill box.

George McArthur, whose wife is a cousin of the prisoner, testified that a week before the arrest he had carefully searched the Perkins' house in an endeavor to find strychnine tablets, and swore that the drawers of the kitchen cabinet did not contain the box which has been produced in court, and in which Dr. Ellis found strychnine crystals.

"What did you expect to find?" asked Mr. Arnoldi, on cross-examination, "an elephant or a pink pill?"

"Well, if I was looking for an elephant and saw one, I wouldn't need a memorandum to remind me," retorted the witness.

Robert Currie, brother of the accused, swore to making an indefinite search for medicine bottle and drugs. He also swore to searching the bureau where later Detective Greer found the strychnine, and said he took away with him several boxes of that type, and was positive that none remained.

Doctor Says Bright's Disease.

Justice Mabee asked several questions upon this point.

Mrs. Heaslip, a sister of the prisoner, explained the writing of the word "ptomaine" in a book by telling of a conversation she and Mrs. Perkins had. They had read of a case of ptomaine poisoning from eating canned food, and Mrs. Perkins said she would make a note of it, as she thought perhaps that was what made Henry sick upon their trip to Detroit.

Mrs. MacDonald was severely cross-examined by Mr. Arnoldi upon the contents of the statements she made and signed to Detective Greer and Crown Attorney Murphy, the contents of which she in part repudiates.

Mr. Johnston sought unsuccessfully to prevent the signed statement from going in as evidence.

The evening session was almost entirely taken up with medical evidence and the defence is nearly closed.

Dr. Graham Chambers of Toronto became a tower of strength to the defence. He was most emphatic in his assertion that the deceased had died from an acute form of Bright's disease.

Counsel Exasperated.

His unequivocating evidence assisted to exasperate Mr. Arnoldi and the lengthy cross-examination produced many passages between them.

It is possible that a verdict may be given within 24 hours, or that the jury will have announced a disagreement.

A. K. Goodman, a practicing barrister of Cayuga, said he had known the Perkins intimately since their marriage. They seemed very devoted to each other and took communion at church together three months before Perkins died. In June, 1904, witness and firm arranged the conveyance of the house which Perkins bought. They paid $400 down, of which Mrs. Perkins supplied $250. She would not have the house in her name. When Perkins gave up the farm, he told witness that he was broken down by farming, and was sick with indigestion.

He himself had sometimes used strychnine to kill rats in his own garden.

Mrs. MacDonald's Evidence.

Mrs. John MacDonald testified that she had been a neighbor of the Perkins for several years. In the fall of 1906 she often visited Mrs. Perkins, and on several occasions stayed all night with her. Her son Tom went there to put up a gas stove and it took him till after midnight. This was three or four weeks before Christmas. Perkins and his wife were a very happy couple, but Perkins complained about his health.

That Statement.

She remembered the statement she had made. She signed it. She had not her spectacles, so did not read it. It was read over to her and she objected to several parts, but did not know if they were correct. Detective Greer had pressed her to make the statement. Crown Attorney Murphy did most of the talking. She did not know what was in it, and if there was anything in its contrary to her evidence "the statement would be wrong."

Witness had never seen anything wrong between Tom and Mrs. Perkins. She admitted she had spoken to Mrs. Johnston about the letter, but denied that she had laid hands upon her. "She was a mischief maker," said Mrs. MacDonald.

Mr. Arnoldi produced the statement and asked her if she had ever seen it before.

"I suppose that's it," said witness.

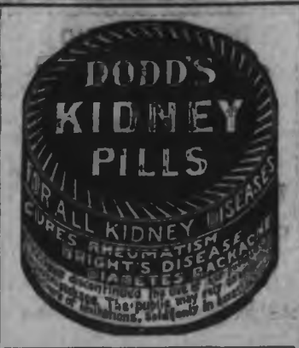
The statement said that witness had never of her own knowledge known Perkins to "take sick." That Mrs. Perkins "frequently said that Henry might die at any time"; that Tom should not go with Miss Meodie"; that "she said she had consulted Mr. Murphy of Cayuga about her rights if Henry should die without making a will."

The judge asked Mrs. MacDonald what time it was that Mrs. Perkins gave her the tablets.

"During the middle of December, while Mrs. Johnston was there."

George Baker, who witnessed the hammock incident, said they merely covered themselves with an ulster to keep the rain off. He denied cautioning Tom MacDonald.

George E. McArthur, a relative of Mrs. Perkins by marriage, said Mrs. Heaslip asked him to search the house on Feb. 16. Mrs. Perkins was with him part of the time. It was before two o'clock, and the blinds were up. He saw the kitchen cabinet and took each article out. He was looking for tablets because it was rumored that Henry got tablets containing strychnine. He was positive that there was no such box in it as the one produced in court. Mrs. Perkins was not in that room during or after the search.



WEAK HEART

SYSTEM WAS RUN DOWN

When the heart is healthy and performing its functions naturally, it should beat regularly seventy-five times a minute without causing its owner the slightest inconvenience or distress.

When it begins to beat irregularly or intermittently, palpitate and throb, skip beats, beat fast for a time, then so slow as to seem almost to stop, it causes great anxiety and alarm.

The least excitement or exertion seems to affect it.

Many people are kept in a state of morbid fear of death, become weak, worn and miserable, and are unable to attend to either social or business duties, through unnatural action of their heart.

To all such sufferers

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS

can give prompt and permanent relief. Mrs. F. Belcher, Sault Ste. Marie, West, Ont., says: "I have been troubled for four or five years with weakness, and run down system. My feet were always cold and I felt almost dead. My heart was weak and I was so nervous I could hardly walk across the room. I started taking Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and after using three boxes I felt much better. I continued their use until I had taken twelve boxes and I am now well."

LAURIER EXPLAINS HIS POSITION

Why He Was Opposed to An Imperial Council.

WISHED TO AVOID TROUBLE

Sir Wilfrid Says There Are Firebrands In Canada—The Boer War Instanced—Preferred a Civil Committee—Colonial Ministers Slighted at Conference—Sir William Lyne Threatens to Leave.

London, April 23.—(C. A. P.)—Premier Laurier, interviewed by the Canadian Associated Press, said, "It is well known my views were against the imperial council. I was against it, as I did not wish that resolutions might be passed over here that might cause trouble in Canada, for, you know," said Sir Wilfrid with a smile, 'we have some firebrands in Canada, Bourassa and others.'

Wanted Imperial Council.

"I wanted an imperial council committee, to be under the supervision of the Colonial Office, so that in any dispute which might arise we would have a responsible Minister to deal with. I pointed to the difficulty we had in Canada when the war with South Africa broke out, when there were some misgivings on the part of the French-Canadians, but they were finally brought around.

"In New Zealand and Australia where they have all one nationality, such matters are made easier."

To the suggestion that the result of the present conference will only be that the representatives of the different parts of the empire will become better acquainted, Sir Wilfrid replied that the fact that Botha and Jameson, two men who fought against each other, were members of the conference, would tend greatly towards the confederation of South Africa.

Position Unsatisfactory.

A Sydney cable says Premier Deakin's attempt to get rid of a colonial official intervention is exciting keen interest, now it is understood the history of the relations of the Colonial Office and the Australian Colonies being one long chapter of dissatisfaction.

The position of the Ministers accompanying the Premiers continues unsatisfactory. On the opening day Sir William Lyne threatened Lord Elgin he would leave the country within 24 hours if not allowed to participate in the conference. It now transpires that one of the Ministers who sits behind the Premiers "felt so like a child sitting with its finger in its mouth keeping good," that he lost patience and broke the silence, wanting to know who he was, what he was and why he was not sitting alongside his own Prime Minister.

The Canadian Associated Press understands Lord Elgin looked hard and Winston Churchill glared disapproval, without, however, overawing the delinquent.

G. T. R. Shopmen Win.

Port Huron, April 23.—Workmen at the Grand Trunk "block I." shops, who went on strike Thursday for an increase of wages, have won. Carpenters will receive $2.20 per day instead of $1.90 and the woodworkers and laborers were given an increase.

British Ship Rammed.

Baltimore, Md., April 23.—The British ship Barnstable, Captain Davidson, arrived here yesterday from Port Antonio, Jamaica, with a large hole in her port side and her stem twisted. She was run into at full speed by the steamer Old Point Comfort.

Lynch Law In Russia.

Lodz, Russian Poland, April 23.—Lynch law has been inaugurated by the Nationalists to put an end to the socialistic outrages here.

Last week's victims of Nationalist and Socialist fights totaled 23 killed and 57 wounded.

SMALLPOX DISCOVERED.

Serious Outbreak In Two Townships In Huron County.

Toronto, April 23.—In two townships in Huron County sixty cases of smallpox of a malignant type have been discovered.

As a result of rumors, Dr. Bell, inspector for the Provincial Board of Health, was sent to investigate conditions in Hay and Stephen townships. He found a serious state of affairs. One death had occurred and a number of patients had had no medical attendance and were in a serious condition. Energetic steps were at once taken to check the epidemic.

COST OF LAW-MAKING.

Members Get $101,900 — Indemnities Roll Up Tidy Sum.

Toronto, April 23.—The total amount of sessional indemnity and railway mileage paid to the members of the Legislature was $101,908.

Of this amount, $2,908 was for mileage, the members being entitled to 10 cents a mile once during the session.

Full indemnity was paid all the members, according to custom.

The Ministers' salaries are separately provided for.

FIRST WHEAT STEAMERS.

Leave Superior For the Lower Lakes —Others Preparing to Leave.

Superior, Wis., April 23.—Four steamers, the Ball Brothers, H. H. Smith, W. H. Mack and the Hoover and Mason, left here yesterday loaded with grain for Lake Erie. It is expected that they will be able to get through the Soo Canal within a short time of their arrival there. Other ships are preparing to leave with the same expectation.

Errors on Both Sides.

Bremen, April 23.—The verdict of the Bremen Admiralty Court on the collision, Nov. 21 last, between the North German Lloyd steamer Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse and the British Royal Mail Line steamer Orinoco, off Cherbourg, is that the accident was "due to excusable errors on both sides."

The British Admiralty Court on Dec. 18, decided that the North German Line steamer Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse was alone blamable."

Trusted Clerk Goes Wrong.

New York, April 23.—David E. Stedman, a registry clerk in the New York Postoffice, who has occupied positions of trust for eighteen years, was arrested yesterday, charged with the larceny of money from foreign registered letters.

BLAMED FOR WRECK.

Was Responsible For Larchmont Disaster Say Inspectors.

New London, Conn., April 23.—United States Steamboat Inspectors Withey and Stewart yesterday made public their finding in the steamer Larchmont marine disaster, on the night of Feb. 11, when more than 100 lives were lost in the sinking of the steamer after collision with the schooner Harry Knowlton in Block Island Sound.

The responsibility for the collision is laid upon Pilot John L. Anson of the Larchmont, who was drowned.

"While it is true that the Larchmont was equipped with boats and rafts in excess of lawful requirements," say commissioners, "only a sufficient proportion of her boats to cover the boatage prescribed for passenger steamers of her tonnage was efficiently davited. This, in our opinion, accounts for the fact that only five of the Larchmont's eight boats reached Block Island."

WEATHER PROSPECTS FOR MONTH OF MAY

Rev. Irl Hicks has a number of different kinds of weather in store for us for the month of May. His paper, Words and Works, in its last issue tells in the following terms what we may expect during the month of May:—

We regret our warning, given as an introduction to our May forecasts in our 1907 alamanac, that the astronomic outlook for this month suggests the probability of many and heavy storms. This general warning, while it does not have specific reference to any one locality, must be understood as applying to all parts of the country, especially to all sections embraced in the regions most commonly visited by tornadic and other violent storms. This means simply that maximum storm conditions are promised for all sections, and that prudent watchfulness and care should be exercised by all, in proportion to the peculiar liabilities of well-known sections and localities to violent storms. Our reasons for such conclusion will be readily understood by all who have learned to interpret our storm diagrams.

A regular storm period, having its centre on April 30, comes over into the 1st, 2nd and 3rd of May. Low barometer and general storm conditions will be advancing from west to east by the end of April, and these conditions will culminate in rain, wind and thunderstorms from the 1st to the 3rd. In extreme northern sections unseasonable cold, with possible sleet and snow, will attend these storms, sending a cool wave progressively down over most parts of the country from about the 3rd to the 6th.

A reactionary storm period falls centrally on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, the 6th, 7th and 8th. This is at the centre of the Mercury period, at the entrance of the Venus period, with the Mars, Jupiter and Saturn influences all in force. The Mars characteristics will show themselves strongly by this period. Note what prevails in your section at this time, and look for a continuation of much the same at the storm periods quite up to the end of the month. Decided storm conditions will cross the country on and touching the 6th, 7th and 8th, with strong probabilities of a continuation of same over into the following storm period. Moon is on the celestial equator on the 9th, on its swing from south declination, hence sustained high temperature and thunder storms would be normal results on and touching that date.

A regular storm period runs from the 10th to the 15th, central on the 12th. On the same date Moon is in conjunction with Earth and Sun, making this whole storm period also a time of great seismic probability, notably on or within two days of the 12th. We will name Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, the 12th, 13th and 14th, as central dates of severe storm probabilities. Warm, humid atmosphere, with low barometer and southerly winds, should cause apprehension and watchfulness in the face of gathering storm clouds at this time. In all reasonable probability severe tornadic storms will be reported during this period from one or more localities, and none of us having any guarantee that our own locality will be exempt, it would seem only common sense for all of us to calmly watch storm indications and approaches. If the Mars period should have proven cold prior to this period in any part of this or other continents, such sections northward will have unseasonable cold, with probable snow, and sleet and frost, in the areas of west winds and rising barometer behind these storms. Such change to cooler will start in the northwest about the 13th, and spread progressively eastward — southeastward during the 14th to 17th.

A reactionary storm period is central on the 18th, 19th and 20th. On and touching these dates look for rapid and great change to falling barometer and warmer. A probable cycle of daily rain, wind and thunder storms will set in about this time, repeating themselves for many consecutive days. The great central belt of states, extending from west to east, is directly in the focus of solar energy at this time, causing abnormal and persistent depressions of the barometer, with vicious electrical storms for days in succession, not infrequently causing the storm periods to run into each other.

A regular storm period is central on the 23rd, covering the 22nd to the 26th. The centre of the Mars period is on the 25th, within three days of the centre of the Venus period on the 29th. No careful student of these forecasts will ignore the fact that the 23rd, 24th, 25th, and days next to them, are dates of probable danger, calling for quiet and careful scrutiny of all indications and all gathering storm clouds. If tornadic danger is brewing, your faithful barometer, hygrometer and thermometer, will give you warning hours in advance of all danger. So will many other unmistakable indications of danger give timely admonitions to all who will see and them. But, friends, what will afvail you and yours, if tornadic wreck and ruin sweep down upon you and you you have no place of refuge from the destroying monster? Many hail storms are almost certain to attend the storms about the 22nd to the 25th, with sudden revulsions from extreme warmth to unseasonable cold following.

A reactionary storm period is central on the 28th, 29th and 30th. The centre of the Venus period is on the 29th. The moon is at extreme southern declination, at opposition with the earth and sun on the 27th, and in perigree on the 28th. If storms and storm conditions do not continue from the preceding period look for such to return on and touching the 28th and 29th. The full moon near perigree on the 27th, under the combined strain of Mars, Venus, Saturn and Jupiter, may reasonably be expected to bridge the interval between the two last storm periods of the month. In this event, a prolonged spell of threatening, and stormy weather, would prevail from near the 23rd to the end of the month. One thing is sure, whatever conditions may exist at this time will have been foreshadowed by previous conditions in the Mars period, and these conditions will reach a decided crisis during the last ten days of May. Another crisis of seismic perturbation will return on or within two days of the 27th. Keep your ear to the world's telephone and see.

These forecast pages for May are written, set and electrotyped on April 5th, thus giving a few days for reports to come in, concerning "the sweeping cold wave for the season" that was to follow the storms at the end of March. It is hardly necessary for us to say that that snow, sleet, frost and ice, fulfilled our predictons to a day over the greater portion of the United States. Great damage was done to fruit and early vegetables over vast areas of the continent, the weather conditions having suddenly changed from mid-summer temperatures to three earthquake shocks visited Tacoma, Washington, and at the same time despatches from Constantinople showed that thousands of people were made homeless in eastern Turkey by a great earthquake and avalanches of snow. See our forecasts, centreing on March 29th. These despatches from Constantinople were dated March 30th, which in fact was the 29th. central day of our earthquake prediction.

A NEW CHURCH WILL BE ERECTED

The Bethel Congregation in Otonabee Decided Last Night to Build New Place of Worship to Cost $4000.

The members of the Methodist congregation of Bethel, in Otonabee, at a meeting last night decided to proceed at once with the erection of a new church, the estimated cost of which will be in the neighbourhood of $4,000. The meeting last night was well attended, evidence of the deep interest taken in the project by the members of the congregation, and the decision to erect the new house of worship was unanimous.

A committee, consisting of Messrs. Robert Hanbridge and Robert Deyell was appointed to procure the lot, which will be near Stewart's Hall, and about a mile from the present church, which is not in a central location. The new building will be of brick contruction, and the intention is to have it ready for occupancy this year.

DR. POOLE REPLIES TO "PROGRESS"

Says He Should Employ Sons of Italy to Dig a Moat Around His House to be Safe From the Dogs.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

Dear Sir,—I read with disgust in your last night's issue a letter signed by one writing under the nom de plume of "Progress," giving his views on the dog curse, as he expresses it. I would like to ask this genius if he is aware that dog owners pay a license for their dogs to live. Does he pay the same for his flower beds? If not, he is not on an equal footing, and neither he nor any other man has any right to interfere with any dog unless he keeps his property properly fenced. I would suggest that "Progress," or, rather, "Unprogressive," as I think the latter term is more appropriate, should employ some sons of Italy, to whom he indirectly alludes in his letter, to dig a moat around his house, then he would be perfectly safe, he, his flower beds, wife's pantry, and all that is his, from any depredations or injury that dogs might cause, and not encourage the wretches who are carrying on this barbarous work by preaching his narrow-minded doctrine through the public press.

Yours faithfully,
BERNARD R. POOLE, V.S.,

Examiner Special.

Greystock, April 23.—The change in the weather has allowed some of our farmers to begin their spring seeding.

Teaming is almost a thing of the past around here. Many of our farmers are doing a brisk trade in the line of hay, owing to the usual good roads at present.

Mr. John Dayell was in the neighbourhood some time ago in search of fat hogs, but failed to get any here.

Mr. Norman Breckenridge, Monaghan, visited his brother-in-law, Mr. John Kindred, recently.

Mr. Elmer Wood is improving very slowly but we have strong hopes for his recovery.

Miss Georgia Hatherly, Millbrook, is at present spending a few weeks in this part of Otonabee.

Mr. Henry Reid has moved from this corner and has gone to his farm.

Miss E. Hutchison has returned to her school studies after spending her holidays at home.

Mr. Fred Stuart, of Fenelon Falls, has returned home after renewing acquaintance with many of his friends around Zion.

Mr. Evert Manley has engaged for another term with his former employer, Mr. Charles Graystock.

Mr. Wm. McGillivray was in our burg last week on business.

No service was held here on Sunday last on account of the Sunday School Rally which was conducted at Keene in the morning and evening.

Mr. and Mrs. John Kindred spent Sunday at Keene visiting friends there.

Horses are still in good demand as yet and the prices are high. Mr. Wm. Wm. Rutherford has sold his brown horse, he had bought lately, to Mr. Wm. Hunter, of Douro, for a handsome figure.

Fire Insurance

The most important point in Fire Insurance is the selection of a Company which offers absolute security. Experience of the recent great conflagrations in Baltimore, Toronto and San Francisco shows that the English and Scottish Companies stood the severe strain of those appalling losses better than any other, and proves that the following are among the leading Companies in the world:—

BRITISH

Alliance Assurance Company, Northern,
Commercial Union, Sun,
Liverpool & London & Globe,
Norwich Union, Caledonian,
London Assurance, Union.

AMERICAN

Hartford, Insurance Coy of North America, Queen

The above, as well as a number of other first-class Canadian and American Companies are represented by

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST

HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry must be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land is situate.

The homesteader is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year for three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased) of the homesteader resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for, the requirements as to residence may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

Six months' notice in writing should be given to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa of intention to apply for patent.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

THE IMMIGRANTS WERE STRANDED

Woman With Four Children in Belleville Without a Cent—On Their Way To Peterborough.

The Belleville Intelligencer yesterday said: Two immigrant specials went through the city yesterday. We are told that one woman got off here en route to Peterborough. She had four children and a ticket for Peterborough, but not a cent in the world. Inasmuch as the Peterborough train did not leave till to-day, the immigration agent here had to look after the woman and her small family, which he did. They left for Peterborough to-day, where, it is to be hoped, the meal ticket of the family is awaiting them.

WYCLIFFE STUDENT FOR THIS CITY

Mr. Perry Assigned to Peterborough to Act as Curate to Rev. E. A. Langfeldt at St. Luke's.

In the list of home mission stations at which students in Wycliffe College will spend the summer months is the name of Mr. Perry, assigned to Peterborough. Mr. Perry will come to this city to act as curate for Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, and will work in connection with the parishes of St. Luke's and St. Mark's Churches, in which Rev. M. Langfeldt finds the work increasing to such an extent that he is unable to handle it alone.

OBITUARY

JOSEPH McMURRAY

Joseph, the little son of Mr. Thos. McMurray, of Wescott street, passed away yesterday afternoon after a short illness of inflammation. He was the only child and but ten months old. The funeral was held this afternoon from the family residence, 22 Hunter street, at four o'clock to the Catholic Cemetery.

The many friends of the bereaved parents extend their sympathy to them in this bereavement.

A PESTIFEROUS GERM

Burrows up the Scalp into Dandruff and Sads the Hair's Vitality

People who complain of falling hair as a rule do not know that it is the result of dandruff, which is caused by a pestiferous parasite burrowing up the scalp as it digs down to the sheath in which the hair is fed in the scalp. Before long the hair root is shriveled up and the hair drops out. If the work of the germ is not destroyed, hair keeps thinning till baldness comes. The only way to cure dandruff is to kill the germ, and until now there has been no hair preparation that would do it; but to-day dandruff is easily eradicated by Newbro's Herpicide, which makes hair glossy and soft as silk.

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to the Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. The Market Drug Store. Two sizes—50c and $1.

"BOBS," THE GENERAL LAKE SUPPLY BOAT

Mr. Dunford of Stony Lake Here Looking After Its Improvements.

Mr. A. J. Dunford, of Hall's Glen, has been in the city during the past two days looking after the improvements to his new general supply boat the "Bobs." Mr. Dunford will have this little steamer on Stony Lake this year to supply the demands of the cottagers as far as edibles are concerned. The boat will run to any point on Clear or Stony Lake, wherever the request comes from.

The "Bobs" has been fitted up with a refrigerator to protect meats, butter, etc., and has been nicely painted and decorated. Up to the water line the hull is red and the upper part is white. Awnings will also be hung around it.

Mr. Dunford will come down to Peterborough some time in May and take the yacht up to his home at "Port Royal." During the summer season it will be captained by Mr. Dunford's son, Fred, and engineered by Mr. R. Brotherson.

IMPROVEMENTS AT THE REDMOND SCHOOL

Play Ground Has Been Purchased—New Seats and Library—Fall Wheat Damaged.

Examiner Special.

Noisy Corners, Otonabee, April 22.—A meeting of the ratepayers of Redmond's School was held last week, when it was decided to purchase a piece of land from Mr. Samuel Redmond, consisting of about two-thirds of an acre for the construction of a new playground. A great many improvements are being made at this school this year. Already new seats have been installed, and the trustees are getting a library equipment.

Mr. Jno. Heffernan is preparing to erect a new barn.

The frosts of the past two weeks are working havoc with the fall wheat and clover in this vicinity, and it is a question whether these crops will be of any use or not.

The sugar-making season was extended here by the continuance of the cold weather and the belated snowstorms.

One of the residents of the vicinity enjoyed a pleasant sleighride in the middle of April.

Mr. Hamblin will draw the cream to the butter factory in Peterborough this summer, instead of Mr. Geo. Gortick, as before.

From the present tranquil state of the neighbourhood, the name of "Peaceful Corners" would be much more appropriate than the name it already bears.

Nurse Tells Of Eczema Cure

Mrs. C. Stanley Jones, professional nurse, 283, Simcoe street, Toronto, writes: "In my occupation as nurse I have come across many cases in which Dr. Chase's Ointment has been used with extraordinary results. One case is that of a sixteen months old child who was cured of scald head and another that of a woman cured of eczema on the face after the doctors had given her up."

MANY ENTRIES FOR THE BIG TOURNAMENT

Twelve Entries in the Singles Alone—Will be a Success.

The time for entries in the big bowling tournament, which opens on Thursday night at the Majestic Bowling Alleys, Water street, has been extended until to-night. A large number of entries have been received and the event promises to be a great success. There are eight entries in the doubles and twelve in the singles, while in the novice and open five-men events there are four entries. In the novice there are the Orientals, the Nationals, the Southerns and Munro's Colts. The entries in the open event so far are the High Lifes, Merchants, Pleasure Club and the Independents.

ICE ALL GONE FROM CHEMONG LAKE NOW

And Floating Bridge Repairs Will be Completed by To-night.

County Councillor Scott, who is commissioner for the Chemong Lake bridge, was in the city to-day and reported that the ice had gone from the lake and that the break in the floating bridge would in all probability be repaired by to-night, when traffic over it will be resumed. Several sections of the bridge had been let go in order to allow the ice a free passage through, and these sections are being brought back to their places to-day.

The damage to the structure will be comparatively light.

POST CARD CORRESPONDENCE.

In this column will be published communications upon post cards only. It will remain open for the use of readers, who are invited to contribute suggestions, inquiries or replies. Anything of a scurrilous personal nature will be prohibited.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—I would like to call the attention of the city fathers through your valuable paper to the condition of the sidewalk on Smith street, between Reid street and Dumble's Hill. It is high time that something was done in the line of repairs or in replacing the old boards with pavement. Lately there have been frequent mishaps suffered by pedestrians on account of loose boards, etc.. I trust that this street will receive some consideration from the Board of Works or those in immediate authority.

Yours etc.,
SMITH STREET.

Fast Ballooning.

Matteawan, N. J., April 23.—A balloon which left Philadelphia at 12.45 o'clock yesterday afternoon landed here at 2.15, having covered the sixty miles in an hour and a half.

In the balloon were A. R. Hawley, a New York broker, and Arthur T. Atherholt of Philadelphia.

The balloon reached an altitude of 12,000 feet. The fear that the strong wind might carry it out to sea caused the determination to land.

A Painful Drive.

Fort William, April 23.—J. Williams, Hudson Bay factor at Osanberg, two or three hundred miles north of Ignace, had his feet frozen a month or so ago and drove his dog team to Ignace, and from there was brought in to Fort William General Hospital. The trip by dog sleigh took three weeks to accomplish. Portions of the feet were amputated.

Thirty-Nine Were Drowned.

St. Petersburg, April 23.—It was learned yesterday that 39 persons lost their lives through the foundering of the ferry steamer Archangelsk, while crossing the Neva Saturday night.

The old ferry boats have been replaced by larger vessels, and the owner of the line will be prosecuted for gross negligence.

Knights of Columbus Give Him Gold Locket on Eve of His Departure.

At the meeting of the Knights of Columbus last night a presentation was made to Mr. J. McFadden, a member of the local Council, who is leaving for the Northwest. On behalf of the members, Dr. McNulty presented Mr. McFadden with a gold locket, suitably inscribed, and, in making the presentation, gave expression to the best wishes of the members for his success in the West. Mr. McFadden responded in a few words, voicing his sincere thanks for the mark of kindness represented by the presentation of the locket, which he would prize highly.

Midnight Hold-Up Of His Majesty's Mail

Unknown Man Stops Jas. Reid on His Way to C. P. R. Station—Reached for Revolver But Found Mail Carrier on the Alert.

STRUCK ROBBER ON HEAD

For the third time in the history of his present business, Mr. Jas. A. Reid, carrier for his Majesty's mail, was held up shortly after midnight this morning and ordered by an unknown highwayman to produce the mails. With an alacrity which would do honour to the most active of men, the driver turned the tables upon the daring robber who would have been glad to have some one holding him up just at that time. Before the unknown had an opportunity to flash a revolver in the face of Reid, the latter had struck him twice over the head with the lock of an empty mail bag. The blow knocked him down and prevented the accomplishment of the villainous deed.

Mr. Reid was on his way from the C. P. R. station with the midnight mail when he was waylaid by the would-be robber. He had just driven past Ackerman's harness establishment, when between there and the station a dark complexioned man emerged unexpectedly from the shadows and attempted the daring robbery.

Reached For Revolver

The stranger's sudden appearance in the stillness of the night had the immediate effect of halting the horse and delaying for a time the progress of the King's mails. To impress his demand for the production of the mail bags he reached his hand to his pocket for a revolver. But before the highwayman realised the situation fully, Reid had jumped from the rig and struck him a heavy blow over the head with the solid end of the empty mail bag which he usually carries on the seat beside him. In an instant he had repeated the blow and the stranger soon found himself lying on the middle of the road with blood streaming from his face and head. At noon today the blood stains were yet visible on the road near the station.

The stains of blood upon the look and canvas of the mail bag, which was the means of protection for his Majesty's goods and probably the life of the mail carrier, were left and bear silent testimony to the strength and effect of the blows upon the head of the unknown.

Mr. Reid after driving off his assailant, went on his way to the post office unmolested. The stranger was a man of about 5 feet 7 inches in height, of dark complexion and dark moustache. Mr. Reid considered him to be about 28 years of age.

His Similar Experience

The mail carrier has had more than one experience with the hold up game. Twice before it has been attempted, he states. On one occasion he was followed and on the other a man tried to stop him, but neither of them have been accomplished by so formidable looking a character. His prompt action in disposing of the assailant is very commendable and the experience of the highwayman with the look of a mail bag may be only preliminary to that of one that keeps safe the iron bars, if he continues to follow his bandit practices.

Retiring Allowance To Rev. Dr. Torrance $2,500

Congregation of St. Paul's Church Considered the Question Last Night on Report From Office Bearers.

At the congregational meeting, held in St. Paul's church last night, a decision was reached in reference to the honorarium which will be given Rev. Dr. Torrance. The meeting was fairly attended, the chair being occupied by Sheriff Hall, while Mr. John Crane acted as secretary.

The meeting, after discussion, decided to adopt the report of the Special Committee, recommending giving the retiring pastor an honorarium of $2500, and it was also decided that this amount be handed over in a lump sum, at the conclusion of the pastorate of Rev. Dr. Torrance on June 1st.

Reading Competition For Institute Students

A New Departure in the Meetings of the Philomathean Literary Society—Eight Contestants.

NICHOLLS SCHOLARSHIP

The next meeting of the Philomathean Society, which will be held on Monday night, will be one of more than usual interest. The feature of the meeting will be a reading competition, open to scholars in all the forms of the Collegiate Institute. For this competition, three prizes will be given, the first prize, $5, having been given by Mr. Wm. Pringle; the second prize, $3, by Judge Edmison, and the third, $2, has been donated by two "old boys" of the Institue, Messrs. C. G. Graham and R. M. Glover.

At the same meeting, the Nicholls Scholarships, won by students in the Institute, will be presented by Principal Fessenden. The winners are: Miss Emma Kells, $50 in gold; Bruce Ingham, $15, and W. Harvey, $15. In addition to the reading competition, in which there will be eight contestants, there will be a good musical programme, given by members of the Literary Society, and a scene from "Alice from Wonderland," entitled "The Mad Tea Party," will also be given.

Mr. D. Walker will be chairman of the Judges' Committee for the competition, and Mr. Fred Brown, President of the Philomathean Society, will occupy the chair.

MAY SEND DELEGATE TO CONVENTION.

Local Assembly of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew Considered the Question Last Night.

Last night there was a large representation of the membership of the three chapters of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew at the joint meeting held in All Saints' Church. Mr. R. J. Dewey presided, and an interesting discussion on the different phases of Brotherhood work took place. The proposal to send a delegate from the local chapters to attend the annual Brotherhood Convention, which will be held in Winnipeg from May 24 to 28, was considered, and an effort will be made to raise sufficient funds to permit the chapters to be represented, and in the event of the money being forthcoming, a member of one of the chapters will be sent to the western capital.

PURSE STOLEN FROM MR. RITCHIE'S

Servant Left $30 in Back Kitchen Table—It Was Gone When She Returned From Up-stairs.

BELIEVE IT WAS A BOY

A daring robbery was committed yesterday afternoon, presumably by a young boy, at the residence of Mr. Hasen Ritchie, No. 1, Fleming Terrace, when a purse containing $30 was taken from the kitchen.

The young girl who does the housework, returned from shopping, walked through the house, and left her purse on the kitchen table. She then went up-stairs, and returning a short time later, found to her chagrin that the purse and money was gone.

No Clue

The girl has no idea who the thief is, but it is supposed that it was some young lad who was hanging around the rear of the premises on Bethune street, and went into the open door facing the street.

Mrs. Fowler, who lives on Bethune street, near the place, believes that a young lad who was seen in the neighbourhood, is the culprit. He wore a gray cap and could be recognized, if seen again. Otherwise the authorities have nothing further to work on. Robberies are becoming more frequent and the citizens should exercise more care in locking up their residences, so as not to encourage thieves, at any rate.

MR. FRED. NICHOLLS' MISSION

Will Arrange for the Manufacture of Electrical Articles in Canada by His Company.

TO ENLARGE THE WORKS

The Toronto Globe of to-day says: Whatever other business Mr. Frederic Nicholls may have in Europe, there is no doubt that one important part of his mission is to arrange for some valuable new business for the Canada Foundry Company. It was learned yesterday that Mr. Nicholls will visit Germany to complete arrangements for controlling in Canada, and probably in the States, the production of a number of articles connected with electricity, the demand for which is said to be so great that further extensive enlargements of the Canada Foundry Company's works will be necessary to their production. It is is also said that very extensive contracts have already been secured by the Canada Foundry Works for the production of the articles included in the negotiations.

AN INCREASE IN THE MEMBERSHIP

Good Prospects for Dan. Spence Council, R. T. of T.—An Initiation Held Last Night.

There was a good attendance at the meeting of Dan Spence Council, Royal Templars of Temperance, last night, when Grand Councillor Armstrong, of Toronto Junction, was present and gave an address. A number of new members were initiated into the Order last night, and, as a result of the work of Mr. Armstrong in the city yesterday, a large increase in the membership of the local Council is anticipated. Select Councillor Richmond presided at the meeting last night, and a good programme was rendered, including piano solos by Miss Carey and recitations by Miss Nellie Smith.

FUNERAL OF LATE R. N. RODDY LARGELY ATTENDED

Orange Lodges Attended in a Body to the Cemetery—Many Floral Tributes.

The funeral of the late R. N. Roddy was held this afternoon from the family residence, Water street. It was largely attended by friends of the deceased, and also members from the Black Preceptory, the Prentice Boys, True Blues, and Orange Lodge L.O.L. No. 80. The funeral was under the auspices of the Black Preceptory, and the ceremony was conducted by Rev. A. H. Brace. The pall-bearers were Sir Knights Jos. Batten, Jos. Crowe, Wm. Jones, H. Everett, Kindred, and Jas. Garside. Sir Knight Geo. Bartley was Master of Ceremonies. The floral offerings were beautiful and numerous, showing the popularity of the deceased.

One Section—640 Acres

Land for Sale in Alberta

One fine section of good land, about nine miles from the Town of Manfreriy on the Canadian Northern Railway. The district is first-class, settled by Americans, Scotch and English. There are no Galicians or Doukhobors in the immediate vicinity, and the country round and about is filling up fast. The class of people coming into that locality is good. The farmer owning the place adjoining this section threshed about 9,000 bushels of wheat last year. The soil is not quite so heavy, as in the Edmonton district and on that account is considered better and the crops are considerably earlier. On this property there is a fine creek. About three-quarters of the section is open prairie, the remainder having some brush upon it. Price $12.50 per acre, $3,000 cash, balance may be arranged mortgage at 6%. This is an excellent chance for two young enterprising farmers, desiring to locate in the West, to divide up the section between them and have a first class Farm. Further particulars may be had at the EXAMINER OFFICE, where full information may be had.

HOW WISE MEN MAKE MONEY VERY FAST

By buying land in the way of a growing city you convert your dollars into hundreds and your hundreds into thousands. The more you buy the more money you must make. I know for a fact, that land bought 10 miles outside a city's limits for $100 per acre sold within 20 years for $5000 per acre—$4900 was a good profit per acre. I offer you land on Western Avenue less than a quarter of a mile outside Peterboro's limits and in the way of its most rapid growth, in Blocks of 8 lots, 30x140 feet for $75.00 per lot and only ask you to pay $10 cash and $5.00 per month. Those lots will be worth say $300 each within 10 years or $2,400, besides having the use of the land. You make a clean profit of $1800 on each block of 8 lots.

THE THREE-FIFTHS CLAUSE

The Whitney government is seemingly preparing the way for a fall relative to the three-fifths clause of the Local Option act. This year it did not meet the issue frankly as it did one year ago, but kept back Mr. Graham's bill to abolish the provision until the very dying moments of the sion, and then met it with an amendment which reads as follows:—

It is the duty of the Legislature to take such steps as will minimize the drink evil in this province; that to this end the provisions of the Liquor License act relating to local option have been enacted; and the House has confidence that such changes as experience in the operation of the said provisions may show to be necessary or desirable either in relation to the majority necessary to bring the bylaw into effect, or in other respects, will from time to time be proposed by the government for the consideration of this House; and this House accordingly orders that the said bill be not now read a second time, but be read a second time this day six months.

An absurd feature of the argument of the Provincial Secretary in discussing the Bill was that the demand for Local Option, now so prevalent throughout the province, had grown out of the better enforcement of the liquor license laws under the present government; in other words, that there was confidence that when Local Option was adopted there would be proper enforcement.

The argument is entirely fallacious. The present Local Option agitation is due to the fact that the temperance people, during the long years that they were looking forward to provincial prohibition, neglected this particular form of weapon for fighting the liquor traffic, and were compelled to return to it. Simultaneously with that return came the action of the Whitney government in requiring a three-fifths vote rather than a bare majority to put the act into operation; practically, a spiking of the gun just as it was about for the first time to be trained upon the enemy. What is more, the increased interest in Local Option, if it has any meaning at all such as Mr. Hanna reads into it, is that the Liquor License act is more poorly enforced than formerly, because the demand for more drastic measures almost invariably arises out of bad enforcement of the license laws.

The results of the polling last January, and more particularly of the attempts at repeal, show that the three-fifths clause is utterly without justification, and that the law is maintained quite as efficiently in municipalities which originally passed the Act with the necessary handicap as in those where the necessary three-fifths was not reached. In fact, the Premier himself abandoned the government's position as untenable when he advised the temperance people to achieve practical prohibition on a majority basis by raising the license fee to a prohibitory figure. Mr. Hanna seeks to bolster up his position by citing English and colonial precedents. He but begs the question, because temperance sentiment in Ontario is far in advance of that prevailing in the places cited. It is even in advance of that of the United States, where Local Option is deeply rooted, and nothing more than a bare majority is asked for. But U. S. precedents had no interest for Mr. Hanna, and he conveniently forgot to refer to them.

In the vote which followed, one of the government's supporters, Mr. Gallagher of Frontenac, voted with the Opposition, and against the three-fifths. This is the first occasion during the present term of the Legislature that one of the government's followers has ventured to break away from his party, and the fact that he did so may be accepted as a straw showing the prevailing direction of the wind.—Brantford Expositor.

MILITA EXPENDITURE.

There are some persons and journals which complain of the large amount placed in this year's estimates for military purposes, drill halls, etc. It is to be regretted that such expenditures are found necessary, but, as international relations exist at the present time, there is necessity for military preparations. Canada's contribution to the defence of the Empire, as represented by her militia, is, relatively, not large, and it is urged as a reproach to this country that it does not bear a share of the immense defence expenditure of Great Britain. The Mother Country spends annually hundreds of millions of dollars for the defence of the wide-spread Empire, and to this Canada, while enjoying its large share of the incalculable benefits, contributes nothing. It does not, therefore, seem amiss that she should spend some five millions a year upon her citizen soldiery. There have not been unheard complaints that the Canadian Governments have neglected the militia. That is a charge that does not lie against the present Government, but on the contrary, complaint is provoked, or, at least, made, that too much is being spent upon the militia. This is, of course, a debatable point, and each one is entitled to his opinion. But so long as we have a militia system, it seems proper that it should be of some use. The matter resolves itself into this: We must altogether abandon a militia system, or maintain one in an effective condition, and the latter cannot be done without money. We have had two or three occasions in our history, when we found the use of even our modest military system, a matter of the greatest moment. If we had trusted, as we have often been asked to do, to international friendship, as a substitute for military preparedness, we should have been placed, so far as our own resources are concerned, in a very awkward position. While the nations are continuing to be armed to the teeth, it plainly behooves Canada to maintain some sort of military system. A poor system and a good system both cost money; a poor system less, and with such results as make expenditures on a weak, useless system, a mere waste of money. A good system costs more, but then we have something to show for our money—something that can be depended upon. Brave, as Canadians are, both as a class and individually, their fighting qualities, for purposes of defence, unless made effective by proper discipline, and adequate equipment, would be of comparatively little avail.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

An assault with intent to do fiscal bodily harm—striking a tax rate.

Toronto is generally catalogued as solidly Conservative, but at a meet- of the North Toronto Conservative Association, Mr. McNaught, M. P. P., warned the party that unless the Conservatives stood together solid there was a chance of the Liberals slipping in a couple of members. At this same meeting one of the members dubbed the Central Conservative Association an "assembly of old women," a saying that was loudly applauded. A city which is too solidly Conservative is liable to become too heavy.

Some journals assert that Mr. Allan Studholme, the labour representative of Hamilton in the Legislature, talks too much. Perhaps he does. But it must be recollected that Mr. Studholme is a new member and has something to learn. There are also others, seasoned parliamentarians, who are as bad offenders, or worse, men who know better than waste a great many dollars of public money an hour in windy declamation. Besides Mr. Studholme is the only member of the Legislature specially commissioned to speak for Labour, one of the greatest interests of the country. He has, as sole representative of the Labour party in the House, to talk against the ninety-five other members of the Legislature composing the other two parties, and necessarily he has to do more than his share of talking.

GRENADIERS ARE GOING TO COLLINGWOOD

Decided Not to Come to Peterborough—Rifles May Come Here.

The Grenadiers of Toronto have definitely decided not to come to Peterborough this year. Inducements have been offered them to go to Collingwood, and the invitation of that town has been accepted.

The Dufferin Rifles are still undecided, so far as can be learned, whether they will take a trip this year or not, but it is believed here that if they do, Peterborough will be the objective point.

Nurse Tells Of Eczema Cure

Mrs. C. Stanley Jones, professional nurse, 283, Simcoe street, Toronto, writes: "In my occupation as nurse I have come across many cases in which Dr. Chase's Ointment has been used with extraordinary results. One case is that of a sixteen months old child who was cured of scald head and another that of a woman cured of eczema on the face after the doctors had given her up."

Perfect Woman

You may have the Beauty of Perfect Health

The perfect woman is the woman who has perfect health. Beauty is more than skin deep. Beauty is as deep as pure blood and a perfect digestion. Especially is female beauty dependent on the perfect health of the delicate female organism.

If you wish to have the beauty and attractiveness of perfect health, if you wish your eyes to sparkle, your complexion to resume its brilliancy, and your whole body to thrill with the glow of renewed vitality, take that famous woman's medicine,

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

If you have headaches, backache, organic pains, painful or irregular periods, or any female trouble, begin with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once. It will save you needless suffering. It will restore your womanly beauty.

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—Soon after my marriage my health began to fail. I was unable to sleep, became very nervous and had shooting pains through the abdomen and pelvic organs, with bearing down pains and constant headaches, causing me much misery; my monthly periods became very painful and I became a burden to my family.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cured me within three months. I am stronger and look better than I did before I was married, and there is great rejoicing in our home for what your wonderful medicine has accomplished for me. MRS. M. A. C. LETELLIER, 733 Cadioux Street, Montreal, Que.

No woman, were she a Venus de Milo, could continue beautiful with a dragging down female complaint. Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write to her for advice. For twenty-five years Mrs. Pinkham, daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham, has under her direction, and since her decease, been advising sick women free of charge.

ENJOYABLE RECITAL WAS GIVEN

By The Pupils of Mr. Fred and Miss Helen Davies Last Night in The Y. M. C. A. Hall.

PROGRAM WELL RENDERED

The recital given last night in the Y.M.C.A. Hall by the pupils of Mr. Alfred Davies and Miss Helen Davies proved, to use an hackneyed term, a genuine treat and was a revelation of the methods of training employed by these most talented musicians. The capacity of the hall was taxed to its utmost with an audience that was decidedly enthusiastic, every number on the programme being warmly applauded. The programme was lengthy, but the numbers were so varied and well chosen that it did not grow in the least monotonous.

Where all did so well it would be unfair to particularly mention any of those taking part. It is sufficient to say that each pupil acquitted herself in a manner that was a credit to her own ability and to the splendid training that she received from her teachers. Mr. and Miss Davies might well be pardoned for feeling proud at the success achieved by their pupils last night. Following is the complete programme:

Wagner—Piano Duet..... ...."March from Tannhauser"
Misses Gladys Crane and Mattie Robertson.

Pelissier—Song..."Where Roses Bloom"
Miss Geraldine King.

Lange—Piano Solo..."In the Twilight"
Miss Elsie Clinkscale

(a) Scharwenka—Piano Solo..... ...."Polish Dance"
(b) Gottschalk—Piano Solo..... ...."Ricordati"
Miss Lottie Chiles

Moir—Song..... ....."Down the Vale"
Miss Jennie Robson

Mendelssohn—Piano Solo..... .... "Andante and Rondo Capriccioso"
Miss Katheryne Burnett

Heller—Piano Solo..... ...."Tarantelle in A Flat"
Miss Frances McFadden

Song—..... ....Selected
Miss Alice Learmonth

Moszkowski—Piano Solo ..."Serenata"

Coughed All Night, Could Get No Sleep

COLDS ON THE CHEST WOULD YIELD TO NO TREATMENT UNTIL WE USED

DR. CHASE'S SYRUP OF LINSEED AND TURPENTINE

Overwhelming evidence from the people of Canada attests that there is no treatment so effective in the cure of bronchitis and cold on the chest as Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine.

This is positively proven in two ways. First, by the extraordinary increase in sales and secondly by hundreds of such letters as this which follows:—

Mr. James F. Thompson, Yonge Mills Leeds Co., Ont., writes:—"Last winter my two boys were so bad with colds on the chest that they coughed all night and we could get no sleep or rest. Several cough remedies were tried to no avail until I was told about Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine and this treatment soon cured them. It is invaluable as a cure for colds on the lungs and bronchitis."

Parents who make a practice of keeping Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine in the house have at hand the most certain means of curing coughs, colds, croup and bronchitis, and positively preventing more serious disease. It is sometimes forgotten that few ailments possess more possibilities of danger than a common cold.

Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine was especially prepared for the children by one of the most skilled and conscientious doctors that has ever practised medicine.

Experience taught Dr. Chase that some of the simple products of the vegetable kingdom possessed most extraordinary curative properties, and he succeeded in so combining these in Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine as to make a medicine that is at once pleasant to the taste and wonderfully effective.

Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, 25 cents a bottle, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. The portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every bottle.

Headaches Mean Your Blood is Poisoned

If your bowels, kidneys or skin are not ridding the system of waste-matter, the blood is laden with impurities, which inflame the nerves. It is these irritated nerves that make the head ache.

Powders and pills won't cure, they merely drug the nerves into unconciousness and relieve for a short time.

"Fruit-a-tives" cure Headaches, Neuralgia and Nerve Pains because they purify the blood. They act directly on the three great eliminating organs—Bowels, Kidneys and Skin—and restore them to healthy action, thus ridding the system of all poisons.

"Fruit-a-tives" are fruit juices—chemically changed, by the process of combining them, into a far more effective medicinal compound than the natural juices. 50c. a box—6 for $2.50. At all dealers' or from Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

PROFESSOR AUDEN TO GIVE ADDRESS

Toronto College Professor to Visit Peterborough in Connection With Teachers' Convention.

Arrangements have been made for the City Teachers' Convention, which will be held on May 22nd and 23rd. Professor Auden, principal of Upper Canada College, has been secured to give the address on the evening of the 22nd. Prof. Auden has not been heard in Peterborough before, and his visit will, no doubt, be taken advantage of by a large number of persons who are interested in educational subjects.

The proposal has been made to hold the sessions of the convention in the new King Edward School, which will by that time be nearing completion. It has not been definitely decided yet, however, whether they will be held there or in the Y.M.C.A. St. Peter's Hall has been offered for the address at night by Professor Auden.

LARDER LAKE STAMPEDE.

Tremendous Rush to the New Gold Fields.

New Liskeard, Ont., April 24. — The stampede to the new gold fields of Larder Lake has assumed tremendous proportions. There is great excitement here. Miners and prospectors arriving here from that district for supplies, report rich strikes and state that claims are increasing in value rapidly, especially in the vicinity of the wonderful Blue Bell properties. This company's holdings are said to be enormously rich and high prices are offered for adjoining claims. The representative of the Blue Bell Company here states that twelve stamp mills and other machinery is to be rushed in at once and that they expect to be shipping out gold within 90 days.

AN INSPECTOR'S NARROW ESCAPE

Mr. Bradshaw Was Rescued With Difficulty From a Perilous Position.

The Lindsay Post of Monday says: With his canoe caught on a stump and upset and his feet fast under the seat, Fishery Inspector Bradshaw was in a perilous position last evening. He was accompanied by Inspector Watson of Cassarea, and was coming up the river near Green Bay, when their canoe ran on a stump and turned over. Basil Newton, of McLennan & Co's hardware staff, was not far distant, and saw the occurrence. He immediately went to their assistance and pulled Mr. Watson out of the water, but Mr. Bradshaw was caught fast, nd could not be removed. Frank Bushnell, J. Dickson, A. Touchburn and others on shore, were notified, and succeeded in rescuing the now nearly exhausted man. The two drenched and dripping men were hurried to a nearby muskrat hunter's camp, where they remained all night.

GOOD PROGRAMME AT SCOTT'S COLLOSEUM

Story of the South African War is Vividly Portrayed in Moving Pictures.

If there is any place of amusement where one can get as good value for five cents as at Scott's Colloseum the Examiner does not know where to find it. The moving pictures shown there this week are particularly good, the life of the soldier from the time of his leaving Canada for South Africa until his return is shown in a realistic manner in the moving pictures. The relief of Ladysmith and other incidents of the war are shown. The entertainment is in every respect first class and refined. In addition to the pictures an illustrated song is included in the programme, and one with a few minutes to spare in the evening cannot do better than drop in to this increasingly popular place of amusement.

WM. CROFT HAD TWO RIBS BROKEN

Fell Through Trap Door into the Cellar Yesterday.

Mr. Wm. Croft, one of Peterborough's oldest and most active residents, yesterday afternoon met with a severe accident which will keep him from his duties for some time, and which will be regretted by a large number of friends. He was putting a fire in the furnace in the cellar, and while doing this was called upstairs to speak to a caller. He neglected to close the trap-door, and, in turning rapidly, fell through it into the cellar, with the result that two of his ribs were broken.

Mr. Croft, although over 83 years of age, is still an active man with a good constitution, and it is expected that his injuries will not be at all serious.

INSTITUTE BATTALION'S FIRST DRILL

Opening of What Promises to be a Most Successful Season for the Local Cadet Corps.

Yesterday afternoon the first drill for the season, of the Collegiate Institute Battalion, was held at the Institute, and a large number of the Cadets were out and were put through a good drill by Lt. Hodgson, who is putting into this work commendable energy, and the result is that he has gotten together a splendid body of young soldiers.

Two drills a week will be held until the examinations. A proposal has been made to leave the Battalion join the 57th Regiment on its first march out of the season, which will probably take place next Tuesday night.

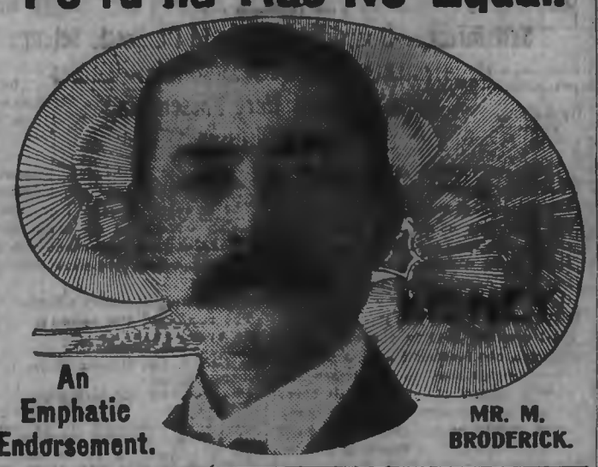
"FOR KIDNEY TROUBLE AND A WEAK BACK."

"Pe-ru-na Has No Equal."



An Emphatic Endorsement.

MR. M. BRODERICK.

Mr. M. Broderick, 435 E. 46th St., Financial Secretary Stable Employes Union, No. 1041, Chicago, Ill., writes:

"I have been suffering from a weak back and kidney trouble for some time and have been able to find relief only through the use of Peruna.

"During the winter season I usually keep a bottle of your medicine in the house and by taking a dose at night, I am feeling fine the next morning.

"Some of my friends assure me that Peruna is equally as good for their various ailments as it is for my complaint, but, I do know that for kidney trouble and suffering from a weak back it has no equal."

Kidney Trouble is Not Always Recognized as Catarrh—Pe-ru-na Relieves Kidney Disease because it is a Remedy For All Phases of Catarrh.

TWENTY-FIVE years ago, before Dr. Hartman began distributing his pamphlets, books and newspaper articles, Bright's Disease of the kidneys was regarded as a disease wholly distinct from catarrh.

Now, Bright's Disease is thought by many the world over to be a phase of catarrhal inflammation.

To relieve Bright's Disease something must be used that has the power to relieve catarrh.

Any medicine that is a remedy for catarrh of one organ is obviously a medicine for catarrh of any other organ.

Peruna is an internal, systemic catarrh remedy.

Like catarrh, it pervades the whole system, and counteracts the effects of the disease.

A great many people believe that they have been cured of chronic Bright's Disease by the use of Peruna.

It is certainly true that in the earlier stages of Bright's Disease, Peruna is an effective remedy.

Numerous testimonials on this point establish the fact beyond all doubt.

Mr. Otto A. Fleissner, American epicurean, formerly Chef to Col. W. J. Cody, 1413 Sixth Ave., Seattle, Wash., writes:

"I suffered with kidney and bladder trouble until life did not seem worth living. I had tried many medicines, but did not get any relief until I took Peruna. It was really wonderful how much better I was after I used this medicine only a week. At the end of six months I found to my relief that it had rid my system of all poisons and I was cured to stay cured."

Y.W.C.A. Has Made Great Progress During Past Year

Reports Presented at The Annual Meeting Last Night Were Satisfactory---Boarding Home and Domestic Science Departments Have Been Successful---Ladies From Toronto Were Present and Gave Addresses.

A large audience gathered in the Y.W.C.A. gymnasium last night on the occasion of the annual meeting of the local branch of the Association.

Although composed mostly of ladies, there were a few gentlemen in attendance, among them being Rev. J. R. Webb, of the Murray Street Baptist Church. This was the second annual meeting held in the new building, and the increased attendance was an encouragement to the ladies and also a source of pleasure to them to see that their efforts are being more widely appreciated. It showed that the Y.W.C.A. is becoming stronger every year and that many young ladies are being assisted thereby.

Mrs. W. M. Roger presided, and ducted the meeting very efficiently.

The following is a copy of the programme presented:

Doxology.
Devotional Exercises — Rev. Mr. Webb.
Minutes of the last annual meeting.
Reports—
Recording Secretary's,
Treasurer's,
General Secretary's,
Superintendent's,
Adoption of Reports,—Moved by Mrs. (Dr) Neal.
President's Address — Mrs. W. M. Roger.
Duet by Miss Reesor and Mr. McIlroy, accompanied by Miss Gumpricht and Miss Wallis.
Address by Mrs. Kilgour, Dominion President.
Pianoforte Solo by Miss Gumpricht.
Address by Mrs. Brown, Dominion Secretary.

The musical portion was excellent. Miss Reesor and Mr. McIlroy sang a duet, "O, Dry Those Tears," by Terese Del Riego. Miss Gumpricht accompanied on the piano and Miss K. Wallis played a violin obligato. The number was well rendered and the audience demanded an encore, which was graciously responded to.

The minutes of the last annual meeting were read by Mrs. H. P. Kennedy, and on motion adopted.

The various reports were then presented.

Recording Secretary's Report

The report of the recording secretary was read by Mrs. H. P. Kennedy, but was signed by Mrs. Max. Dennistoun, the former secretary of the association.

In presenting the sixteenth annual report of the Y.W.C.A. in Peterborough, it is interesting to remember that the first meeting called to consider the question of forming an association in this city there were just sixteen ladies present, two of whom remain on the Board to-day, Mrs. Walsh and Miss Nicholls. These ladies may be termed our chartered members.

The past year has been marked with continued and quiet progress. The average attendance at the Board meetings has been larger than in any previous year, giving evidence of the increased interest shown by the members in the work at hand. The institution is now well established, and is in good working order. Generous contributions have materially assisted in enabling the association to meet its liabilities. Two new baths and four dressing rooms have been placed and beautifully fitted in the public department by Hon. Senator Cox, to whom the association owes much gratitude.

Several changes have been made in the staff since the last annual meeting. Miss Maynard is now general secretary. The physical department is under the direction of Miss Coventry, and a new branch of study, domestic Science, is presided over by Miss Bawden. Miss Haycock continues in charge of the boarding house.

The Domestic Science Committee has achieved success in meeting expenses connected with their work.

The date of the annual meeting has been changed, and will in future be in April, instead of in January. The association extends its sympathy to those members who have been sadly bereaved. In the passing away of Mrs. Fairbairn, it has lost a true friend and supporter.

The Board wishes to express its gratitude to the friends who have interested themselves in the Y.W.C.A. work and to those who have taken charge of classes and meetings with inconvenience to themselves. Gratitude is also extended to the press, who have been kind and considerate at all times.

Treasure's Report

Miss E. Monrow read the treasurer's report, showing a very satisfactory condition of the finances.

The general statement of receipts and expenditures of the Y.W.C.A. for the year ending April 30, 1907, is as follows:

E. MORROW,
Treasurer.

General Secretary's Report

Miss Maynecrd, General Secretary, presented a report of all the works carried on during the year. The distinctly religious work of the association received particular mention. In place of the Sunday afternoon service, which has been closed for the present, a stranger's tea, if to be established for the second Sunday of every month. Sunday morning at 9.30 we have a short prayer service and study of the Sunday school lesson.

In connection with our educational department classes have been held in English literature, physical culture, nursing and domestic science. There were two classes in literature, one on Tennyson's "In Memoriam," was conducted by Sheriff Hall. Mrs. R. F. McWilliams took up literary work in connection with our New Era Club, choosing as her study the life of Charles Dickens. Miss Coventry kindly conducted free physical culture classes. Miss Maynecrd started a Bible study of the Acts of the Apostles, but it was found difficult to keep the girls together after Christmas. Dr. Jessie Bernie gave a course of lectures on "First Aid to the Injured."

The number of pupils in the physical culture class were 110, and the number of classes taught were 160. The closing exercises will be given in the Y.W.C.A. on the third of May, when the public will have an opportunity to witness this part of the year's work.

Since January 17, 64 classes in domestic science have been taught by Miss Bawdon, also 11 demonstrations and five private lessons. Classes were well attended and pupils expressed themselves as being highly pleased with Miss Bawden's method of teaching.

The employment bureau has not been very satisfactory, although a number of girls have been helped to find situations through this means.

The reading room is in constant use, and is furnished with four daily and one weekly papers, and twelve monthly magazines. The library contains 300 volumes and is much appreciated. It is expected that more books will be added soon. Senior membership for the year is 220, and 32 juniors, making a total of 252. Added to this is the daily routine of office work, reception of visitors, words of advice to strangers, listening to one's difficulties, etc., which is realized only by those who experience it.

Respectfully submitted,
ANNETTE MAYNARD,
General Secretary.

Superintendent's Report

Miss Haycock presented a report of the Boarding Home, showing that a large number have been living at the Y.W.C.A., and that a substantial balance remains over all expenditures.

Receipts.

Balance Jan. 1, 1906	$ 182 89
From Jan. 1, '06 to April '07	7,708 49
Total	$7,891 88
Total Expenditure	7,730 03
Balance on hand	$161 85

The present number of boarders is 22. These with our diners make the family of 50 to each noon day meal. During the past 15 months 180 have passed through the boarding home—70 weekly boarders and 110 transients. Total number of meals served to non-residents was 3,320. The busiest months in the year are from September to December and from March to July. It is a cause for gratitude that there has been no serious illness during the year.

Respectfully submitted,
K. H. HAYCOCK,
Superintendent.

Mrs. Scott moved, seconded by Miss K. Martin, that the reports be read and adopted.

Nominating Committee

Mrs. Hunter on behalf of the Nominating Committee presented the following names for the new Board. Mrs. (Dr.) Neal moved that they be adopted, which motion was heartily approved of. The following are the ladies mentioned:—

Mrs. Walsh.
Miss M. Dickson.
Mrs. J. W. Garvin.
Mrs. W. M. Roger.
Mrs. W. H. Hill.
Mrs. A. W. Cressman.
Mrs. Jno. Nugent.

Miss S. Robinson.
Mrs. H. Wadell.
Mrs. Wm. Thompson.
Mrs. R. Neil.
Mrs. M. A. Morrison.
Mrs. H. P. Kennedy.
Mrs. (Rev.) Kilgour.
Mrs. Dawson.
Mrs. W. D. Scott.
Mrs. Jas. Wood.
Miss Nicholls.
Mrs. J. B. Hunter.
Mrs. (Rev.) Brace.
Mrs. D. J. Lamb.
Miss Lillian Rush.
Mrs. (Dr.) Boucher.
Mrs. A. Stevenson.
Mrs. (Dr.) Burnham.
Mrs. T. H. G. Denne.
Mrs. Hubbs.
Mrs. Burnett.
Mrs. W. B. Morris.

Addresses

Addresses were given by Rev. Mr. Webb, Mrs. Roger, and Mrs. Robt. Kilgour, president of the Dominion Association, and Mrs. Brown, secretary of Dominion Association. Mrs. Roger said that the purpose of the Y.W.C.A. was the salvation, transformation and dedication of the life of every young girl who comes within its range. The speaker made the suggestion that the assistance of the local branch be extended towards the Association in Japan.

Mr. Webb expressed the great pleasure he felt at hearing such excellent reports. It is a credit to the womanhood of the city that the Y. W. C. A. is as strong as it is. No city of its size can boast of such an influential association. He believed that the young women cannot get along without the church, and certainly the church cannot get along without the ladies.

Mrs. Brown

Mrs. Brown, of Toronto, gave an address relating the occurrences of the last Dominion Council of the Y.W.C.A. and telling of the increased work that is being undertaken and successfully accomplished.

Mrs. Robert Kilgour, also of Toronto, referred to the ingratitude of people towards Christ. At least people ask for favours and receive them without offering any thanks. They even do not recognize these gifts when they are given.

Mrs. Kilgour's address was very helpful and was much appreciated by the ladies. At the conclusion Mrs. (Dr.) Scott moved a vote of thanks, seconded by Mrs. Garvin, and heartily endorsed by the gathering. Dainty refreshments were then served by the ladies.

Rheumatics all tell the same story about

Bu-Ju
The Gentle Kidney Pill

Do you live near Picton, Ont., or know anyone who does? Then find out for yourself how Mr. Mills feels about Bu-Ju. Is it any wonder he thinks Bu-Ju is a life-saver?

"I have used Bu-Ju with great benefit to myself, and cheerfully recommend it to all who are suffering from Rheumatism and Kidney Trouble. I think it is the best remedy made."
JAMES MILLS.

After you have tried Bu-Ju, seen how quickly it relieves the pain, and how completely it cures you of Rheumatism, you will gladly recommend Bu-Ju to your friends, just as Mrs. Kidd, of Young's Point, Ont., does:

"Have found Bu-Ju very beneficial for Rheumatism. They are certainly a blessing. My husband is also receiving great benefit from Bu-Ju. He has had great pain in the small of his back, but is so much better now."
MRS. A. C. KIDD.

Mr. J. H. Cairncross, of Toronto, urges everyone to give Bu-Ju a fair trial. In a signed statement he says, after telling how Bu-Ju cured him:

"In my own case I had taken three boxes before I felt I was receiving any benefit."

Bu-Ju must cure you of Kidney and Bladder Troubles and Rheumatism, or your money will be promptly refunded. 50c. a large box. Sent on receipt of price if your druggist does not have it. 77

VINOL'S RELIABILITY

Prominent Physicians Join with McDermid & Jury in Recommending Vinol.

Countless physicians and druggists are now prescribing and endorsing Vinol as the most valuable cod liver oil preparation known to science, and it is fast superseding all other forms of cod liver oil and emulsions.

A prominent physician writes: "I am satisfied that Vinol derives its wonderful life-giving and strength-creating power from the medicinal curative elements found in the cod's liver. It is the best strength-creator and vitalizer for old people, weak women, children and the convalescent that I ever saw."

Another physician writes: "I could cite many cases where health has been restored in a surprisingly short time by Vinol. I should be very sorry to have to do without Vinol in my practice. It has no equal for hard colds, throat and bronchial troubles."

Now, when we tell you that we have never sold in our store a remedy of more remarkable curative and strength-creating power than Vinol, for the weak, the sick and the aged if it fails to accomplish what we say it will, we will refund your money without question, it shows you our faith in the preparation.

Try Vinol on our guarantee, McDermid & Jury, druggists; also at the Market Drug Store, the Ormond and Walsh old stand

Launching Occupied Only Three Minutes —Will Tow Logs This Week.

The Lady of the Lake, the queen of Chemong Lake, was launched yesterday morning into its native element. The steamer, which is owned by the Kelly Bros., of Bridgenorth, was drawn out on shore for the winter, but is now needed for the spring towing of logs for the lumber mills. It was launched yesterday in exactly three minutes after the workmen began to take the first brace from underneath it.

The Lady of the Lake will go to the head of the lake this week for its first tow of logs.

Regiment Has Excellent Drill On Central Park

There Were 226 Officers and Men on Parade---Buglers and Drummers Practice on Mondays and Thursdays---Many Added to Regiment's Strength.

For the regimental drill last night 226 men and officers mustered at the armouries, and the manoeuvres consisted principally of squad drill and company drill. As the Central Park was dry, the officers marched their companies out, where more space was secured for the company movements. The drill was strenuous throughout and gave both officers and men an excellent practice.

The same movements will be continued on Tuesday night of next week, and on the first Tuesday of May, the first march out will be held.

A number of recruits were received into the regiment and had their first drill last night.

The following were the orders issued by Lt.-Col. J. W. Miller, Commanding officer:

No. 1. Detail of duty for the week ending April 30, 1907: Captain for the week, Capt. Hounsell, next for duty, Capt. Cluxton; subaltern for the week, Lt. Clarke, next for duty, Lt. Higgins.

No. 2. The following have been taken on the strength of the regiment, April 16, 1907:

A Co.—Pte. M. L. Johnston.

C Co.—Ptes. W. J. Armstrong, T. Auburn, H. Board, H. Hudson.

D. Co.—Pte. W. B. Spenceley.

F Co.—Ptes. C. E. Ford, H. C. Wales, A. Scrimith,, S. H. Huffman, C. G. Skidmore, C. G. Kingan.

G Co.—Ptes. J .D. Patterson, W. A. Elliott, A. Henry, G. R. Hunter, F. G. Roe, C. Ray, B. Walton.

H Co.—Pte. R. W. Hunter.

No. 3. The Buglers and Drummers will resume their regular practice and drills at the armouries at 8 p. m., on each Friday and Monday hereafter until further notice.

The commanding officer has been pleased to make the following promotions:

A Co.—To be Colour Sergeant, Sgt. J. G. Giles, vice Colour Sergt. J. Mowry, retiring.

To be Sergt., Corp. W. Levell, vice Giles, promoted; to be Sergeant, provisionally, Corp. W. Robson; to be corporals, provisionally, Ptes. C. G. Lewis and B. L. Duffus.

D Co.—To be Sergeant, provisionally, Corp. Mitchell, vice, Arnott, who has left limits. To be Lance Sergeant provisionally, Corp. Vaughan; to be corporals provisionally, Ptes. Hooker and Stewart.

G Co.—To be sergeants, Ptes. Hamilton and Holland; to be corporals, Ptes. E. Wood, Haskill and Lowry.

By order,
D. WALKER, Capt.
Adjutant.

BROKE HIS ARM ON FIRST DAY'S WORK

Yesterday Was Edward Brown's Unlucky Day—Fell off Peterborough Canoe Co's Wagon.

Yesterday was an unfortunate day for Edward Brown, a driver for the Peterborough Canoe Co. He only began work yesterday morning for this company, and had worked but a couple of hours, when he fell off the wagon on which he was riding and broke his arm. He was hauling a load of sash from the factory, and when opposite the market some of the load slipped off and the driver went with it, the result being a broken arm. He was taken to his home, where the fracture was reduced.

YOUTHFUL HOOLIGANS APPEARED IN COURT

The Magistrate Will Not Allow Three or Four Boys to Bully Another One

Benjamin Conroy, Charles Conroy and Earle Downey were charged with having assaulted Oscar Keiper and Emmet Galvin and David Hearn were similarly charged with having assaulted Gordon Keiper, before Magistrate Dumble this morning. The affair did not amount to anything. The features were mud throwing, cap throwing and a few threats, and it was all over. The boys were apparently on good terms this morning as they chatted together. Magistrate Dumble discharged the boys after advising them to act manly, and not go about in bands like common thugs, threatening other boys. If they appear in court again, he said, it will not be well for them.

COMPLAINS OF PLAYING BALL ON STREETS

Inconvenience is Caused to Persons Driving as Well as Subjecting Them to Personal Danger.

A gentleman, who does a great deal of driving, complains to the Examiner of the annoying prevalence of ball-playing on the streets by boys. He says that the lads show no consideration for vehicles, and, instead, assail the drivers with impudent remarks and wordy resentment against interference with their game. Flying balls are liable to strike the heads of carriages and frighten horses, or an occupant is in danger of being hit by a ball as hard as wood. The gentleman complaining says that on almost every street of the city this practice of ball-playing is a nuisance, and more objectionable than over-hanging signs. This is his view of the matter, and, in support of its correctness, he instances the action of a rural community like Havelock passing a bylaw to prevent ball-playing on the streets. Such a by-law in Peterborough would involve considerably more than merely passing a bylaw. Boys will be boys, and should be provided facilities for playing proper games, or otherwise they will be tempted to play "games" that are not harmless.

CURTIS RIFLE RANGES CONDEMNED

A Property in Smith Has Been Recommended to Government.

The 57th Regiment will this year be provided with new rifle ranges but as yet the property, which the Government has in view, has not been purchased. A few weeks ago Major Mansell, Director of Stores, Ottawa, was in the city and visited the old Curtis ranges, and in his report to headquarters condemned them as being unsafe. These ranges were, when first constructed, within the regulations, but a few years ago clay had been dug, which necessitated the riflemen to shoot at an angle into the hill. This was considered dangerous as the angle allowed the bullets passing beyond the hill and cross the Dummer road.

Major Mansell at that time visited some properties in Smith, one of which he considered suitable, and has recommended it to the Government. The land has not yet been purchased, but it is probable that it will be selected for the rifle ranges.

WEDDING BELLS.

ELLIOTT-PURSER

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the residence of Mrs. Cookson, Aylmer street, at 2 o'clock this afternoon, when her niece, Miss Charlotte E. Purser, of Hall's Bridge, was united in marriage to Mr. H. Elliott, of Islay, Alberta, and formerly of Harvey Township. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Canon Davidson, of St. John's church, assisted by Rev. Mr. Bagshaw, of St. Matthew's church, Hall's Bridge.

The bride entered the room on the arm of her brother, Mr. J. C. Purser and was given away by her aunt, Mrs. Cookson. Miss Velma Martin, of Toronto, sang "O Fair, O Sweet and Holy" in excellent voice.

The bride was attired in a charming gown of white Duchess satin, with chiffon embroidery and pearl trimmings and she carried white roses. The first bridesmaid, Miss E. M. Purser wore an attractive gown of white Jaran taffeta, trimmed with applique and Duchess satin ribbon. bouquet was of white carnations. The second bridesmaid was Miss M. E. Cookson, cousin of the bride, who was attired in a pretty dress of sea green voile with eyelet embroidery and she she carried pink carnations. Mr. E. J. Cookson, the bride's cousin, was the best man.

After the ceremony a recherche dejeuner was served. Some sixty guests were present and the young couple were warmly congratulated on every side. The presents were attractive and costly and included a silver tea service from the congregation of St. Matthew's church, Hall's Bridge of which the bride was organist. The presentation was made on the eve of the wedding by the Rev. Mr. Bagshaw, rector of the church who read an address eulogistic of the bride's services. Rev. Canon Davidson replied on behalf of the recipient.

Mr. and Mrs. Elliott left on a wedding tric to Toronto and other points. They will return to Peterborough before leaving to take up residence in Islay.

FIRE HORSES ARE FED AT 6 O'CLOCK

Drivers Resent the Letter Written by Merchant in Last Night's Issue.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—A writer signing himself "Merchant" in last evening's issue, tries to lay all the blame of the streets in the central part of the city watered, on us and makes the statement that the horses in the fireball were not fed until 7 o'clock in the morning.

The writer evidently does not know what he is talking about, as our horses are fed at 6 o'clock every morning. People should make more careful investigation before they blame us for matters for which we are not responsible.

UNSOLICITED TESTIMONY

The Tate Optical Co., Peterborough:

DEAR SIRS,—During the last three or four years (prior to May last) my eyesight had failed to such an extent that I was unable to read or see anything at close range and could get no Glasses that would help me. I tried two different Opticians in Toronto and was told by both that they could do nothing for me, and that my sight would never be better. A statement of my case was sent to Montreal by a Hastings optician and several pairs of Glasses sent me, but with the same result my vision could not be improved. Last May, while looking at a Pair of Glasses you made for Mr. John Fife, Keene, and talking with him he advised me to consult your Mr. Babcock, and I am pleased to say that the Pair of Glasses he made for me have given me entire satisfaction and I can do now what I have not done for years past—read any ordinary print and see distinctly at close range. I feel very grateful, not only for the interest you have taken in my case, but particularly so for the blessing of good eyesight. Thanks to your knowledge and skill.

Yours truly,
(Signed) JOHN CARTER, Sr.,

TORTURED IN RUSSIA.

Prisoners Beaten With Rods and Their Hair Pulled Out.

St. Petersburg, April 24.—In the Lower House of Parliament yesterday, M. Pergament, Constitutional Democrat, read the reports of the interpellation committee regarding charges that prisoners had been tortured in order to obtain confessions. Details of some seventy cases were given.

They were beaten on sensitive parts of their bodies with Cossacks' whips and rubber rods, and their finger-nails and hair were pulled out. The tortures in many cases were prolonged for eight to ten days. One man, who was only 22 years old, looked like an old man after having been tortured.

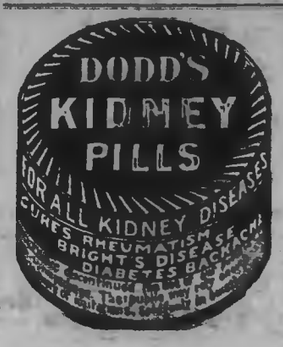
The reports added that it was difficult to determine exactly the number of victims, but it could safely be assumed that all who were sentenced by drum-head court-martial, or who overpowered the prison officials at Riga on April 13, passed through the torture chamber.

M. Makaroff detailed the results of the official investigation into the charges brought against the prison officials of Riga in March last, which were shown to be well-founded. The prisoners were clubbed by the police at the time of their arrest, and in the course of their examination in attempts to force confessions from them, the complete illegality of which was admitted by the Government authorities, resulting in Premier Stolypin ordering that proceedings be commenced against the guilty persons.

Continuing, M. Makaroff assured the House that the Government had no intention of overlooking crimes committed by officials, and added that the prosecution of the guilty persons had already begun. M. Lutvi defended the prison guards for killing prisoners who attempted to escape from custody.

Student Condemned to Mines.

Tver, Russia, April 24.—A court-martial Monday sentenced a student named Illinsky, the assassin of Gen. Count Alexis F. Ignotief, to 11 years' imprisonment in the mines and condemned Tselalowsky, an accomplice of the murderer, to deportation for life.



VERDICT "NOT GUILTY" WAS REACHED

Mrs. Perkins Acquitted of the Charge of Murder.

A CONFLICT OF EVIDENCE

Medical Experts Differ—Jury Decide Against Murder Theory—Doctors Declare Death Was Due to Kidney Disease, Not Poison—Eloquent Address by Mr. Johnston—Charge—Jury Out 4½ Hours.

Cayuga, April 24.—Mrs. Mattie Perkins is free. After four and one-half hours' deliberation a jury of her own countrymen pronounced her innocent of the charge of murdering her husband by giving him strychnine. The verdict was received at 11 p. m. The trial lasted eight days.

During the closing sittings, Justice Mabee relaxed his decision against admitting the general public, and a large gathering of townspeople waited in the court to hear the verdict. There was no demonstration. The acting sheriff stated previous to his lordship's entrance that any offenders in this respect would be punished by his lordship.

His lordship said: "After a very long and patient consideration the jury has taken a humane and merciful view of this evidence. Your counsel in a very able and eloquent appeal said that the truth of the matter was known only to you and to your Maker. I sincerely hope, for your own peace of mind, and for the sake of your soul, that the verdict of not guilty is true in deed and in fact. You are now discharged."

The jury made an application for extra payment for the night sittings. The judge said he would make an order to that effect.

The closing evidence for the defence accentuated the conflict of expert medical testimony.

Drs. Graham Chambers and Walter McKeown were both at variance with the conclusions of the doctors who conducted the autopsy, and efforts to break their testimony produced the interest wrangles of the whole trial. There was not a single thing to prove strychnine poisoning, Dr. McKeown swore.

"Medicine is not an exact science," said witness, in explanation of the difference between experts.

Dr. W. Taylor of Toronto Junction agreed with the findings of Dr. Bauer, but came to different conclusions.

Detective Greer was called by the crown for re-examination. He denied that he had used pressure to obtain the statements from Mrs. McDonald and her son, his only object being to find the truth.

E. F. B. Johnstone, K.C., leading counsel for the defence, made a strong appeal to the sympathies of the jury in an address of three and a half hours. Some of the jurors did not disguise their emotions during his portrayal of the life and hopes of the unhappy woman at the bar. He insisted over and over again that the jury must give a verdict upon the evidence alone.

Mr. Arnoldi reviewed the crown's evidence in an hour's address, dwelling on the proof that the prisoner had strychnine in her possession, that Perkins had died from strychnine poisoning, and that the probabilities were that the prisoner had administered it.

Justice Mabee gave dignified and impartial summing of evidence. He said it seemed unlikely that crown officers, who at first said there was no poisoning and one of whom stated in evidence that he hoped the prisoner would be acquitted, would do so fearful a thing as fabricate evidence. His lordship spoke for nearly an hour and a half. The prisoner sat unmoved. The case went to the jury at 6.30 p.m.

An Appeal to the Jury.

"Standing upon the threshold this woman makes her last appeal through me to you. It is not the appeal of one advanced in years, but a woman with all the hopes and fear of one who, in all probability, had many years to live," said Mr. Johnston, in beginning his address to the jury. "By your decision you will decide whether that life shall be taken or left, whether she shall suffer expiation on the gallows or return shattered and broken to that life which still is so sweet."

With great pathos Mr. Johnston sketched the emotions of a condemned person awaiting execution.

"Will you let it go down in the annals of Haldimand County that 12 men of the county sent a woman to the gallows upon the poisoned tongue of some slanderers?"

"There was no motive. They were an affectionate husband and wife. Struggling on together, she working with her needle at home and he at Welland, to provide for their declining years, she lost by his death not only the protecting arm of her husband, but even the little property of hers which, in her confidence and love she had placed in his name. Had she contemplated his death would she not have obtained the will, and not let her property sink into the hands of John Perkins and the people who have been working up this case against her?"

The crown had outlined lust as a motive, but Dr. Kerr had shown in his evidence that this was impossible, and not a single witness had proved an immoral act between her and any man. Mrs. Perkins was a "woman of mercy" to all Canfield. It was she who took Mrs. Johnston's child back to the father when the mother refused to have any more to do with it.

Tom MacDonald was subpoenaed by the crown, but they dared not put him in the box, said Mr. Johnston. Fred. Gowling had practically admitted that his evidence was the result of an animus against MacDonald.

Death was due to kidney disease, not to strychnine. Dr. Kerr had intended to give strychnine, and could not now swear that he did not give strychnine.

Mr. Johnston spoke for over three and one-half hours.

The Evidence Against.

Mr. Arnoldi said none appreciated more than he the splendid speech for the defence made by the very able advocate, but it was the duty of the crown to protect the lives of the community. It was a practice for the defence to villify crown officers. Where the woman got the strychnine was immaterial. The box was evidence that the woman had obtained the poison. He questioned the motives of Mrs. Perkins and her relatives in searching the house, and insisted that the symptoms disclosed were all suggestive of death caused by the strychnine found in the body. It made no difference if he had uraemia or not. It was as wicked to poison a dying man as a well man.

He denied that it was any part of the crown's duty to call Tom MacDonald. He was one of the implicated parties, yet the defence had not dared to call him to rebute the crown's evidence of the prisoner's connection with him.

His lordship, in summing up, said there were two bold issues standing out. First, was Mr. Perkins' death caused by strychnine poison? and, secondly, was the poison administered by the prisoner, and with felonious intent? Four crown doctors had given evidence that deceased had died from strychnine poison, two of whom had given opinion evidence, which had always to be received with care.

He reviewed Dr. Graham Chambers' evidence at length, and contrasted his opinions with the evidence of the deathbed witnesses.

Cause of Death.

"If you find a man after death with his body filled with buckshot in the vital parts, you might have considerable difficulty in concluding that he died from anything else; and if you find the body of a dead man filled with sufficient strychnine to kill him, you will also have considerable doubt in concluding that he died of something else," he said.

The letters appeared to convey all the affection which a woman should feel towards her husband, but was it possible that, while this woman was penning these letters, she was harboring murder in her heart? What was the objects of her statements about her husband's physical condition? Were they intended to aid her to conceal the effects of a murderous intention, or were they the exaggerated fears of a woman, whose husband was away from home?

Was the conversation with Mrs. Carter of innocent intention? The talk about rats and gardens did not precede the enquiry for strychnine, but followed the enquiry for the poison. Her husband's name was mentioned in that conversation. Had she him in mind when she asked for the drug, and why should a man "go crazy" because strychnine was in the house.

A Strange Occurrence.

A few days before Christmas her husband returned, feeling in excellent health. He visits his farm, and is there taken very ill. It was a strange occurrence. Suppose that when Dr. Kerr called on the Monday, and that, by mistake, he had left strychnine tablets, though he swears he did not leave any. The tablets were to be taken one every three or four hours. By what set of circumstances could the man have got the whole of them into his system by Tuesday morning? There was no one else attending him but the prisoner.

CONSTIPATION CLOGS THE BOWELS

No other cause produces so much sickness as constipation, and therefore it is dangerous to allow the bowels to become clogged up. Bad blood, dyspepsia, headaches, biliousness, boils, pimples, and piles, are all caused by constipation.

Avoid all of these troubles by the use of nature's remedy for all diseases of the stomach, bowels and blood. It acts on the bowels and promotes their free and regular action, curing constipation and all troubles which arise from it. It has been on the market for over thirty years so you are not using a new and untried remedy. B.B.B. has cured thousands of others and will cure you. Mr. B. Woodcock, Nashwaak Bridge, N.B., writes: "For over two years my wife was troubled with constipation. She tried several physicians but could get no relief, but after taking three bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters she was completely cured and is to-day in good health. My wife and I cannot speak too highly of B.B.B.

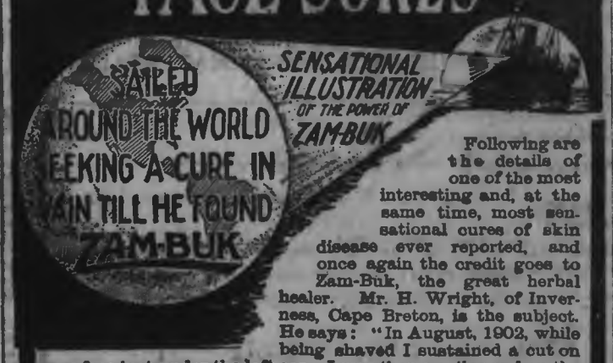
DISFIGURING FACE SORES



Following are the details of one of the most interesting and, at the same time, most sensational cures of skin disease ever reported, and once again the credit goes to Zam-Buk, the great herbal healer. Mr. H. Wright, of Inverness, Cape Breton, is the subject. He says: "In August, 1902, while being shaved I sustained a cut on my face just under the left ear. I was then a sailor and on the eve of a voyage. Soon after we sailed, blood poison set in and I found that sores were spreading all along the side of my head. The poison ran along like a creeping ivy plant under the skin and at intervals sending up an ulcer which discharged. I was soon in a terrible state! The steward, and everybody with a knowledge of the medicine chest, tried their best, but the ulcers and sores would not heal. I tried doctors in New Orleans where we first touched at—no cure. From thence to Hamburg, Germany—no cure. Then to North Shields, England—no cure. Back again to Canada, still suffering and trying all sorts of things in vain. Then back to Shields—no cure. Out again for Port Eads, but had to abandon the voyage through bad weather and put into London, England. While there I was treated at the leading skin hospitals, but the sores did not close, no matter how treated. From there I went to Cardiff, and while there a friend said, 'You can still be cured! Try Zam-Buk!' I hardly believed it possible, but I took a supply of Zam-Buk on board, as we were sailing for Canada that night. The sores were at that time so terribly painful that I could hardly bear to touch them. I anointed them with Zam-Buk and kept on applying it regularly. In a few days the sores showed signs of healing. Zam-Buk seemed to take out all the soreness and kill the poison. By the time we reached Montreal, to my amazement and delight, every one of the sores was closed. To-day my skin is sound and healthy. I am cured completely and I owe it to Zam-Buk. There is little wonder, therefore, that I am so enthusiastic in my praise of this great balm."

WHY IS ZAM-BUK SO POPULAR?

There are several reasons: Because it cures where ordinary ointments fail, as in the above case. Because of its unquestioned purity. Because of its herbal composition. Because it is free from all trace of animal oil or fat or mineral coloring. Because, while its application eases pain and soothes wounds and injuries, it is so highly antiseptic that it kills all disease germs instantly, thus preventing inflammation and suppuration.

WHAT IT CURES.. Zam-Buk cures pimples and face sores, eczema, ulcers, scalp sores, ringworms, abscesses, bad leg, chronic sores, piles, varicose ulcers, abrasions, cuts, scalds, burns, blood poison, itch, barber's rash and all other skin diseases. Rubbed over the chest it eases the tightness due to colds and chills, used as an embrocation cures rheumatism, neuralgia, etc. All druggists and stores sell at 50c. a box, post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, upon receipt of price. 6 boxes sent for $2.50.

PAT. M'DONOUGH WILL PLAY HERE

Will Arrive Here on May 1st—Best Home Player in Ontario.

Local lacrosse enthusiasts are jubilant over the fact that Pat McDonough, the great Beaverton home player, who has been sought after this spring by the best teams in Ontario, from the Torontos and the Tecumsehs down, is going to play in Peterborough this summer.

A telegram has been received by Secretary Regan from McDonough who is at present in North Bay, to the effect that he will be here about May 1st.

McDonough is undoubtedly one of the best home players in Ontario, and it is doubtful if there is a prettier stick handler playing the game anywhere. He will be a great acquisition to the Peterborough team, who with the abundance of material available, should lead the intermediate clubs a merry chase this summer.

The new roller rink in Ottawa, is meeting with great success and the Ottawa people attend in great crowds.

OUTDOOR GYMNASIUM FOR Y. M. C. A.

Members Asking Board of Directors to Erect One to South of Building.

There is a movement under consideration to have the piece of land south of the Y.M.C.A. changed into a summer gymnasium. It is understood that a petition is being circulated and being extensively signed, asking the Board of Directors of the institution to grant such a request. It is also learned that, in the event of the Board deciding to constitute a summer gymnasium, Mr. Walter Stocker will undertake to enclose the grounds with a fence. The Board of Directors intend holding a meeting on Thursday night, and it is probable that the petition will then be considered.

The gymnasium will be used for summer basketball, sprinting, etc., and, if erected, would undoubtedly prove a popular spot for Y.M.C.A. members.

ROYAL CANADIANS WILL BOWL HERE

Will Stack up A Local Picked Team on Monday Night.

The Royal Canadian Bowling Club of Toronto, the champions of the Queen City, will send down their strongest five man team on Monday night next, to play a local picked team, at the Majestic alleys. The locals should make a good showing against the visitors judging by the form displayed in the recent C. B. A. Tournament in Toronto. The Royal Canadians will be represented by Messrs. Archambault, Jenkins, Good, Lou Root and Saginaw. The local five have not been selected yet.

EVERYTHING IS READY FOR THE BIG BOUTS

Jack Dunn Arrives on 5.30 Train for Match With Harry Burridge To-night.

Jack Dunn will arrive here on the 5.38 G.T.R. train for his match with Harry Burridge to-night for the welterweight championship of Canada. The bout will be a hummer and will be witnessed by a large crowd, judging by the way in which the tickets are going. Burridge is in great shape and promises to make things decidedly interesting for the Toronto crack wrestler, who will have to go the limit to sustain his reputation. The boxing bouts will be equally interesting, especially the one between "Kid" Lovett of Ottawa and Tommy Foster of Toronto, who are scheduled to go six rounds. They will travel at a rapid clip. Foster is one of the best boxers in Toronto, and Lovett has a good reputation in the East, so that the match will be a lively one. Jack Broom of Lindsay will go up against Billy Myers a local dark horse, and an interesting four round bout may be looked for. Tommy Daly of Toronto and Cornie Burns of this city will mix it up for four rounds, and Jim Downey and Jack O'Neil will face each other for a similar period.

The affair will take place in the old Opera House and will commence sharp at 8.15 o'clock.

ANOTHER SUPPORTER OF PRO. HOCKEY

Anxious Gives Some Reasons to Support His Creed.

Peterborough, April 22, 1907.

Sporting Editor Examiner.

Dear Sir,—Being quite a hockey enthusiastic and supporter of good, clean sport, I think that it is a wise move on all sports to vote for professional hockey. We all know what amateur hockey has been in Canada these last few years. Is it not better to come out, as a man on men, and receive your salary every week or month, as it might be, than to have it slipped to you on the side, as we all know it has been that way in amateur sports? And I say, pay a man for playing hockey just as well as a tradesman receives his money. Another way to look at pro. hockey is that every city or town wants a winning team, and when you pay people for their work you can depend on getting value for your money, for they work to hold their jobs, and less crooked work is done, because, when playing amateur, sometimes a little inducement goes a long way towards losing a game, as has been done.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for your space, and hoping to see pro. hockey played in this city next winter, I am,

Yours for sport,
ANXIOUS SPORT.

ARRANGE PROGRAMME FOR ATHLETIC MEET

Mr. J. J. Howden Will Donate Handsome Cup to be Given to the Winner.

Everything is being arranged for the outdoor athletic meet to be held on the 24th of May, in connection with the Y.M.C.A. Mr. J. J. Howden has donated a beautiful cup as a trophy for the winner. Three events are open to any amateur in the city and will consist of a 100 yards dash, 440 yards, 1 mile, putting the shot, running broad jump, and hop step and jump. There will be three points for first place in each event, 2 for second and 1 for third, and the man winning the greatest number of points gets the trophy. The competition will either be held on the oval or in Riverside park, on the morning of the 24th.

SCHEDULE FOR THE FIRST DAY

Big Bowling Tournament Opens To-morrow Afternoon at the Majestic Alleys.

SOME VALUABLE PRIZES

The big bowling tournament which opens to-morrow at 2.30 o'clock at the Majestic Alleys gives promise of being a great success. There are a large number of entries and great interest and enthusiasm is being taken in the affair which shou'd do a great deal to boom the game.

Following is the schedule for the opening day:—

Novice Event—5 man team.
Nationals, 2.30 p.m. to 4.15 p.m.
Orientals, 4.15 p.m. to 6 p.m.
Southerns, 7 p.m. to 8.45 p.m.
Munro's Colts, 7 p.m. to 8.45 p.m.
Open Event—5 man teams.
Pleasure Club, 8.45 p.m. to 10.30 p.m.

Those taking part must be on hand sharp at the time scheduled or they will lose their chance to bowl.

The Novice Cup presented by the hotel men of the city will be on exhibition in Mr. C. E. Frost's window to-morrow morning. It is a very beautiful trophy and one well worth struggling for. The prize for the open event will be lookers.

There is a special prize of a box of cigars donated by Mr. J. T. Smythe for the highest single frame bowled, while Mr. C. E. Frost is donating a locket to the bowler making the highest pinnage in the nine games.

TOOK PART IN THE LONGBOAT RECEPTION

Messrs. C. E. Frost and T. T. Boyd Were in Toronto Yesterday

C. E. Frost and T. T. Boyd, of Peterborough, members of the C.B.A. executive, were in the city yesterday, and took part along with the residential members of the C. B. A., in the reception to Longboat.

A team from here will leave on Monday night on the 5 o'clock train for Peterborough, where they will roll the local men a game.—Toronto World.

BASEBALL

The intermediate baseball club of the Y.M.C.A. will practice to-morrow evening in the Central Park. All the members of the club are requested to be on hand at a quarter to seven sharp.

• • • •

The Y.M.C.A. working boys' baseball team will practice on Thursday night. The boys are asked to be at the association sharp at seven o'clock.

• • • •

The Lakeview baseball team will practice this evening in the driving park at seven o'clock. A full attendance is requested.

FOOTBALL

To-night the basket ball men are requested to meet at the Y.M.C.A. at 6.45 to play the football game which has been arranged.

A large number of the Quaker football men were out to practice last night and spent an hour at the game.

EX-STUDENTS WILL HOLD A RE-UNION

A Gathering to be Held in Goderich in August—Mr. Strong's Old Pupils to Gather

A reunion of former students of the Goderich High School and Collegiate Institute is to be held in Goderich on Thursday and Friday, August 22 and 23. Ex-students are requested to send their present address to Mr. Wm. Lane, Secretary G. C. I. Ex-Students' Reunion, Goderich, Ont., stating in what year they entered the school. On receipt of this the secretary will forward information in regard to the reunion, special railway rates, etc. It is expected that the gathering of Mr. Strang's old pupils will be a large and notable one.

GOLDEN LION IS GIVEN A RE-GILDING

The Golden Lion, the emblem of Robert Fair & Company's store, was re-gilded to-day and now presents a much improved appearance. The suggestion is made that surely the authorities after having seen this pride of the merchantile section of the city rejuvenated, will not have the heart to order its removal

MISS BENNETT HEAD OF THE DEPARTMENT

In a paragraph in these columns the statement that, Miss Clara Flood had organized a china painting and water colour department at the Conservatory of Music, was partially incorrect. Miss Amy K. Bennett is head of the water colour department, which she has for some time conducted with great success. Fairness to Miss Bennett suggests this explanation.

WILL INSTALL LIGHTS FOR REGIMENT'S BENEFIT

For the next drill night of the 57th Regiment a number of electric lights will be installed in Central Park. This will facilitate the movements of the companies considerably, as darkness is not conducive to active movements. These extra lights are placed in the park each year for the assistance of the regiment, whose drills will, as much as possible, be held there.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional remedy. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundations of the disease and give the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer one hundred dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

VASELINE NO GOOD FOR HAIR

Dandruff Germ Thrives in It, As Well As in All Grease.

A well-known Chicago hair specialist invited the Inter-Ocean reporter to come to his office and see, under a microscope, how the germs that cause dandruff thrives in vaseline. The specialist said that all hair preparations containing grease simply furnish food for the germs and help to propagate them. The only way to cure dandruff is to destroy the germs, and the only hair preparation that will do that is Newbro's Herpicide. "Destroy the cause you remove the effect." Without dandruff, no falling hair, no baldness. Ask for Herpicide. It is the only destroyer of the dandruff germ.

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to the Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. The Market Drug Store. Two sizes—50c and $1.

AN EPWORTH LEAGUE FORMED AT BETHEL

A Number From George Street Methodist Church in Dummer Last Night.

Last night a number of persons from the George Street Methodist Church drove out to Bethel Church in Dummer and instituted an Epworth League in connection with that church. Those who comprised the party were Rev. Dr. Crothers, the Misses Chasty, Miss Collins, Miss Sanderson and Mr. B. Cain.

Rev. Dr. Crothers gave an address on the "Young People of the 20th Century," Miss Collins spoke on missionary work, and Mr. Cain on Epworth League work. A large number were present, and a most pleasant evening, including a programme, in which the Misses Chasty participated, was spent. Miss Sanderson played the accompaniments for the solos and duets.

IT DEPENDS ON WHOSE DOG IS THE SUFFERER

A "Sufferer" Points Out That $1 Dog Tax Does Not Carry With It License to Destroy Flower Beds.

To the Editor of the Examiner,—

Dear Sir,—Referring to Dr. Pool's letter in yesterday's issue, I would like to be permitted to say that one's ideas in regard to this matter depend on the point of view. For instance, Dr. Poole has a dog, or dogs, and no flower beds. I have flower beds and no dog. I would not for a moment, though advocate or excuse this apparent epidemic of poisoning; but I do think, something ought to be done, either by the city or by the owners of the dogs, to abate what is a very real nuisance.

Surely Dr. Poole does not suggest that because he pays a dollar a year for a license, that therefore he has a right to allow his dog to run at large, injuring the property of storekeepers, as well as the citizens generally. It is not necessary to particularize in your columns, but every reader will know just what I mean. Is it too much to ask that those to whose happiness and contentment a dog is necessary, should keep their pet in their own houses or premises.

Personally, I have been a very real sufferer, both in pocket and temper, from the depredations of these canine nuisances, and if I have not been driven to the extreme step of prescribing strychnine for them, it is because of some regard for the poor beasts themselves, rather than for their remarkably selfish owners. What is the sense of offering prizes for well-kept gardens and lawns, and at the same time permitting them to be ruined by uncared for, and, often, I fear, hungry, unfed dogs,

Yours truly,
A SUFFERER.

THE NON-STRIKERS GET INCREASES

Employees of Ackerman Co. Who Remained at Work Will Receive Higher Wages.

Both parties to the harness makers' strike stated to-day that there was nothing new in the situation. None of the strikers have been around the factory to-day, and they stated that so far as they were concerned, there was no change.

It was learned at the office of the company on inquiry that those employees who did not go on strike, would receive the increase of wages as announced by the company in its statement to the public.

CHAMBERS TELLS LIFE'S STORY

Started on the Downward Path at the Age of Sixteen Years—His Life's Story Told to an Examiner Reporter To-day—His Record Was Against Him, He Says.

FRED. CHAMBERS, WHO GETS SIX YEARS IN THE PENITENTIARY

Was Led Into His First Crime By Older Man—Does Not Want His Mother to Know of His Trouble—Is Her Only Son—Drink is Attributed as the Cause of His Fall.

Although Frank Cameron showed no outward appearance of emotion in the court room, he was, nevertheless, deeply moved as he thought it over in his cell just after he was brought down from the court room. He lit a cigar and began to smoke, but had to quit as it made him very sick. In conversation, he said that it was the rawest deal that he had ever met with.

"My past career was against me," he said, "and Mr. Dumble must have laid great stress on this. I was a stranger here and was not looking for trouble. I went into the hotel for a drink. I acknowledge that I was drunk at the time, but if I was crazed, as they say I was, and in a frenzy, I could have done the cutting on the main street, but I was not looking for trouble. I defended myself, and thus may have become worked up.

Good Conduct.

"I received 27 months off my other sentence for good conduct, and since my release I have not been in the company of criminals and have not done anything wrong. I had intended to go west, for a term in prison is the worst octopus that can keep a man from redeeming himself in his own locality. My ambition was to grow with the new country, and try and forget my past, but booze has put an end to this."

Whiskey, the Trouble

"Had I not become drunk I would never have been here," Cameron continued, "and my advice is to leave it strictly alone. I was only a boy when I was first urged to do wrong by a man older than I, but do not mention this as he is trying to be good now. I received a good public school education, and in Kingston I used the books in the library as much as possible, and I know a little now."

Someone nearby said "It's a long time, kid," and Cameron replied, "Heavens, don't mention it."

Thought of His Mother

He said to the reporter, with a quavering voice, "I only hope my mother will not hear of this. I am her only son, and you know how she would feel about this. She does not read very much, but someone may tell her. I see that the World has given my real name, but I can't help it now."

No Ill-will

Cameron displayed no ill-will towards P. C. Mahaffy, who arrested him, nor the Magistrate, when speaking of them, and seemed to take the sentence as philosophically as possible. He advised those around to keep out of trouble, and especially not to try the criminal game, and he said, "Leave the booze alone."

His Future

The next six years of his life will creep slowly by with petty pace unless something unforeseen happens, and even if his sentence is lightened for good conduct, he will be within those grey walls at least until 1912. It was pathetic to hear him speak of ambitions he may have roped to accomplish, but which have been suddenly and cruelly stamped out. When he is free again he may make a former resolve to be a better citizen and make good a life, 19 years of which have been wasted in appeasing a wronged justice.

HERE'S A RECORD FOR LONGEVITY; A NEGRO REACHED 150 YEARS

New York, April 24.—A despatch from Santiago de Cuba says:—Antonio Infinate, a negro, is dead at the age of one hundred and fifty years. Despite his great age, the greatest recorded in modern times, he retained all his faculties unimpaired to the end. He was born in 1757, nineteen years before the beginning of the American revolution.

William McGee Arrested On The Hold-Up Charge

Jas. Reid Believes Him to be the Man Who Attempted Robbery of the Mails Early Yesterday Morning—Scar Over the Left Eye.

EVIDENCE THIS MORNING

William McGee was arrested by P. C. Newhall this afternoon about ten minutes after twelve o'clock, charged with having held up His Majesty's mail early yesterday morning. The arrest was effected by the officer from statements made by Mr. James Reid, the mail carrier, that he believed McGee to be the man who had held him up while returning to the post office after meeting the midnight train.

McGee attended police court this morning and gave evidence in the case against Jas. Kelly. The mail man by chance was in front of the police station when the prisoner left the building, and began walking south towards Charlotte street. Mr. Reid informed P. C. Newhall that he believed him to be the highwayman who had waylaid him, and the officer arrested him before he had proceeded a block.

McGee now occupies a cell in the police station, and is shut off from all communication except with his counsel, if he intends having one.

Scar Over the Eye

The appearance of the accused agrees considerably with the mail carrier's description. His complexion is dark and his age would be about 28 years. A big scar over the left eye is plainly visible, and, presumably, that is where he was struck by the lock of the mail bag.

McGee is a Peterborough man, having been born here. Other than appearing in the police court in the past for disorderly conduct offences there is nothing recorded against his character.

Trial To-morrow

The prisoner will be arraigned for trial to-morrow morning before the Magistrate when he will be called upon to answer to the charge of holding up His Majesty's mail.

PRESEETATION TO MR. L. LECLAIRE

Popular Member of Knights of Columbus Honoured Last Night—Will Take Position as Traveller.

An interesting event took place last night at the meeting of the Knights of Columbus, when a presentation was made to Mr. Louis LeClaire, who is to leave the city in a few days to accept a position as traveller for a large Montreal wholesale house.

On behalf of the members of the local Council, Mr. D. O'Connell, State Deputy of the Order, presented Mr. LeClaire with a gold ring, with the insignia of the order engraved on it, and, in making the presentation, he expressed the regret of the members that the recipient was leaving the city, but they congratulated him on his success.

Mr. LeClaire in acknowledging the ring, expressed his thanks for the evidence of good will. He would always be glad to be associated with the members of the order here, and would join them whenever it was possible to do so.

Mr. LeClaire will be leaving the city in a few days to accept his new position which is an important one. He will cover this territory for the firm, and will probably make Peterborough his headquarters. He will commence his duties on May 1st.

CONSUMPTIVE PATIENT'S BED DUMPED ON STREET

A correspondent writes to the Examiner, stating that a carter dumped a mattress on which to is alleged, a consumptive patient died, on the street allowance, at the foot of the extension of Edinburgh street, near the Goose Pond. The writer of the communication calls attention to the fact that such an act is endangering the health of those who live in that vicinity, and suggests that the Health Inspector (it is presumed that he means the Medical Health Officer, or the Sanitary Inspector) should attend to the matter.

HILL'S EXPERIENCE WITH LIVE REPTILE

Port Hope Man Swallowed One and Was Very Ill as a Consequence—A Narrow Escape.

The Port Hope Guide, of yesterday said:—Mr. Thomas Hills, Ontario street, had an experience the other evening which he does not wish repeated. Thomas had been sick for some time and during the night, when in the act of vomiting, something became lodged in his throat. He was unable to raise it, and finally extracted it with his fingers. It was a reptile of some description, and, to his great surprise, was living. A large bulb had formed upon it and in taking it out, this broke. The discharge from this brought on another spell of vomiting, and Mr. Hills was very sick for the next couple of days. He is able to be about again, but is looking rather shaky.

THE SIGNET OF SURETY.

A Mark Which Every Salesman Proudly Displays.

On the inside of the pocket of every Semi-ready coat is sewn the silk label of the Semi-ready — the trade-mark and the price both plainly visible, with the word "Semi-ready." Without this mark the garment is not nor cannot be made by the Semi-ready Company, who alone own the physique type system of tailoring fine clothes. This mark is proudly shown by the salesman. No excuse can be accepted for the absence of the trade-mark, nor the plainly-marked price.

THE WATERWORKS DAM IN GOOD SHAPE

Commissioners Will Only Have to Spend a Comparatively Small Sum Upon It This Year.

Yesterday afternoon the Water Commissioners drove to the waterworks, where they made a thorough inspection of the dam, a custom which the Commissioners have followed for a number of years at high water.

They found that the structure was in good condition, and it will be necessary only to expend a comparatively small amount on repairs to it this year.

NEW LINE

Report That C.P.R. Is After One

TO TOUCH PETERBOROUGH

Owen Sound and Meaford Railway Charter Sought by the C. P. R.—Join Line Near Peterboro.

Examiner Special.

Toronto, April 25. — It is reported that the Canadian Pacific Railway is negotiating to secure the charter of the Owen Sound and Meaford Railway Company, which road is yet to be built, but which has been subsidized by the Dominion Government to the extent of $96,000.

The proposal is to build the road from Owen Sound, taking in Meaford and, running south of Lake Simcoe, form a junction somewhere near Peterborough, with the proposed Victoria Harbour line.

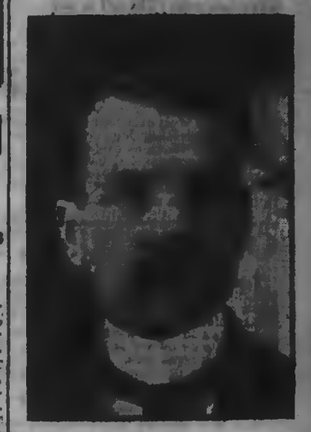
This would give the Canadian Pacific access to three Georgian Bay ports, and would also give Collingwood a Canadian Pacific connection.

A conference was held this week between Canadian Pacific officials and Mr. J. J. McLaughlan, of Owen Sound, president of the Owen Sound and Meaford Railway.

AN ODDFELLOWS LODGE AT MARMORA

Degree Team Went From Here Last Night and Instituted It.

Last night 32 members of the local Lodges of Oddfellows, went to Marmora by special train and instituted an Oddfellows' Lodge there. Mr. Johnston, G. M. of Toronto, was present and conducted the work of institution. From the prospects shown at the meeting last night, the Lodge in Marmora will be prosperous.



MR. WM. HILL, D.D.G.M., Of Oddfellows Lodge, who took part in initiation of the Lodge at Marmora.

There were 36 members enrolled, which speaks highly for the work of Mr. James Tully, through whose instrumentality the Lodge was instituted.

Mr. W. Hill, D.D., G. M., also assisted in the ceremonies. The Marmora Lodge is the first to be formed in this district during his term of office.

The special train carrying the degree team, left the city last night at 7.15, and returned this morning at 6.40 o'clock.

One Section—640 Acres

Land for Sale in Alberta

One fine section of good land, about nine miles from the Town of Ranfrerly on the Canadian Northern Railway. The district is first-class, settled by Americans, Scotch and English. There are no Galicians or Doukhobors in the immediate vicinity, and the country round and about is filling up fast. The class of people coming into that locality is good. The farmer owning the place adjoining this section threshed about 9,000 bushels of wheat last year. The soil is not quite so heavy, as in the Edmonton district and on that account is considered better and the crops are considerably earlier. On this property there is a fine creek. About three-quarters of the section is open prairie, the remainder having some brush upon it. Price $12.50 per acre, $3,000 cash, balance may be arranged mortgage at 6%. This is an excellent chance for two young enterprising farmers, desiring to locate in the West, to divide up the section between them and have a first class Farm. Further particulars may be had at the EXAMINER OFFICE, where full information may be had. 2wd84-2w6

HOW WISE MEN MAKE MONEY VERY FAST

By buying land in the way of a growing city you convert your dollars into hundreds and your hundreds into thousands. The more you buy the more money you must make. I know for a fact, that land bought 10 miles outside a city's limits for $100 per acre sold within 20 years for $5000 per acre—$4900 was a good profit per acre. I offer you land on Western Avenue less than a quarter of a mile outside Peterboro's limits and in the way of its most rapid growth, in Blocks of 8 lots, 30x140 feet for $75 00 per lot and only ask you to pay $10 cash and $5.00 per month. Those lots will be worth say $300 each within 10 years or $2,400, besides having the use of the land. You make a clean profit of $1800 on each block of 8 lots.

READING AND TALKING

The announcement that the next meeting of the Philomatheah Society, in connection with the Collegiate Institute is to be devoted to a competition in reading is very gratifying. The Society's friendly pursuit of knowledge can not take a direction nor pursue a path which will lead to a larger field of endeavour and chance of improvement, than in the art of reading. We do not, however, often get an opportunity of judging, for there are so few persons that read or can read—well — that reading aloud as a general practice is a lost or an unpractised art. From analogy it can be asserted that few persons can read well—if they read as they talk, for persons who cannot talk well or perhaps better, cannot speak well, cannot read well—and no one will say that we know how to talk or speak properly. We may chatter and speak words that convey ideas, but there is not one in ten who, judged by strict rules, speaks the language gracefully and elegantly. We are so accustomed to the jingle of the clipt, curtailed, slurred, sloppy verbal coin that passes current in conversational exchange, that we do not, unless attention is called to it, notice its debased ring. "H'lo, Mary, whaju say t' tak'n a walk ow'eh Jax'n Park?" comes from the lips of a girl who calls herself cultured—has passed through High School, and boarding school, — has learned music, painting, etc., and has cost her parents for "education" and "finishing" the price of a small farm. Yet there is nothing to differentiate her slovenly style of conversational speaking from the manner of utterance of a "slavey" in a slum kitchen, though indeed, in gentle cadence and mellowness of quality, soft, low pitch of voice and distinctness of utterance, the Cockney girl far surpasses her Canadian cousin of culture and ample education. This may seem exaggeration, but, take the next opportunity to note the manner in which even otherwise well-educated persons murder the King's English. "To" is pronounced "tuh," "you" is sounded as "yuh" or curtailed into the unpronounceable "y," or lost altogether, as "whachu doon?" for "what are you doing," or "whajusay?" for what did you say? Over is spoken "ov-ur," etc. College graduates speak of going to the post-"offus;" "going to clipt to "go'n." move-ment becomes move-munt, duty becomes "dooty," and enthusiasm, "enthoosiasm." A list like this sample could be extended to include a thousand orthoepic solecisms daily practiced, not only by the unlearned, but by persons of education and culture, but, through carelessness, indifference or by association, of bad verbal habits. Language may be used to appropriately clothe beautiful ideas, and be arranged in proper grammatical sequence and concord, but, unless the niceties of pronounciation and accent are observed, the half-mark of elegant speech must be witheld. Teaching reading in a proper way is as important as teaching good writing — and why not more so?—in the life of a world's day, spoken words are a million to one of the written. If school pupils are taught to read well, to give words their full and proper syllabic value, with adequate attention to proper utterance, expression and accent, the foundation is laid for speaking the language correctly and elegantly whether in conversation or oration. Elegance of speech is not appraised highly enough as an indispensable element of lettered culture, and yet, with a little care and watchfulness, it is easy to attain. The reading contest is a splendid idea.

FIGURES OF PROGRESS

Things are best understood relatively, not positively. A public expenditure of $63,320,000 is large regarded by itself, and larger if compared with an increase of $50,000,000 in 37 years, or $25,000,000 in ten years. But the figures are not so stupendous if compared with a revenue of $71,000,000 in 1905, or with a revenue of $13,700,000 38 years ago, or of $4,000,000 ten years ago.

Nor is this the only relative or the most instructive point of view.

The value of imports entered for consumption in Canada in 1868 was $67,000,000, in 1895 it was $100,700,000, and in 1905 it was $251,600,000; and the value of exports for the same years was $45,500,000 in 1868, $99,500,000 in 1895, and $191,000,000 in 1905; and the taxes paid on imports for the same years were $8,600,000 in 1868, $17,900,000 in 1895, and $41,800,000 in 1905. Moreover, the rate of taxes on imports was 13.12 in 1868, 17.75 per cent. in 1895, and 16.61 per cent. in 1905.

Therefore, relatively, the expenditure of 1905 is less serious than either the one of 1868 or the one of 1895, especially in the light of the fact that the revenue of 1905 shows a surplus of $7,863,000 against a surplus of $202,000 in 1868, and a deficit of $4,150,000 in 1895.

Look at the situation in other ways. The total deposit in chartered banks in 1868 was $33,655,000, in 1895 it was $191,000,000, and in 1905 it was $531,000,000, and in the same years the assets of chartered banks rose from $79,860,000 to $316,536,000, to $767,490,000. So also the average monthly circulation of Dominion notes by banks has grown from $10,432,000 in 1884, to $21,397,000 in 1895, to $48,714,000 in 1905, while the records of clearing houses of chartered banks have grown from $1,871,000,000 in 1901 to $3,335,000,000 in 1905 — a most trustworthy indication of growth in business affairs.

And so with the Post Office Department, which in 1868 had a net revenue of $809,000 and an expenditure of $785,000, in 1895 a revenue of $2,793,000 and an expenditure of $3,593,000, and in 1905 a revenue of $5,125,000 and an expenditure of $4,634,000, with a succession of deficits for a third of a century, and surpluses in the last four years, although the tariff on letters had been reduced one-third. In 1868 the value of postoffice money orders issued in Canada was $3,355,000, in 1895 it was $13,187,000 and in 1905 it was $32,350,000, a telling illustration of prosperity and growth.

But, stepping outside of the realm of Government affairs, look at what insurance records reveal.

In 1868 the premium income of life insurance companies in Canada was $2,882,000 in 1875, $10,292,000 in 1895 and $22,000,000 in 1905, and while life insurance in force in the first of those years was $85,000,000, it was $319,000,000 in the second and $630,000,000 in the third.

Then, as regards railways, which, like life insurance, are largely undertakings of private enterprise, there were 2,278 miles in operation in 1868, 15,977 miles in 1895 and 21,280 miles in 1905, including for the last named year 793 miles of electric railway. In 1875 the railway earnings were $19,470,000, in 1895 $46,656,000, and in 1905 $115,824,000.

And, finally, there is the evidence of the Northwest Provinces, with a population grown from 43,000 in 1871 to 88,000 in 1881, to 219,000 in 1891, to 420,000 in 1901, to 807,000 in 1906.

Now, comparing one thing with another, and studying the evidences of the growth of Canada as a whole, what is there to startle us in the bald statement that public expenditure was $13,480,000 in 1868, $38,000,000 in 1895, and $63,320,000 in 1905?

Canada is awake, and alive, and thriving on every side. In commerce, in banking, in postoffice, in life insurance, in railways, in population, in every activity of the state as well as in public expenditure, expansion is manifest, and a critic might as well try to make us believe that the country is within hearing of the breakers and in sight of the rocks because its foreign trade has gone over the half billion mark, as because it has a public expenditure to-day five times more than 38 years ago. The country is five times, ten times, better able to provide for expenditure now than then; and while no money should be squandered or wasted, it is folly to close our eyes to the need of providing for the country's requirements as they arise. — Ottawa Free Press.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The "me und Gott" Emperor of Germany once boasted that when he went abroad the nations were troubled. When King Edward goes abroad, olive branches spring up in his path, and international good-will takes on new life. This may not necessarily be the generic distinction between a king and a kaiser, but it is the distinction between the King and the Kaiser.

Of all latter-day fads and fakes, that of burning ashes as fuel has been the shortest-lived. The old proverb tells us that ex-nihilo, nil fit—or, in modern classic English, "you can't get nothin' for nothin'." There's no royal road to learning. And there's no royal road to a savings bank account by trying to burn ashes. The Pennsylvania cobbler should stick to his last.

ASH BURNING PROVES A SAD FAILURE

Tried at City Hall in Toronto and Found to be More Expensive Than Coal.

According to the Toronto News, the ash-burning theory was given a knock-out blow by experiments carried on at the City Hall there. The News says:

A body blow was dealt the new ash-burning theory by experiments at the City Hall.

The Property Commissioner announced this morning that not only did it fail as a saver of coal, but it was actually more expensive to the extent of 15 per cent.

This was in the cost of fuel alone. "If we had continued the experiment long enough to estimate the damage to our plant, that would have shown an addition to the extra expense," said Mr. Harris.

"What system did you experiment with?" asked the News of the Commissioner.

"We started with the regular one of one part coal and three of ashes, but found that we could not keep the fire in, and had to add great fuel. The final result showed 3,156 pounds of coal and 2,441 of ashes."

The test was in evaporating water. For 1000 pounds the ash mixture cost 20.62 cents, while coal alone was only 17.78 cents, a loss of 15.9 per cent.

Larder Lake Goldfields

As stated in my news letters last summer I then began investigating the Larder Lake district north of Cobalt. I have done so thoroughly, and from personal investigation on the ground, the employment of reliable engineers and a corps of experienced prospectors, I and my associates have now ample proof of the great value of this field.

We know so surely what is there (and what immense probabilities there are as well) that we have already put nearly $150,000.00 cash into the field.

Our employees on the ground number nearly one hundred, and our stamp mill will very soon be in operation.

I am a practical mining man, and I need hardly say that we would not put in such money and work unless fully justified.

The width of the veins or reefs in sight, and the values they bear when such width is considered, is extraordinary. In Africa such reefs are profitably mined when bearing but a few pennyweights of gold to the ton—at Larder Lake average assays from across many reefs run ounces of gold to the ton. An ounce is equal to $20, and the cost of mining and milling should not exceed $3.50

I and my associates see many millions of dollars of clean legitimate profits before us in these goldfields.

By forming a company, putting up our hard cash as stated above, and getting in first, we have secured thirty-seven forty acre claims which we believe to be the cream of the Larder Lake Goldfields.

Our present stamp mill is a small one. We want a larger mill—from 100 to 200 stamps—and we must spend money in opening up our large acreage.

We have put in considerable money, and, indeed, would carry the whole thing ourselves but that, like everything else, we have other interests to take care of.

We are therefore affording others the opportunity of joining us and sharing with us the large profits we are going to make—profits from dividends, and also from the increase of market value in our stock.

Our Company is known as the LARDER LAKE PROPRIETARY GOLDFIELDS, LIMITED, and among the directors and gentlemen identified with it are the following:—Col. G. Sterling Ryerson, Ex-M. P. P.; Senator L. V. Ulry; Lieut.-Col. A. N. Worthington. Member Dominion Parliament; T. Herbert Lennox, Member Provincial Parliament; Chas. H. Waterous, Ex-Mayor of Brantford; E. P. Bucke of "Granby" fame; Dr. D. H. Piper, of London; P. Kirkgaarde, M. E., Member National Geographical Society; Sylvester Jenckes, President Jenckes Machine Company; William Farwell, President Eastern Townships Bank; C. P. Brown, of Toronto; Dr. Preston, Member Provincial Parliament, and others of like standing.

For the purposes mentioned above a limited amount of stock is offered by the Underwriters (Canada Mines Limited) at their first ground floor price of $1.00 per share. This is being subscribed for rapidly and the next allotment will be at a materially advanced price. The stock will then be listed on the exchanges and placed on the New York and Boston curbs, when, as in every proposition I have been connected with, it will, without doubt, command a legitimate market at a still higher price.

This opportunity will not last long.

Those desiring further particulars, maps, detailed reports, etc., before joining us, please write, 'phone or telegraph me at once.

LOCAL DOCTORS NOT IN THE EXAMS.

Dr. Poole and Dr. McKercher Did Not Go to Chicago to Qualify for Meat Inspectors.

The local veterinary surgeons who had intended going to Chicago to take the examinations which would have enabled them to qualify for meat inspectors, the appointment to be made by the Minister of Agriculture, were Dr. Poole and Dr. McKercher. They did not go, however, because they were later advised by the Department that in the appointments, preference would be given to unmarried men who could move easily from place to place, and the most serious consideration was the fact that they could not do any other work. Neither of the local men were inclined to tie themselves up to meat inspection, since both have good practices, and the result was that they decided not to go. The results of the examination, in which 59 wrote, have been received, and out of that number 58 were successful. Had the two local men gone they would undoubtedly have been successful, too.

PRESENTATION TO MR. AND MRS. WM. SHEA

Knox Church Congregation Said Farewell to Departing Elder and His Wife.

After the regular mid-week prayer meeting at Knox Church last night, the members of the congregation said farewell to Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Shea before their departure for Edmonton on Saturday next. The assemblage was rather large, most of the elders being present. Mr. Shea is the youngest elder in the church. At the time it was erected he offered his services, and has since lent great assistance to the other elders.

Rev. Mr. Keith made a short speech, speaking eulogistically of Mr. Shea. The pastor has known him for only a short time, but during their acquaintance has been much impressed by his good qualities.

Mr. Bennet, one of the elders, also spoke well of Mr. Shea.

Mr. Morrison said that he looked upon Mr. Shea as a missionary going forth from Knox Church to the West, and hoped that when Mr. Shea was in his new home he would assist in church work as he had done in this connection with Knox Church. The speaker then presented Mr. Shea with a set of commentaries on the Bible.

Mr. Shea was visibly affected by this remembrance, but made an appropriate reply, expressing his appreciation of the gift, its usefulness, etc., and said that he hoped to frequently use it.

Farewells were paid to Mr. and Mrs. Shea by the individual members of the congregation. Mr. Shea leaves on Saturday for Edmonton, and in the meantime they will visit friends at Fenelon Falls.

Doctors Tried for 8 Years to Cure Me

BUT I AM WELL NOW AND BELIEVE I OWE MY LIFE TO

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS

There is a remarkable cure described in this letter which should prove of vital interest to anyone suffering from derangement of the kidneys.

Mrs. Dave W. McCall, Lombardy, Leeds Co., Ont., writes: I desire to acknowledge the benefits I have received from Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. I was troubled with kidney disease for eight years and doctored with several doctors to no avail until my husband got me Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and I began using them. Altogether I used ten boxes, and can truthfully say I would have been dead long ago only for Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. Words cannot express my praise for them, for I believe there is no medicine so good for kidney and liver disorders."

In the treatment of Bright's disease or inflammation of the kidneys, the first consideration is rest for these filtering organs and this can only be obtained by quickening the action of the liver and bowels.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills succeed where mere kidney medicines fail because they act promptly and directly on the liver, take the work off the kidneys, and then by their invigorating action on the kidneys restore them to health and vigor.

Because of the intimate and sympathetic relation of the liver and kidneys it is useless to treat them independently of one another. This fact was in the mind of Dr. Chase when he prepared the formula of his celebrated Kidney-Liver Pills and the phenomenal success of this great medicine has proven his wisdom.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills positively cure liver complaint, biliousness, constipation, backache and kidney disease. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. To protect you against imitations the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every box of his medicine.

"PROGRESS" REPLIES TO HIS CRITICS

Says He Pays $100 a Year in Taxes and Has a Right to Expect Protection For a $1 a Year Dogs.

SOME PLAIN FACTS GIVEN

To the Editor of the Examiner,

Dear Sir, — I have read the various comments, frantic, hysteric, and otherwise, on my letter, re the dog nuisance. Some of these writers evidently mistake statement for argument, and premises for proof.

Perhaps the most absurd statement is that by Dr. Poole, "that unless a tax is paid for flower beds they have no right to protection," and asks if I pay a tax.

Well, I do; I pay in the neighbourhood of $100 per year into the city treasury, and it entitles me to protection for my property, whether grass, flowers, or garden produce is grown.

In addition, my neighbours and I contribute to the creditable appearance of the city, make it a still more desirable and attractive place of living, stimulate its aesthetic tastes, and inspire the cooperative efforts of refined citizenship, whether in cottage or mansion, by the cultivation of beautiful surroundings, restful and educative alike to rich or poor.

Would we accomplish as much for the community by building dog-proof fences and raising a few pups?

We are paying taxes for our grounds and using them to both private and public advantage, and have therefore a superior and unquestionable claim for civic protection from what "Sufferer" terms "the remarkably selfish owners of dogs." A flower bed is a more valuable asset to an urban community than a dog.

If the doctor will pay a little more attention to civic taste, buy a package of flower seeds and cultivate them, I am quite sure he will not advocate dog proof fences, or even "moats," in the future.

If the dog owners will build the fence and keep their family pet inside of it, all right, but why, in the name of justice or reason, must I spend $100, and then have to disfigure my property to protect myself against an unjust immunity that my neighbour can procure for $1? Verily licensed evils are the most unfair.

Even the fence is no protection to my family when on the street. Many women are exceedingly fearful of dogs. Of course they "ought not to be," but that does not change the fact. Which, then, should have the preference of civic protection?

The fact that a tax of $1 is levied on dogs proves that limitation is necessary. This tax is inadequate; it should be at least $5, and dogs unaccompanied by owners not allowed to roam at large; also owners to be liable for any damage to property.

Another critic thinks I have never been outside the corporation, therefore densely ignorant, (rather hard on the old citizens), but to relieve his anxiety I may say I have lived several years in Toronto and New York, two years of that time in one of New York's beautiful residential suburbs. My experience in these places confirms my belief that Peterborough is fast becoming a veritable dog resort.

The other morning on the way to the office I saw a drove of nine dogs on Simcoe street, dash into a cottage yard, and were only expelled by vigorous doses of water.

Personally, I am fond of dogs, and have owned some good ones; but I draw the line at this luxury when it seriously and harmfully affects my neighbours.

I reiterate the fact that we live in relation to the community; we are not good citizens if we cause our neighbour continued inconvenience, expense and injury for the mere selfish pleasure of having a dog that is not properly restrained.

I do not infer that all dog owners claim all territory that is "not properly fenced."

Many owners have an adequate regard and exercise reasonable care. If all owners acted thus, there would be no epidemic of self defence.

In the absence of any legal redress it is up to our aldermen to provide the necessary restraint and protection that the best interests of the community demand.

All tagless dogs should be put out of existence; it is a well known fact that many people do not own a dog during the assessors' visit.

The existence of these is to a very large extent the cause of present conditions and a very "real nuisance."

The case is well put by "Sufferer"—"What is the sense of offering prizes for well-kept gardens and lawns and at the same time permitting them to be ruined by dogs."

Yours in the interest of cooperative citizenship, and a beautiful city.

PROGRESS.

Peterborough, April 25.

WILL DREDGE TURNING BASIN FOR BOATS

The "Trent" to be Moved Above Hunter Street Bridge for That Purpose.

The water in the Otonabee River has been lowering rapidly during the past week, sufficiently so to permit of the resumption of dredging operations. The steam dredge, which has been tied up below the Hunter street bridge during the winter, is now being dismantled to allow it to pass under the Hunter street bridge, above which the dredging will be carried on this spring.

The bridge is so low that the roof and part of the walls of the dredge will have to be removed to permit of its passing under. The large dipper has already been taken down and placed on a scow.

The dredging above the bridge will consist chiefly in making a turning place for boats.

WILL ARBITRATE TO SETTLE DISPUTE

City Council Will Not Pay Amount Asked For Property on George Street Extension.

BOARD OF WORKS IN SESSION

Before George street is extended south, arbitration will have to be resorted to in the case of one property, at least. This was decided upon last night at the regular meeting of the Board of Works Committee, when that body refused to give $1,200 for a property owned by Miss McMann, when their valuator had considered it worth only $700. Mr. E. A. Peck appeared for Miss McMann and made the above offer.

Another decision arrived at by the Board was to have the constructors of sidewalks begin operations in East City. A number of petitions were read and discussed, including many for sidewalk construction.

The Board will also have Hunter street opened east to the lift lock for the accommodation of visitors to that spot.

Those present were Chairman Duncan, Ald. Johnston, Mayor McWilliams, Wilson, McIntyre, the City Engineer, the City Solicitor, and the Street Commissioner.

A petition was received from Thos. Bagley, Victoria avenue, asking for a granolithic sidewalk in front of his residence, to be built when the walks in the vicinity are being constructed. The matter was left over on the suggestion of the chairman, until the committee made their tour of inspection.

Arbitration Necessary

Mr. E. A. Peck was present in the interests of his client, Miss McMann, whose property is situated on the extension of George street. Mr. Peck stated that she, in the first place, had offered the right of way for $1,600, but now she would give it for $1,200, providing that she be allowed to remove the house to an adjoining lot. She had lived there for the past thirty years, and, naturally, he said, she did not care to leave. Mr. Peck pointed out that the work of excavating and building of a foundation would mean a considerable amount.

The value placed on the property by Valuator McKee was $700. The by Valuator McKee wasb $700.

The Board decided to take no action regarding the request so the matter will have to be settled by arbitration.

Mr. McKee informed the Board that he would like to have an office for his papers, etc., which had been a nuisance in his own residence. He was told that as soon as the firemen changed to the new building he would be given an office in the old building.

A deputation consisting of Messrs. Detcher and Yelland, of Harvey street, asked to have a sewer on that street north of the Goose Pond. This has already been advertised and will be constructed as soon as possible.

Sidewalk COnstruction

Moved by the Major and Ald. McIntyre that the Engineer be instructed to have Foreman Neary begin the construction of sewers wherever the former deems advisable.—Carried.

Another motion was passed, stating that Foreman White be instructed to take charge of the sewer to be constructed on Sherbrooke street.

Moved by the Mayor and Ald. McIntyre that the Engineer be instructed to proceed with the opening of Hunter street, east, and Geo and Aylmer streets, south, as soon as it was expedient.—Carried.

The next question taken up was where the sidewalk men would begin this year. Ald. Wilson considered that the Fifth Ward was entitled to first consideration. He made a motion, seconded by the Mayor to this effect, which was carried.

The sidewalk builders under Mr. Evans' supervision will probably begin work some time during next week.

Petition For Crossing

Joseph Johnston, Park street, petitioned for a foot crossing to his residence over the ditch. Moved by Ald. Wilson and McIntyre that the city engineer be instructed to look over the situation and have the crossing built if necessary.—Carried.

A petition was received from property owners on south side of Charlotte street from Park street, west for a side walk, but was refused as the Board decided a walk outside the tree line would be detrimental to the city's thoroughfare.

Peterborough Merchants Are Discriminated Against

"Onlooker" Points Out That in Toronto With 300,000 Population Merchants May Leave Goods On The Walks.

HERE IS A CASE IN POINT

The Editor, Peterborough Examiner,
Peterborough, Ont.:

Dear Sir,—In your edition of Tuesday I notice an article, "Merchants Suffer Again from the Box By-law." Has this not gone far enough? Is the bylaw not one of those bylaws that should not have been passed, and should the council not realise this?

When I went to Toronto on Tuesday morning I saw on the walk in front of the store "Arts and Crafts" three Peterborough canoes, one sitting on top of the other, or perhaps they were cased. This was at 10.30 o'clock. I passed down the street again (King street) in the afternoon and saw the same canoes, apparently, in the same place. Toronto has a population of 300,000, or thereabouts. Peterborough has a population of about 15,000. The merchant was not interfered with in Toronto, while in Peterborough he would have been in gaol if he hadn't enough money to pay his fine. If the ratepayers in Peterborough would place one-half of the council where they belong there would be less difficulty in town matters.

"ONLOOKER."

Canoe Company's Most Prosperous Year, Yet

The Peterborough Canoe Company Factory Taxed to Utmost Capacity to Fill Orders for Their Popular Canoes.

OTHER FACTORES SHARE

The present season is the best, so far as the volume of business offering is concerned, in the history of the Peterborough Canoe Company. The trade in canoes is growing at such a rate that difficulty is being experienced in being able to turn out the product fast enough to supply the ever increasing demand. The staff is working at top speed all the time and still the orders are piling up for the canoes made by this company. It is a fact, which is no doubt a matter of gratification to the citizens of Peterborough that canoes made by local concerns are recognised the world over as the acme of perfection in canoe building, proof of which is furnished by the orders which are simply pouring in to the local factories. A director in the Peterborough Canoe Company stated to the Examiner to-day day that his company was greatly pleased with the way the business was increasing, the growth being much greater than was anticipated.

The Dirtiest Man In Montreal Passed Away

Rev. J. R. Webb Was Acquainted With Late Neil Brodie, Who, Though Worth $150,000, Lived In Squalor and Dirt.

AN INTERESTING STORY

The death occurred on Tuesday afternoon in Montreal, of the most remarkable man, in many ways, in that city. His name was Neil Brodie and he was known personally or by reputation to a great majority of the residents of the eastern city. Rev. J. R. Webb, the pastor of the Murray street Baptist church, of this city, and who formerly lived in Montreal, was acquainted with Neil Brodie, who, although he was worth anywhere from $150,000 to a quarter of a million, lived in a miserable hovel and accepted a penny from anyone who would give it to him.

The Montreal Star, referring to Brodie's death, says:

Dead—in the midst of his estate—a man notorious among his fellowmen, bearing a reputation envied by none, and of its kind, surpassed by few. For Neil Brodie has gone to his own. "Dust to dust, and ashes to ashes" has once more claimed its bounty, and the soul of Neil Brodie has passed to its fathers from amidst the dirt in which he lived.

The name of Neil Brodie is not an unknown one in the business world of the city. He was a constant "flutterer" on the stock markets. His holdings in stocks, bonds and real estate, were large. His business capabilities were undoubted. But it was not upon these foundations that his reputation stood.

Neil was reputed and recognized to be the dirtiest man in tthe City of Montreal.

A week ago Monday the old man was taken ill. He refused to go to the hospital. In fact, he refused in the slightest detail, to change the usual routine of his daily proceedings. On Tuesday he fell on the street twice and had to be carried home, up two dark, narrow flights of stairs to his squalid little room in the back of a tenement. Much against his will a doctor was summoned, and for once in his long, dirty life he was forced to eat civilized food. It nearly broke his heart to see his room swept out. He cried when one of the neighbours attempted to use a scrubbing brush on the floor. Up to the very end his uncontrollable appetite for dirt and filth remained with him, and it is believed that a fit of coughing brought on in a struggle against being washed, hastened his death.

NEW MEMBERS TO BE RECEIVED

Baptismal Services to be Held at the Murray Street Baptist Church Next Sunday.

At the special business meeting of the Murray Street Baptist Church, held last night at the close of the prayer meeting, a number of applications for church membership were received and considered. They were favourably decided upon, and next Sunday night the new members will be baptized. Since Rev. Mr. Webb assumed the pastorate of this church he has received a large number of new members by baptism, the congregations increasing almost each Sunday.

OBITUARY

MRS. MARY ARMSTRONG

Another of the highly respected residents of this city was called to rest at 2.30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon in the person of Mrs. Mary Armstrong, relict of the late William Armstrong. She had been in ill-health for the past four months and gradually declined until the last hour arrived.

The late Mrs. Armstrong was 73 years of age and was born in Ireland. In the year 1854 she was married, and a short time after came to Canada and had lived in this city during all those years. She was a member of the Church of England. Her husband pre-deceased her 21 years ago, and the children now left to mourn the loss of a kind mother are John F., city; W. S., Toronto, and Miss Annie, at home.

The funeral will leave the family residence, 693 George street, on Friday afternoon at 2.30 and proceed to Little Lake Cemetery.

WEDDING BELLS.

CAMPBELL-HUMPHRIES

Examiner Special.

Keene, April 25.—Last night an interesting wedding took place at the residence of Mr. Robert Humphries, Lang, when his daughter, Jean, became the wife of Mr. Robert H. Campbell, merchant, of Keene. The ceremony which was performed by Rev. D. D. McDonald, of Keene, took place in the presence of about 60 guests. The bride, who was unattended, and was given away by her father, entered the room as the wedding march was played by her sister, Miss May Humphries. The bride wore a rich white silk gown trimmed with lace; she had the conventional veil and carried a bouquet of roses. Following the wedding a delicious wedding dinner was served, at the which the health of the bride was proposed. Mrs. Campbell, who has spent all her life in this community was the recipient to a very large number of handsome gifts, eloquent evidences of the esteem in which she is held, and her husband is very widely and as favourably known. The young couple will reside in Keene.

GIRLS' GUILD SALE AND CONCERT

Very Successful Affair Held in St. John's School Room Last Night—Large Attendance.

PROGRAMME ENJOYABLE

An unqualified success was the annual tea and sale of the Girls' Guild of St. John's church last night. The affair was held in the school room and there was a large attendance, with the result that the financial outcome is highly satisfactory. Everything offered for sale in the fancy work department was disposed of, Mr. Greenhalgh acting as auctioneer in a truly professional manner.

A candy table in charge of Mrs. Caniff and Miss Maud Roberts, was well patronized during the evening, and the many dainties offered for sale soon disappeared.

The programme given was a most delightful one and every number was warmly received. Mr. George Lynch read a selection from the works of the late Dr. Drummond, with very clever imitation of the Habitant dialect. Mr. F. D. Kerr gracefully performed the duties of chairman. Following was the programme.

Instrumental duet, Mr. R. J. Devey and Master Cyril Devey.
Instrumental, Mrs. A. Turner.
Recitation, Miss Carrie Barlow.
Reading, Mr. Geo. Lynch.
Piano duet, the Misses English.
Song, "The Skipper," Mr. F. C. Freeland.
Song, "The Flight of Ages," Mr. George Chandler.
Song, Miss Bella King.
Song, Miss Ruth Dawson.
Musical sketch, Mrs. R. J. Devey, Mrs. Greenslade, Messrs. Chandler and Greenhalgh.
Instrumental, Mr. Bennett.

Mrs. Greenslade assisted as accompaniste in a very able manner.

FILLING BETWEEN THE RAILWAY TRACKS

Engineer Makes Report on This—States It Is Unsatisfactory.

The City Engineer reported to the Board of Works last night regarding the filling in by the Street Railway between the rails. He stated that there were at the present time about two-thirds of the tracks not suitable to traffic although in places the tracks were up to the regulations. The material used, he reported, was not suitable and easily turned to mud or dust according to the weather.

Ald. Johnston moved, seconded by Ald. Wilson, that the chairman and Mr. Hay be a committee to wait upon the representatives of the Railway Company with regard to a better arrangement of filling in between the tracks.—Carried.

The Engineer also reported regarding the proposed trunk sewer from Smith street to Aylmer street along the Grand Trunk tracks. He thought that before this was done the city should find out whether the Grand Trunk intended lowering the grade at Smith street. He had asked the agent to find out but he had received no reply.

Ald. Johnston moved, seconded by Ald. Wilson, that the clerk be instructed to write Mr. Tiffin of the G. T. R. as to their intentions.—Carried.

In this report the Engineer also advised that the Parnell street sewer be constructed down the west side of Park street so as not to interfere with the proposed main sewer on the latter street.

TATE OPTICAL CO'Y
G. N. BABCOCK, Eye Specialist
412½ GEORGE STREET, PETERBOROUGH

UNSOLICITED TESTIMONY

The Tate Optical Co., Peterborough:

DEAR SIRS,—During the last three or four years (prior to May last) my eyesight had failed to such an extent that I was unable to read or see anything at close range and could get no Glasses that would help me. I tried two different Opticians in Toronto and was told by both that they could do nothing for me, and that my sight would never be better. A statement of my case was sent to Montreal by a Hastings optician and several pairs of Glasses sent me, but with the same result my vision could not be improved. Last May, while looking at a Pair of Glasses you made for Mr. John Fife, Keene, and talking with him he advised me to consult your Mr. Babcock, and I am pleased to say that the Pair of Glasses he made for me have given me entire satisfaction and I can do now what I have not done for years past—read any ordinary print and see distinctly at close range. I feel very grateful, not only for the interest you have taken in my case, but particularly so for the blessing of good eyesight. Thanks to your knowledge and skill.

Yours truly,
(Signed) JOHN CARTER, Sr.,

The Use of Malt Extract in Food

Cooked Wheat Treated With It and Then Baked Crisp and Brown Is Nutritious and Delicious.

Remarkable results are secured by treating whole wheat with malt extract, as is illustrated by that widely known food product, Malta-Vita, sometimes called "The Perfect Food."

In the preparation of Malta-Vita we have these two factors,—(a) the whole wheat, steamed and cooked in absolute cleanliness and containing every food element necessary to the sustenance of the human body, (b) pure malt extract containing all the nutrition of best selected barley in a readily digestible form, so nutritious and strengthening that doctors everywhere recommend it.

The malt extract, mixed with the cooked wheat, converts the starch of the wheat into maltose, or malt sugar, an active digestive agent. The result is a perfect food, rich in all the nutrition that builds up bone and blood, brain and muscle, healthy tissue and nerve force.

And Malta-Vita is good to eat. There's nothing like it, nothing that can take its place. After being mixed with the malt, the wheat is rolled into wafer-like flakes,—every grain a little flake—and then baked in great, clean ovens under most intense heat. From the ovens Malta-Vita comes crisp and brown, "done to a turn," the most delicious, the most healthful food in the world. All grocers, 10 cents.

Chambers Will Spend Six Years In Penitentiary

Is Sentenced to Three Years Each on Three Charges—The Two Sentences Will Run Concurrently, However.

A VERY HEAVY SENTENCE

Fred Chambers, alias Frank Cameron was sentenced to nine years in the Kingston Penitentiary for the assaults committed by him on three men in the Royal Hotel on the 17th of this month. Magistrate Dumble in pronouncing sentence, spoke as follows:— "Prisoner, there are here three charges against you for having wounded three men. You have pleaded guilty to these, and the circumstances give you no justification for your act. In a frenzy you slashed about you with an open knife. It is only a miracle that some one was not killed. Your past record is not good."

Past Career

Continuing, His Worship said:—"November 5th, 1889, you were convicted on a charge of theft and sentenced to four years in the Reformatory. On March 10th, 1899 you were convicted of attempted robbery and violence and committed to Kingston Penitentiary for 10 years. It is believed that you have been associating with professional thieves since you were released, and in Toronto you are suspected of being implicated in several robberies committed there. You have displayed dangerous proclivities and it is best that you should not be allowed freedom.

"On the first charge, that of wounding Levi Thorndyke, you are sentenced to three years in the Kingston Penitentiary."

Pretty Hard

"That's pretty hard, your Worship," Cameron answered.

"The way of the transgressor is always hard," said Mr. Dumble.

Cameron said that he had been badly cut up and in self-defence.

"In the King case," resumed His Worship, "you are sentenced to three years following the first three." Cameron answered not a word.

"In the Blezzard case you are sentenced to three years to run concurrently with the three in the King case. On the charge of having assulted Police Officer Meharry, while doing his duty, I will ask that the charge be withdrawn."

Cameron took his sentence stolidly and made no further remarks. He was taken to his cell, and will be removed in a short time from the city in a short time from the city. Though sentenced to nine years, the fact of two three-year terms running concurrently makes the actual time of confinement six years.

King and Blezzard Present.

The large crowd that was present strained their necks to have their morbid curiosity satisfied, when King and Blezzard exhibited the wounds received from Cameron's knife. Blezzard had a slight wound over his right eye and King had a long, ugly wound along his right jaw and throat and a cut under right temple. Thorndyke it is learned is improving rapidly and will soon be around again.

"LET ME GO BACK TO MY DEAR OLD OTONABEE"

Richard Geary Asked of Magistrate Dumble and the Latter Did Not Say "No, No."

Whiskey is the cause of perhaps ninety per cent. of the police court cases, and this morning was no exception to the rule. Cameron was drunk, when he did the stabbing, and several young men appeared this morning on a charge of disorderly conduct, also while under the influence of liquor.

David Hoban was fined $2 for disorderly conduct in a public place. He was also intoxicated.

Old and feeble, and yet with a liking for strong drink, Richard Geary appeared before Magistrate Dumble on a charge of having been drunk in a public place yesterday. Asked as to his guilt, he said, with a sigh, "Oh, I guess I'm guilty; but if your Lordship will let me go once more I will leave the city and get out to my sister's place in Otonabee."

Let Me Go Back

"I must go back to that dear old Otonabee, and I will not appear here again; I will even walk the track."

Magistrate Dumble remarked that those persons who are leaving poison lying around should be careful.

He decided to let Geary have another trial and the latter departed, saying, "It's my old head that should be knocked off, sure it is!" and thanked "His Lordship" profusely.

Robert Gibson was also drunk in a public place a day or two ago. He pleaded guilty and must pay a fine of two dollars within the next ten days.

Two young men pleaded not guilty to having been drunk and disorderly on Tuesday night last on the corner of Hunter and George streets. P. C. Newhall who arrested them, gave evidence against the two, and the witnesses called by the accused proved that they had been guilty of acting contrary to the law, and then the Magistrate imposed a fine of $5 each, which they paid forthwith.

SEWER CONNECTION FOR DICKSON CO'S LOTS

oint Committee of Council and Board of Health Taking Up the Matter.

The question of how the Dickson Co.'s property is to be provided with sewer connections is being taken up to-day by a joint committee of the City Council and Board of Health. Members of both bodies visited the property in question, which is on Waterford street, this morning, and discussed what means must be employed in order to do what is asked by the Dickson Co. The committee is meeting this afternoon and what can be done in the matter. It would be a pretty difficult proposition to provide a sewer for the property from Water street on account of the big drop in the level of the property.

HALLS BRIDGE CHURCH HONOURS BRIDE

Mrs. Elliott Given Handsome Silver Service by Members of St. Matthew's Church Following Her Wedding.

A VERY POPULAR ORGANIST

An interesting event took place yesterday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. Cookson, Aylmer street, when, following the wedding ceremony, in which the principals were Miss Purser and Mr. Elliott, a presentation of a handsome silver service, suitably engraved, was made to the bride on behalf of the congregation of St. Matthew's church, Hall's Bridge. Mrs. Elliott was for a number of years the organist of the church, and her services have been freely given in the interests of the church.

Immediately after the ceremony Mr. A. Bagshaw, the lay reader of St. Matthew's church, in a few words expressed the regret of the members of that church as well as those of the community in general at the departure of the bride, and, on their behalf read the following address:—

Miss Charlotte E. Purser:

Dear Miss Purser,—We the members of St. Matthew's church cannot allow you to sever you connection with our congregation, without an expression of the esteem and regard in which you are held by all of us.

You have been our organist since the church was built, and your faithful attendance and careful attention to your sacred duties have helped us render the beautiful services of our Church in an appropriate manner.

In all branches of work in the parish you have taken a leading part, and it is largely due to your efforts that we are now free from mortgage debt and will be able to turn our financial efforts towards other and more congenial objects.

We wish you rich blessings and great happiness in your new home, and wherever you may be remember you leave warm and affectionate hearts behind you.

We ask you to accept this gift as a slight memento of your friends in this community. Its value consists not in its intrinsic worth but in the kind sentiments which accompany it. Our prayers will follow you.

Signed on behalf of the congregation.

A. BAGSHAW,
Reader in charge.
M. J. McILMOYLE,
R. J. HILL,
Church Wardens.

April 24th, 1907.

The presentation of the handsome silver service, which constituted the gift of the Hall's Bridge people, was made by Rev. Canon Davidson, who, in making it referred to the fact that in his capacity as rural dean of the deanery he had frequently heard of the splendid work of the bride in connection with the church with which she was associated. Under conditions which were at times discouraging, she had worked, rendered most effective service and her place would be very hard to fill. She would be long remembered by the people of the community in which she had lived and she would be followed to her new home by their most hearty wishes for happiness and success.

On behalf of Mrs. Elliott, Mr. Edward J. Cookson acknowledged the gift in an appropriate reply. He assured the Hall's Bridge people that the recipient would never forget this kindness, eloquent evidence of which was furnished by the handsome gift, which she would always cherish and prize because of the love she bore for those who had asked her to receive it.

Nurse Tells Of Eczema Cure

Mrs. C. Stanley Jones, professional nurse, 283, Simcoe street, Toronto, writes: "In my occupation as nurse I have come across many cases in which Dr. Chase's Ointment has been used with extraordinary results. One case is that of a sixteen months old child who was cured of scald head and another that of a woman cured of eczema on the face after the doctors had given 'her up!'"

STRYCHNINE EJECTED FROM DOG'S STOMACH

Dr. Poole Saves Life of His Black Collie —Professional Men Quarrel

The dog poisoner was again at work to-day, and it was not his fault that Dr. R. R. Poole, V.S., Water street, did not lose his valuable black collie. About 2 o'clock the dog came into the house and was given some rice pudding for dinner. Shortly after he stiffened out, apparently to die from effects of poison, but the doctor administered a hypodermic which caused the animal's stomach to eject its contents.

A small piece of meat was among the contents, in which Dr. Poole found strychnine poison. An Examiner representative this afternoon saw the meat and the traces of poison, which almost cost the life of the canine.

The controversy in regard to whether dogs are a nuisance or not had risen to such a pitch as to cause a quarrel between two professional men yesterday who ended their argument with blows.

MORE IMMIGEANTS PASS THROUGH CITY

Six coaches crowded with immigrants passed through the city this afternoon by C.P.R. These new contributions from England to Canada's population were for the most part a good looking body of men, as far as physique goes, and no doubt will develop into citizens creditable to themselves and to their new country. A number disembarked here and most of these had friends in this city, who had, as it were, prepared the way for them.

ROYAL Baking Powder preserves its leavening strength until used. The last spoonful in a can is as good as the first, and its work is always uniform. Housekeepers have been vexed when using other powders to find their work uneven. If good when fresh, before the can is empty they make sour or heavy food, and the flour, eggs and butter used therein are wasted. BURRIDGE LOST TO KID DUNN

Toronto Boy Won Last Night's Wrestling Bout, Getting Two Falls in Nine Minutes—Attendance Was Small.

BOXING BOUTS WERE TAME

The smoker in the old Opera House last night was attended by only a small crowd, and as a result, although a good programme was put on, it was not what would have been seen had the audience been larger. Manager Breen was at considerable expense in putting on the attraction, and it was unfortunate that it was not better patronized. It was thought that, after the good programme given at the previous smoker, there would be a crowded house, but such was not the case.

The smallness of the crowd had its effect on the bouts, as the boxers, most of whom are entered in the Toronto city championships, which begin in Toronto to-night, refused to mix it up very much when the terms offered them could not be given.

The wrestling bout between "Kid" Dunn, the welterweight champion of Canada, and Harry Burridge, of this city, was the main attraction of the evening and was a hummer while it lasted. The Toronto man won in straight falls, throwing Burridge in three and six minutes, respectively. The local boy made a good showing against the champion, who has never been thrown and who has lately been taking on all comers. He made Dunn exert himself and got out of some bad situations in a way that brought applause from the crowd. There is nothing about the wrestling game that Dunn doesn't know, and that Burridge could hold him off for nine minutes is a credit to him. The local boy ran had out little experience in the wrestling game, but is young, and should come on fast. He is strong and quick, and should have a good career on the mat.

The first fall came in three minutes. After Burridge had cleverly gotten away from a half Nelson, Dunn succeeded in turning him over with a hammerlock and bar hold. The second bout was longer, with Dunn on the aggressive for the most part, and Burridge showing considerable skill in defensive work. Finally the Toronto man slipped a half Nelson on the local boy and his shoulders touched the mat.

Mr. Eugene Hurtubise, heavyweight champion of Canada, refereed the bout to the satisfaction of both parties.

Daley vs. Burns

Tommy Daley of Toronto and Cornie Burns of Peterborough boxed four lively rounds in which honours were about even. Daley, who boxes tonight in Toronto for the city championship, showed himself to be decidedly clever in defence work and contented himself for the most part in holding off Burns, who did most of the leading, and fully held his own with the clever Toronto boy. The men had agreed that if both were on their feet at the end of the bout no decision would be given.

Christie vs. Lovett

"Kid" Lovett of Ottawa and Charlie Christie, the 125-pound champion of Toronto, boxed four rounds, in which neither of them showed much inclination to mix it up. The fact that the smallness of the attendance made it impossible to put up the terms offered was no doubt responsible for this, and the men went on and gave a friendly exhibition. Christie showed himself to be easily the superior, getting in three blows to Lovett's one. If he had wanted to he could easily have knocked out the Ottawa "Kid."

"AMATEUR ATHLETICS" SUGGESTIONS

In Reference to the Y. M. C. A. Athletic Meet to be Held Shortly—He Wants More Information.

Sir—We should like further particulars of the athletic contest. The order in which the events are to be decided, and other particulars, should be stated. We think that the programme ought to be taken from some amateur club's annual meeting. There ought to be running high jump, hurdle race, and perhaps a bicycle race, or five-mile run to finish.

Yours truly,
AMATEUR ATHLETIC.

The above post-card letter was received this morning, and is rather obscure. It is presumed, however, that it refers to the athletic contest in connection with the Y.M.C.A., the announcement of which was made in the Examiner of yesterday. Probably the physical director of the association will be able to give "Amateur Athletic" the information desired.

CLOSING EXERCISES OF Y. W. C. A.

An interesting event will be the closing exercises in connection with the physical department of the Y.W.C.A., which will take place on the evening of Friday, May 3, and will be held in the gymnasium at the Y.M.C.A. There are over 100 members in this department, and it is expected that the majority of these will take part in the closing exercises, which will be of an interesting character.

Who Gets the Most Out of Life?

Not the wealthiest, not the most learned, nor the idler—but the man who has good health and works for his living. This truth is trite, but not trivial.

Every man should guard his health as his most valuable possession. The more so because health is easier to retain than regain.

Keep your grip on health by regular exercise, reasonable care in eating and requisite sleep. Take Beecham's Pills occasionally, to tone the stomach and keep the liver and bowels in good working order. And don't worry.

Observe these simple rules and you will agree that the one who gets the most from life is

BOWLING CLUB TO ELECT OFFICERS

Annual Meeting of the Lawn Bowlers of the City Will be Held on Wednesday Night.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club will be held on Wednesday night, May 1st, in the new Dominion Bank Chambers. On the ground floor of the new branch of this bank, chambers have been elegantly fitted up, and they will be used for meetings of this character.

At the annual meeting of the club the reports of the officers on the operations of the club during the past year will be presented, and the new officers will be elected. The present prospects are that the coming season will be the most prosperif the weather comes in fine, bowling in the city. The membership will in all probability be increased, and if the weather comes in fine bowling will start considerably earlier than was possible last year.

BASKETBALL MEN PLAY AT FOOTBALL

Great Game on Central Park Last Night —Some Exciting Plays.

The football match scheduled to take place last night between the basketball teams was played on Central Park and furnished an excellent hour's sport for the thirty or more football men who participated. The teams were chosen by Messrs. R. Best and R. Baker, and certainly embraced the best pigskin chasers in the city. The basketball players were often inclined to catch the ball, and Referee C. E. Sisson had some difficulty in teaching them a foul.

There was no half-time in the game, and it was stated that the score stood 3-1 in favour of Best's team at the finish.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

Thomas E. Shea, surrounded by a strong company, will play a special engagement at the grand opera house, next Monday and Tuesday, April 29th and 30th. On Monday he will present his beautiful Alsace-Loraine idyl, "The Bells," in which he will play his great characterization of the conscience striken wretch "Mathias," the beloved of the village. In the first act, as a vigorous young man, he gives the impression of manly strength that is admirable; but one would hardly think it was the same person in the second act after fifteen years of remorseless torture by conscience, having murdered the Polish Jew, the awful weight of the crime of having murdered the Polish Jew. Mr. Shea's portrayal of this great character is full of power. Passion seems to be second nature to him, and its slightest phases are stamped indelibly on the minds of his audience. Tuesday evening Mr. Shea will be seen in a widely different character, that of Napoleon, in a magnificent scenic production of Channing Pollock's latest success, "Napoleon the Great."

ROYAL HOTEL IS NOT DISORDERLY

Magistrate Concluded That Mr. Kelly Tries to Keep a Quiet House to the Best of His Ability.

HIS STATEMENT OF FIGHT

Jas. Kelly, proprietor of the Royal Hotel, was discharged this morning as there was not sufficient evidence to show that he was guilty of permitting disorderly conduct in his house. In fact, Magistrate Dumble thought that he tried to keep a good hotel, and in any bar-room there is always a certain amount of excitement, due to the effects of the drink the men imbibe.

Mr. McWilliams said that the Chief had handed him two specific cases in which Kelly is alleged to have allowed disorderly conduct in his house. Regarding the general reputation of the house, he said, "I still object to this vague accusation, and which I do not think comes under the Act."

Magistrate Dumble took as an analogy a bawdy house, where the general reputation is always considered. Mr. McWilliams said that the difference is that the one is a private house and the hotel is public, and anyone can enter at will. The case was then proceeded with. The dates on which disorderly conduct was carried on were April 3 and 17. Chief Ramsel and Mr. McWilliams called out about 25 or 30 witnesses and had them go into the Council Chamber until needed. Then the scene of many wordy civic debates was "pro tem" occupied by the witnesses, who had to be cautioned several times to keep quiet.

P. C. Meharry

Police Officer Meharry stated that on April 3, in the evening, he was called to the Royal Hotel and found a crowd of people around the place, in the halls and in the bar. Mr. Kelly was behind the bar. The latter said that he did not know who was doing the fighting, but that there was a whole bunch of them in the "scrap." A window pane was broken in the front door, blood was on the pavement, and a man was badly cut up in the yard. Witness said, "I have been frequently called to this house. We have had almost more trouble from this hotel than all the others put together."

The chief then read charges that had been laid against men who had been fined for disorderly conduct in the house on Wednesday, April 3.

P. C. Newhall

Police Officer Newhall stated that he had not been called to Kelly's during April, but that the police got more calls to the Royal Hotel than to any other.

James O'Keefe

Witness was sworn, and stated that he lived on Lansdowne street, and on the 17th April was working for Mr. Kelly, building a foundation. There was a row in the hotel that day, but he did not know the circumstances.

Patrick King

Patrick King was called and gave an account of what happened at the Royal Hotel on the day of the stabbing. Witness said that he had boarded in the hotel during the past three months. He did not see Cameron put out the back door, but when he came in again he was brandishing a knife, and witness was the first who came in contact with it. King said that he was drunk himself at the time.

Other witnesses were examined, but nothing new was brought out.

Mr. Dumble decided that he had heard enough and that the evidence was not conclusive. He therefore dismissed the case.

Mr. McWilliams asked that Mr. Kelly be allowed to give his version of the trouble with Cameron, as statements made by the latter had not been repudiated, and the public had heard only his account of the fray.

Mr. Kelly

Witness was sworn, and said that the first he saw of the trouble was Thorndyke and the bar-tender trying to put Cameron out. Kelly assisted in putting him out the back door. When he came in again witness ordered him out once more, and stated that he would call the police. Cameron said, "You would not have the police come up here; you would ruin your business." He stepped back and drew a knife. He was drunk, but did not receive any liquor in witness' hotel. He said with an oath, "Don't you lay hands on me or I'll rip you open." He turned and made for Thorndyke, struck at him, knocked him down and kicked him. Blezard attempted to lift him to his feet, when he received a slash. King walked in and saw how things were, and advised Cameron to quiet down, but the latter never said a word, and struck King two or three times. He then advanced towards the bar and made a lunge at witness, who dodged, and when this was repeated he struck Cameron on the head with a beer bottle.

This concluded the evidence.

THE BILEAN WAY TO HEALTH

Stomach and liver complaints and their symptoms — headache, indigestion, constipation, piles, blood impurities, etc.—cannot be cured by taking drugs which "overdrive" these organs. Yet that is what many quacks do! Bilean, on the contrary, help the organs to fulfil their functions. Bilean are composed of pure herbal extracts especially prepared in accordance with a valuable and unvarying formula, which is the sole property of the Bilean Co. They possess a perfectly natural action and do not cause discomfort, but gently stimulate and regulate all the functions of stomach, liver and bowels. A splendid spring blood purifier! All stores and druggists at 50c., or from Bilean Co., Toronto, for price.

SCOURING YOUR SCALP

Will Remove the Loose Dandruff Scales But It Won't Cure Dandruff

If your hair is brittle and thinning, you have dandruff. The mere scouring of the scalp of the loose scales won't cure dandruff, because dandruff is nothing but scales of scalp thrown up by a pestiferous little germ in burrowing its way to the root of the hair, where it saps the vitality, causing falling hair and, in time, baldness. Now, you can't stop dandruff nor falling hair, nor prevent baldness unless you destroy that germ; and the only preparation that can do it is the new scientific discovery, Newbro's Herpicide. In fact, no other hair preparation claims to kill the dandruff germ — all of them will clean the scalp, soap and water will do that; but only Newbro's Herpicide gets at the root of the trouble and kills the dandruff germ.

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to the Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. The Market Drug Store. Two sizes—50c and $1.

Peterborough Boy Who Won Many Scholarships

Rev. Fred. J. Sawers, M.A., Graduates From Diocesan College, Montreal, After Brilliant College Career.

HONOURS HE HAS WON

It is always a pleasure and pride to the Examiner to be able to record the success of "Peterborough boys" in whatever sphere of activity they exercise their talents and industry. A conspicuous example is Rev. Fred. J. Sawers, M.A. A programme of convocation of the Montreal Diocesan Theological College, Montreal, at which Rev. Mr. Sawers has completed his course with great success, is to hand. It shows that as preeminent was his standing in his course and examinations that he was selected for the honour of giving the valedictory address. He also won first-class honours, with an average of 81 per cent in the "aggregate prizes," receiving a prize of some $10 in books. He also won the Garth prize—Old Testament — representing $20 in books, and the Lobley prize—Dogmatics—$25 in books. He was also granted a "testamur." Thus, Rev. Mr. Sawers closes his educational career for his vocation, with the same brilliance and success that have marked it in all its stages—in the Public Schools, Collegiate Institute, and Trinity College, of which he is graduate. In his college course he was eminently successful, taking a very high standing and winning prizes and scholarships every year, that of his final year being a two-years' scholarship at the Montreal Diocesan College, where he has just concluded his studies with so much distinction. He was for about two years junior classical master in Trinity College School, Port Hope. He has done considerable mission work in the Northwest in vacation, and has for some time been curate to Rev. Dr. Symonds, Christ Church Cathedral, Montreal, pursuing his studies in connection with his church work, a circumstance which adds additional lustre to his success in the examinations and in his course at the Diocesan College. He is continuing his work with Rev. Dr. Symonds. If he repeats in his church work the successes that have marked his educational career, his future holds the greatest promise of fruitful service.

EDIBLE SNAILS A LUXURY IN PARIS

Paris, April 21.—Paris is menaced with a decimation of edible snails. The Department of Yonne, the principal source of supply, is demanding protection from the snail hunters, who have taken so many that the supply is failing. Houses at Auxerre, which used to send millions of snails to Paris, are now obliged to draw supplies from Switzerland. Yonne demands that a closed season be established by prefectoral decree. It also demands that selling of foreign substitutes be stopped.

LADIES' AID REPORTS A GOOD YEAR

At the Annual Meeting of the Mark Street Society Yesterday Good Progress Was Shown.

The Ladies' Aid Society in connection with the Mark Street Methodist Church is a live organization. At the annual meeting, held yesterday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. Robt. Baker, Charlotte street, reports for the year were presented, and that of the treasurer showed that during the past year over $300 was raised for the purposes of the society, and the year closed with a balance on hand of about $200. During the year considerable money was spent on improvements to the church and parsonage. One of the largest sources of revenue during the year was the Past and Present Tea, which was held last autumn, and from which a substantial sum was realized.

The officers elected yesterday were:

President—Mrs. Harry Gibbs.
Vice-President—Mrs. J. H. Smith.
Secretary—Mrs. Allan McCarthy.
Asst. Secretary—Mrs. T. Smiley.
Treasurer—Mrs. S. Taylor.
Floor Committee—Mrs. A. A. Fowler and Mrs. Robt. Baker.

Following the meeting, which was very largely attended and most enthusiastic, Mrs. Baker served refreshments to the ladies present.

A BRAINLESS ACT TO POISON DOGS

A Peterborough Boy in Montreal Gives His Views on This Question—Dogs Teach Humans a Lesson.

A Peterborough boy, at present living in Montreal, contributes the following letter on the now famous dog question:

To the Editor of the Examiner.

Dear Sir,—I have read in the Examiner about the abuses of the dogs by means of poison, and the goodness of dogs. I am one of the many who have had their dogs poisoned, and the person, or persons, who did this thoughtless, thankless and cruel act could not, nor have not, as much brains as one could carry away on a toothpick. Evidently, the doer of these dastardly acts never owned a dog, and, therefore, does not know what a friend he is, and, he certainly should not. You would wonder why the poisoner would spend a little bit of money buying meat to poison dogs if it is done in this way. I don't believe that, if the dog knew that the doer of these acts had some real fresh meat in his house, he would go near such a home for fear of getting a taste of a little "Chicago potted meat." Isn't it funny that the dog's mind is greater and more intelligent than a poisoner of dogs? Odd, but true—as all dogs are true to men—but not as such men are to dogs.

Thanking you for your valuable space, I remain,

A DOG LOVER.

SERIOUS INJURY FROM HORSE'S KICK

Joseph McGinley, Who Lives Near Bobcaygeon, Had a Narrow Escape—Rendered Unconscious.

On Thursday afternoon Joseph McGinley, son of Mrs. Patrick McGinley, on the Bobcaygeon road, about two miles north of Lindsay, was found by his brother trying to make his way on his hands and knees from the stable to the house. When taken there he became unconscious for a time. It appears that he had been kicked by one of the horses that he was looking after. He is recovering.—Lindsay Watchman-Warder.

THE STEAMER "RAINBOW" ARRIVES IN PORT

First to Reach Wolfe Street Wharf This Year—Water Lily Left for Hastings

The steamer Rainbow, under the command of Captain F. Burnett, of Birdsall's Landing, Rice Lake, was the first boat to arrive in port this spring, arriving here Wednesday night with a scow load of hogs from Harwood, for the George Matthews Co., and left again yesterday morning with a mixed cargo for Harwood and other lake ports. She will return on Saturday with passengers.

The Water Lily left yesterday for Harwood with a general cargo, and also a scow load of lumber billed for Hastings. She will run her regular Saturday lake and river trip with passengers for the market.

CHURCH WILL HOLD ANNUAL MEETING

First Church of Christ Scientists to Elect Officers at Meeting To-night.

To-night the annual meeting of the members of the First Church of Christ Scientist will be held at the church on Aylmer street. At this meeting the officers for the year will be elected, and the selection of a reader will in all probability be made. After the local church has made its selection, the action is submitted to the mother Church in Boston for ratification.

WILLIAM McGEE WAS FINED FIVE DOLLARS

Was Arrested Yesterday Morning and Appeared in Court in the Afternoon.

William McGee, who was arrested yesterday on the charge of robbing Hi Majesty's mail driver, James Reid, a few nights ago, appeared before Magistrate Dumble yesterday afternoon. The charge was changed to that of assault, and McGee pleaded guilty. He was fined $5, to be paid in ten days. The account of his arrest was given in yesterday's issue.

LINDSAY HAS SOME CANINES, TOO

Post Thinks That Town is About as Much Over-run With Homeless Dogs As Peterborough.

Referring to the statement made in a local paper that Peterborough was a "canine cursed city," the Lindsay Post says: "Well it may be, but we think that Lindsay that the Otonabee city beats by a big percentage. Back north, the rule is the poorer the master the more dogs he gathers about him; measured by the same standard, the poverty in Lindsay is remarkable. At any rate most of the dogs are miserable, if the owners are not."

This has been done because there are no men on the road away from home at Lindsay now over night, and consequently sleeping accommodation formerly furnished for that class by the Y.M.C.A., is not needed.

Women Obtain Mrs. Pinkham's Advice and Help.

She Has Guided Thousands to Health. —How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Cured Mrs. Fred Seydel.

It is a great satisfaction for a woman to feel that she can write to another telling her the most private and confidential details about her illness and know that her letter will be seen by a woman only.

Many thousands of cases of female diseases come before Mrs. Pinkham every year, some personally, others by mail. Mrs. Pinkham is the daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham and for twenty-five years under her direction and since her decease she has been advising sick women free of charge.

Mrs. Pinkham never violates the confidence of women, and every testimonial letter published is done so with the written consent or request of the writer, in order that other sick women may be benefited as she has been.

Mrs. Fred Seydel, of 412 North 54th Street, West Philadelphia, Pa., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"Over a year ago I wrote you a letter asking advice, as I had female ills and could not carry a child to maturity. I received your kind letter of instructions and followed your advice. I am not only a well woman in consequence, but have a beautiful baby girl. I wish every suffering woman in the land would write you for advice, as you have done so much for me."

Just as surely as Mrs. Seydel was cured, will Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cure every woman suffering from any form of female ills.

If you are sick, write Mrs. Pinkham, Lyan, Mass., for special advice. It is free and always helpful.

SOME FAMOUS CROSSES

MEMORIALS ERECTED BY EDWARD I. FOR SPANISH QUEEN.

Eleanor Died Whilst on Journey to Scotland—Body Brought to London by Easy Stages — Crosses Marked Resting Places—Only Three Remain —Carving on Them Elaborate in Some Cases.

There are few more interesting memorials in England than the crosses which yet remain of the original 12 erected by Edward I. to the memory of his consort, Eleanor of Castile. These memorials, though termed crosses, bear little resemblance to a genuine cross and were erected to mark the various stopping places of the cortege that accompanied the body of the Queen during the journey from the town of Harby, where she died, to London, where the interment took place. Charing Cross is one of these memorials, or rather a copy of the original, though it is unlikely that one in a thousand persons has even bothered to penetrate the cab rank at this point to study the shields and figures.

King Edward's Mission.

In the autumn of 1290 King Edward I. started in haste on a mission of state to Scotland, leaving the Queen to follow more leisurely. On the way she contracted a low fever and died after a month's illness at Harby.

Her body was removed to Lincoln, where the first funeral masses were said, and where a monument is yet to be seen of her. Then on Dec. 4 the long procession set forth for Grantham, following, in all probability, the wide Roman road which runs parallel with the present road along the cliff almost into Grantham.

The original cross here, which was destroyed by Puritan fanatics in 1645, is said to have been erected on St. Peter's Hill, near to where the statue of Newton now stands. Down in the square opposite the Angel Inn, is a tall, white obelisk purporting to be a memorial of the old cross.

The next day's journey was from Grantham to Stamford, along 21 miles of the dreariest road in England. At Stamford the procession halted, and a cross was erected in the vicinity of the Scotgate.

After the halt at Stamford the procession deserted the main road to the south, and bore away to the right hand, along the high ground bordering the Welland, and passing Colly Weston, Bulwick and Weldon, halted for the night at Geddington, a royal palace, and in those days the place seems to have been of no little importance.

From Geddington to Northampton is thirteen and a half of the loneliest miles in England. To this day along the whole stretch there is only one village, and even single houses are extremely few in number. The oldest part of Kettering Church was just erected when Queen Eleanor's funeral train passed over the hilly ground on its way to Northampton. It is probable that as Geddington waned in importance its neighbor town rose into prominence.

To get to the Northampton Cross coming from Kettering, it is necessary to pass through the town and down the hill of the London road, crossing the railway line close to Bridge street station. From this point the way lies up a rather steep hill, running alongside the wall of Delapre Park, and at the top of this hill is the cross.

Has Been Restored.

Like the one at Waltham, it is based on octagonal lines. The steps show manifest sign of restoration, and, as at Geddington, anything in the shape of a cross is conspicuous by its absence. The broken shaft surmounting the erection may have had a cross originally, or may have ended in a group of points, as at Geddington. But, so far as position goes, the Northampton cross is incomparably the finest of the three which remain. That at Waltham is in the centre of a busy street, at Geddington the same remark applies, but in this case the monument is on the top of a high hill, from whence the country round can be seen for many a mile. The figures of the Queen are badly weatherworn—more so than at Geddington; but still they show the figure and costume well, and are of the greatest possible interest.

From Northampton the procession journeyed on to Stony Stratford, and thence down the Watling street to Woburn, Dunstable and St. Albans. In neither of these places are any relics to be seen of the crosses which are known to have been erected, and in the case of Dunstable it seems that there is considerable doubt as to where the cross did stand.

From Dunstable to St. Albans is a comparatively short stage in the way—not more than ten or eleven miles. At St. Albans once again the sorry tale of destruction has to be repeated, and the site of the cross, if known, is unmarked by any sort of stone. After St. Albans came one of the sudden swerves which are such a puzzling feature when the route is studied, and so it comes that Waltham Cross has to be added to the list. Waltham Cross is much on the lines of the Northampton one, but lacks the importance given by the situation. Charing Cross was the last, and it has been suggested that a graceful recognition of the alliance recently consummated between the royal houses of Spain and England would be the removal of this memorial to the Spanish consort of the first Edward to a more conspicuous and better place.

WEALTH OF THIS EMPIRE.

Food For Reflection for Chronic Croakers and Pessimists.

Few people are able to realise the immense wealth which is every year produced from the 11,314,000 square miles which comprise the British Empire. Some remarkable figures, from which some idea of this can be obtained, are to be found in the Statistical Abstract of the British Empire, issued in the form of a yellow book.

Calculations from the figures obtained therein show that within the past ten years the Empire has yielded to its inhabitants the following:

Coal	£970,000,000
Diamonds	55,000,000
Gold	288,000,000
Silver	10,000,000
Copper	28,000,000
Tin	64,000,000

Farther Products.

In addition to these little items, which represent a total wealth of £1,415,000,000, the Empire has also provided within the ten years the following valuable products:

Iron ore, tons	115,000,000
Pig iron, tons	95,000,000
Wheat, bushels	4,850,000,000
Barley, bushels	970,000,000
Oats, bushels	3,400,000,000
Maize, bushels	370,000,000
Wine, gallons	110,000,000
Tea, pounds	3,600,000,000
Coffee, pounds	420,000,000
Raw sugar, cwts.	560,000,000
Rubber, pounds	103,000,000
Cotton, pounds	12,000,000,000

Not All Yet.

This by no means exhausts the wealth that is produced from and on the land of the Empire. Among its other possessions are:

Horses	7,000,000
Horned cattle	118,400,000
Sheep	152,000,000

It is interesting to note that the sheep produce between them 872,000,000 pounds of wool every year.

BRITISH PARSIMONY.

French Paper Bemoans Weakening of England's Naval Supremacy.

A remarkable article in the Siecle, Mode Lanessan's organ, a moderate radical newspaper, speaks thus of the recent economics practiced by Great Britain in regard to the navy:

Highly Dangerous.

"The close sympathy which unites us to the English people permits us to express a frank opinion and to appear to us to be highly dangerous for Great Britain suddenly to cease her magnificent effort to assure still more completely her naval supremacy. The policy which England followed only yesterday, which included what is called the two-Power standard, and permitted the country to contemplate with calmness the eventuality of a coalition against her of the two strongest naval powers, appears to have been abandoned, although other powers continue to strain every nerve to increase the strength of their fleets.

Impairs France's Safety.

"A stoppage in the development of the British navy is, therefore, a very dangerous act, for it facilitates enormously the game of coalitions, and makes their formation more probable. This is a question which, of course, interests Great Britain more than France, although England's naval power is one of the guarantees of our own security. But if it is not for us either to approve or to blame, it is all the same our duty to call attention to what is happening, and to express the opinions which events inspire."

Travel Free.

"Conductor," said the gasping passenger, vainly trying to raise a window, "there are at least a billion microbes in this car."

"You ought to be able to stand that if the company can," growled the street car conductor. "We don't get a blamed cent for carrying 'em."

Lies Low.

"Of course she doesn't like discussions about ages."

"No. Usually when she's queried about hers she just says nothing, but lies low."

"Yes, or if she says anything she lies low."

Convenient.

"So you have three pairs of glasses, professor?"

"Yes. One pair to read with, another for nearsightedness and a third pair to look for the other two with."

BRITISH IMMIGRANTS

SOME OF THE NEWCOMERS NO GAIN TO CANADA AT ALL.

Mr. Adams Makes Some Suggestions For Bettering Our Immigration Service — Fresh Arrivals Prefer Town to Country Life—Will Not Go On the Farms—Not Sufficient Attention Paid to Rural Districts.

In the current number of the Empire Review Mr. Gerald Adams, who was a delegate from the Canterbury Chamber of Commerce to the Congress of Chambers held in Montreal in 1903, makes some excellent suggestions for the bettering of our immigration service in the United Kingdom. He has evidently given careful study to the question, for he is not misled by the increase in our British immigrants into any false estimates of the real gain to this country. The saying that in numbers there is strength may be questioned when it is applied to some of the swarms that have come across the sea to recruit our population.

Are a Minus Quantity.

Scores of thousands of these newcomers are a minus quantity instead of a gain, a weakness rather than a strength to Canada. In the West, where we want tillers of the soil, the acreage under cultivation has by no means expanded commensurately with the population. But there has been a very striking increase in the number of inhabitants of the towns and cities of the Western interior provinces. A very large proportion of the immigrants from the Western States and from Northern Europe went on the soil, but the people from Southern Europe and many from the United Kingdom preferred life in the towns and cities. If all were productively engaged there they would be a source of wealth to the country only second in value to the farming class.

Many Undesirables.

But in the towns of the West as well as those of the East the exceptionally good times we have enjoyed for years afford opportunities for hangers-on and parasites who contribute nothing to the country's output. Mr. Adams does not deal with the distribution of the population in our West, but he sees clearly enough that among the people arriving in Canada from the British Isles there are too many "undesirables," men fit neither morally nor physically to be admitted into the population of this country, loafers and whiners, who would do no good anywhere. In the opinion of Mr. Adams, one reason for the percentage of this element being so large is that the rural districts of Britain are practically ignored by our immigration agents, nearly all of whose efforts are exerted through city offices.

Go to Rural Districts.

Naturally, therefore, it is from the cities we get far the greater part of our immigrants. Mr. Adams is convinced that the British rural districts would furnish us exactly the kind of useful immigrants we want if the means of learning something about Canada were put in their way. He says that men brought up to agricultural pursuits, and with savings amounting to from £100 to £500, abound in the United Kingdom, where so small a capital is of little help to them. With their training, their small accumulations of cash, and their wives, daughters, and sisters schooled in the household duties of farming, Englishmen of that type established on homesteads in Canada would be able to improve their lot immeasurably, and would be a real acquisition to the country.

Cheap Farms In West.

In our West, as Mr. Adams truly remarks, such an agriculturist would be able to buy a farm, already broken up, for a sum equal to about two years' rent of a property of similar size in England. But the British small farmer, who has nothing to look forward to but hard work and more onerous conditions, knows little or nothing about the grand opportunities of this country. Our immigration agents do not give him their attention. They find it easier to work in the thickly-settled towns. Mr. Adams advises that the Dominion Government establish agencies in the heart of each rural district. "A smart man," he says, "with his heart in his work and the bump of organisation properly developed, could accomplish wonders in emigration propaganda."

Canada and the West Indies.

In reference to the recent visit of the Canadian Board of Trade delegation to the West Indies, the Georgetown (Demerara) Argosy says: Although the visit of the delegates from Canada was even shorter than was originally feared, yet it was surprising how much interchange of opinion and mutual enlightenment was achieved in the time. One worthy son of the Dominion for instance is now convinced from the evidence of his own eyes that the inhabitants of Georgetown wear clothes. Before leaving Halifax he had his doubts. Another is satisfied that his conception of British Guiana as steeped in the calm stagnation of the middle ages was wrong; and he very fairly admits that in some matters—small, they may be—requiring intelligent enterprise and commercial acumen, Canada has perhaps a hint or two to take from the West Indies. It is pleasant to hear these things. It brings us all more to a level and makes talking so much easier. It is difficult to keep up conversation with a man on a pedestal. On the other hand, our visitors gave us a lesson in businesslike discussion.

Perpetual.

"Well, how is your love affair progressing?"

"I've been told that I may hope."

"Indeed? That's everything."

"Well—er—she doesn't seem to think it's anything but hope."

A Mean Retort.

"He said he would die for me."

"He must be dead easy."

Laws are made by old people and by men. Youths and women want the exceptions, old people the rules.—Goethe.

Most Wonderful Cave in the World.

The most wonderful cave in the world is in the island of Tonga, in the south Pacific. Byron called it "a chapel of the seas." It is formed in a rock that is almost surrounded by the ocean. This rock is about sixty feet high and broad proportionately. Many years ago a boy, the son of a native chief, was chasing a huge turtle, when his game seemed to sink into the rock. The lad watched and waited until the tide fell, disclosing a small opening in the rock about six feet under low water mark. Diving boldly, the young hunter entered the aperture and, to his surprise, came to the surface inside the rock. The rock was hollow, and its interior was found afterward, when the natives explored it with torches, to contain many beautiful stalactites. When attacked and followed by enemies, the natives, who know the secret, leave their canoes, plunge into the water and disappear. Their foes linger, astonished at their disappearance, for no person not acquainted with it would suspect that the rock was hollow.

Origin of Two Familiar Proverbs.

It was the habit of the great Greek painter Apelles never to let a day pass, however busy he chanced to be, without practicing his hand by tracing the outline of some object, a custom which has now passed into a proverb—"No day without a line." He also made it a rule, when he had finished a canvas, to exhibit it to the view of those who visited his studio, while he himself, hidden behind the picture, would listen to their comments. It is said that once a shoemaker censured him for having painted a pair of shoes with one latchet too few. Next day the shoemaker, revisiting the studio, saw that the painter had corrected the mistake. He then began to criticise the leg of the portrait, upon which Apelles came forward and reminded him that a shoemaker should not go beyond the shoes, a piece of advice which has also crystallised into a proverb, "Let the cobbler stick to his last."—Pliny the Elder.

At Sea in a Coffin.

It was the French assassin Lupi who escaped to sea from Cayenne in a coffin. He managed to get some nails, tar and cotton, and one dark night he got into the coffin shed. He selected a fine, stanch and seaworthy coffin and fastened the lid in order to turn it into a deck, leaving a cockpit sufficient to enable him to crawl in. He calked all the joints as well as he could, and when this work was finished he made a pair of paddles out of two planks. Then he brought out his craft with great precaution. Without much difficulty he reached the water's edge. Silently and slowly he proceeded in the hope of reaching either Venezuela or British Guiana, 150 nautical miles distant. Fortunately or unfortunately for Lupi, the steamer Abeille, returning from the Antilles, off Paramaribo picked him up, half drowned and almost in a fainting condition, and a few hours later he was in irons in his cell.

Too Long Winded.

The inhabitants of the Canary Isles, finding themselves oppressed by famine, sent to the governor of Galicia one of their head men as an ambassador. They advised him not to lose himself in long winded talk. He promised and kept his word. He took with him a large number of sacks, and, arriving at the town where the governor was on the circuit, he opened one of them before him, saying only these words: "It is empty. Fill it."

The governor ordered this sack and the rest to be filled with meal, but he said to the speaker: "You had no need to tell us that the sack was empty nor that it was necessary to fill it. We should have readily guessed that. Another time be briefer in your talk."

Look Into Space.

A young man whose eyes had been troubling him consulted a New York oculist. "What you want to do," said the specialist, "is to take a trip every day on the ferry or in New Jersey, Long Island—any place where you can see long distances. Look up and down the river, across fields or, if the worst comes to the worst, go on the top of a skyscraper and scan the horizon from that point. The idea is to get distance. You use your eyes a great deal and always at close range. You can't use them any other way in town. Even when not reading or writing the vision is limited by small rooms and narrow streets. No matter in what direction you look, there is a blank wall not far away to shut off sight."

There are signs of revolutionary violence in Servia, where King Peter's throne grows daily less secure.

The feeling is growing that the days of the present dynasty, which came to the throne after the murder of King Alexander and Queen Draga nearly four years ago, are numbered, and there is a revival of the suggestion that the crown may be offered to Prince Arthur of Connaught, nephew of King Edward.

A FATAL BLAZE AT THE SAULT

Pulp Mill Destroyed, and One Workman Killed During Fire.

LOSS ESTIMATED AT $200,000

Flames Started From Hot Journal Which Ignited Some Oil—Machines Were Going Till Floor Gave Way —New Plant Will Be Installed —Benjamin Schuartz Knocked Off Roof by a Stream.

Sault Ste. Marie, April 25.—The pulp mill No. 1 of Sault Ste. Marie Pulp & Paper Co. was destroyed by fire yesterday morning. The fire originated about three a. m. in the screening-room from a hot journal, which ignited the oil. Instantly the mill was filled with smoke and the night men rushed out, leaving the machinery running, which rumbled on until the burning floors let the heavy dryers fall into the water raceway below.

Benjamin Schuratz, who went on the roof to assist the firemen, was struck by one of the streams, knocking him off on another roof, causing his death.

The ground wood machinery will be a total loss, but the walls have not been injured to any extent.

The loss is estimated at $150,000, with $100,000 insurance.

George Millington, superintendent of the company, stated that the earning power of the mill had increased during the past year, and the present month would have exceeded any previous 30o records. A new plant will be installed as speedily as possible.

Insurance Losses.

D. C. Edwards left last night for the Soo to adjust the losses. Local insurance men think that the estimate of the loss is exaggerated. They say that the insurance carried totalled about $70,000, about $50,000 being on machinery. The companies interested are: London & Lancashire, Western, Hartford, Phoenix of Brooklyn, Montreal, Canada, London Mutual, Merchants, Standard, Phoenix of Hartford, Manitoba, Germans-American, Connecticut, Queen City and several others.

The total loss incurred by any single concern will not exceed $12,000.

ENGINES WERE FAULTY.

Steamer Arcadia Wrecked and Fourteen Lives Lost.

Manistee, Mich., April 25.—The steamer Arcadia, which left this port on the afternoon of April 12 for Two Rivers, was wrecked on the same night, and all hands on board were lost, but no suspicion existed until Tuesday that such was her fate.

Before starting Capt. May was warned of the approaching storm, which proved the worst in years, but he thought he could weather it. Although a small steamer she was short-handed, having but one pilot and one engineer.

William McMartin, of 681 Concord avenue, a personal friend of Captain Harry May, master and owner of the boat which has gone to the bottom with her entire crew, refused to leave port on the Arcadia because he declares her engines were in bad shape.

He is firm in his belief that the boat was entirely seaworthy in every respect, save for the condition of her engines, and that had they been in proper shape she would have ridden out almost any storm.

Three Young Women Killed.

Millville, N. J., April 25.—Three young women employed at a glass factory here were killed yesterday by the collapse of a smoke-stack, which crashed through a room in which they were working. Described As Murderess.

New York, April 25.—Mrs. Anasia de Massey, who is on trial, charged with having shot and killed Gustav Simon, her one-time employer, yesterday heard herself described to a jury as a murderess.

After several witnesses had testified about the wounds which caused Simon's death, and the office in which the tragedy took place, Rea Fauchere, cashier of the Queen Shirtwaist Company, was called to the stand and identified Mrs. de Massey as a former employe of the company.

Very little evidence was heard, and an adjournment was taken till to-day.

Purely Accidental.

Montreal, April 25.—The coroners completed an enquiry yesterday into the death of three persons, two women and a man, in the Canada Steam Laundry fire last week, and found that the starting of the fire was purely accidental, and that blame could not be attached to anyone connected with the place.

A Kentucky Revival.

MURDER ON BOARD SHIP.

Sailor Gets Twenty-Five Years For Killing Master-at-Arms.

New York, April 25.—Twenty-five years' imprisonment, 20 of which shall be at hard labor, is the sentence of the court-martial which recently tried Maurice Burke, a seaman attached to the cruiser Tennessee, for murdering James A. Douglass, chief master-at-arms, and assaulting and attempting to kill William McCool, master-at-arms, both of that vessel.

Burke's crime was committed on the night of Feb. 6 last, while the Tennessee was lying at the League Island navy yard, Philadelphia. He returned intoxicated after being given shore leave, and when summoned before his superiors, drew a revolver, killing Douglass and wounding McCool.

Frank Miner Found Guilty.

Binghamton, N. Y., April 25.—The jury in the trial of Frank Miner, charged with the murder of James Aaron Tobey, at Vestal, on Oct. 25, by shooting and then firing the house into which Tobey's body was dragged after death, to consume the remains, brought in a verdict yesterday afternoon of murder in the second degree.

THIRSTED FOR REVENGE.

Wanted Hubby Arrested for Eating With Another Woman.

Port Huron, Mich., April 25.—Mrs. Anna McClellan, lately from Mount Forest, Ont., rushed excitedly into the police station Tuesday evening and asked if she could have her husband arrested for eating with another woman. The police could not help her.

Mrs. McClellan is employed as a waitress in the Harrington Hotel. When her husband, accompanied by a woman, came into the dining-room and to her table, she refused to wait upon them.

She said she had trouble with her husband several months ago while living at Mount Forest.

Charge Failed.

Chatham, April 25.—At the spring assizes of the county court of justice here yesterday, Richard Bartram, aged 24, married, of St. Thomas, was acquitted of a charge preferred against him by Mrs. Edward McLean, of Tilbury.

Bartram testified that he did not even leave his engine on the night in question.

DEFENCE OF THE BRITISH EMPIRE

Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman On Britain's Obligation.

SIR WILFRID WAS SILENT

No Written Law—Colonies Simply Recognize Their Duty—Canada Does Not Favor Participation in Scheme —Gen. Botha on Naval Defence —Haldane's Imperial Territorial Force—Learned Lesson.

London, April 25.—It is noticeable that Premier Laurier has observed complete silence during the discussion of plans for defence at the sittings of the Imperial Conference, although every other Premier spoke on this subject. It is understood that Canada does not favor participation in the schemes for Imperial Defence.)

Gen. Botha, when the question of naval defence arose, said he could only give a pious opinion, since, on an historic occasion, Great Britain had barred the Transvaal's way to the sea.

The presence of Gen. Botha continues to supply the conference with some dramatic moments, as on Saturday, when War Secretary Haldane, sitting opposite and looking straight into Gen. Botha's eyes, confessed that Great Britain had entered upon the Boer war without adequate preparation, but that the lesson of preparedness had been well learned since by both the late and present Governments.

A Pertinent Question.

London, April 25.—In the House of Commons yesterday Premier Campbell-Bannerman stated he was unaware of any country which on the whole gives as favorable trade treatment to the self-governing colonies as did the United Kingdom. Harold Cox asked the Premier whether the British obligation to defend the self-governing colonies had ever been defined, and what reciprocal obligation the colonies had undertaken for the defence of the United Kingdom.

The Premier replied that the obligation of the United Kingdom to defend the Empire was independent of any written agreement. There seemed no doubt the colonies recognize an obligation to assist in the defence of the Empire as a whole.

Real Security Now.

In the House of Commons Mr. Haldane, Minister of War, said he was rejoiced to know the colonial Premiers had decided his army scheme was the best pattern of organization, "so that we should have an imperial territorial force which would give us real security."

PREMIERS BANQUETTED.

Laurier Says Labors of Conference Will Result In Good.

London, April 25.—(C. A. P.)—The M.P.'s in both Houses yesterday entertained to luncheon the Colonial Premiers. The interior of Westminster Hall was appropriately decorated, but did not present so brilliant a scene as on the occasion of the entertainment to the officers of the French fleet, two years ago. Prior to luncheon a reception was held, after which a procession was formed to the banqueting hall. Among the last to arrive were Sir Wilfrid and Lady Laurier.

The Prime Minister and practically the whole of the Cabinet and many other distinguished notabilities were present. The band played "The Maple Leaf Forever." After the usual loyal toasts, Premier Campbell-Bannerman proposed in appropriate terms the toast to "The Colonial Premiers," Balfour supporting.

Premier Laurier, responding, said no stranger could enter that hall without feeling respect and reverence, and without being oppressed by the ages, and chiefly by those which had done most for the liberty of mankind. The labors of the Colonial Premiers in this country would not be in vain, but would tend for good, and they would go back more impressed than ever with the sense of imperial unity, coupled with, and based on, local autonomy. Premier Botha also replied.

ROOK FELL UPON THEM.

One Man Killed and Another Seriously Injured at Parson's Camp.

Kenora, April 25.—An accident occurred at Parson's Camp, Canyon Lake, Tuesday morning whereby one Walter Smith, an Englishman, lost his life and another named McDonald was seriously injured. The men were engaged in drilling a hole in a large piece of rock which had been dislodged by the blast, when suddenly the rock above them slipped down upon them. Smith's remains were brought into town in the evening. McDonald was taken to the hospital.

FIREMEN'S NARROW ESCAPE.

Overcome by Poisonous Fumes on Burning Freight Steamer.

New York, April 25.—The harbor firemen had a hard fight yesterday, with a fire which destroyed the freight steamer Pioneer, causing a loss of $75,000. The Pioneer arrived here Tuesday night from Newark, N. J., with a miscellaneous cargo of cotton, jute, red lead, cylinders of oil, carboys of acid, and cylinders of carbonic acid gas for trans-shipment. The fire started while the steamer was lying at her pier in the North River. When the fire boats arrived she was almost entirely enveloped in flames. The noxious fumes and dense, black smoke which rolled up from the burning steamer made the firemen's work extremely difficult. They worked in relays, and several of them were overcome. The flames were prevented from spreading to the pier and other adjoining property.

SHOULD BE NATIONAL.

Suggestion That Board of Trade Open Office in Old London.

Ottawa, April 25.—At the meeting of the board of trade, the president, J. W. Woods, suggested that the Ottawa Board of Trade should become a national one, and one through which Dominion trade suggestions might emanate to the Government and mother country.

He suggested an office in the British capital, at which reliable information could be obtained regarding Canada and her affairs. He claimed that the laws of Quebec were more generous than those of Ontario to businesses.

STRANGLED WITH NECKTIE.

Berlin Tanner Ends His Life After His Arrest.

Berlin, April 25.—Michael Schaefer, tanner, about 61 years of age, who had been arrested by Chief O'Neill Tuesday evening for brutally assaulting his wife and family, while intoxicated, committed suicide shortly after 6 o'clock yesterday morning by strangling himself with the aid of his necktie. He was found about 3.30 o'clock by Constable Gerbrian lifeless. An inquest will be held.

Must Face a Jury.

Orangeville, April 25.—Walter Jackson, charged with being implicated in the death of his sister-in-law, Lizzie Wells, last summer, was brought before Judge McCarthy, who considered it a case for investigation before a jury, and declined to allow Jackson to re-elect to be tried before him. The case will therefore be heard before Chief Justice Falconbridge at the Assizes on the 13th of May next. Frank E. Hodgins, K. C., will represent the crown and James Walter Curry, K. C., with C. B McKeown, will have charge of the defence.

Arthur C. Douglass, the druggist who is accused in connection with the affair, will receive his preliminary hearing on May 20, and his case will likely be disposed of at the quarter sessions, which begin on June 11.

Jackson was readmitted to bail in the sum of $4,000.

Miners' Strike Settled.

Fernie, B. C., April 25.—Reports from most reliable sources give the assurance that the miners' strike has been settled.

It is known beyond doubt that an acceptable proposition was submitted by the miners to the operators, and although the official statement has not yet been given out, there is every reason to believe that the troubles are at an end.

Mackenzie King, when asked about the report, said that he hoped to give out an official statement to-day of a settlement.

Delegate to Dairy Federation.

Ottawa, April 25.—J. A. Ruddick, chief of the dairy division of the Department of Agriculture, has been appointed Canadian delegate to the International Dairy Federation at The Hague, Holland.

Earl Grey Offers Bulbs.

Ottawa, April 25.—Earl Grey has offered bulbs of plants to the children of Ottawa free if they will cultivate them in Ottawa parks and beautify the Capital in this way.

Excited Nerves, Twitching Muscles

SYSTEM EXHAUSTED BY WORRY AND LOSS OF SLEEP—PERFECT HEALTH THE RESULT OF USING

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food

Such cases as this make it impossible to doubt the restorative influences of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Mrs. E. J. Vanderburgh, of Eastern Welland avenue, St. Catharines, Ont., states: "For twenty-one years I was badly afflicted with heart trouble, nervousness and cramps in the limbs, also twitching of the muscles, and nervous headaches. I became weak, debilitated and emaciated. My condition was distressing and I was made worse through worry and loss of sleep.

"I tried a inspired remedies in vain, and, reading about Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, I decided to try it. After having used half a dozen boxes of this preparation, my old troubles had entirely vanished and I was enjoying better health than I had since girlhood. I am now past middle life and am in perfect health. I would not take worlds to-day and go back to my former state."

There is more or less mystery and doubt as to the specific action of many drugs, but it is positively and definitely known that Iron forms new, red corpuscles in the blood, or, in other words, makes rich blood, rich and nourishing.

But iron alone cannot be taken into a delicate stomach. The great secret of the success of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is the way iron is combined with certain other restoratives so as to make a preparation that can be used with the greatest benefit by even the most weak and delicate person.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is also slightly laxative as well as tonic in influence, and, while building up the system, restores the regular and healthful action of the digestive, filtering and excretory systems.

If you would enrich the blood, strengthen the nerves and replace weakness and disease with health and vigour, use Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, 6 boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.—2.

ANARCHISTS AT WORK.

"Reds" Accused of Firing Government Arsenals.

Paris, April 25.—It is generally believed that the fire which caused 3,000,000 francs damage at Toulon yesterday was the work of incendiaries. Fuses were found lying about, and just before the fire started the fire brigade was called away to the other side of the town. These facts cause suspicion.

Like Battleship Disaster.

This instance brings to mind the decision of the Senatorial Committee which investigated the disaster of the battleship Iena. The report expressed the conviction that it was not accidental.

During the last eighteen months there have been no fewer than six supposed accidents at the Toulon arsenal. The Forges et Chantiers de la Mediterranie, a private concern, opposite the arsenal, has been free from accidents all this time.

Hotbed of Anarchy.

The Government works have experienced many anarchistic upheavals since the eight-hour day labor first was agitated.

The fire lasted from midnight well into the day, and the arsenal was only saved by the superhuman efforts of the soldiers and sailors. Several lives were reported to be lost.

BOURASSA HITS BACK.

Replies to Laurier's Remarks About "Firebrands."

Ottawa, April 25.—Henri Bourassa, M. P., of Labelle, said yesterday:

"In Sir Wilfrid Laurier's reference to Canadian firebrands referred to in the cable despatches from London, I notice that he speaks of Mr. Bourassa 'and others.' I presume the latter reference is to Hon. Sydney Fisher's speech against preferential trade, in Montreal, on the day of the British general elections last year, and to Sir Wilfrid's own speech against the creation of an imperial council and the policy of imperial defence, delivered at the banquet of the Chambers of Commerce, in Montreal in 1904.

"Neither in Quebec nor elsewhere have I made use of any stronger language than these two honorable gentlemen employed on the occasions I have mentioned, but, of course, I have repeated my arguments outside of Quebec. The inference, therefore, would be that it is safer to be a "firebrand' in Quebec than an imperial statesman in London.

"However, I will endeavor to stick to my present modest policy, which is the same in Quebec, in Ontario or anywhere else in the empire."

Irish Will Compromise.

London, April 25.—The spirit of compromise is having effect on the prospects of the Irish council bill, and yesterday its supporters were more hopeful of reconciling the differences regarding the terms of the proposed measure.

The outlook has so far improved that Mr. Birrell, chief secretary for Ireland, was able to announce in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon that he hoped to be able to introduce the bill May 7.

Sifton Holds Seat.

Winnipeg, April 25.—The Brandon election trial closed yesterday, when the petition against Hon. Clifford Sifton and the cross-petition against R L. Richardson were both dismissed Proceedings were merely formal.

Hopeless, Confused and Depressed in Mind. Forgetful, Irresolute, Drowsy, Languid and Useless.

This disease assumes so many forms that there is scarcely a complaint which it may not resemble in one way or another. Among the most prominent symptoms are constipation, sour stomach, variable appetite, heartburn, water-brash, gas in the stomach and bowels, distress after eating, etc.

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS

is a positive cure for dyspepsia, and all diseases of the stomach, liver, bowels or blood. It stimulates secretion of the saliva and gastric juices to facilitate digestion, removes acidity, purifies the blood and tones the entire system to full health and vigor.

Mrs. M. A. McNeil, Brook Village, N.S., writes: "I suffered from dyspepsia, loss of appetite and bad blood. I tried everything I could get but to no purpose; then finally started to use Burdock Blood Bitters. From the first day I felt the good effects of the medicine. I can eat anything now without any ill after effects and am strong and well again."

CHARGES BAD FAITH TO WHITNEY

Mr. Fielding Defends Action In Regard to Petawawa Lands.

MR. BORDEN MAKES PROTEST

Minister Says Ontario Government Offered the Land at Nominal Rent—Wanted Niagara Camp Grounds In Exchange—Lessees Are Unreasonable — Will Appeal to the Courts If Necessary.

Ottawa, April 25.—The case for the Dominion Government in regard to the acquisition of lands at Petawawa for the purposes of militia training was stated in the House last night by Mr. Fielding. The question was raised by Mr. Borden, who, after summarizing a portion of the history of the negotiations, questioned the validity of the proceedings of the Federal Government, and declared that, even if in accordance with the law, they were tyrannical and oppressive. Mr. Fielding charged those who had supplied the leader of the Opposition with his information with having suppressed or omitted some of the most vital facts.

Offered to Lease Lands.

In a careful survey of the circumstances he read the correspondence which had taken place between the Militia Department and the Ontario Department of Lands, Mines and Forests, showing that the Government of Ontario in 1904 offered to lease the lands to the Militia Department for 99 years at a nominal rent. The Militia Department had been offered a free site for a camp at Kazabazua, in the Province of Quebec, but it decided to accept the Ontario offer. After the Federal Government had made all arrangements the Ontario Government turned round and suggested that part of the camp ground at Niagara, which is was proposed to abandon, should be given to the Province in exchange for the Petawawa lands.

Appeal to Courts.

That suggestion was not entertained by the Militia Department, whereupon the Ontario Government raised a cry about the timber licensees. The Minister of Militia entered into negotiations regarding the licensees, but found that the compensation demanded was exorbitant, one company wanting $68,000. "If," concluded Mr. Fielding, "the Ontario Government thought they had a grievance, the Federal Government were willing to leave the question to be determined by the courts."

Mr. Borden—Do you seriously charge the members of the Government of Ontario with not having acted in good faith?

Mr. Fielding—I think that I have showed the truth of that.

Proceeding, Mr. Fielding said that the question of the rights of the licensees was duly raised when the Ontario Government suggested Niagara land as a swap.

Vested Rights.

Mr. Boyce thought that the correspondence showed that the Government had recognized vested rights, inasmuch as in certain cases compensation had been paid before the latter were even investigated.

Mr. Macdonald described the hysterical resolution passed by the Ontario Government as a burlesque. Apparently, however, these claims were only made when the Whitney Government found their friends interested.

Dr. Sproule interrupted, and Mr. Macdonald, proceeding, said that if the hon. gentleman required further information he had better refer to the member for North Renfrew, who sat behind him. It was clearly shown by the recommendation of the Deputy Minister of Justice that it was intended that the rights of the timber licensees should be reserved, and in view of that fact the action of the Ontario Government was absurd.

The debate was carried on by Mr. Alcorn, Dr. Sproule and Mr. McCool and the matter dropped.

Supplementary Estimates.

The House went into supply and considered the supplementary estimates. Estimates for the Transcontinental Railway of $22,000,000 were passed. At the item of $5,000 for a commission to inquire into the remuneration and service of the civil officials. Mr. Fielding announced that the chairman would be Mr. J. M. Courtney, formerly Deputy Minister of Finance, and the other two member Mr. Thomas Fyshe, former manager of the Merchants' Bank, and Mr. N. Garneau, mayor of Quebec.

Estimates amounting to $27,000,000 were passed before the House adjourned.

NOT GOOD FOR CANADA.

Increased Postage to United States Questioned by Senator Ellis.

Ottawa, April 25.—In the Senate yesterday Senator Ellis brought up the increased postage to the United States, questioning the increase being in the best interests of the country.

The minimum rate on a Canadian newspaper to the United States was one cent a package. The good which the circulation of Canadian newspapers did in the United States was to be seen each year by the large number of Canadians from the United States who took part in homecomings held in the towns and cities throughout the Dominion each year. Under the new postal rates the country weekly which cost $1 would have to pay 25 cents a year postage, and the semi-weekly $1.04. The result would be a falling off in the papers going to the United States.

CRASHED INTO FREIGHT.

Chicago Express Wrecked and Many Are Reported Injured.

Pittsburg, April 25.—The Chicago express on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, which left this city for New York at 10.45 p.m., was wrecked last night near Bennet Station, on the West Pennsylvania division of the Pennsylvania Railroad, shortly after 11 o'clock.

Bennet Station is ten miles east of here. The express collided with a freight train.

Several persons are reported injured.

The passenger engine and the caboose of the freight train were demolished.

Minister and Miser.

Montreal, April 25.—Old Neil Brodie, one of the most eccentric characters Montreal has ever had, has passed away.

Formerly a minister of the Church of Scotland, he came to Canada years ago to escape the double liability he incurred as a large shareholder in the Glasgow Bank, which had failed. He preached for a time in Pictou County, N. S., and later drifted to Montreal, going into stock speculation. He was a shareholder in the Canadian Pacific and MacKays, and Montreal Street Railway, and owned a block of tenements in Griffintown, which were always in bad repair. He was known to pick up coal on the street and to rummage garbage barrels. He is known to be worth at least $100,000.

Boy of 13 Suicides.

Brockville, April 25.—The lifeless body of Ernest Perry, aged 13 years, was found hanging from a beam in a barn at Pitcairn Tuesday.

The parents of the boy are dead, and he had been making his home with a family at Pitcairn. It is alleged that he wanted to borrow a fishpole, and, on being refused, became downhearted. He took the pole, broke it in two and then went and hanged himself.

Lived 150 Years.

New York, April 25.—A despatch from Santiago de Cuba says: Antonio Infante, a negro, is dead, at the age of 150 years.

Despite his great age, the greatest recorded in modern times, he retained all his faculties unimpaired to the end.

Notorious Brigand Captured.

Warsaw, April 25.—A notorious brigand, Stan Lilaus Lia, the author of many crimes, has been captured at Lublin, ninety-five miles from here, mortally wounded, after the house in which he had sought refuge had been blown to pieces by artillery fire.

Blizzard In Montana.

Missoula, Mont., April 25.—Western Montana is experiencing a severe blizzard, and snow is falling rapidly. On the Flat Head Indian Reservation the snow is already 6 inches deep.

Tramps In England.

A committee appointed by the British Parliament to investigate the tramp problem in England estimates that in seasons of depression there are 80,000 tramps in the country, and that it is never less than half that number. Tramps are everywhere and constitute an eyesore. They are considered to be vehicles of infectious diseases. Legislation by Parliament to regulate and mitigate the evil is recommended, though no solution of the problem short of finding employment and paying better wages is regarded as possible.

American Regard For Women.

Toward women the American man's attitude is fine. She is neither his deity nor his doll. He simply treats her with deference. His chivalry has as little to do with saccharine utterances, scraping feet and bended knees as has his patriotism with hysterical shriekings and the waving of ensanguined flags.—Lippincott's.

One's Point of View.

"I liked that play we saw last night because it has a happy ending."

"Why, man, the husband in it terrorizes his wife into trembling and silent submission and ends by killing his mother-in-law!"

"I said it had a happy ending."

A REQUEST MADE FOR EMIGRANTS

Colonies Seek Imperial Aid In Securing Britishers.

CANADA REMAINS SILENT

Dominion Delegates Take No Part In Discussion — Resolution Moved at Conference—New Zealand Wants Immigrants With Capital—John Burns Makes Suggestion—Emigrants' Information Office.

London, April 26.—(C. A. P.)—The following resolution proposed by the Commonwealth Government passed the Imperial Conference yesterday, that it is desirable to encourage British emigrants to proceed to the colonies than to foreign countries and that the Imperial Government be requested to co-operate with any colonies desiring immigrants in assisting suitable persons to emigrate. Premier Deakin dwelt on the urgent need for increased emigration to Australia.

Premier Ward said what New Zealand wanted was emigrants with some capital.

According to official precis Canada took no part in the discussion.

John Burns explained that the Government were considering how far they could adopt the report of the inter-departmental committee, one of whose recommendations was the reorganization of the immigrant information office.

The Government could not exercise any preference between colonies; all they could do was to furnish most of the reliable information possible and leave the intending emigrant to make his own selection. He did not believe in colonization by bodies. Persons thought the present a good opportunity for the colonies to obtain useful artizan colonists, especially in the building trade, and laid stress on the extreme value of child emigration on the lines followed by the late Dr. Barnardo, and welcomed any practical suggestion on the question of uniformity naturalization laws throughout the Empire.

Herbert Gladstone made an explanatory statement respecting the draft of the Imperial naturalization bill, which is before the conference, and spoke regarding the divorce law prevailing in the different colonies on this question. In view of the number of detailed considerations involved it was agreed that the discussion be adjourned.

LOST BY HUSTLING.

Plaintiff Settled Case For Less Than Jury Would Have Given.

St. Thomas, Ont., April 26.—At the Spring Assizes before Mr. Justice Anglin and jury the case of Charles Patterson, of Toronto Junction, C.P.R. fireman, who was so terribly scalded and injured in the wreck on Wabash diamond, east of this city, has occupied several days. A great array of expert medical evidence was given by Toronto and London physicians as to permanent extent of Patterson's injuries, who asked $20,000 damages from the Wabash. The jury had been out for four hours when the plaintiff, whose solicitor was out on another case, and without his advice, decided to settle with the Wabash solicitor for $3,400 and pay his own physician's bill, the Wabash to pay all other costs.

It was learned afterwards that the jury had about decided to give plaintiff a verdict of between $7,000 and $8,000 for injuries received.

Crippled With Rheumatism

CURED BY GIN PILLS

Mr. Derraugh certainly did have a hard time of it, winter before last. Caught cold, and it settled in his kidneys. First thing he knew, he was in bed with Rheumatism. He nearly went mad, the pain was so intense. The doctors gave him the usual treatment—and pretty nearly burnt his legs off with liniments and blisters—but the Rheumatism went right on aching.

Then a friend stepped in and said, "Why don't you try GIN PILLS?" After a great deal of persuasion, Mr. Derraugh did try GIN PILLS. You never such a happy man in your life, after he had taken two boxes. Pain all gone—stiffness and lameness completely left—that ache in back and hips disappeared—and he was well in no time. That was two years ago and he has been in perfect health ever since.

Contracted a severe cold. Rheumatism followed and the sharp pains took me so often and were so severe that I had to take to bed. For several months I could get no relief, until I started to take "Gin Pills." In five days I was up and around the house. My pains are gone and I have not had a return of the old trouble since. I wish also to say that "Gin Pills" gave me the first painless passage of urine I have had in two years.

ROBT. DERRAUGH, Winnipeg.

How about you? Haven't you suffered enough without going all over it again this winter? Get Gin Pills now—and cure yourself at home. Mention this paper and we will send you a free sample to try. The Bole Drug Co., Winnipeg.

WOULD NOT STOP SINGING.

English Pugilist Arraigned On Charge of Murder.

London, April 26.—"Podlar" Palmer, the English pugilist, who with another man was arrested Wednesday upon suspicion of having caused the death of an unknown man whose body was found in a railroad car coming from Epsom, after the races, was charged at Croyden in the police court with murder. After a passenger on the train had testified that he saw Palmer strike the deceased several blows, because he refused to stop singing, the prisoner was remanded.

Stoned By Naples Mob.

Rome, April 26.—During a religious procession at Paupisi, Province of Naples, a man refused to remove his hat. This provoked an attack by the crowd, headed by priests, who shouted, "Death to the Protestants."

The man was injured by stones thrown at him.

Fire In Convent.

Quebec, April 26.—Fire did considerable damage to the second floor of the Bon Pasteur Convent early yesterday morning.

Steel Roof Saved Mill.

Sault Ste. Marie, April 26.—The loss by Wednesday's fire at the Soo Pulp Mills will not exceed $100,000. The pulp grinders were intact and can be replaced when new flooring is laid.

Without the steel roofing, which was built last summer, pulp mills Nos. 1 and 2 would have been gutted, and the Soo would have been without electric light last night. The steel roof allowed the firemen to get on top and they were enabled to reach the fire.

There are 250 men out of work.

Steamer May Be Total Wreck.

Halifax, N.S., April 26.—The Norwegian tramp whaleback steamship Universe, 2,300 tons, from New York in ballast, for Montreal via Louisburg, went ashore at 2 o'clock yesterday morning at Seal Cove Head, Dover Bay, six miles from Canso. The captain, officers and crew, 23 in number, were saved and are now at Canso. The vessel is full of water and will probably be a total wreck. A dense fog prevailed at the time of the accident.

Grand Trunk Employe Killed.

Cobalt, April 26.—F. J. Neff, a Grand Trunk Railway employe, from Black Rock, New York State, was killed at Haileybury yesterday afternoon, while trying to board a freight passing through Haileybury at a rate of six miles an hour.

He fell between two cars, and his head was cut off. Deceased was about forty years of age. The body will be sent to Black Rock for burial.

Miner's Treasurer Decamps.

Sydney, N. S., April 26.—The local police have sent circulars throughout the Dominion, asking for the arrest of John C. McNeil, treasurer of the Miners' relief fund.

McNeil disappeared some time ago, and an examination of his books showed a shortage of $1,000.

Prince Eitel Injured.

Berlin, April 26.—Prince Eitel Frederich, Emperor William's second son, fell from his horse during a cavalry drill Wednesday evening on the Boebritz grounds, near Potsdam.

There is no cause to fear serious results.

Nurse, Ill, Disappears.

Philadelphia, April 26.—Friends of Miss Eva Haggerty, one of the prettiest nurses in the women's hospital, are greatly worried over her disappearance from the hospital early Wednesday morning.

Two weeks ago Miss Haggerty, who had come here from Brockville, Canada, was taken ill, and Mrs. C. V. Brown, sister, was to have arrived yesterday to take the nurse back to Canada.

The last seen of Miss Haggerty was on Wednesday morning, when she was noticed gathering up her clothing and going into the hallway.

Left Bride At Altar.

Windsor, April 26.—Mrs. Davis of Detroit, a widow, came to Windsor with Dr. George W. Burbanks, formerly of Cincinnati, and intended to be married. Burbanks left her in the waiting room of the electric railway while he went to procure a license. Mrs. Davis waited in vain for two hours and then told the police her trouble.

She reported that she had given her prospective husband a letter containing over $500 to carry for her.

CATTLE MARKETS.

Cables Are Steady—Hogs Sharply Lower at Buffalo.

LONDON, April 25.—Liverpool and London cables are steady at 11¾c to 12¾c per lb., dressed weight; refrigerator beef is quoted at 9c to 9½c per lb.

Toronto Live Stock.

TORONTO, April 25.—Receipts of live stock at the city market since Tuesday, were 96 car loads as reported by the railways, composed of 1374 cattle, 1447 hogs, 113 sheep and lambs, with 500 calves and 1 horse.

Exporters.

Only a few lots of exporters were on sale and these sold from $4.90 to $5.25 per cwt. Export bulls sold from $3.75 to $4.25.

Butchers.

George Rowntree, who bought 325 butchers' cattle for the Harris Abattoir Company on Wednesday and Thursday, quoted prices as follows: Loads of good to choice cattle, at $4.70 to $4.90; fair to good, $4.40 to $4.65; good cows, $4 to $4.30; medium cows, $3.50 to $3.80; common cows, $2.75 to $3.00 per cwt.

Feeders and Stockers.

Harry Murby reports too many light bred cattle, as being offered, for which there is no demand. Drovers are warned not to touch this class of cattle as the farmers of Ontario have had an experience of feeding them at a loss that they will not soon forget. Mr. Murby, who bought about 100 feeders to-day, reports prices as follows: Steers, 1100 to 1200 lbs. each, at $4.60 to $4.75; steers, 1000 to 1050 lbs. each, at $4.25 to $4.50; steers, 800 to 900 lbs each, at $3.90 to $4; stockers, 500 to 700 lbs. each, at $2.50 to $3 per cwt.

Milch Cows.

There was a fair trade in milkers and springers at prices ranging from $30 to $55 each, the bulk selling at $40 to $50 each. Not many cows sold over $55.

Veal Calves.

Prices were easy, owing to large receipts. Prices ranged from $3 to $6, with a few new milk fed at $6.50 per cwt. The bulk sold from $4 to $5.50 per cwt.

Sheep and Lambs.

Receipts were light, and prices firm. Export sheep, $5 to $6 per cwt.; yearling lambs, $6.50 to $8 per cwt.; spring lambs sold at $4 to $6.50 each.

Hogs.

About 1500 hogs were bought by Mr. Harris at unchanged quotations. Selects, $6.40 and lights at $6.15 per cwt.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

EAST BUFFALO, April 25.—Cattle, firm; prime steers, $5.75 to $6.25.

Veals—Receipts, 300 head; active and steady; $5 to $7.75.

Hogs—Receipts, 4300 head; active and 10c lower; heavy, $6.75 to $6.90; mixed and yorkers, $6.80 to $6.90; pigs, $6.75 to $6.80; roughs, $5.75 to $6.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 9000 head; active and steady; lambs, $5.50 to $7.60; a few $7.75.

IMPOSSIBLE TO STOOP OR BEND

SEVERAL DOCTORS COULD DO NO GOOD.

PAIN IN BACK AND KIDNEYS.

People often say, "How are we to know when the kidneys are out of order?"

The location of the kidneys, close as it is to the small of the back, which is not affected materially by other organs, renders the detection of kidney trouble a simple matter.

The note of warning comes from the back. Backache is the signal sent out by the kidneys the minute they become overtaxed. Those who heed the warning when it first comes, usually have but little trouble. The danger lies in delay. A few doses of taken in time, often saves years of suffering, and in many cases life itself.

They stimulate the action of the kidneys, enabling them to perform their duty perfectly.

Miss S. O. Fye, Head Seeum, N.S., writes: "For the past three years I have been troubled with a very bad pain in my back and kidneys. It was so bad it was impossible for me to stoop or bend. I had several doctors attend me, but found no relief until I picked up one of your Egyptian Dream Books, and found out about your remarkable remedy, Doan's Kidney Pills. I procured two boxes and their action surprised me, for they completely cured me. I don't think they have an equal for kidney trouble."

Doan's Kidney Pills are 50 cents per box or 3 boxes for $1.25 at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The Doan Kidney Pill Co., Toronto, Ont.

POSTMASTERS' PAY IS RAISED

Hon. R. Lemieux Promises New Scale of Increases.

THE PROVINCIAL SUBSIDIES

To Be Based On Population—Address Amended—Mr. Lavergne Called to Order—Calls Postmaster-General a Coward — Bill Empowering Courts to Dissolve Marriages of Minors.

Ottawa, April 26.—Rural postmasters will be comforted by the announcement made by the Postmaster-General in the House of Commons yesterday, that it has been decided to increase the remuneration of those officials and that the new scale would be ready in a few weeks. For several hours the House was occupied by the discussion of an address to his Majesty, asking that construction should be amended in order that payment of Provincial subsidies might be placed on a basis of payment according to population. The address had been recalled from the Senate in order that it might be so amended as to provide that the assessment for Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta should be on the last quinquennial census. One of the incidents of the lengthy debate which took place before the address was sent back to the Senate was an exhibition of temper by Mr. Armand Lavergne, resulting in his being sharply called to order by the Deputy Speaker. Later in the sitting the House resumed consideration of the railway subsidies, Mr. Fielding stating that the minimum amount required would be nearly $3,500,000.

Bills Introduced.

On a motion by Mr. A. Campbell the Erie & Ontario Power Company's bill respecting power privileges in the Niagara Peninsula was discharged.

A bill to amend the Canada shipping act was introduced by Mr. Fielding, who explained that its purpose was to re-enact a provision which had been omitted from the revised statutes with regard to the carriage of passengers.

Mr. Aylesworth introduced a bill empowering the courts to declare certain marriages invalid. The Minister of Justice explained that the bill was introduced at the desire of the Government of the Province of Ontario and was in the same language as a statute which had recently been passed by the Ontario Legislature. It was intended to meet the case of marriages of boys and girls under age without the consent of their parents. The bill would only apply in such Provinces as adopted legislation similar to that of Ontario.

Mr. A. Lavergne, Montmagny, thought that it was late in the session to bring down such an important measure and that it should be allowed to stand over until next session.

Mr. R. L. Borden said that if the bill dealt with divorce, then he would be inclined to agree, but as it did not, he did not think much harm could be done.

The bill received its first reading.

Mr. Taylor called attention to the complaints against delay in delivering judgments on the part of Mr. Justice Magee, London. He read three letters from lawyers protesting against the delays and charging Justice Magee with incompetency. Mr. Taylor thought the suggestion that Mr. Justice Magee be retired should be carried out, and that all the judges should be made to understand that if they did not deliver judgment within three months their salaries would cease.

The Minister of Justice said the matter complained of had been the subject of correspondence of a friendly character between himself and Mr. Justice Magee. That judge's delay in delivering judgment was not due in any sense to indolence or lack of industry, but, if it was attributable to any one thing, it was due to his excessive conscientiousness and excessive care. He was informed, however, that most of the cases tried before Mr. Justice Magee in which judgment was not given at the time had been disposed of.

Civil Servants Commission.

Mr. Foster suggested, with reference to the commission to inquire into the civil service, that civil servants should be given every opportunity to be heard, and that they should have permission to be represented by counsel if necessary.

Mr. Fielding said every branch of the civil service would have the fullest opportunity to be heard. As to allowing counsel to appear, he hoped that would not be necessary.

Railway Subsidies Passed.

The House went into committee to consider the railway subsidies, which the Minister of Finance explained were all in lieu of former subsidies. In no case was there an increase of mileage. On a minimum basis of 1,667 miles the amount required was a little over $3,500,000. Supposing that the whole of the construction work were carried out the cost to the country would be nearly $7,000,000. The subsidies were passed.

Rapid progress was made with the supplementary estimates, those for the Public Works Department, amounting to $3,733,887, being disposed of.

The Miners' Disagreement.

Col. Hughes inquired whether the Minister of Labor had any news with regard to the labor position in the east. He had seen a telegram yesterday afternoon saying that the parties were absolutely at a disagreement, and that there had been a general break-up of the negotiations.

The Minister of Labor said that he had received no news since Wednesday, when a telegram was received stating that an agreement was in sight. He hoped to make an announcement at the next sitting of the House.

Progress was reported.

Mr. Fielding laid on the table further supplementary estimates calling for $77,000.

Items are chiefly for harbor and river works and include $30,000 for additional dredging at Victoria harbor and $5,000 for the extension of the breakwater at Lion's Head, Ont.

The House adjourned at 1.50 a.m.

DR. FALCONER APPOINTED.

Principal of Halifax College to Be Head of Toronto University.

Toronto, April 26.—Dr. Falconer, principal of Pine Hill College, Halifax, was yesterday chosen by the board of governors as president of Toronto University. He is at present in the Mediterranean, but his acceptance of the position is confidently anticipated.

Dr. Falconer is a Canadian born, and has achieved great scholastic distinction on both sides of the Atlantic. The following statement was made by the board of governors yesterday afternoon:

"Robert A. Falconer, M.A., B.D., D.D., LL.D., Litt. D., of Halifax, has been selected by the board of governors for the presidency of the University of Toronto. The appointment was made at the regular meeting of the board and was entirely unanimous.

"A cablegram was sent to Dr. Falconer at Naples, where he is this week on his way to Greece. It is expected that he will at once return to Halifax in order to meet the board of trustees of Pine Hill College, of which he is principal, after which he will formally announce his decision in the matter of the Toronto appointment. It is believed that he will accept the appointment at an early date."

SOORES CATTLE EMBARGO.

Senator Choquette Says If Not Removed May Abolish Preference.

London, April 26.—(C. A. P.)—Senator Choquette has been talking to an ecclesiastical correspondent of The Pall Mall Gazette.

Choquette says the cattle embargo is politically dishonest. It is a slur on Canadian cattle to say they are diseased, and if the British Parliament does not do something towards removing this slur Choquette thinks that, were a motion brought up in the Canadian House to abolish the British preference, it would, in its present humor, give it a majority.

Though Choquette says he has not directly discussed the matter with Laurier, he is of the opinion that Laurier would support such a motion.

DUNN TO FACE COMMISSION.

Conduct of Vigilant's Captain to Be Investigated.

Thorold, April 26.—The charges against Captain Dunn, commander of the Government cruiser, Vigilant, will soon be investigated. Mr. H. H. Collier, K. C., of St. Catharines, has been appointed a commission to conduct an enquiry.

The captain is under suspension, pending the investigation. S. J. Inkster, formerly first officer of the Vigilant, accuses Captain Dunn of being a habitual drunkard. The present trouble started when the department, acting on a report from the senior officer, Captain Dunn, that he had become intoxicated while officer on watch, dismissed Inkster.

RESISTED TO THE LAST.

Man Dragged From Cell to Scaffold and Hanged.

Guntersville, Ala., April 26.—Bob Watts (white) was hanged for murder here yesterday, under tragic circumstances.

He had become possessed of a knife and resisted to the end. Ammonia was thrown into his cell and he was thus overcome and dragged to the scaffold by force, coughing and moaning piteously.

SPECTACULAR FIRE IN PITTSBURG

Streams of Burning Grease Spurted From Every Crevice.

AMMONIA TANKS EXPLODED

Packing Company's Plant Ablaze at Pittsburg—Half Million Pounds of Lard Burned—Warehouse Turned Into Seething Furnace—Panic Among Spectators — Firemen Have Many Narrow Escapes.

Pittsburg, April 26.—One of the most remarkable and spectacular fires seen in this vicinity, started Wednesday night in the William Zoeller Packing Co.'s plants, Spring Garden avenue, Allegheny, opposite this city.

Early yesterday, when the fire was thought to be under control, a large fireproof warehouse, in which was stored 500,000 pounds of lard, suddenly burst into flames. All efforts to extinguish the fire in this department were futile and the firemen finally fastened the iron doors of the building, shutting in the burning lard.

The interior of the building soon became a seething furnace. Spurting from crevices, doors and windows, streams of hot grease ran into a sort of trench hurriedly prepared in an endeavor to prevent the hot fluid from spreading over surrounding territory.

Shortly after the fire was discovered and while thousands of spectators were gathered, a dozen large ammonia tanks exploded with terrific force. There was a panic among the spectators, but no one was injured. That no loss of life attended the fire is considered marvelous.

At 8 o'clock yesterday morning the fire had practically burned itself out. It was said that the loss would reach $300,000, partly covered by insurance.

FRATERNAL MEETING.

Canadian Association In Conference At Temple Building, Toronto.

Toronto, April 26.—The Canadian Fraternal Association are in session in the Temple Building, President C. A. Lapp of Brighton presiding.

Wednesday Counsellor Lyman Lee of Hamilton read a report regarding the insurance legislation passed in the last session in the interests of fraternal societies, and to several court cases.

Secretary-Treasurer William Montague of Hamilton, reported finances to be in good condition.

C. A. Gower of Lansing, Mich., secretary-treasurer of the National Fraternal Congress, gave an address, to which J. A. Peterson, K. C., and F. G. Inwood replied.

Committee reports will be received to-day.

RIOTING IN ST. LUCIA.

British West Indies Scene of Serious Disorders.

St. Thomas, D.W.I., April 26.—Advices received here yesterday from Castries, Island of St. Lucia, British West Indies, where serious rioting was reported to have occurred, indicate that the trouble is ended. Discontented laborers and porters created serious disturbances at Castries during the afternoon of April 25, and business was suspended there Wednesday. During the rioting several persons, including the manager of the Colonial Bank, were injured. The manager's right leg was broken. The Governor of the Windward Islands, Sir Robert Llelwyn, arrived at Castries Wednesday, went through the town and personally enquired into the cause of the disorder, with the result that it was confidently believed that an amicable settlement has been arranged.

SPAIN AND ENGLAND.

They Are Virtually Allied Says Spanish Journal.

Madrid, April 26.—The Correspondencia De La Espana says it has diplomatic authority for stating that the effect of the meeting of King Alfonso and King Edward at Cartagena was the perfection of a far-reaching understanding for the purposes of war and peace.

It would have been considered in the last century, according to the paper, an alliance, but in modern diplomatic language it is an entente cordiale.

Everything concerning Morocco was ratified; everything in reference to the general European situation was discussed and the basis was formulated of an agreement which is now in the hands of the diplomatists.

SHOT HER LOVER.

Girl Kills Man Because He Was to Wed Another.

Oil City, Pa., April 26.—That Miss Belle Stroup, the Bradford (Pa.) dressmaker, who shot and killed Thaddeus S. Ross in the office of a physician here Wednesday, contemplated the deed, is shown by the fact that she left a will, bequeathing all her property, including oil lands, to her sisters, Mrs. Fred Ehret and Mrs. J. F. Aiken.

She also left a statement saying that Ross had promised to marry her in June next, and the first intimation she had that he did not intend to do so was a newspaper notice of the issuance of a marriage license to Ross and Miss Campbell of Oil City.

OIL LAMPS THE BEST.

Lizard Lighthouse Often Invisible When Other Lights Are Seen.

London, April 26.—The familiar complaint of the unsuitability of electric lamps for lighthouses is again made. At the Government enquiry into the stranding of the steamer Suevic, the marine superintendent of the White Star Line and other nautical witnesses declared that the electric light at the Lizard was sometimes obscured by fog when lights in the houses ashore on the same level were visible.

They contended that electric lamps in lighthouses were not comparable with oil lamps, and said that the former might actually add to the dangers of the coast.

Judge Phippen said Bonner was subject to discipline by the Law Society.

Killed In a Runaway.

Carmack, Man., April 26.—Charles Hugo, aged 40, was killed in a runaway yesterday morning on the farm of Joseph Russell at Harmsley. Hugo came from Hampton Court, England, last September, and worked in the Union Bank, Winnipeg, until a month ago, when he came out to work and learn farming with Russell.

Mgr. Sbarretti Leaves for Canada.

Rome, April 26.—The Pope yesterday received in private farewell audience Mgr. Sbarretti, the Papal delegate at Ottawa, who is returning to his post.

Rising Nipped In Bud.

Tokio, April 26.—Another threatened rising in Corea is believed to have been nipped in the bud by the prompt action of the Japanese administration.

The plans for the supposed outbreak are reported to have been of a comprehensive character, but owing to the timely discovery of the conspiracy, enabling the authorities to arrest the ringleaders and take steps to overawe their followers, all danger is believed to have been averted.

Canada's Fiscal Policy.

London, April 26.—(C. A. P.)—The Times, commenting on Canada's fiscal negotiations with European countries, says they indicate not only the loss of the fairest opportunity that has yet presented itself for welding the Empire, but the beginning of fresh economic developments, of which The Times cannot lightly predict the end.

Emperor to Receive Peasants.

St. Petersburg, April 26.—The Emperor to-day will receive 20 peasant deputies belonging to the Right party and to the Moderates, who will present him with an address, expressing their desire to work in harmony with the Emperor, and their hope of a speedy introduction of a system of general education.

STRANGE STORY TOLD BY A YOUNG GIRL OF SOME FAMILY AFFAIRS

Relates in a Pitiful Manner How Her Sisters Were Wronged By Their Stepfather—Tells of An Assault Upon Herself on Railway Bridge at Night.

BEYOND POWERS OF THE LAW

If the story of a young Peterborough girl be true, and there seems no reason to doubt its authenticity, some of the basest crimes ever known to have been committed within the boundaries of this county have just been brought to light. The story tells deeds of the most hideous nature upon the father of the young girl, who has not yet advanced in years beyond her teens—deeds which have been committed at various intervals within the past eight years. If the tale be true, the lives of two young girls have been shamefully blighted; a stain has been cast on each of them which time can never remove.

The pathetic story, unveiling the lives of her sisters and their stepfather, was told by the girl the other day to County Constable Cochrane in whose long experience as constable one equal in hideousness has not been recorded. The last alleged offence which, the girl states, was committed against herself, occurred within the city limits, so that Mr. Cochrane has referred it to the local police.

The statements made, however, are unaccompanied by dates and other necessary requirements as to form a case so vague that possibly little can be made out of it. It tells of attempted assaults made by the step-father upon his daughters; of the unregistering of children, one of which died at the age of three months and was buried in a fence corner; of an assault made upon the relator, of the harrowing tale only a few nights ago on the Grand Trunk bridge at Auburn. In fact, the recital of the story as spoken by the girl, who now seeks justice at the hands of the law, is a recital of a tale rivalling that told in the great New York criminal case by the wife of Thaw.

Assaulted at Night

Three weeks ago, the girl states, she left her home in Auburn after her step-father had attempted to commit a disgraceful assault upon her. She secured a boarding place in the same vicinity, and now works in a local factory.

On returning to her boarding house the other night her father waylaid her on the railway bridge over the Otonabee at Auburn and, according to her statements, she was shamefully assaulted. The enraged man almost choked the poor girl to death and blackened her arms and body by blows. She resisted him successfully, engaging with a number of bruises, and it was then that she informed the constable of the state of affairs and told him her strange story. Since the assault on the lonely bridge she is afraid to remain outside the door at night lest she may again come in contact with the alleged perpetrator of the deed.

Family History

Her story dates back some eight or nine years ago, when the family resided in the township of Ennismore. It was there, she states, that her sister was disgracefully wronged at the early age of 14 years by the man who married her mother. Her older sister, she claims, gave birth to a child which, attended improperly and given no medical care, died at the age of three months. It was buried on the old homestead in a fence corner and its death was left unregistered or unpublished. It died one night, and the following morning the unceremonious funeral was held, known only to the family to which it belonged.

The girl claims that a similar assault was made upon another sister and she told of an illegitimate child 18 months old.

After leaving Ennismore the family moved to Harvey township, where three years ago an assault was made upon her in a wood. Their next place of abode was Smith, and afterwards Douro.

The young girl, who was first wronged at the age of 14 years, is now 23 years old, and the mother of a six-months-old baby, unregistered.

A Pathetic Story

The above statements are only a few of the poor girl's pitiful story of the degraded life forced upon her sisters and herself by an inhuman parents. The mother of the girls is still living with her second husband, who is now 54 years of age, while she is 44.

The officials of the law have concluded that the story of the events of the past, before the recent alleged assault occurred, is too disconnected to work upon. No dates have been recorded, and it would be impossible, they consider, to obtain witnesses to corroborate the statements regarding the alleged assaults. Therefore, although the story may be true concerning the almost incredible wrongs, so much time has intervened as to probably eliminate all possible means of unearthing the past history of the family in a specific manner.

HEAVY PENALTY FOR POISONING DOGS

In view of the many reports there have been of the poisoning of dogs recently, it might be as well to call the attention of the public to the severe penalty provided by the Criminal Code for this offence. For the poisoning of a dog a person is liable on summary conviction to a penalty of $100 over and above the value of the dog, or to three months' imprisonment with hard labour.

$550 TO TAKE CARE OF THE PARKS

Horticultural Society Granted That Much by the Finance Committee of the Council—Same as Last Year.

ACCOUNTS WERE PASSED

The Finance Committee decided last night to recommend to the City Council that a bylaw be prepared, making a grant of $550 to the Peterborough Horticultural Society on the condition that the Society care for and keep in proper order Victoria and Central Parks. These were the terms upon which the grant was made last year.

There were present Ald. Tovey, chairman; the Mayor, Ald. Bradburn, Morrow and Phelan.

A number of accounts were ordered to be paid.

On motion of Ald. Morrow, seconded by Ald. Bradburn, it was decided to prepare a bylaw making a grant to the Peterborough Horticultural Society the same as last year and on the same terms.

Ald. Morrow moved, seconded by Ald. Bradburn, that the rate of interest on the debentures for sidewalks built last year as local improvements be 4 1-2 per cent., and that the City Engineer be asked to adjust the assessment for this work to correspond with this rate.—Carried.

MR. GEORGE MEHARRY IS THE NEW POLICEMAN

A Brother of P. C. John Meharry—Commenced Duty This Morning.

Mr. George Meharry was duly sworn in as a constable of this city this morning at ten o'clock. Magistrate Dumble read the oath of office to Mr. Meharry, and the latter swore that he would do his duty according to the full requirements of his position.

The new policeman is a young man of fine physique, and is what the sports call "husky." He is a brother of P. C. John Meharry, and the two members of this formidable clan should make it interesting for those inclined to do wrong.

Police George Meharry commenced his duties at one o'clock this afternoon and continued until six, and will be on duty again at seven o'clock. The force should be materially strengthened by this addition, as they have been handicapped lately by having but three men for duty.

REPORTS FROM THE SOUTHWEST INDICATE THAT WINTER WHEAT WILL BE A PARTIAL FAILURE

Examiner Special, by J. R. Heintz & Co.

St. Louis, April 26.—The Modern Miller says:—Unfavourable weather impairs winter wheat. The plant is backward and warm rains are needed to start seasonable growth. Freezing temperatures damaged the crop in localities where the plant had jointed. The Tennessee State Board of Agriculture reports serious injury to wheat from frosts. Complaints of green bug damage are less numerous and none are received outside of the Southwest.

Bad News

Chicago, April 26.—News from the Southwest is sensational. Agricultural implement companies say Oklahoma is entirely gone. Kansas five-eighths gone, and going with bugs over the entire state. Indiana and Ohio coming bad. Missouri sixty per cent. gone in south-east part.

Manitoba in Demand

Chicago, April 26.—There are big bids for Manitoba wheat in view of the startling information that the American wheat crop is likely to be a partial failure, but the holders of the Canadian grain are holding out, and it is impossible to secure any of it.

BIG INDUSTRIAL CITY TO BE ESTABLISHED SOON

Examiner Special, by J. R. Heintz & Co.

Sharon, Pa., April 26.—Announcement has been made that the American Steel and Wire Company will establish a new industrial city near Cleveland, Ohio. It is the intention to invite other large corporations to join the new $2,000,000 plant, soon to be started. Homes are to be bought for the employees.

Schooner Oliver Mowat Had A Strenuous Trip

Boat Owned by Brother of Mr. J. H. McClellan Almost Startet the List of Wrecks for the Season on Her First Trip.

CREW'S NARROW ESCAPE

The schooner, Oliver Mowat, one of the owners of which is Mr. Wm. McClellan, of Bowmanville, a brother of Mr. J. H. McClellan superintendent of the Trent Canal, has recently passed through a trying time, and now lies in Kingston harbour a partial wreck, her crew disbanded annd her cargo immersed in water.

The Port Hope Times tells of the experiences of the crew in the following story:—The Oliver Mowat left Port Hope on April 9 for Oswego, on its first voyage of the season, to load coal for Bowmanville. The trip to Oswego was made without event and the cargo was safely stowed away. The schooner left Oswego on Tuesday morning of last week for Bowmanville with a fair wind. When Fair Haven had been passed a heavy squall accompanied by a blinding snow storm struck the boat and terrific seas were encountered. While battling with the storm, the schooner suffered serious damage and finally became unmanagable and the crew were for two days in imminent peril. The storm first carried away the fore-sail. Finally the centre-board crashed down, the chain broke and the schooner was adrift. The crew worked waist deep in icy cold water, while huge seas broke over the deck. The bulwarks had to be broken away to let the water escape. To add to the danger the loss of the centre-board was followed by the schooner springing a leak. The crew manned the pumps and it was only by strenuous efforts that the schooner was kept afloat. All Tuesday night the pumps were going continuously.

Finally the schooner, after hoisting a signal of distress was seen by a tug and towed to Kingston harbour, where she will be repaired.

Millbrook Has Hold-Up Case, Too; It's Fashionable

Shantyman Langstaff Committed to Trial on Charge of Stealing $56 From Thos. Armstrong—Held Him Up On Road.

HE WAS SENT TO COBOURG

Millbrook, April 26.—Mr. R. J. Doak, J.P., had a case before him on Monday night, the like of which, fortunately does not often come up in these parts. A man named Langstaff who had been back at the shanties and was visiting in Cavan, south-east of here with his brother-in-law, Ben. Olin, came to town on Saturday with Olin's rig and going home Thos. Armstrong who lives out on that part, rode home with him. After leaving the latter Armstrong started across the field home when it is alleged that Langstaff followed him and way-laid him and threatened to kill him if he did not give up his money, some $56 which Tommy had in his pocket and which he in his fright says Langstaff took from him. He came to Millbrook at once and swore out an information, Constables Handley and B. Rayer going out for the culprit. Langstaff gave money over to Olin after his arrest some $30 in all. This is what Olin said at the trial. Langstaff was committed to jail at Cobourg to stand his trial.

Many Connections Will Be Made During This Year

Water Commissioners Anticipate a Busy Season for Their Men—Number of Houses Connected to Mains Rapidly Increasing.

THE NEW WORK PLANNED

Although so far there have been comparatively few applications for the institution of water services received by the Water Commissioners, there is no reason to believe that this season will be equally as busy as was the season of 1906, when a great many new services were installed. Unlike two years ago, when there was considerable new work, including a new main supplementary pipe on Water street, this year the Commissioners will devote their energies to spreading the ramifications of the system through the city, the main supply being ample for a number of years to come. It is probable that in the north and northwest sections of the city some considerable work will be done this season. No formal application has been received as yet, but it is anticipated that this will be the case.

It appears that the matter of the installation of the water services is a matter which escapes the average house-builder until the last minute, and the result is that, later in the year, about the middle of the summer, when the houses on which construction work was commenced during the spring are ready, the owner usually discovers that he has neglected to order the water, and he makes an application and wants the connection made at once, forgetting that there are perhaps hundreds of others who want this connection as badly as his done.

The proportion of houses with water connection is rapidly increasing, and it will only be a matter of a short time until a large majority of the buildings owned by water mains will be connected with them.

Flower Beds Or Dogs: Which?

The weather is discouragingly cold these days — almost cold enough for skating—but we are certainly in the "dog days." This morning a resident of the west side of the city, called the office of the Examiner up to state that eight or ten dogs were having the run of the place, and that a new flower bed, which had just been made and planted, had already been practically destroyed by the dogs running over it, and tearing it up.

This resident has recently erected a beautiful new home, and is spending considerable money on the grounds, making them a credit to the city. As it is pointed out, however, it is most discouraging to waken up in the morning and find that all the labour of the previous day was wasted, because of the ravages of wandering canines during the night.

In removing the old time fences the persons owning valuable properties, were contributing to the appearance of the city, but if the dogs are to be allowed to roam at will, over lawns and flower beds, destroying the work of weeks or perhaps months, in a single night, it is surely little wonder that the owners of property, in exasperation, sometimes are tempted to resort to poison to rid themselves of the nuisance.

One citizen remarked to the Examiner to-day that if the council would let the few overhanging signs, which were doing no one any harm, alone, and turn their attention to the hundreds of homeless and tagless, and often vicious dogs, that are roaming the streets, the people would be better pleased with them.

WILL PAY DEARLY FOR THEIR NEGLECT

Those who do not pay their dog taxes this year will have to suffer for it. Police Magistrate Dumble, is the authority for this statement, and any dog owners who come up before him on the charge of having neglected to buy the necessary piece of metal at the City Clerk's office, entitling their canine to a lease of life may expect to be severely dealt with. Mr. Dumble stated that the people of this city knew the law—they must buy their tags before May 1st—and if they do not obey, there will be serious consequences. After to-day there are only three days before May 1st. Up to the present time there have been sold only 54 tags.

OUTDOOR SPORTS AT THE Y. M. C. A.

Land South of Association Will be Devoted to This Purpose—Directors So Decided.

At the meeting of the Y. M. C. A. Board of Directors last night, the request by a number of the members to have the field south of the association building fenced in and fitted for out-door athletics was discussed and granted by the Board. This will be good news to the boys and young men of the association, who have long felt the need of an outdoor training ground. The work of putting up the fence will be done by a number of the young men themselves, the lumber and posts to be supplied by the Board. It is felt that this will be a good thing for the association, as it keeps the boys near the building, where they ought to be when training for Y.M.C.A. events. The fence will be erected as soon as possible.

ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH ORGANIST RESIGNED

Mr. Forsyth Will Take Similar Charge in Lindsay Methodist Church.

Mr. Cecil C. Forsyth has resigned his position as organist of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church to accept a similar position in the Cambridge street Methodist Church, of Lindsay. Mr. Forsyth, however, will not change his place of residence, but will remain in Peterborough to continue his classes in music.

Rev. H. J. Keith in Interesting Interview Tells of Condition of the Work in Which He Was Associated.

WAS NATIONAL SECRETARY

The work of the Young Men's Christian Association in India is assuming large proportions, immense buildings in the larger cities of the Indian Empire, being occupied by this association, and the work being done amongst the natives is rapidly growing and is being recognized as one of the most potent influences in the upbuilding of the young men of India.

Rev. H. J. Keith, the new pastor of Knox church in this city, was for a number of years connected with the work of the Y.M.C.A. in Calcutta, which in addition to being the largest city and the capital of India, is the second largest city in the British Empire. Mr. Keith was for some time National Secretary, having been sent to India by the International Committee of New York, and in that position was in close touch with the general work of the association throughout India.

In Calcutta the Y.M.C.A. owned several large buildings, a picture of one of which, situated in the heart of the commercial section of the city, was shown. Here the natives, principally students in the colleges of the city, from the neighbouring provinces of India, were taken care of, the association providing accommodation for several thousand young men in the various buildings in the city.

Mr. Keith stated that great good was resulting from the operations of the associations, not only in Calcutta, but in all parts of India, where the work was being carried on with gratifying success.

Pictures were also shown the Examiner of heathen temples in which sacrifices were being offered up to to the numerous gods and goddesses, which the natives of India worshipped. In one particular temple, a gorgeous building, Mr. Keith took pictures of goats which were being offered for sacrifice. In some cases as many as 1000 goats were slaughtered in one day in one temple as an offering to the goddess.

The Miners Will Return To Work

Pending a Settlement of the Strike at Fernie—Sherman So Telegraphs to the Minister of Labour.

Examiner Special

Ottawa, Ont., April 26.—Hon. Mr. Lemieux, Minister of Labour, received a telegram to-day from Mr. Sherman, head of the Miners' organization in the west, stating that the conference had failed to bring about an agreement but that the men would return to work pending investigation. Sir William Mulock is expected in Fernie to-night.

Dan Whetung Breaks The Record For Rat Skins

Chemong Indian is on Top With 608 Skins Taken in 26 Days—Best in More Than 25 Years.

PLENTY OF MUSKRATS

Six hundred and eight muskrat skins in 26 days is a pretty good record. It was made by Dan Whetung this season and constitutes a record for this county, so far as can be learned. Rat skins are bringing 35 cents each. It will thus be seen that in his 26 days' work Dan has earned $212. The number of skins secured by Mr. Whetung is the largest he has ever had in any one year, the nearest approach to his record this year having been 25 years ago this spring, when he trapped 515 rats.

He is authority for the statement that the rats are as plentiful as ever this year, the talk of them becoming scarcer being disproved by the big catches being recorded this year. Dan states that they are as plentiful to-day as they were 25 years ago.

There are two Hiawatha Indians who have been running the representative of the Chemong Band a hot race for the supremacy on the rat-trapping operations, Alf. Crown having reached the 600 mark, and, since the season does not close until the end of the present month it is quite possible that he may beat Mr. Whetung out. Dan would have remained on the job a little longer had he known that his supremacy was in danger, but he calculated that with 608 skins to show for his work he would have no difficulty in establishing a record.

He is strong in his denunciation of the proposal of the Government to prohibit the trapping of rats for two or three years in order to increase the number, his statement being that such a course is entirely unnecessary in view of the fact that all records for catches in the past have been broken this year.

A Bounder Pays A Visit To Hastings Folks

Stranger With Straw Hat and a Checked Overcoat Tries to Sell Mining Stock and to Buy Live Stock Without Money.

HE WAS STOPPED SHORT

The Hastings Star has the following story:- Last week a Scotchman named Rust, supposed to be from the vicinity of Fenelon, blew into town wearing a summer straw hat and overcoat, with checks of extraordinary size, and proceeded to sell Cobalt mining stock. Whether he sold much stock or not, we are not prepared to say, but he was also on the buy.

On Friday he bargained for one of Alex. Greenley's best horses, but fortunately, Mr. Greenley was not to deliver the horse till the money was forthcoming. As he had purchased a horse, on his way down to the stable he passed Al. Chapman's and seeing a new buggy, as Frank has bought it at once in the same way as he had bought the horse, the only difference being that he gave a cheque in part payment, which Mr. Chapman didn't seem to think was much good, and the deal fell through. A little later, on looking for a dog that he was supposed to own, he was told by someone that the dog was down at Ed. Lynch's shop, and he at once repaired there and accused Edward of having his dog. Of course, Ed. had not seen his dog, and told him so, but Mr. Rust couldn't see it that way and roundly abused Ed. for keeping the animal, finally holding the fist under the constable's nose and telling what he would do to him. Just about then Mr. Rust started for the lock-up. After cooling his heels in the cells for a few minutes, he was allowed to go on condition that he left town, and the last seen of him he was only touching the high spots on the road to Roseneath.

One Section—640 Acres

Land for Sale in Alberta

One fine section of good land, about nine miles from the Town of Ranfrerly on the Canadian Northern Railway. The district is first-class, settled by Americans, Scotch and English. There are no Galicians or Doukhobers in the immediate vicinity, and the country round and about is filling up fast. The class of people coming into that locality is good. The farmer owning the place adjoining this section threshed about 9,000 bushels of wheat last year. The soil is not quite so heavy, as in the Edmonton district and on that account is considered better and the crops are considerably earlier. On this property there is a fine creek. About three-quarters of the section is open prairie, the remainder having some brush upon it. Price $12.50 per acre, $3,000 cash, balance may be arranged mortgage at 6%. This is an excellent chance for two young enterprising farmers, desiring to locate in the West, to divide up the section between them and have a first class Farm. Further particulars may be had at the EXAMINER OFFICE, where full information may be had.

SYSTEM AND NO SYSTEM

The Examiner does not often feel justified in approving of Hon. Mr. Foster, ex-Finance Minister in the ex-Conservative Government, but his enunciation of the principle that a systematic plan in dealing with the harbours and waterways of the Dominion is entitled to attention. Whether the principle of system in this special matter is the best policy or not may be a debatable question, but there is no doubt that system has decided advantages.

Peterborough's hap-hazard way of dealing with the city streets, the absolute absence of system can, as any one who notices the general condition of our streets, sees, only produce undesirable results. As will be admitted by all who know the first rudiments of road construction, adequate surface drainage is absolutely indispensable, and one of the first, if not the first, essentials to permanently satisfactory roadbeds. But there is no attempt at system in this important matter. The surface drainage of streets is very largely neglected, with the result that water is retained to the ruin of the surface, and consequently of destruction of the prime purpose for which streets are designed—facility, safety and comfort of traffic. Streets are constructed upon no system. There is no system in the repairs of streets. Streets, fair, for a time, to the eye and superficially good, are neglected; holes are allowed to form, which, in default of timely repair develop into veritable bogs. This neglect precipitates the ruin of streets and they have to be built anew to be capable of giving, for another short time, comfortable service to the citizens.

An example of the carelessness and lack of system, is to be seen on the west side of Park street, between Simcoe and Hunter streets. This particular stretch of street, is in a condition of villainous and long standing disrepair. At one point the street surface became so shamefully bad that some attempt at improvement was made and a mighty sorry attempt it was. Some mar-street genius conceived the happy idea of getting some stuff, flattered by the name of gravel from some cellar excavation—limestone gravel, utterly worthless in the matter of wearing quality, under heavy, or even, light, traffic. It also contained first-class mud-making material in the form of an admixture of earth, and what was worse, numerous large cobble stones, of large size. This rubbish was dumped into the worst of the many mud-wallows on the street and left there to break the hearts of drivers of vehicles. There was no attempt to rake off the stones, which remain in all there wobbly, heart-breaking and wheel-wrecking ubiquity. To make matters worse in this shameful stretch of quagmire, the Street Railway Company is permitted to keep its rails three or four inches above the level of the mud, a dangerous condition, in this way—recently the son of a professor in Queen's College, Kingston, in crossing the raised street car tracks in that city, tripped over a high rail, fell and had his leg cut off—a bright boy crippled for life to save a tramway company the expense of putting its rails in proper relation to the street level.

And what is still worse, there is on this part of Park street, no escape for vehicles. They must use this execrable piece of street—only the west half of the street outside the railway track can be used. The bank of the bluff encroaches upon and occupies nearly all the side of the street east of the railway track. Besides no vehicle without the help of a crane could get over the elevated car track rails at this point. It is stated that this condition of things, in more or less pronounced form, has prevailed on Park street from Charlotte street to nearly McDonel, ever since the railway track was laid down.

This particular piece of street is mentioned as a type—"a horrible example"—of the general results of civic neglect resulting from the complete absence of system in dealing with the city thoroughfares, which has existed for years, and is in full feather to-day. There may be worse pieces of street, but who will take the risk of making the journey to enable making a just comparison? The present City Council has inherited the lack of system prevailing. By making a new departure and inaugurating a proper system of administering our street interests, they will gain both public gratitude and January ballots.

There is no dodging the fact that the streets of Peterborough are by no means a credit to the city—they are, in many cases, a disgrace as deep as the mud pools, that adorn them. Complacent aldermen will assert that we have as good streets as other towns and minor cities; they exclaim in triumph, "You should see Lindsay's streets!" Lady Wortley Montagu is said to have been very careless in her personal habits. On one occasion an intimate friend took the liberty of remonstrating with her on the dirty condition of her hands—"O that's nothing; you should see my feet."

EDITORIAL NOTES.

There are 398,494 male and female members of labour unions in New York State, and of this number 260,008 are in New York city. About 90 per cent of all labour union members in the state are in the cities. The total population of New York State in 1901 was 7,268,894; of New York city alone, 3,437,262. It is said that one in every twenty of the State's inhabitants is connected with some labour organization.

There's a rather pretty complication between the Dominion and Ontario Governments over the Petawawa military camp site. To save carrying the dispute to the Privy Council, Mr. Devlin, of Wright County, in Quebec, offers to substitute a site called Kazabazua, for Petawawa. It's a matter of serious question which is better—loading up the War Department with a Privy Council case, or loading it up with a name like Kazabazua. The dispute re Petawawa is a mere matter of sawdust, but the acceptance of Kazabazua would be a legitimate causus belli.

How much more statesmanlike is the dignified wisdom of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's policy, remarks the St. John's, N. B., Sun. Personally, he is for the preference. His government originated the policy, and still stands by it. His position is well understood. But, recognising the folly of any attempt to force Britain's hands just now, he enters this conference absolutely unhampered by pledges or proposals, prepared to work along the line of least resistance, to find points of common agreement and to work from them along expedient paths—but always in the direction of a United Empire.

AGRICULTURE IN THE SCHOOLS

Lindsay High School One of Those in Which This Class of Instruction Will be Given.

The Toronto News understands that the high schools at Napanee, Lindsay, Dutton, Collingwood, Galt, and Kemptville, have already indicated to the Government their desire to avail themselves of the grant to be given for the establishment of agricultural classes. The estimates provide $9000 this year to be apportioned to six schools. The Education Department will probably ask the Agricultural Department to select the schools so as to cover the province.

The regulations governing this innovation will be issued in a few days. The accommodation required will include a laboratory, school gardens, arboretum and experimental plots.

The first year work will include agricultural physics, keeping records of the weather, average temperatures, rainfall, lightning accidents, etc. Soil physics, chemistry, agricultural botany, horticulture, field husbandry, dairy husbandry, poultry, farm carpentry, farm arithmetic and bookkeeping, etc.

The second year course will deal with soils, farm crops, forestry, diseases, economic insects, laying out of a farm, plant breeding, manual training, fertilizing, animal physiology, milk testing, etc.

A full estimate of the cost of equipment will be included in the regulations.

COBALT STOCKS

Rapid progress is reported by Mr. Hastings, one of the original promoters of the North Ontario Reduction and Refining Co., which is erecting a refinery for the treatment of Cobalt and other ores at Sturgeon Falls. The buildings, which are substantial structures, are just about completed, including an up-to-date laboratory, and contracts have been let for some 20 to 25 carloads of the necessary machinery, which, when installed, will enable the refinery to treat 300 tons of ore every 24 hours. A siding is being run in from the C. P. R., and the refinery expects to be in shape to receive ore in June. No difficulty is expected in treating Cobalt ores, and the claim is made that $25 ore can be handled profitably, which will make the ores on the dumps at Cobalt which run from $40 to $2000 a ton claimed for the refinery is that the by-products now lost to the mine-owners when shipped to the smelters, will be saved. A sample shipment of one ton of low garde ore, from the silver Queen to the refinery at Clarkston, Wash., which is the model for the Sturgeon Falls refinery, gave a return in by-products of $161, of which $84 was in cobalt, $73 in nickel, and $4.50 in copper, all of which would be lost ordinarily. The promoters are sanguine of reaping heavy profits incidentally as a result of the Ontario Government bounty on ores refined in the provinces, of 6c. on nickel, 5c on cobalt, 1 1-2c. on copper, and one-half cent on arsenic. Photographs of the company's buildings may be valuable. One of the advantages seen in the office windows

A Sensational Incident

Well-known Resident had Eczema 25 Years

Obliged to wear Gloves Day and Night

Zam-Buk Has Worked Complete Cure When 4 Doctors Failed.

ZAM-BUK, the great herbal balm, has just worked such a sensational cure in Montreal that it has set the whole city talking. Mr. T. M. Marsh, of 101 Delorimier avenue, is the grateful subject of this cure. He says:

"For 25 years I had eczema in my hands. It started in red blotches which itched and burned so that I felt that I could almost scratch the parts away. Then after the itching came the pain and the soreness. Great open wounds formed and set up terrible agony. I went to a doctor when first the trouble began. He did me no good, and I tried another. He also failed, and I tried a third, and then a fourth. My case baffled them all, and I paid my money for no good. Then I tried embrocations and salves and liniments and creams and preparations recommended by the druggists and my friends alike. It was no good. The eczema continued and I never believed that I could be cured. For the past two years the pain and irritation were so bad that I was obliged to wear gloves day and night.

"Zam-Buk was brought to my attention. I tried a little and it did me good. I bought another box and it did me still more good. I tried another, and to my intense delight this herbal balm did what I had been hoping for for twenty-five years—it cured me. My hands are now healed, and I put away the gloves, which for two years had been indispensable day and night. I have been well known in Montreal and Eastern Ontario for over thirty years and my case is one which hundreds of people know of."

Zam-Buk heals all skin diseases—eczema, scalp sores, ulcers, ringworm, poisoned wounds, barber's rash, pustules, face blemishes due to blood poison. It heals cuts and lacerations, stops bleeding, cures piles and cures fistula, reduces large veins. It cures burns and scalds, and it is an excellent "first aid" remedy. It is highly antiseptic. All druggists and stores sell at fifty cents a box, or from the Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for the same price. 6 boxes for $2.50.

THE PHYSICAL DIRECTOR EXPLAINS IT

The Field Day Concerning Which Correspondent Wanted Information is Explained.

Editor Examiner.

Dear Sir,—I would like to make a few statements, answering, so far as possible at the present time, the letter which appeared in your paper last night, signed "Amateur Athletic." In the first place, the field day was the outcome of an offer by Mr. Howden, George street, to put up a cup as a trophy for the winner of such a contest, to be held about the 24th of May. Mr. Howden asked only that the Y.M.C.A. control the cup and the sports. We decided to make the contest an open one and give everyone a chance to win the trophy and the honour attached to it.

In regard to the order in which the events are to be decided, the Physical Committee meets on Tuesday evening, and the exact order of the events will be decided upon. The different events were named in a previous issue of this paper. It is hardly necessary to copy the exact programme of any club, the events to be run off are used at most meets. So far as a five-mile run is concerned, it is too far to run in such a contest, as this is an individual and not a team contest, the winner to be the man who secures the most points in the games, and after a man takes part in the other events he would hardly be in shape for a five-mile run. There will not be a separate prize for each event, but for the man who totals up most. There may possibly be medals as well as the cup for first, second and third places, but this has not been settled yet. Full particulars, however, will be given after the meeting of the Physical Committee next Tuesday night. "Amateur Athletic" mentioned a running high jump. There is one on the list of sports, but not a hurdle race nor bicycle race. The latter we feel to be out of the question in such a contest.

Thanking you for your space, I am,

Yours truly,

Physical Director,
Y.M.C.A.

Of Interest to Miners and Investors

The North Ontario Reduction & Refining Company, Limited, who are installing a plant for the refining of Cobalt and other ores at Sturgeon Falls, have their building, including a laboratory and sampling plant, just about completed and have contracted for all their machinery, which will be installed as rapidly as possible. They expect to be ready to receive ore some time in June.

This is the first refining plant to be erected in the Province of Ontario, which should enable the Company to secure the bounty offered by the Ontario Government, which amounts to $166,000 a year, this will pay 30 thirty per cent. on the entire capital. In addition to the bounty, enormous profits made by refiners will enable the company with its low capitalization to pay very large dividends.

We advise you to investigate this proposition. As a bona fide investment it has no equal. Prospectus and full information will be mailed on application to

Editor Post Card Column:

Dear Sir,—I would like to learn through your paper how Hunter street received its name. I have asked this question of many, but have not yet been able to get an answer. I can easily understand why other principal streets which were laid out at the same time as "Hunter," but the reason for the latter troubles me. George, Brock, Murray, Simcoe, Charlotte, etc., are quite explainable, but I should like to be enlightened on how Hunter street got its name.

Would you kindly publish the information if received?

CLEANLY WOMAN

Erroneously Thinks by Scouring Her Scalp That She Cures Dandruff

Cleanly woman has an erroneous idea that by scouring the scalp, which removes the dandruff scales, she is curing the dandruff. She may wash her scalp every day and yet have dandruff her life long, accompanied by falling hair, too. The only way in the world to cure dandruff is to kill the dandruff germ, and there is no hair preparation that will do that but Newbro's Herpicide. Herpicide, by killing the dandruff germ, leaves the hair free to grow as healthy Nature intended. "Destroy the cause, you remove the effect." Kill the dandruff germ with Herpicide.

HOGS FALL IN PRICE TO $6.25 PER CWT.

Demand is Poor—Prices of Hay Still Remain Firm.

The price of hogs has taken another fall and now the best at the local market is $6.25 per cwt., live weight. The demand has not been so great as usual during the past week and this was chiefly the cause of the fall. Dressed hogs are selling at $8.50 per cwt.

Hay still continues to arrive at the market in fairly large quantities and sells at prices ranging from $11 to $14 per ton according to quality.

Velvet Skin' Soft And Clear

What one or two applications of Dr. Chase's Ointment will do for a rough, inflamed and irritated skin, is almost as wonderful as the complete cure of eczema by its persistent use. By its healing, soothing and antiseptic influence, Dr. Chase's Ointment quickly cures chafing and skin diseases, and eruptions, and leaves the skin, clear, soft and velvety.

Seasonable Information About Low Priced Homes

My "Western Avenue" subdivision is one of the prettiest blocks in or about the city and adjoin the Sandstone Brick Co's. grounds, not more than fifteen minutes walk from the Electric, Cartage and Shovel Factories. Three minutes from school and corner where car line must pass to river.

The Large Blocks of 8 Lots are now surveyed, staked off, plan made and registered. Lots sold, orders received and all arrangements made to commence building not later than Tuesday next, weather permitting.

Although my prices and terms for Blocks, $10 cash and $5 per month bring them within the reach of all, man or woman, I have decided to sell a few single Lots for $75 each on easy terms, for a few days only. I will build a neat and substantial Cottage to story to cost about $260, also on easy terms. Very little in addition to what you are now paying your landlord will make you a well off landlord yourself. A personal interview will give you a better understanding, and and do not forget that it means money for you. 100 acre Farm for sale, exchange or rent cheap.

HAVELOCK LADY HONOURED BEFORE LEAVING FOR WEST

Mrs. Cooper Presented With Purse of Gold by Her Friends—Other Interesting News From Havelock

ITALIANS FOR SECTION

Examiner Special.

Havelock, April 23.—On Saturday evening a number of the married folk gathered at the home of Mrs. Jas. Beatty to tender a farewell to her sister, Mrs. Cooper, before leaving for their new home in the West. Mrs. Cooper has been a resident of Havelock for about fifteen years and during that time has won a host of friends, who felt that they could not let her go without in some way expressing their sorrow and regret at losing such a kind and loving friend. About 11 o'clock Mrs. Cooper was escorted to the drawing-room, when she was presented with a purse of gold, and an address read by Mr. Isaac Barlow, in which was expressed the regret of the people on learning of her intended departure, but who wished her and family a safe journey to and great success in their home in the Golden West.

Mrs. Cooper was taken completely by surprise, but in a few words thanked them one and all and that although many miles from Havelock she would always think of her many friends as endeared to her in the thriving little town.

The guests to the number of about thirty then adjourned to the dining-room, where a dainty luncheon was prepared by Mine Hostess Mrs. Jas. Beatty, after which they one and all bade Mrs. Cooper a good-bye.

The Royal Scots' concert on Friday night proved to be a great success and was greeted by a crowded house. Should they ever return to our town they may rest assured of just as large an audience as on Friday evening last.

The Francis Graves Co. have been engaged by Messrs. Dineen and Lancaster for three nights this week, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. On Monday night they will present "The Black Flag"; Tuesday night, "The Shadow," or "The Man of Mystery," while the third and last night they will present the "Gipsy Girl."

The "At-home" on Friday night, April 19, given by the young people of the town, was a great success. About twenty-five couples were present, including some from Hastings and Norwood. Music was supplied by Miss Smith of Norwood and Mrs. R. J. Cress, of town. The young ladies of Havelock intend the rush. Another "At-home" will be held next Friday night, April 26.

Mrs. Wm. Vance, who has been so seriously ill with pneumonia for the past week, is recovering somewhat.

Mr. W. A. Deremo of Toronto is in town for a few days.

Quite a number from Hastings, Norwood and Norwood took in the Royal Scots' concert on Friday night.

Mr. J. W. Bryans has purchased two new window blinds for his grocery store on Ottawa street.

NATIONALS WON THE NOVICE CUP

Rolled the Top Score in That Event and Won by a Big Margin—W. McIlroy Leads in the Open Singles.

SCHEDULE FOR TO-MORROW

Premier honours in the novice five-man team event in the big bowling tournament which opened yesterday at the Majestic Alleys belong to the Nationals who rolled the highest score and carry off the loving cup donated for this competition. The Nationals piled up a score of 1,927 pins by far the highest made in this event. The Chicago Colts bowled 1,716, the Southerns 1,627 and Munro's Colts 1,543.

Joe Guerin's score of 463 made in the novice competition is the highest made so far in any event and his average of 154 is also the highest. A. M. Regan made the top notch single frame of the day, rolling 189.

W. McIlroy leads in the open singles so far with a score of 452. The only team that has bowled so far in the open five-man event is the Pleasure Club who rolled up a score of 1,935; W. Crowley with 415 was the high score.

LAKEVIEW BASEBALL TEAM REORGANIZED

Will Play in the Driving Park—To Get on Games With Other Teams.

The Lakeview Baseball Club met on Wednesday night in the Driving Park and reorganized for the coming summer. It was decided to leave the management the same as last year. The team would like to arrange games with the other teams of this age in the city. The first practice will be held on Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The following players are requested to be out: Messrs. Wilson, Mahoney, Doherty, Letellier, Theobald, Freed, Cannon, Goulah, Henry, Kenzesley and any others interested in the team.

MATERIAL FOR A CITY BASEBALL LEAGUE

Five Intermediate Teams Can be Selected if Plan is Advisable.

Why not have an intermediate city baseball league?

There are at present four or five teams which are not fast enough for a senior city league, but which among themselves could provide interesting ball. There are the "Carenots," under Charlie Ray, the "Lilies," who play near the Electric works, the "Lakeviews," at the Driving Park, and Alonzo Coughlin should be able to get a bunch together, and another could be collected in the west end.

There may be more teams than this and if the representatives of each would get together they could form a league so as to ensure regular games, and also to determine what players could be used. If the captains of these different teams and others will drop a card to the Examiner expressing their views there may be a league formed which will undoubtedly tend to improve the teams entered in it.

BOWLING

Great interest is being taken in the bowling match between the teams representing the Royal Canadians of Toronto and the local club, which takes place on Monday night at the local alleys. The Peterborough bowlers should give the strong visitors a hard argument, judging by the way in which they are rolling in the tournament this week.

HOCKEY

It looks as if amateur hockey had no friends in Peterborough, at least, none that take interest enough to vote in favour of their principles. If the vote that is being taken, nearly all the ballots are being marked for professional hockey, and it looks as if the plebiscite will end strongly in favour of paid teams.

KEENE BASEBALL TEAM IS ORGANIZED

Good Prospects for a Fast Team From That Village—J. C. Read is Manager.

Examiner Special.

Keene, April 26.—A meeting was held last night of the Keene Football Club for the purpose of organizing, and electing officers for the coming season, with the following result:

Honourary President — A. St. A. Smith.

President—A. D. Anderson.
Vice-President — J. R. McIntyre.
Sec.-Treas.—A. B. Fee.
Manager—J. C. Read.
Captain—Dr. McWilliams.
Committee—A. Edwards, F. Easson, S. McIntyre, Jas. Quinn and David H. Moore.

Judging from the material in and around Keene, the boys should make a good showing in the intermediate series of the Midland League.

CHRISTIE WON HIS FIRST BOUT AT TORONTO

Boy Who Boxed Here on Wednesday Beat Bland.

Charlie Christie, who boxed Kid Lovett of Ottawa at the smoker on Wednesday night, won his first bout in the city championship last night. The Mail says:—

The first in the 125 pound class was a speedy go, Charlie Christie having to use all his cleverness to get the decision over R. Bland. It was an even break until the middle of the second round when Charlie bored in and had the English lad on Queen street and it looked as though he would take the count. Christie got a big lead in the round and although Bland worked hard in the final round he could not score often enough to win.

LACROSSE

The schedules of the different lacrosse districts will be arranged to-night at a meeting in Toronto, and the local club will be represented by Secretary Regan, who is a member of the C.L.A. Executive.

BASEBALL

The Toronto team got off to a good start in the Eastern League Wednesday, defeating Rochester on the latter's grounds, by 4—1, by a game in which the Maple Leafs showed decided superiority. With Buffalo, the Toronto team leads the League, but that does not count for much—they led the League for one day last year, but finished at the foot.

INTENDED ASSASSINATION.

Anarchist Found Hiding in Confessional Box, and Arrested.

Brussels, April 26.—An anarchist, armed with a dagger, a loaded revolver and other weapons, was arrested yesterday in a church where Prince Albert of Belgium, nephew of King Leopold, and heir presumptive to the throne, was about to visit.

One of the attendants of the church accidentally discovered the man hidden in a confessional box, locked the door and called the police.

Later three other anarchists, similarly armed, were arrested in the vicinity of the church. Two of the latter admitted that they were French anarchists.

The authorities are convinced that the prisoners were engaged in a plot to assassinate the Prince.

TRAPPERS REPORT A GOOD SEASON

The Latest News from Omemee and District—Celebration for Victoria Day.

Examiner Special.

Omemee, April 23rd. — The farmers are all busy to-day doing their spring work.

R. Courtney & Son finished up their sawing to-day after a successful season.

Mr. H. Beatty, proprietor of the Commercial Hotel made a trip as far as Pigeon Lake after wild geese, which had been reported to be very numerous.

The funeral of the late Spencer Dancey, brother of S. Dancey, of Peterborough, was very largely attended on Sunday. There were representatives of four different courts of the C. O. F., present, including Bethoro, Omemee, Fleetwood and Peterborough courts.

Mr. Wesley Hinds of Peterborough, and Samuel Dancey attended the funeral of the late Spencer Dancey on Sunday last.

The fall wheat and clover so far look favourable.

Preparations are already being made for a grand celebration on the 24th of May. Cricket, football and baseball matches will be on the programme.

If the C. P. R. does not strike here why not have a radial line via Mount Pleasant.

Our river is perfectly navigable at the present time for any craft.

The trappers have had a rich season.

QUEBEC NOT BEHIND.

Ancient City Will Not Lag In Industry and Commerce.

There is much talk about the boom in Winnipeg, Port Arthur and Fort William, Regina, Edmonton, Calgary, and other new cities. Every little town in the West is talking about its wonderful development. They rather pity the poor, old, effete East. Yet it is doubtful if there is a city in the Dominion making more progress than the Ancient Capital. Quebec is the oldest city in Canada—three hundred years of age in 1908. For a long period it was so overshadowed by Montreal that it seemed to be shrinking into insignificance.

To-day all this is changed. The Quebec bridge is approaching completion and Intercolonial trains will soon be running across the River. The impossible is almost accomplished. The Grand Trunk Pacific is building north and south. The Canadian Northern Quebec Railway is building a direct short line to Montreal, the portion from Quebec to Cerveau Junction being the only uncompleted link. Another line is being built along the South Shore to serve much the same purpose, through the southern counties. The Canadian Pacific steamers have made Quebec their summer port. So much for the railways and steamboat lines.

Electrical development is proceeding fast. Five thousand horse power is being developed at Montmorency Falls and a contract has been made for the immediate development of six thousand horse power at another Falls, but twenty miles away. Ultimately both these stations will be enlarged. To this is added the pulp and paper development of the Province. The city is crowded with new business men, many of them from the United States. Mines, quarries and pulp limits are talked of in hotel corridors and on the street corners.

Quebec's day has come and no one will be jealous. The West has had its share. Ontario needs no coddling. The progress in historic Lower Canada has been inevitably slower, but its great resources were bound to be discovered in time. There is every indication that from now on, that Province will not lag behind in the industrial and commercial race, and the City of Quebec will lead in the remainder.

Are Salmon Late?

The output of the Harrison and Bon Accord salmon hatcheries will be at least a month late in maturing this year, on account of the unusually severe winter which has been experienced in this part of British Columbia.

The ova have been over a month in hatching. The young fish, however, were not injured at all by the cold weather. It is thought that they will mature just as well although late, and that they will be fully as hardy as in other years.

The output of the Harrison hatchery will be about sixteen million salmon this year, while the Bon Accord hatchery is taking care of eight or nine million young sockeyes. This will make a total output of about twenty-five million fish, while the usual output of the two hatcheries is about thirty million. The cause of the smaller number this year was the heavy freshets which occurred last fall during the spawning season. Many of the pens which contained salmon from which spawn were to be taken were washed out and lost, and new ones had to be installed on the creeks, and fewer salmon were taken.

NO POLICE COURT BUT USUAL ATTENDANTS

Were There and Were Sadly Disappointed —Nothing Exciting for Them.

Everything was quiet this morning in police circles after unusual doings yesterday. There were no offenders to be examined and no sentences to be imposed. However, the sidewalk crowd was there; the self same faces as are seen every morning peered through the window at the station in vain. The comments that are passed by the authorities regarding these men are some too complimentary to them. Mr. Dumble desired to hire two men to do some gardening work for him on his homestead, but was loth to ask any of those who were in the court room as he was almost sure that no one would accept the offer.

Some time ago he gave the idlers a chance to earn a few dollars in a similar way and received only one petition for the work. Truly His Worship has but little love for police court loungers.

NEW COURT OF CATHOLIC ORDER OF FORESTERS

Will be Organized at Youngs Point in Near Future.

A Court of the Catholic Order of Foresters will be founded at Young's Point within the next few days. At least Mr. B. J. Asselin, Provincial Organizer for this society was in the city to-day on the way to the Point for that purpose. The expectations are that a branch will be formed there, as the parish is a flourishing one in every respect. Mr. Asselin will be at the Point for the next few days and expects some of the members of the local Court to go up with him on Sunday.

NO DEFECTS IN ROMAINE STREET SEWER

So States a Man Who Understands Sewer Construction.

Some information has been afforded the Examiner about the Romaine street sewer over which a great deal of discussion has taken place. The information comes from a man who knows how a sewer should be constructed and he claims that the Romaine street sewer when completed will not have a single defect. Statements made by others that the sewer is full of sand, he says, are entirely false and detrimental to the reputations of those who have had the work in hand.

The Examiner's informant states that there was a little sand in the sewer but the sections between three manholes have been entirely cleaned. Only two more sections remain to be finished when the sewer will be completed to the new King Edward School.

The contractor uses a long rope which passes through washers large enough to catch all sand in the bottom. This is pulled to the manholes and brought up in pails to the top. The work, he believes, would be finished in about eight days. It was a difficult place in which to construct a sewer, he said, but Contractor White has done his work well and the sewer will be all right.

AN INTERESTING MEETING TO-NIGHT

The Ladies Literary Society of St. Peter's T. A. S. Will Hold Interesting Meeting To-night.

The meeting of the Ladies' Literary Society of St. Peter's T.A.S., to-night will be of more than usual interest. This meeting will be the closing meeting of the season and at it a report for the year will be presented. A paper will be read to-night by Miss K. McGrath on "The Heroines of Shakspere." In addition a musical programme will be rendered.

SUN IS A STAR OF THE SECOND ORDER

Rev. Dr. Marsh Explains Inaccuracies in Report of His Recent Lecture on "The Sun."

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—Will you permit me to correct a few errors which occured in the report of my recent lecture on The Sun. To the astronomer the Sun is a star. Thus in the class of stars the sun has its place. Bluish white stars are stars of the first order or class, not magnitude; yellowish stars of the second order and reddish of the third order, etc. The sun being of the yellowish type is of the second order of stars.

Yours truly,
D. B. MARSH.

RENEWED LICENSES IN THE EAST RIDING

Commissioners of East Peterborough Met on Saturday and Granted Licenses For the Coming Year.

The License Commissioners for East Peterborough met in their office at Havelock on Saturday last, when all the applications for licenses were granted, with the exception of that of Mr. Jerry Heffernan of Westwood, who did not apply in time. The matter will be referred to the department and will come up again for consideration at the next meeting of the commissioners on May 1st.

MESSRS. LOW & CO'S JUNK WAREHOUSES

Convenient Premises on the East Side of The G. T. R. Track.

The valuable city property, on the corner of Simcoe and Bethune streets, east side, comprising the building formerly occupied by Messrs. T. Kinnear & Co., as a wholesale grocery, and the coal sheds south thereof, together with the brick terrace of four dwellings on Simcoe street, and large yards in the rear, have passed into the hands of Messrs. Low & Co, wholesale dealers in junk, etc. The large wooden buildings, east of and lying immediately alongside the G. T. R. have been converted into commodious storehouses, with a convenient office situated on the corner. A large sign board has been painted over the office in bold characters, and every preparation made for doing an extensive business in the junk line. Mr. Low has secured a valuable city property, very central and convenient for shipping and is now in a position to handle tons of scrap, etc., of all kinds.

AJAX TUG WILL BE USED BY CAVENDISH LUMBER CO.

Will be Brought Down From Bobcaygeon —Ice Gone From Clear Lake.

Captain Chas. Gray, of Lakefield, was in the city this morning on his way to Bobcaygeon to bring down the steam tug Ajax, which Mr. J. E. A. Fitzgerald recently purchased from the Trent Valley Navigation Company. Captain Gray will bring the tug to Lakefield, where it will be used by the Cavendish Lumber Company before going to Buckhorn for the spring towing for the same company. Captain Gray will have charge of the Ajax this summer.

The ice disappeared from Clear Lake yesterday, and although a little yet remains in Stony Lake, it is not sufficient to prevent navigation.

Music and Drama

The management of the Grand opera house take pleasure in announcing the extraordinary engagement of the distinguished character actor, Mr. Thos. E. Shea, supported by a strong company of recognized artists, for two nights, Monday and Tuesday, April 29th and 30th. On Monday night Mr. Shea will present Sir Henry Irving's greatest success, "The Bells," and on Tuesday night the grand military spectacle, "Napoleon the Great." The most elaborate scenic mountings, and gorgeous costumes, are carried for these performances, and the patrons of the opera house are assured of something special for these two nights. This is the first time Mr. Shea has played the smaller cities in Canada and is coming here only under a substantial guarantee. The management has arranged for special prices of $1, 75, 50, 35 and 25c., and Mr. Shea will no doubt be greeted with packed houses for both productions. The plan is now open.

PAINTING THE TOWN

The crowded house that greeted the Chas. H. Yale production, "Painting the Town," at the Grand last night, showed that the previous production of the play had won favour from the theatre goers. Messrs. Halliday and Leonard as Martin Hogan and Michael Brogan, kept the audience in hysterics all the way through, and are two of the funniest comedians ever seen here.

Maxie King won great favour by her charming dancing and the Trans-atlantic Four, a male quartette, whose fine voices blend splendidly, were encored five times.

Being a Yale show, the scenic effects and costumes are magnificent.

OBITUARY

WALTER S. CRAWFORD

Mr. Walter S. Crawford, a gentleman well known in some circles in Peterborough, died suddenly in New Orleans on April 4th. He was stricken with apoplexy on the street and passed away almost at once.

The deceased was very prominent in steamboat and railway affairs in New Orleans, having been connected with both these branches of the transportation business. He was a veteran of the American Civil War, having served through the different campaigns with the Confederate Army. His funeral was a military one and he was buried in his Confederate Gray.

The late Mr. Crawford was married to Miss Rush, formerly of Peterborough, and a sister of Mr. T. O. Rush, Mr. H. Rush, Mrs. A. Sawers, Mrs. H. C. Winch and Mrs. Wm. Van-Every. Mrs. W. H. Moore, of this city, is a cousin of the deceased, as are Mrs. Daubus of Peterborough, and Messrs. Chas. and Fred Crawford, of Lakefield, and Jas. Crawford of Otonabee.

The deceased is survived by a wife, a son and two daughters, all residing in New Orleans.

JOHN FRISE

After an illness of several months' duration, John Frise, an old resident of the city, passed away this morning at the age of 69 years, his death being due to heart failure. The late Mr. Frise was born in England, and, coming to Canada many years ago, eventually settled in Peterborough, and for many years had been living in this city.

He deceased leaves to mourn his loss nine children, all daughters. They are Mrs. John Miller, Miss Elma, of this city; Mrs. J. C. Beat, of Toronto; Miss Catherine, Miss Lillie, Mrs. Alf Parker, Miss Alzina, Miss Alberta, and Mrs. Geo. Robertson, of Peterborough.

The deceased was a member of the George Street Methodist Church and was a prominent member of the Laymen's Association.

The funeral will take place Sunday afternoon at 2.30 from the family residence, McDonel street, to Little Lake Cemetery, where interment will take place.

Don't forget the Carnival at the Roller Rink to-night. For list of prizes see ad. in this paper.

MR. G. WALTER GREEN'S NEW MACHINE WORKS

Erection of Another Commodious Shop 40x75 Feet to Cope With the Orders.

The erection of the new and extensive machine shop and iron works for Mr. G. Walter Green, is now undergoing rapid progress. It is to be a substantial white brick structure, 40 x 75 feet, and is situated across the street from the present foundry and machine works, on McDonel street. The rapid growth of Mr. Green's foundry and machine business, has compelled the erection of this additional building. It was somewhat regretted at the time that a disagreement among certain parties, and the city council, prevented Mr. Green from being able to build alongside his present works, instead of across the street; but Mr. Green is not a man to allow little things to become an obstacle to his plans. The new building is on line with the large brick warehouse which he erected last year. When completed it will be equipped with improved machinery, tools and appliances for the manufacture of sawmills, shingle mills, jointers, edgers, steam engines, steam pumps, and iron castings of all kinds. From the time Mr. Green started to turn out this class of work he has met with the most encouraging success. Orders for his mill machinery are coming in so fast that the present premises have been found inadequate to cope with the work.

Mr. Green has recently engaged the services of Mr. James Maud, a first class practical machinist, as foreman of his machine shop. Mr. Maud, for the past fourteen years occupied a similar position with the Peter Hamilton Company, and is well known as a skilled mechanic, qualified to turn out work of a meritorious character.

"LIBERTY" GIVES SOME HINTS TO OFFICIALS

Thinks Sanitary Inspector Might Look into the dog question—Have They More Rights Than Human Beings?

Editor Examiner,—

Sir, — Are dogs more privileged than human beings? The human race, generally speaking, is fond of some pet animal. It may be a cat, a dog or a horse. This fondness does not determine that our true citizenship shall be interfered with by these "dear little canines," even if they wear a collar around their neck. If some one wishes to keep a dog, and sees fit to cradle him, and to wash him, and to put him to bed, it is their own business.

But if we as citizens, appoint health officers and sanitary inspectors, we should be willing to lessen the impurities that engender disease by taking care of the refuse of these animals. I notice a billboard saying that all back yards must be cleaned. I would suggest that the Sanitary Inspector see that our back yards and streets are cleaned up of this dog filth, and kept clean by following the owners of the dog tribe for the responsibility of the same.

I do not see why our city aldermen will give a dog a greater privilege than a human being unless they have a "brainstorm" of dog fondness.

Let those who enjoy the distasteful actions of a dog on the street, and their society, keep them on their own premises. Is it right to harness a dog and run him up and down the sidewalk, while if a pedestrian happens to ride a bicycle on the same a penalty is imposed.

"Consistency, thou art a jewel." Where is the jewel. I would caution the dog destroyer to wait a little time until a bylaw is passed that will place the dog society people in such a position that they will be forced to take care of their "dear pets."

AS PLAIN AS PRINT.

The Trade Mark Which, When Found, Prevents Deception.

At the "Sign of the Slate" and where that sign hangs, the buyer is sure of getting the genuine Slater shoe. Without the sign, there is sinister design in the man who pretends he has the Slater shoe.

The people generally have no idea of the many subterfuges adopted to mislead them into believing that there are other Slater shoes. There is only one genuine "Slater" shoe—and on each pair is plainly marked the sign of the Slate and the exact selling price at which Slater shoes must be sold. It's as plain as print. R. UNSOLICITED TESTIMONY
The Tate Optical Co., Peterborough:
Dear Sirs,—During the last three or four years (prior to May last) my eyesight had failed to such an extent that I was unable to read or see anything at close range and could get no Glasses that would help me. I tried two different Opticians in Toronto and was told by both that they could do nothing for me, and that my sight would never be better. A statement of my case was sent to Montreal by a Hastings opician and several pairs of Glasses sent me, but with the same result my vision could not be improved. Last May, while looking at a Pair of Glasses you made for Mr. John Fife, Keene, and talking with him he advised me to consult your Mr. Babcock, and I am pleased to say that the Pair of Glasses he made for me have given me entire satisfaction and I can do now what I have not done for years past—read any ordinary print and see distinctly at close range. I feel very grateful, not only for the interest you have taken in my case, but particularly so for the blessing of good eyesight. Thanks to your knowledge and skill.
Yours truly,

Service at Springville

The services on Sunday in the Springville Presbyterian church, will be of an especially interesting character. The subject of the morning sermon will be "I will sing of mercy and of judgment," and in the evening the pastor will preach a special sermon to the young people, who will occupy the centre seats in the church. There will be special music.

Personal Mention.

Mr. Fred Simon left last night for Toronto, where he has secured a position.

Mr. Charles H. Reid, of the Masford Mirror, is in the city spending a few holidays.

Mr. D. O. Warring, of Lindsay, has accepted a position as salesman with the J. C. Turnbull Co.

Mr. B. J. Asselin, Provincial Organiser for the Catholic Order of Foresters, was in the city to-day.

Rev. E. A. Langfeldt is considerably improved in health and hopes to be able to take his work on Sunday as usual.

Mr. R. Hargtone of Hastings is in the city to-day on business in connection with closing the deal for the purchase of Mr. J. B. McWilliams' residence on Weller street.

Among the arrivals in the city today was Mr. Bert Hayward from Walkerton, Ont. He will be the guest of his uncle, an aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Skidmore, of 208 Charlotte street.

Mr. Wm. Adamson, wife and family of three girls and one boy, set out on a return journey to Oldham, Eng. Mr. Adamson has been employed as machinist with the Lakefield Cement Co. during the past three years. Another son remains in Peterborough for the time being.

The Fenelon Falls correspondent to the Lindsay Watchman-Warder says Mr. Ernie Pearce left on Tuesday for Peterborough, where he has accepted a good position. Ernie is one of Fenelon Falls' popular young men, and he will be greatly missed by his many friends here.

NO CHANGE IN THE STRIKE SITUATION

Harnessmakers Still Out, But Firm Says Output at Present is Satisfactory

The situation in the harness makers' strike shows little change to-day. Some of the men who are out have secured work in other lines, while others are still holding off in expectation of the strike being settled. Of this, however, there seems little reason to expect. The firm states that the output of the factory is quite satisfactory. All the non-union men are still at work, as well as the union collar makers, and the company is getting out its work in good shape.

The general belief among the men who are still at work, and those who are in touch with the situation is that the strike is practically broken. The factory is running to the satisfaction of the employers, the action of the union men in striking not having crippled the firm as was expected.

JEW'S HEAD MUST BE COVERED WHEN SWORN

Mr. Jacobs Refused to be Sworn Under Such Conditions

A peculiar point of law arose in a case in Division Court this morning, which was extraordinarily interesting to the legal men. The case of Jacobs versus Kennedy, in connection with a horse deal, was in progress when the point was brought up.

Mr. F. D. Kerr was acting for the defendant, and he contended that the plaintiff, being a Jew, must take the oath on the Old Testament, with the head covered. This Mr. Jacobs refused to do, and gave for his reason that he did not believe in a future punishment, and therefore did not consider himself a Jew, in religion.

Judge Weller held that the head must be covered, so that Mr. Jacob gave no evidence this morning.

ANOTHER CASE AGAINST M. H. HILLIER

Sister-in-law Seeking $85 for Dress Making Expenses—Appeal Against Magistrate's Decison.

Division Court, which is being held to-day, embraces about fifteen cases of more or less importance. In one of these Mrs. Hillier is suing her brother-in-law, H. H. Hillier, who last autumn was sentenced to a term in jail, for the sum of $85, which the plaintiff claims are dressmaking expenses. The case was not concluded this morning. Mr. R. F. McWilliams appeared for the plaintiff, and Mr. F. D. Kerr for the defendant.

The C.P.R. has appealed against the decision of Magistrate Dumble, who fined Conductor Barnes $20 on a charge of blockading the street for a longer period than the allotted five minutes. The case came up at 2.30 o'clock, and at that time of going to press was not concluded. Mr. Angus McMurchy, C.P.R. barrister from Toronto, and Mr. W. H. Moore, appeared for Barnes, and the Mayor and the City Solicitor for the city.

CONSUMPTION

Mainly Caused by Chronic Colds and Hanging-on Coughs.

A prominent scientist has given a good deal of time to the study of consumption, and finds that comparatively few cases are hereditary.

Mostly all are caused by neglected coughs and colds, which gradually weaken the whole pulmonary system, and before people realize it there is a diseased spot in one lung; spitting blood soon follows and eventually a coffin.

Such an unnecessary end, such a pity, for all could have been so different. We know of many instances where our valuable cod liver preparation, Vinol, has been most beneficial in such cases.

Vinol is able to cure hanging-on colds stubborn coughs, strengthen the lungs, and thus prevent the development of consumption, because it is the most perfect cod liver preparation ever compounded; it contains no oil or grease to upset the delicate stomach, yet it does contain every one of the fifty odd medicinal curative elements actually taken from fresh cods' livers, with tonic iron added. We ask all Peterborough people to try Vinol for weak lungs, chronic coughs, hanging-on colds, or run-down and debilitated conditions, and will pay for the medicine ourselves if it fails to benefit.

How can we express our faith in Vinol more emphatically? Molbermid & Jury, druggists. Also at The Market Drug Store, (The Ormond & Walsh Old Stand.)

A Bride's Dilemma.

A humorous romance is reported from Natal, where a youthful Hindoo bride was recently called upon to choose between her husband and her jewels. The case came before the Durban police court in the first instance, where the bride's parents, says the Natal Mercury, accused her husband of abducting her while under thirteen years of age. The bride, however, claimed to be eighteen, and the magistrate dismissed the case. Outside the court a tug of war took place between the two parties for the possession of the bride, in the course of which it appeared that what her parents particularly desired was not herself, but her jewelry. A sergeant of police then sat in judgment and decided that the jewelry belonged to the parents, and the girl must choose between her husband and her bracelets. After some cogitation she chose the husband, who promptly unfastened the bangles from her arms and handed them to her parents.

The Judge in Jail.

"I," said an esteemed magistrate, "spent a week in jail before I entered on my judgeship. I ate the prison food. I slept in a cell. I conformed with all the prison rules. I wore the prison clothes. I did the prison work. Thus I learned the value of the sentences I was to mete out later on. I got to know what a week, a month, a year, in jail meant. As a result I am more merciful than most judges. I think it would be a good thing if every judge before taking office would spend a little while in jail as I did. He would then know the value of prison sentences, a thing he doesn't know now. Now he is like a cashier who attempts to pay out money in a coinage of which he is ignorant. In Baden this thing I speak of must be done. Every judge in Baden before he takes his seat on the bench is required by law to pass weeks like a common prisoner in jail."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Eating Grasshoppers.

"No wonder I am brown," said a globe trotter. "I am just back from the Sahara. I spent two months wandering with a caravan of camels over that white expanse of sun warmed sand. The Sahara is like the beach at Atlantic City, a flat immensity of the whitest, cleanest sand, and the strangest thing I did in my wanderings was to eat desert grasshoppers. The Arabs regard these grasshoppers as a luxury, and I was tempted to try them, just as in Paris I have been tempted to try snails. The grasshoppers were good. You plucked off the wings, the legs and the head, and then you ate the dried body. This morsel tasted precisely like an English walnut. I ate grasshoppers several times, and when I return to the Sahara I am going to eat them again."

Spelling by Ear.

The young French stenographer, whose progress in English had not kept pace with her proficiency in shorthand, was puzzling over some notes she had taken of a recitation at a public entertainment.

As she transcribed them the recitation began like this:

La fauhi wariaf swidhen,
Oui panju oui paiese.

"That's easy," said the expert to whom she submitted the notes. "It is part of a poem that begins:

"Laugh, and the world laughs with you,
Weep, and you weep alone."

Law Term Explained.

"Well, proceed," said the lawyer.

"The plaintiff resorted to an ingenious use of circumstantial evidence," said the witness.

"For the benefit of the jury state in plainer language exactly what you mean by that," interrupted the judge.

"Well, my meaning is that he lied."

If Women Couldn't Read.

"Then you don't believe in higher education for women?"

"Certainly not. I think it's a shame to even teach 'em how to read. If a woman couldn't read the bargain advertisements, she wouldn't be so unhappy over the lots of things she can't afford to buy."

Her Advantage.

"Your daughter has an angelic disposition."

"Yes; we always let her have her own way about everything."

A MOUNTAIN TRAGEDY

THREE MEN FREEZE TO DEATH WHILE ON EXPEDITION.

Go Astray in Fog and Have Terrible All-Night Experience — Were Paralyzed With Cold—Slept the Endless Sleep — Two of Party Reach Safety—Rescuers Came to Late to Save the Others.

A mountain tragedy, involving the death of three men, was reported from County Antrim recently.

Five men, named Connolly, Keilty, White, Millar and Smith, started on a shooting expedition on the mountain range which overlooks the beautiful Vale of Glenariff.

Two or three hours later they lost themselves in a dense fog. They wandered aimlessly about and endeavored to find one of the beaten tracks, but without success.

At length hunger brought on extreme fatigue. The men, alone and lost in the mountains, had scarcely the strength to walk, and the bitterly cold wind partially paralyzed their limbs. Darkness came on, and the men were still ignorant of their whereabouts.

After a while Connolly said he would go no further, and he fell to the ground exhausted. His four companions, although almost as weak as he, picked him up and, by an effort which taxed their remaining strength to the utmost, carried him over boulders and through gullies until they themselves were on the point of collapsing.

Then they put him down, placed him under shelter in a sitting position, wrapped him in their greatcoats and, having thus done all they could for his comfort, left him and went away to look for assistance.

Millar and Smith went in one direction and Keilty and White in another. The first-named pair reached the residence of Conway Dobbs, at Parkmore, next morning. They were in the last stage of exhaustion, and as they entered the house they sank helplessly on a couch.

Restoratives were applied, and when they had regained sufficient strength they related their terrible experience.

A search party was at once organised, and with Millar and Smith acting as guides, they all tramped to the spot where Connolly had been left. He was sitting there still wrapped in his companions' coats, but dead. He had been frozen to death.

Later in the afternoon the dead bodies of Keilty and White were found in the bed of a frozen mountain stream. The men had evidently stumbled there, and had been too weak to rise.

FORGOTTEN ROYAL STATUE.

Has Stood in Famous London Square For Over Century.

Probably but few people except those whose windows command a view of the garden are aware of the existence of a statue of William III. which for over a century has stood unostentatiously in the centre of St. James's square, that square which was for long the most fashionable part of London.

Originally there was an ornamental lake in the garden, with a fountain.

STATUE OF WILLIAM III.

It was 150 feet in length, and into the water of this lake the mob in the Gordon Riots of 1780 threw the keys of Newgate after they had sacked the prison.

A pedestal for the statue of William III., was set up in the middle of the basin in 1732. A certain Samuel Travers who flourished in the King's reign had left a sum of money for the work, but, owing to the will being disputed, nearly a century elapsed before it was put in hand. The equestrian statue, cast in brass by the younger Bacon, was not set up until 1808.

England Threatened.

A threat to England and the British Empire, which does not sound promising in view of the Premier's peace proposals at the forthcoming Hague Conference, is contained in The Neue Politische Correspondenz, a Berlin news agency, which is often the medium for the official utterance of the German Government.

"England is a Colossus with feet of clay. She will do well not to provoke too heatedly the world-historic decision as to whom the supremacy in Europe belongs," it says. "If she continues in this course, even the entente cordiale need have no terrors for us.

"Germany has at present 5,560,000 soldiers, who are available not on paper but actually. The French army has become perceptibly disorganised.

"We wish sincerely to live in peace with France and England but that can only be if England henceforth refrains from a diplomatic policy which sooner or later must lead to war—a war which as we are firmly convinced, will be the beginning of the end for the British Empire."

"Where do you suppose that squall is coming from?" asked the amateur yachtsman. "I don't know," replied the head of a small but obstreperous family, "unless it is coming from the cradle of the deep."

A swarm of bees contains from 10,000 to 20,000 in a natural state, in a hive from 30,000 to 40,000 bees.

MR. DEVEY MAKES A CORRECTION

Northampton Cross Not That Illustrated —Mr. Devey Well Acquainted With That Locality.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—In last night's issue appeared an account of the Queen Eleanor Crosses, with an illustration purporting to be of the cross erected near Northampton. May I be allowed to state that the Northampton Cross has no housed near it, being open to the Watling street road on the west side; the north-east and south sides enclosed by the park wall, a solid stone erection five feet high. Within a few yards of this wall runs a line of magnificent trees, forming in summer time a charming sitting to the old monument, which, with the impressive, stillness of its surroundings, forms a truly fitting memorial of the grief of the proud Edward over the loss of his Queen. Frequent cycling trips through the roads and lovely lanes of this part of England, brought me into contact with "Queen Eleanor's Cross" as are thousands of others year by year. Thanking you in anticipation for this insertion, I am, Sir,

Yours truly,

R. J. DEVEY.

Government Asks For Tenders For Bridge

New Dam and Bridge at Buckhorn Will be Erected—Tenders Up to May 15th.

PLANS AT LOCAL OFFICE

The Department of Railways and Canals of the Dominion Government is advertising for tenders for the building of a concrete dam and highway bridge at Buckhorn. This would indicate that the promise made to the County Council, when that body waited on the Minister of Railways and Canals at Ottawa during the past winter, will be redeemed, and that not only will the dam be reconstructed, but that the bridge will be built as well, and the county thus relieved of what would otherwise be a considerable expense, that of erecting a new bridge at this point.

Tenders for this work will be received up to May 15, and plans and specifications of the work may be seen at the office of the superintending engineer of the Trent Canal, at Peterborough, as well as at the Department Offices at Ottawa.

INTERESTING ESSAY WAS GIVEN

Closing Meeting of the Series Under the Auspices of Ladies' Literary Society of St. Peter's T. A. S.

MISS McGRATH'S PAPER

An essay of a high degree of literary excellence and a bright musical programme combined to make the closing meeting of the Ladies Literary society of St. Peter's T. A. S., held last evening, a most successful one.

Miss K. McGrath was the essayist of the evening and delighted the audience by the reading of a most interesting essay on "A Few of Shakespere's Heroines." Miss McGrath introduced her subject by comparing Shakespere's heroes and heroines Ruskin says that Shakespere has no heroes, he has only heroines; that outside of Henry V. and Valentine, in the "Two Gentlemen of Verona," there is not one heroic figure in all his plays. On the other hand he claims that among all the principal figures in Shakespere's plays there is only one weak woman—Ophelia and three wicked women, Lady Macbeth, Regan and Goneril; and he might have added Queen Gertrude of Hamlet and Cymbeline's Queen, for they, too, play a rather important part in their different places. These are, of course, exceptions to the ordinary laws of life and almost inhuman in their conceptions of wickedness. When we consider that Shakespere created over one hundred and fifteen female characters, we cannot but appreciate his testimony to the position and character of women in human life.

Beginning with Portia, the most known woman among Shakespere's characters, a thoroughly superior character upon whom Shakespere has not hesitated to heap all the active qualities of which he deprived Antonio, Miss McGrath in beautiful language gave brief descriptions of a few of Shakespere's heroines, among them being, Portia, wife of Brutus; Lady Macbeth; Cordelia, King Lear's faithful daughter, and one of the tenderest of Shakespere's creations; Imogen, Juliet, Helen, who plays such a heroic part in "All's Well That Ends Well"; Rosalind, who is probably the most universally known in Shakespere's comedies, being sprightliness itself, fresh as the morning, sweet as the dew-awakened flowers and light as the breeze that plays among them, and Beatrice, who is equally sprightly and witty but more dazzling.

Following Miss McGrath then stated that there were many more beautiful pen portraits found in Shakespere's which richly deserve mention but it would be impossible to do them anything like justice in a sketch of this kind.

The essay, which was interspersed throughout with Shakesperian quotations, was of a decidedly intellectual nature and proved to be highly interesting and most instructive.

The essay was prefaced by a musical programme which was rendered in a pleasing manner and which demonstrated remarkable ability on the part of the performers.

The following was the musical programme, introduced by Miss Kane, who occupied the chair for the evening.

Instrumental—Miss Picard.
Vocal Solo—Miss Guerin.
Recitation—Miss Mona Sullivan.
Vocal Solo—Miss Josie Clancy.

A Campaign Of Slaughter

Even since Red Sunday, of awful memory to St. Petersburg and to the world at large, something of the nature of a reign of terror has prevailed in Russia, awful in its results, although lacking anything like organized revolution. According to latest statistics received from that hapless country, a campaign of slaughter is in progress. Since August nearly eleven hundred men and women have been hanged or shot under sentence of drum-head court-martial, execution, as a rule, following within forty-eight hours of sentence. In the same period the assassination of crown officers, soldiers and civilians numbered 1242. Added to these are about 2000 innocent bystanders, who have been killed during changes of troops and bomb-throwing by revolutionists. This makes a total sacrifice of lives during the period mentioned of 4300. The worst of it is that there seems no end to such a course of counter reprisals by the Government and the people. The temporary suspension of executions under court-martial sentence by no means guarantees a permanent change of ministerial policy, being regarded as simply an expedient to still the radicalism of the Duma. Unhappily, too, the leniency of the Government is not followed by an abatement of the crimes of the Terrorists. Peace in Russia seems impossible while each side fears and distrusts the other, and consequently there is no perceptible advancement toward a practicable system of representative government. The black record of the past seven months cannot but dishearten those who have fondly hoped for Russian liberty.

LARDER LAKE GOLD; BLUE BELL PUSHING AHEAD

New Liskeard, Ont., April 26.—The Larder Lake stampede still continues and is growing from day to day. Excitement runs high owing to the statements and reports from mining engineers and miners coming out of the wonderful finds and strikes made in that district.

The Blue Bell Company started two large crews of men from here today with complete outfits for establishing camps and commencing active development, preparatory to installing twelve stamp mills upon their properties, which are reported to be marvelously rich. It is claimed this company will be the first to send out gold and that the results will astonish the outside world.

DOCTORS USING PATENT MEDICINES

The Honest Physician is Anxious to Cure and Uses the Best Available Remedies.

The proposed legislation through the Dominion Parliament for the regulation of the manufacture and sale of patent or proprietary medicines is of the utmost importance, and it is receiving a great deal of attention, not only by the proprietary medicine manufacturers, but also by the leading doctors and druggists. Every manufacturer of reliable and high class remedies welcomes the bill as a step in the right direction. The discussion has brought out the fact that the best physicians in Canada and on the continent approve of and prescribe Psychine in cases of the most difficult character. In a recent instance of very serious throat and lung trouble the patient had been using Psychine. Two leading United States specialists were consulted, in addition to two eminent Canadian physicians. Upon learning what the patient was using, a sample of Psychine was taken and analysed, with the result that the physicians advised its continuance. They prescribed no other medicine but Psychine, with the result that the patient has fully recovered and is a splendid walking and talking advertisement for the wonderful curative power of a remedy that will "stand up" before the keenest professional criticism and analysis. As a builder up of the system and restorer of all wasted conditions, Psychine has no equal, and the best and most earnest physicians recognise this fact.

"At the age of 25 my lungs were in a terrible state. I had la grippe the year before; it settled on my lungs and I kept steadily growing worse till I got down so low I was in bed for six weeks. I had a consultation of doctors, and they said they could do nothing more for me. Then I started to use Psychine. I took the medicine for more than a year. It certainly did wonders for me. I am now as strong as I was before my sickness."

MRS. H. HOPE,
Morpeth, Ont.

Psychine, pronounced Si-keen, is the greatest of tonics, building up the system, increasing the appetite, purifying the blood, aids digestion, and acts directly upon the throat and lungs, giving tone and vigor to the entire system. At all druggists, 50c. and $1, or Dr. T. A. Slocum, Limited, 179 King Street West, Toronto.

gold and glowing on the red earth new turned by the plough and the broad tangle of the woodlands. The road in front of us grew bleaker and wilder over huge russet and olive slopes, sprinkled with giant boulders. Now and then we passed a moorland cottage, walled and roofed with stone, with no creeper to break its harsh outline. Suddenly we looked down into a cup-like depression, patched with stunted oaks and firs which had been twisted and bent by the fury of years of storm. Two high, narrow towers rose over the trees. The driver pointed with his whip.

"Baskerville Hall," said he.

Its master had risen and was staring with flushed cheeks and shining eyes. A few minutes later we had reach the lodge gates, a maze of fantastic tracery in wrought iron, with weather-bitten pillars on either side, blotched with lichens, and surmounted by the boars' heads of the Baskervilles. The lodge was a ruin of black granite and bared ribs of rafters, but facing it was a new building, half constructed, the first fruit of Sir Charles's South African gold.

Through the gateway we passed into the avenue, where the wheels were again hushed amid the leaves, and the old trees shot their branches in a sombre tunnel over our head. Baskerville shuddered as he looked up the long, dark drive to where the house glimmered like a ghost at the farther end.

"Was it here?" he asked, in a low voice.

"No, no, the Yew Alley is on the other side."

The young heir glanced round with a gloomy face.

"It's no wonder my uncle felt as if trouble were coming on him in such a place as this," said he. "It's enough to scare any man. I'll have a row of electric lamps up here inside of six months, and you won't know it again, with a thousand candle-power Swan and Edison right here in front of the hall door."

The avenue opened into a broad expanse of turf, and the house lay before us. In the fading light I could see that the centre was a heavy block of building from which a porch projected. The whole front was draped in ivy, with a patch clipped bare here and there where a window or a coat-of-arms broke through the dark veil. From this central block rose the twin towers, ancient, crenelated, and pierced with many loopholes. To right and left of the turrets were more modern wings of black granite. A dull light shone through heavy mullioned windows, and from the high chimneys which rose from the steep, high-angled roof there sprang a single black column of smoke.

"Welcome, Sir Henry! Welcome, to Baskerville Hall!"

A tall man had stepped from the shadow of the porch to open the door of the wagonette. The figure of a woman was silhouetted against the yellow light of the hall. She came out and helped the man to hand down our bags.

"You don't mind my driving straight home, Sir Henry?" said Dr. Mortimer. "My wife is expecting me."

"Surely you will stay and have some dinner?"

"No, I must go. I shall probably find some work awaiting me. I would stay to show you over the house, but Barrymore will be a better guide than I. Good-bye, and never hesitate night or day to send for me if I can be of service."

The wheels died away down the drive while Sir Henry and I turned into the hall, and the door clanged heavily behind us. It was a fine apartment in which we found ourselves, large, lofty, and heavily raftered with huge balks of age-blackened oak. In the great old-fashioned fireplace behind the high iron dogs a log-fire crackled and snapped. Sir Henry and I held out our hands to it, for we were numb from our long drive. Then we gazed round us at the high, thin window of old stained glass, the oak panelling, the stags' heads, the coat-of-arms upon the walls, all dim and sombre in the subdued light of the central lamp.

"It's just as I imagined it," said Sir Henry. "Is it not the very picture of an old family home? To think that this should be the same hall in which for five hundred years my people have lived. It strikes me solemn to think of it."

I saw his dark face lit up with a boyish enthusiasm as he gazed about him. The light beat upon him where he stood, but long shadows trailed down the walls and hung like a black canopy above him. Barrymore had returned from taking our luggage to our rooms. He stood in front of us now with the subdued manner of a well-trained servant. He was a remarkable-looking man, tall, handsome, with a square black beard, and pale, distinguished features.

"Would you wish dinner to be served at once, sir?"

"Is it ready?"

"In a very few minutes, sir. You will find hot water in your rooms. My wife and I will be happy, Sir Henry, to stay with you until you have made your fresh arrangements, but you will understand that under the new conditions this house will require a considerable staff."

"What new conditions?"

"I only meant, sir, that Sir Charles led a very retired life, and we were able to look after his wants. You would, naturally, wish to have more company, and so you will need changes in your household."

"Do you mean that your wife and you wish to leave?"

"Only when it is quite convenient to you, sir."

"But your family have been with us for several generations, have they not? I should be sorry to begin my life here by breaking an old family connection."

I seem to discern some signs of emotion upon the butler's white face.

"I feel that also, sir, and so does my wife. But to tell the truth, sir, we were both very much attached to Sir Charles, and his death gave us a shock and made these surroundings very painful to us. I fear that we shall never again be easy in our minds at Baskerville Hall."

"But what do you intend to do?"

"I have no doubt, sir, that we shall succeed in establishing ourselves in some business. Sir Charles's generosity has given us the means to do so. And now, sir, perhaps I had best show you to your rooms."

A square balustraded gallery ran round the top of the old hall, approached by a double stair. From this central point two long corridors extended the whole length of the building, from which all the bedrooms opened. My own was in the same wing as Baskerville's and almost next door to it. These rooms appeared to be much more modern than the central part of the house, and the bright paper and numerous candles did something to remove the sombre impression which our arrival had left upon my mind.

But the dining-room which opened out of the hall was a place of shadow and gloom. It was a long chamber with a step separating the dais where the family sat from the lower portion reserved for their dependents. At one end a minstrel's gallery overlooked it. Black beams shot across above our heads, with a smoke-darkened ceiling beyond them. With rows of flaring torches to light it up, and the color and rude hilarity of an old-time banquet, it might have softened; but now, when two black-clothed gentlemen sat in the little circle of light thrown by a shaded lamp, one's voice became hushed and one's spirit subdued. A dim line of ancestors, in every variety of dress, from the Elizabethan knight to the buck of the Regency, stared down upon us and daunted us by their silent company. We talked little, and I for one was glad when the meal was over and we were able to retire into the modern billiard-room and smoke a cigarette.

"My word, it isn't a very cheerful place," said Sir Henry. "I suppose one can tone down to it, but I feel a bit out of the picture at present. I don't wonder that my uncle got a little jumpy if he lived all alone in such a house as this. However, if it suits you, we will retire early to-night, and perhaps things may seem more cheerful in the morning."

I drew aside my curtains before I went to bed and looked out from my window. It opened upon the grassy space which lay in front of the hall door. Beyond, two copses of trees moaned and swung in a rising wind. A half moon broke through the rifts of racing clouds. In its cold light I saw beyond the trees a broken fringe of rocks, and the long, low curve of the melancholy moor. I closed the curtain, feeling that my last impression was in keeping with the rest.

And yet it was not quite the last. I found myself weary and yet wakeful, tossing restlessly from side to side, seeking for the sleep which would not come. Far away a chiming clock struck out the quarters of the hours, but otherwise a deathly silence lay upon the old house. And then suddenly, in the very dead of the night, there came a sound to my ears, clear, resonant, and unmistakable. It was the sob of a woman, the muffled, strangling gasp of one who is torn by an uncontrollable sorrow. I sat up in bed and listened intently. The noise could not have been far away and was certainly in the house. For half an hour I waited with every nerve on the alert, but there came no other sound save the chimney clock and the rustle of the ivy on the wall.

CHAPTER VII.

The fresh beauty of the following morning did something to efface from our minds the grim and grey impression which had been left upon both of us by our first experience of Baskerville Hall. As Sir Henry and I sat at breakfast the sunlight flooded in through the high mullioned windows, throwing watery patches of color from the coats of arms which covered them. The dark panelling glowed like bronze in the golden rays, and it was hard to realise that this was indeed the chamber which had struck such a gloom into our souls upon the evening before.

"I guess it is ourselves and not the house that we have to blame!" said the baronet. "We were tired with our journey and chilled by our drive, so we took a grey view of the place. Now we are fresh and well, so it is all cheerful once more."

"And yet it was not entirely a question of imagination," I answered. "Did you, for example, happen to hear someone, a woman I think, sobbing in the night?"

"That is curious, for I did when I was half asleep fancy that I heard something of the sort. I waited quite a time, but there was no more of it, so I concluded that it was all a dream."

"I heard it distinctly, and I am sure that it was really the sob of a woman."

"We must ask about this right away." He rang the bell and asked Barrymore whether he could account for our experience. It seemed to me that the pallid features of the butler turned a shade paler still as he listened to his master's question.

"There are only two women in the house, Sir Henry," he answered. "One is the scullery-maid, who sleeps in the other wing. The other is my wife, and I can answer for it that the sound could not have come from her."

And yet he lied as he said it, for it chanced that after breakfast I met Mrs. Barrymore in the long corridor with the sun full upon her face. She was a large, impassive, heavy-featured woman with a stern set expression of mouth. But her tell-tale eyes were red and glanced at me from between swollen lids. It was she, then, who wept in the night, and if she did so her husband must know it. Yet he had taken the obvious risk of discovery in declaring that it was not so. Why had he done this? And why did she weep so bitterly? Already round this pale-faced, handsome, black-bearded man there was gathering an atmosphere of mystery and of gloom. It was he who had been the first to discover the body of Sir Charles, and we had only his word for all the circumstances which led up to the old man's death. Was it possible that it was Barrymore after all whom we had seen in the cab in Regent Street? The beard might well have been the same. The cabman had described a somewhat shorter man, but such an impression might easily have been erroneous. How could I settle the point for ever? Obviously the first thing to do was to see the Grimpen postmaster, and find whether the test telegram had really been placed in Barrymore's own hands. Be the answer what it might, I should at least have something to report to Sherlock Holmes.

Sir Henry had numerous papers to examine after breakfast, so that the time was propitious for my excursion. It was a pleasant walk of four miles along the edge of the moor, leading me at last to a small grey hamlet, in which two larger buildings, which proved to be the inn and the house of Dr. Mortimer, stood high above the rest. The postmaster, who was also the village grocer, had a clear recollection of the telegram.

"Certainly, sir," said he, "I had the telegram delivered to Mr. Barrymore exactly as directed."

"Who delivered it?"

"My boy here. James, you delivered that telegram to Mr. Barrymore at the Hall last week, did you not?"

"Yes, father, I delivered it."

"Into his own hands?" I asked.

"Well, he was up in the loft at the time, so that I could not put it into his own hands, but I gave it into Mrs. Barrymore's hands, and she promised to deliver it at once."

"Did you see Mr. Barrymore?"

"No, sir; I tell you he was in the loft."

"If you didn't see him, how do you know he was in the loft?"

"Well, surely his own wife ought to know where he is," said the postmaster, testily. "Didn't he get the telegram? If there is any mistake it is for Mr. Barrymore himself to complain."

It seemed hopeless to pursue the inquiry any farther, but it was clear that in spite of Holmes's ruse we had no proof that Barrymore had not been in London all the time. Suppose that it were so—suppose that the same man had been the last who had seen Sir Charles alive, and the first to dog the new heir when he returned to England. What then? Was he the agent of others or had he some sinister design of his own? What interest could he have in persecuting the Baskerville family? I thought of the strange warning clipped out of the leading article of the Times. Was that his work or was it possibly the doing of someone who was bent upon counteracting his schemes? The only conceivable motive was that which had been suggested by Sir Henry, that if the family could be scared away a comfortable and permanent home would be secured for the Barrymores. But surely such an explanation as that would be quite inadequate to account for the deep and subtle scheming which seemed to be weaving an invisible net round the young baronet. Holmes himself had said that no more complex case had come to him in all the long series of his sensational investigations. I prayed, as I walked back along the grey, lonely road, that my friend might soon be freed from his preoccupations and able to come down to take this heavy burden of responsibility from my shoulders.

Suddenly my thoughts were interrupted by the sound of running feet behind me and by a voice which called me by name. I turned, expecting to see Dr. Mortimer, but to my surprise it was a stranger who was pursuing me. He was a small, slim, clean-shaven, prim-faced man, flaxen-haired and lean-jawed, between thirty and forty years of age, dressed in a grey suit and wearing a straw hat. A tin box for botanical specimens hung over his shoulder and he carried a green butterfly-net in one of his hands.

"You will, I am sure, excuse my presumption, Dr. Watson," said he, as he came panting up to where I stood. "Here on the moor we are homely folk and do not wait for formal introductions. You may possibly have heard my name from our mutual friend, Mortimer. I am Stapleton, of Merripit House."

"Your net and box would have told me as much," said I, "for I knew that Mr. Stapleton was a naturalist. But how did you know me?"

"I have been calling on Mortimer, and he pointed you out to me from the window of his surgery as you passed. As our road lay the same way I thought that I would overtake you and introduce myself. I trust that Sir Henry is none the worse for his journey?"

"He is very well, thank you."

"We were all rather afraid that after the sad death of Sir Charles the new baronet might refuse to live here. It is asking much of a wealthy man to come and bury himself in a place of this kind, but I need not tell you that it means a very great deal to the country-side. Sir Henry has, I suppose, no superstitious fears in the matter?"

"I do not think that it is likely?"

"Of course you know the legend of the fiend dog which haunts the family?"

"I have heard it."

"It is extraordinary how credulous the peasants are about here! Any number of them are ready to swear that they have seen such a creature upon the moor." He spoke with a smile, but I seemed to read in his eyes that he took the matter more seriously. "The story took a great hold upon the imagination of Sir Charles, and I have no doubt that it led to his tragic end."

"But how?"

"His nerves were so worked up that the appearance of any dog might have had a fatal effect upon his diseased heart. I fancy that he really did see something of the kind upon that last night in the Yew Alley. I feared that some disaster might occur, for I was very fond of the old man, and I knew that his heart was weak."

"How did you know that?"

"My friend Mortimer told me."

"You think, then, that some dog pursued Sir Charles, and that he died of fright in consequence?"

"Have you any better explanation?"

"I have not come to any conclusion."

"Has Mr. Sherlock Holmes?"

The words took away my breath for an instant, but a glance at the placid face and steadfast eyes of my companion showed that no surprise was intended.

"It is useless for us to pretend that we do not know you, Dr. Watson," said he, "The records of your detective have reached us here, and you could not celebrate him without being known yourself. When Mortimer told me your name he could not deny your identity. If you are here, then it follows that Mr. Sherlock Holmes is interesting himself in the matter, and I am naturally curious to know what view he may take."

"I am afraid that I cannot answer that question."

"May I ask if he is going to honor us with a visit himself?"

"He cannot leave town at present. He has other cases which engage his attention."

"What a pity! He might throw some light on that which is so dark to us. But as to your own researches, if there is any possible way in which I can be of service to you I trust that you will command me. If I had any indication of the nature of your suspicions, or how you propose to investigate the case, I might perhaps even now give you some aid or advice."

"I assure you that I am simply here upon a visit to my friend Sir Henry, and that I need no help of any kind."

"Excellent!" said Stapleton. "You are perfectly right to be wary and discreet. I am justly reproved for what I feel was an unjustifiable intrusion, and I promise you that I will not mention the matter again."

We had come to a point where a narrow grassy path struck off from the road and wound away across the moor. A steep, boulder-sprinkled hill lay upon the right which had in bygone days been cut into a granite quarry. The face which was turned towards us formed a dark cliff, with ferns and brambles growing in its niches. From over a distant rise there floated a grey plume of smoke.

"A moderate walk along this moor-path brings us to Merripit House," said he. "Perhaps you will spare an hour that I may have the pleasure of introducing you to my sister."

My first thought was that I should be by Sir Henry's side. But when I remembered the pile of papers and bills with which his study table was littered. It was certain that I could not help him with those. And Holmes had expressly said that I should study the neighbors upon the moor. I accepted Stapleton's invitation, and we turned together down the path.

"It is a wonderful place, the moor," said he, looking round over the undulating downs, long green rollers, with crests of jagged granite foaming up into fantastic surges. "You never tire of the moor. You cannot think the wonderful secrets which it contains. It is so vast, and so barren, and so mysterious."

"You know it well, then?"

"I have only been here two years. The residents would call me a new comer. We came shortly after Sir Charles settled. But my tastes led me to explore every part of the country

LONDON "TAXICABS."

Ordinary Cabbies Learn to Use Choicest Billingsgate About Them.

After a week's trial of the new taximeter motor cars or taxicab, as it is already christened for short, it is pronounced on all sides an unqualified success, though the drivers will have hard work in living down the contempt of the London cabby, who, unable to compete with his smartly uniformed rival with his swift red Renault, vents his humor in the choicest Billingsgate whenever the other is in earshot.

Sixty-three new taxicabs were recently put in service and caught on from the start. Naturally, many persons had been anxious to engage vehicles for short trial runs, as with them one may go a mile for eightpence, whereas with the ordinary cab a shilling is the lowest fare. This the drivers soon learned and many persons who tried to engage taxicabs for such runs found their attempts regarded by the drivers with undisguised contempt, waiting, as it were, for a larger fare.

Increase Their Earnings.

The police, however, issued a warning to the proprietors of the vehicles, intimating that in such cases the driver's license might be taken away. The effect has been salutary.

The earnings of some drivers have been the envy of Jehus. They were guaranteed 7s 8d ($1.80) by the proprietors. One driver during the first two days made more than £3 $(15). It has been found that the taximetar has not killed tips, for one driver on Sunday received 12s. ($5.28) in tips.

The taxicab, by the way, promises to give almost as much sport to the Londoner as it did to the Parisian when it was introduced on the fiacre or horse cab over there.

One famous joke, however, we in London will not be able to carry through. The Parisian fiacres show a little ticket "Libre," when disengaged, and a Parisian joker in these circumstances approached and cried, "Cocher, etes vous libre?" The cocher would eagerly reply, "Oui, Monsieur," to which the joker would respond with "Alons, vive la liberte!"

They Had to Run.

Then he had to run before the cocher lashed out, because for fat men they are marvellously quick with a whip.

As in the fiacre the London taxicab immediately clinks around to the minimum fare of eightpence. It will thus be possible for a Londoner to experience the sensations that occurred in the bosom of one who was once in a Parisian fiacre. It was his first taximeter ride, and, like a true Briton, he was not sure that he might not after all be "done." The fiacre had hadly started when the dial darted to seventy-five centimes.

He was up and at the cocher's voluminous blue coat tails. "Hi, look here!" he shouted in English. "Stop, you blank blank! If it is to cost seventy-five cents for crossing the street, what the blank will it be before we get to the morgue?"

The taxicab is an eight-horse power machine, with dark red body and yellow chassis. The uniforms of the drivers are gray. They seat four passengers.

Giantess In London.

"I like London because it is big—very big," artlessly admits Mariedl, the lady from the Tyrol, who stands over eight feet high and who is appearing just now in the capital. Her first English breakfast, on her arrival at Queenborough, consisted of:

Fourteen boiled eggs.
Three pints of tea.
Two ounces of butter.
Half-a-dozen rolls.

Afterwards she read a few pages from her prayer-book—for she is devoutly religious—and indulged in a short "nap."

Unlike most physiological curiosities, as, for instance, some giants, who are totally illiterate, "the tallest woman in the world" is gifted with a clear, if slow, intellect, and can read and write fluently. Hers is a kindly, sympathetic nature, not unlike that of children, of whom, by the way, she is particularly fond. Nearly all her spare time is employed in knitting stockings, gloves, and mittens for the little boys and girls of her native village. They appear very little to her.

The Tyrolese giantess is said to be only 27, and therefore, adds her impresario, is still marriageable. She does not pretend to supreme beauty, but proudly claims to stand higher than anyone else of her sex, being over eight feet tall and 23st, 11 lb. in weight.

Her voice is a deep bass, sounding like a man's.

A Bishop and the Idols.

Bishop Thornton, says The London Chronicle, who has announced his intention of going from Blackburn to Birmingham to inquire into the truth of the familiar charge that idols are manufactured in the metropolis of the Midlands and exported to pagan lands, was a Birmingham vicar, when he was selected to go out to Australia as the first Bishop of Ballarat. There he had some practical experience of paganism, for Ballarat has a Chinese "camp" or quarter in which Church of England missionaries labor and make an occasional convert to Christianity. As a Whitechapel curate, Dr. Thornton was an energetic open-air preacher, and twice came into conflict with the police for obstructing the traffic in the Mile End Road.

Rains All the Time.

There is a group of islands to the south of New Zealand called the Sisters, or Seven Sisters, which are reputed to be subjected to a practically constant rainfall. The same may be said of the islands and mainland of Tierra del Fuego, saving for the difference that the rain often takes the form of sleet and snow. In a zone running round the world from four to eight or nine degrees wide there are patches over which rain seldom ceases to fall. This is called the "zone of constant precipitation," but at the same time there are several localities along it with very little rainfall.

Extenuating.

A Frenchman was convicted of killing his mother-in-law. When asked if he had anything to say for himself before taking sentence, he said, "Nothing, excepting I lived with her twenty-one years and never did it before."

LOYALTY TO THE EMPIRE.

Premier of Transvaal, Lately Against Us, Talks Common Sense.

Before Gen. Botha became head of the Transvaal Ministry he made a statement meant for publication in England. He declared:

affairs. Having got free government, our natural desire is, and our sole endeavor will be, to so govern that the country shall prosper and the two races be drawn together. At Vereeniging I signed the treaty of peace. I then solemnly accepted your King and your flag. They are now our King and our flag. People talk about our hostility to the mines.

"We simply object to the men who run the mines also running the country. Had I wished ill to the mining industry as such, I had the fullest opportunity during the war of wrecking the works along the Witwatersrand reef. I recognized then that my people must look to the mines for help, and, as I protected the mines then so shall I see that they are not injured now. This talk of wholesale Chinese expatriation regardless of consequences is nonsense. I say emphatically that nothing shall be done to embarass the mines so far as unskilled labor is concerned. We want to pursue a just and liberal policy. It is an accepted principle that English shall be the compulsory language. As regards education generally, we are prepared to work on the basis of the compromise which was reached fifteen months ago by representatives of the Volkites and the official representatives of the Government."

WOMAN'S TRIALS.

Can be Banished by the Rich, Red Blood Dr. Williams Pink Pills Actually Make

The health and happiness of growing girls and women of mature years depends upon the blood supply. There is a crisis in the life of every woman when there are distressing headaches and backaches; when life seems a burden and when some women seem threatened with even the loss of their reason; It is at this period that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills prove a blessing to women. Every dose increases the richness and the redness of the blood supply, and this new blood strengthens the organs, enables them to throw off disease and banishes the headaches and backaches and dizziness and secret pains that have made life a burden. There are thousands and thousands of growing girls and women in Canada who owe their health and happiness to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Mrs. James McDonald, of Sugar Camp, Ont., is one of these. She says:—"I was badly run down, felt very weak and had no appetite. I suffered from headaches and backaches and a feeling of weakness. I could scarcely drag myself about and felt that my condition was growing worse. I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and got six dozen boxes, but before they were all used I had fully regained my health, and was able to do my housework without the least fatigue. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have been a great blessing to me."

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People from any medicine dealer or by mail from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50. If you are weak or ailing give these pills a fair trial—they will Clever With the Cards.

Some years ago a certain county jail was undergoing extensive alterations, during which time a gang of pickpockets, four in number, were arrested one market day. Owing to the alterations the lot were confined for a time in one cell, but were placed under strict surveillance, the care of them being specially intrusted to the sergeant. The day after during his rounds he spied them playing cards, when he promptly opened the door and summoned a fellow constable, on whose arrival the cell and the prisoners were most carefully searched, but no cards were found. However, the card playing still continued until the day on which the pickpockets were to be sent to the assizes for trial. Then the superintendent, a very kind man and a great favorite with every one, asked them as a favor to tell him where they had hidden the cards. They told him that as soon as the sergeant and his comrade entered their cell they stuck the pack in his pocket and picked it again before he left, as a proof of which they presented him with the much used pack

Charles Stewart Parnell.

Many people believe that Ireland's "uncrowned king" did more for the good and prosperity of the Emerald Isle than any other politician and reformer of the nineteenth century. His methods and those of his supporters may not have been agreeable to thousands of Englishmen, but no one can deny that the reforms he carried through improved the lot of Irishmen generally; and above all they had the ultimate effect of lessening, to a very large extent, the hostile feeling felt at one time by the peasants against English landlords and rulers.

HISTORIC HOUSE GONE.

Burning of Deer Lodge, Winnipeg, Breaks Link With the Past.

Who that has been to Winnipeg has not seen Deer Lodge, the quaint old road house on the road to Portage la Prairie, near Lord Strathcona's place, called Silver Heights, where everybody goes to "see the buffalo." This old house was burned down a short time ago, and while many references were made to it, perhaps the most interesting was one in The Edmonton Bulletin, given below, compiled from the recollections of an old fur trader, who knew the house "in its first glory." The fire occurred on the same night that witnessed in Pennsylvania the burning of John Wanamaker's handsome country seat. In the latter the flames destroyed over a million dollars' worth of property, rare tapestry and paintings and antique furniture in fifty rooms. On the other hand Deer Lodge was only valued at $10,000, but with its passing went one of the few historical buildings of our young West.

Built by a Fur Magnate.

It was built in 1859 by John Rowan, son of the Chief Factor Rowan, who built the first Big House within the walls of Fort Edmonton in the early part of last century, as Chief Factor Hardisty built the second Big House outside the fort. Mr. Harrison Young, from whom this information was obtained, states that this John Rowan was for many years employed with the Hudson Bay Co. in Edmonton district. He was for several years in charge of Fort Pitt. Mr. Rowan later went down to the Red River district, and was noted as being one of the old brigade of Hudson Bay factors, who was largely instrumental in the carrying through of the negotiations which finally resulted in the amalgamation of the Hudson Bay Co. and Northwest Trading Co. These great rivals had repeatedly come to blows in their efforts to secure the fur trade of the West, and their rivalry had resulted in a practical cessation of all attempts to settle the country. Traders and settlers were involved in the dispute, which resulted in civil war, massacre and murder.

Residence of Speaker McKay.

Deer Lodge was rendered notable as being the residence of the late Hon. James McKay, who was Speaker of the Legislature under the Gerrard-Davis Administration, and afterwards a member of the Davis Government, who resided there from 1860 to 1878. Mr. McKay was the husband of Margaret Rowan. Mr. McKay made the place famous as a stock farm, and in many of the records of the time, and up to 1879, his thoroughbreds are mentioned.

The lodge was constructed of hewn logs, chinked with mortar, the outside being covered with sheeting. It was a storey and a half in height, surrounded on three sides by a piazza and upper balcony, and decorated at each peak of the roof by a set of deer horns, from which it took its name. The grounds surrounding were heavily wooded, and laid out in handsome flower beds and garden plants.

Of recent years it has been used as a hostelry, and while additions have been made to accommodate the increased business of the hotel the main structure remained unchanged.

The proprietor, Mr. Chadwick, maintained a sort of small zoo with many interesting animals, in the beautiful woodlands about the lodge, and anyone who has had the pleasure of treating the big bear to 'pop will not easily forget the incident. The ardent way in which Bruin seized the bottle from your hands and held it to his mouth—tilting it to drain the last drop—was exceedingly amusing. And big, clumsy, clever Bruin almost seemed aware of your amusement.

LARDER LAKE UNDERWRITERS' SYNDICATE

We extend an invitation to investors to join us in taking over the first issue of shares, which we have agreed to purchase of the Larder Lake Blue Bell Gold Mines, Limited, at the first ground floor price of 10 cents per share. The Company has just been organized and will be managed by experienced mining men of highest standing. The Company owns 27 well located gold claims, 1,080 acres in all, which have yielded extraordinary gold values, located in the new gold district of Larder Lake, 60 miles north of Cobalt, New Ontario, which will be systematically developed. All investors who join us will share in profits from this ground floor basis, participating in an immediate profit or increase in market value of shares of 500 per cent. On or about May 15th Law & Co. will in their customary vigorous manner place these shares upon the market by judicious advertising throughout Canada and the United States at fifty cents per share. All who join us will share with us in the profits therefrom.

The Trusts and Guarantee Company, 14 King Street west, Toronto, will act as Trustees for the Underwriters' Syndicate in receiving and holding the shares and issuing receipts therefor and also as Registrars and Transfer Agents for the Company.

Larder Lake Goldfields

As stated in my news letters last summer I then began investigating the Larder Lake district north of Cobalt. I have done so thoroughly, and from personal investigation on the ground, the employment of reliable engineers and a corps of experienced prospectors, I and my associates have now ample proof of the great value of this field.

We know so surely what is there (and what immense probabilities there are as well) that we have already put nearly $150,000.00 cash into the field.

Our employees on the ground number nearly one hundred, and our stamp mill will very soon be in operation

I am a practical mining man, and I need hardly say that we would not put in such money and work unless fully justified.

The width of the veins or reefs in sight, and the values they bear when such width is considered, is extraordinary. In Africa such reefs are profitably mined when bearing but a few pennyweights of gold to the ton—at Larder Lake average assays from across many reefs run ounces of gold to the ton. An ounce is equal to $20, and the cost of mining and milling should not exceed $2.50

I and my associates see many millions of dollars of clean legitimate profits before us in these goldfields.

By forming a company, putting up our hard cash as stated above, and getting in first, we have secured thirty-seven forty acre claims which we believe to be the cream of the Larder Lake Goldfields.

Our present stamp mill is a small one. We want a larger mill—from 100 to 200 stamps—and we must spend money in opening up our large acreage.

We have put in considerable money, and, indeed, would carry the whole thing ourselves but that, like everything else, we have other interests to take care of.

We are therefore affording others the opportunity of joining us and sharing with us the large profits we are going to make—profits from dividends, and also from the increase of market value in our stock.

Our Company is known as the LARDER LAKE PROPRIETARY GOLDFIELDS, LIMITED, and among the directors and gentlemen identified with it are the following:—Col. G. Sterling Ryerson, Ex-M. P. P.; Senator L. V. Ulry; Lieut.-Col. A. N. Worthington, Member Dominion Parliament; T. Herbert Lennox, Member Provincial Parliament; Chas. H. Waterous, Ex-Mayor of Brantford; E. P. Bucke of "Granby" fame; Dr. D. H. Piper, of London; P. Kirkpatrick, M. E., Member National Geographical Society; Sylvester Jenckes, President Jenckes Machine Company; William Farwell, President Eastern Townships Bank; C. P. Brown, of Toronto; Dr. Preston, Member Provincial Parliament, and others of like standing.

For the purposes mentioned above a limited amount of stock is offered by the Underwriters (Canada Mines Limited) at their first ground floor price of $1.00 per share. This is being subscribed for rapidly and the next allotment will be at a materially advanced price. The stock will then be listed on the exchanges and placed on the New York and Boston curbs, when, as in every proposition I have been connected with, it will, without doubt, command a legitimate market at a still higher price.

This opportunity will not last long.

Those desiring further particulars, maps, detailed reports, etc., before joining us, please write, 'phone or telegraph me at once.

ST. PAUL'S MAY FALL.

Dangerous Condition of England's Famous Metropolitan Cathedral.

St. Paul's Cathedral is in real danger. One of its towers—that on the south-west—is in a desperate condition, and it is only too possible that the destruction of this part of the great pile may involve the ruin of the Cathedral as a whole, says The Mail.

Mr. Mervyn Macartney, the well-known architect, was recently appointed to examine the building and to issue an expert report upon it.

It appears that the whole of the south-west tower (the tower on the right hand as you stand facing the Cathedral) is in a desperate condition.

The substance of the soil just below has thrown it entirely out of balance. The authorities are now engaged in sinking wells to see if there is any hope of saving the tower by means of "underpinning."

Clear proof of the shifting of the tower is afforded by the mosaic at the foot of it, inside St. Paul's. This mosaic has a more or less geometrical pattern, and the centre of the pattern ought to be the centre, by scientific measurement, of the tower itself. But, according to this test, the centre has been shifted, and the solid masonry stands crookedly from the base.

Similarly, up in the first gallery, near the threatened tower, the solid blocks of masonry are beginning to separate.

Mr. Macartney's opinion is that practically nothing can be done to save the tower, and that the Cathedral itself is seriously threatened.

The truth is that St. Paul's has an enormous weight of dome, which is less firmly supported by aisles and transepts than the centre of a Gothic cathedral would be. What keeps the dome up, and, indeed, the whole building together, is a general balance or nice adjustment of all its parts. If one section shifts the whole is in danger.

The shifting of the soil is the cause of all the trouble. Is there any chance of the soil recovering? Mr. Macartney thinks not. He is decidedly pessimistic altogether.

St. Paul's is not old as cathedrals go. The first stone was laid by Wren in 1675, and the Cathedral was finished in 1710. It cost £1,511,202.

How He Entered Public Life.

The story of how Mr. Deakin, Prime Minister of Australia, came to enter public life is not generally known. In 1879 he was on the staff of the Melbourne Age. The electors of West Bourke sent a deputation to the proprietor of the Age, asking him to become their candidate. He declined, but mentioned that he had a very brilliant young man upon his staff whom he could recommend, and called Mr. Deakin, who accepted, and was elected. It was subsequently found that a complete poll had not been made at one small place, and Mr. Deakin, after taking his seat and moving the address in reply, resigned, challenged his opponent to another struggle, and was defeated by a narrow margin.

CHINAMEN FOR ENGLAND.

15,000 Celestials to Study Commercial and Industrial Conditions.

Arrangements are being made for the introduction into Great Britain of 15,000 young Chinamen, the sons of wealthy merchants, officials, and landowners, for the purpose of studying the industrial and commercial conditions of this country.

Captain Etti stated that he and his friends were starting a tourist emigration society in China to aid the importation of the students here, and if a goodf reception was accorded them, most important results would accrue to the commercial relations between Great Britain and China.

He produced a despatch from the Governor of Hunan, who heartily supported the scheme, and stated that he and other highly-placed officials were prepared to expend a large sum of money in its furtherance.

Captain Etti said it would all depend upon the way in which the students were received, as to whether or not the trade of Great Britain with China increased by £20,000,000 or £30,000,000 per year. "Unfortunately, there is at present a lot of bad feeling against the Chinese in this country, and unless that is stopped the students may not come here, but be diverted to Germany or Japan. I am trying to allay that feeling, and intend to ask for a Parliamentary Enquiry Commission to investigate the situation of Chinamen in England. A society will also be formed to protect Chinese interests here.

"I will do all in my power to assist the British Government, if they will reciprocate. All that is required is a stipulation that every Chinaman, before being allowed to land here, shall possess a health and character certificate from a Taotai, whose position corresponds with that of your chief town magistrate in this country. They always make the most searching investigations before granting such certificates, and it would only be possible for respectable and prosperous Chinamen to obtain them."

Tipping the Cook.

In old times to dine with a nobleman cost more in tips to the servants than a club dinner. Lord Poor, a well named Irish peer, excused himself from dining with the Duke of Ormond upon the ground that he could not afford it. "If you will give me the guinea I have to pay your cook, I will come as often as you choose to ask me"—which was accordingly done. The duke, however, had not the pluck to stop the tipping practice. Lord Taafe, a general officer in the Austrian service, did what he could. He always attended his guests to the door. When they put their hands into their pockets he said: "No, If you do give it, give it to me, for it was I who paid for your dinner." To Sir Timothy Waldo must be given the credit of putting an end to the monstrous practice. After dinner with the Duke of Newcastle he put a crown into the cook's hand. It was rejected. "I do not take silver, sir." "Very good. And I do not give gold." This courageous rejoinder "caught on," and the day of tails to cooks was over.—St. James' Gazette.

Nervous Prostration

IT IS WORRY THAT KILLS, NOT WORK

Work without worry usually tends to prolong life. On the other hand, worry, with or without work, is fatal, because it uses up what the Doctors call the "Lecithin," a phosphorized fat which is the chief constituent of the brain and nervous system—a waste which, if not stayed in time, means complete nervous wreck. The evident moral is "don't worry"—advice easy to give, and in these days of stress and strain practically impossible to take. The alternative is: find some way of replacing the wasted Lecithin—the phosphorized fat. This absolutely essential element will be found in its most perfect, palatable and assimilable form in

FERROL

To Visit England.

Among the visitors from India this season will be Prabhashankar D. Pattani, the most prominent statesman of the day in that part of India which is known as the principality of Kathiawad. He holds the responsible post of Prime Minister in the State of Bhavnagar, which has often been classed with Mysore as "the model States" of India.

Among his principal achievements in office have been successful measures of relief in coping with two famines, the launching of the first external loan by any Indian State for other purposes than railway construction, and the opening of the only port along the western coast of India, between Bombay and Kurrachee. In some countries work like this would have brought the doer a crop of decorations, but Mr. Pattani has only the satisfaction of having gained the confidence of his Prince and the esteem and gratitude of the people who have benefited by his administration.

Mr. Pattani is a profound thinker on Indian problems, and writes and speaks English with fluency and distinction. In his picturesque costume he will be a striking figure at official and social entertainments this year.

PENSIONS IN AUSTRALIA.

Provision For Old Age Devised by Royal Commission.

A report of great interest has been made by the Australian royal commission on Old-Age Pensions. The commission was appointed in 1906 to consider the existing state schemes and to devise a scheme for the whole Commonwealth. The systems at present in force are:

New South Wales: Maximum pension 10s a week; for married people 7s 6d a week each; may be claimed at the age of 65. Income, including pension, must not exceed £52 a year. Cost to state of 22,000 pensioners, £508,000.

New Zealand: Maximum 10s a week; in case of a married couple, joint income, including pension, must not exceed £90. May be claimed at 65, if claimant has been 25 years resident. Police magistrates administer, without boards, at trifling cost. Pensioners, 11,770; total cost, £295,000.

Victoria: Maximum 8s a week; at 65, or earlier in case of dangerous or unhealthy occupations; 20 years' residence. Income, including pension, must not exceed £20. Pensioners, 11,452; cost, £205,000.

The commissioners recommend a scheme of old-age pensions for the whole Commonwealth to be paid out of the consolidated revenue, as follows:

Maximum 10s a week, payable at 65, or, on conditions, at 60 in case of permanent indaparity. Payments fortnightly through postoffice. Total income, including pension, not to exceed £52. Estimated cost £2,500,000 a year.

The commissioners lay down that pensions should be granted as a right, not as a charity, though they propose that persons of drunken or disreputable habits shall be ineligible, and that in certain cases the allowances shall be suspended. They also suggest that a penalty shall be imposed for supplying a pensioner with intoxicating drink. They do not think the institution of pensions will discourage thrift, and suggest that the Government should encourage a spirit of independence by establishing an assurance system which would enable those wishing to provide for old age to do so with the certainty afforded by a Government guarantee.

TWO MEN SNOWED UP.

Hut Buried in Drift and They Have to Tunnel Out.

An Englishman named Morgan and a German friend of his have had a terrible experience on the Salzfluh, a mountain 9,285 feet high.

They left Schruns, on the frontier of Switzerland and Austria, with the intention of ascending the mountain on skis, and they took no guides with them.

Nothing was heard of them, and at the end of three days a search party was organized. It found no trace of the missing men, and Mr. Morgan and his friend were given up for lost.

They crawled into Schruns half dead from want of food and exhaustion.

When near the summit of the Sulzfluh they were overtaken by a blinding snowstorm, and after wandering about aimlessly for some time they discovered a hut, in which they took shelter.

Hour after hour the snow fell, until the hut was buried beneath it and they were close prisoners. Their only food for four days was two loaves of bread, and melted snow was their only drink.

Then Mr. Morgan, in desperation, burrowed through the drift round the hut, and forced a passage through the snow, which was waist-high in the open, followed by his German companion, who was even more exhausted than he was.

Both of them are reported to be well on the road to recovery.

The Queer Parson Bird.

Two splendid male specimens of the peo honey eater were recently acquired by the Zoological Society. Its throat is adorned with small white feathers, which, from their resemblance to clerical bands, have gained for it the name "parson bird." Its metallic green plumage, with bronze and purplish reflections, is very beautiful. Its long and rather slender beak is curved; it has rather large feet and the length of its tail is considerable.

Although somewhat rarely seen in this country alive, this bird is plentiful on both the north and south islands of New Zealand. It is a good songster and mimic, and its lively temperament renders it a most interesting cage bird. Its food consists of berries, insects, and honey. It has an extensile tongue, the tip of which is forked, and, being covered with fibres, forms a kind of brush, most useful to the parson bird in gathering its food.—Pall Mall Gazette.

Home For Lost Cats.

Lady Decies opened in the Fulham road, London, a home for lost cats, which may fairly be described as a cats' paradise. The only qualification for admission is homelessness, and the accommodation provided is most luxurious.

Outside there is a large wired-in run for exercise, furnished with a tree and a bed of mould. Inside, the sleeping quarters for the winter time consist not only of little wooden huts but of shelves, arranged like berths in a ship's cabin, which the inmates reach by vigorous springs from one to another of a series of brackets. The daily menu is most elaborate, and meals are served as follows:

Dinner—Cats' meat; fish, two days a week; or for invalids, gruel or rice, vegetables.

Tea (at four o'clock)—Milk.

Supper (at eight)—Same as dinner.

Nightcap (at nine)—Milk.

Their Solutions.

Tompkins (shouting across the garden fence to his next door neighbor)—Hey, there! What are you burying in that hole? Neighbor—Oh, I'm just replanting some of my garden seeds. Nubbins—Garden seeds, eh? Looks to me mighty like one of my hens. Neighbor—That's all right. The seeds are inside.—London Mail.

Their Solution.

"Tompkins and his wife always get along splendidly. They do just as they please."

"How fortunate! How do you account for it?"

"They don't live together."

GOOD, RED BLOOD

Is the Foundation of Health, Strength and Beauty, and is Especially Lacking in the Springtime.

The cry of the human system in the spring is for good; red blood. Not that the blood is necessarily so impure as many suppose, but rather that it is thin, weak and watery and wanting in the elements which go to build up new tissues and create vim, force and energy to operate the machinery of the body.

Instead of the well-rounded form there are thinness and angles. Instead of the healthful glow to the complexion there are pallor and sallowness. Instead of the snap and vigor of health there are the languor, lassitude and depressed spirits which come to so many at this time of the year.

Other indications of weak blood may be loss of appetite, lack of interest in the affairs of life, impaired digestion, headaches, dizziness and fainting spells, heart palpitation and weaknesses and irregularities.

Good, red blood is necessary to overcome these conditions, and because Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is composed of the most powerful blood-forming elements of nature it is the most satisfactory spring medicine obtainable.

By the use of this great restorative the blood in the human system is naturally and gradually increased in quantity and improved in quality. The nervous system is invigorated, the heart throbs more strongly, the vital organs resume their functions, new tissues are built up, strength and vigor are restored, the color returns to the wan cheeks and health and vitality are everywhere in evidence. You can prove the results of this treatment by noting your increase in weight while using it.

MRS. G. M. BROWN, Cobourg, Ont., states:—"I was completely run down in health last spring and could not do one day's work without being laid up for about two days afterwards. I felt weak, languid and miserable most of the time, and was often blue and discouraged because of my continued ill-health. When in this state I was advised to try Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and did so with most satisfactory results. It built up my system wonderfully, strengthened and restored my nerves and took away all feeling of languor and fatigue."

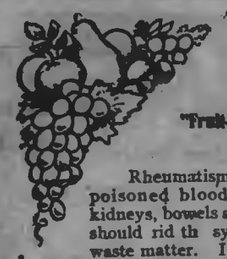
MRS. GEO. BEATTIE, Carr's Brook, Colchester Co., N.S., writes:—"Last spring I was very much run down, felt tired all the time and did not seem to have life or energy enough to do my work. Three boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food did me a world of good and made work a pleasure to me. I have not had occasion to use any medicine since and have recommended Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to all my friends.

"We always keep Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills in the house to be used for constipation, pains in the back and stomach troubles."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food

The greatest of spring restoratives. 50 cents a box or 6 boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT Is a skin beautifier of great value. It cures pimples, blackheads and all forms of skin irritations and eruptions, and leaves the skin soft, smooth and velvety. 60 cents a box, at all dealers.



The Natural Cure For Rheumatism

"Fruit-a-tives" remove from the blood the poison which causes Rheumatism.

Rheumatism means poisoned blood. The kidneys, bowels and skin should rid the system of waste matter. If either of these vital organs become weakened or diseased, the body cannot throw off this waste fast enough.

"Fruit-a-tives" will cure almost any case of Rheumatism, Sciatica, Neuralgia.

One of these body poisons is UREA, which is eliminated both by the kidneys and skin. If the skin action is poor—if the kidneys are inflammed—urea stays in the system—is changed into uric acid—carried by the blood to the nerves and joints—and causes Rheumatism.

"Fruit-a-tives" cure Rheumatism because they eliminate urea, by increasing the action of bowels, kidneys and skin.

This is the only possible way in which Rheumatism can be cured to stay cured. And "Fruit-a-tives" is the only remedy in the world that completely eradicates the disease from the system.

"Fruit-a-tives" are fruit juices in which the natural medicinal action of fruit is many time increased by the process of combining them.

Then tonics and antiseptics are added and the whole made into tablets. 50c. a box—6 for $2.50. At all dealers or from Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa. 771

Fire Insurance

The most important point in Fire Insurance is the selection of a Company which offers absolute security. Experience of the recent great conflagrations in Baltimore, Toronto and San Francisco shows that the English and Scottish Companies stood the severe strain of those appalling losses better than any other, and proves that the following are among the leading Companies in the world:—

BRITISH

Alliance Assurance Company, Northern,
Commercial Union, Sun,
Liverpool & London & Globe, Caledonian,
Norwich Union, Union.
London Assurance,

AMERICAN

Hartford, Insurance Coy of North America, Queen

ENGLAND

Thomas Hughes, 103 years of age, has just died at Mount Pleasant, Swansea.

The wages of the iron and steel workers of South Wales have been advanced 6 per cent. from to-day.

The Liverpool City Council has decided, by a vote of 68 to 25, against a proposal for Sunday music in the parks.

Pycroft House, Chertsey, which has been identified as the scene of the burglary in "Oliver Twist," came under the hammer the other day.

A boy named Joseph Hassall, of Longton, Staffs, died from injuries received in play. Another child threw a ginger-beer bottle which struck him on the head.

The ancient seal of the town of Winchelsea, which was struck in 1280, has just been restored to the corporation after being out of its possession for more than a century.

The extensive woollen mill owned by Messrs. W. and E. Crowther, Limited, at Slaithwaite, near Huddersfield, has been destroyed by fire, the damage is estimated at £10,000.

The Grand Lodge of the International Order of Good Templars at Chelsea Town Hall has adopted a proposal prohibiting dancing at meetings in connection with the Order.

The Lord Mayor of Cardiff unveiled a bronze tablet to the memory of Rawlins White, who was burned at the stake in 1555, and is referred to in Fox's "Book of Martyrs."

A boat laden with provisions from the shore for the British ship Buccleuch was swamped in Queenstown Harbour, and one of the boatmen, named John Allen, was drowned.

Seven charges of attempted suicide were heard at the Birmingham Police Court on one day recently. The defendants in nearly every case said they had been reduced to desperation by poverty.

Sir William Hulton, J.P., of Hulton Park, near Bolton, is dead. He received his baronetcy in 1905, owned Hulton Collieries, and was actively identified with many departments of public life in Lancashire.

One of the largest funerals ever seen on Tyneside was that of the late Mr. Hugh Boyle, president of the Northumberland Miners' Association, which took place the other day. Sixty-seven collieries were represented.

Lord Methuen, who wore the uniform of commandant of the Church Lads' Brigade opened a drill hall at High Wycombe in memory of the late Rev. Rolard Oakley, a well-known Church Lads' Brigade worker.

A man who was charged at the Willesden Police Court with intoxication and using bad language, pleaded guilty to the first part of the charge, adding: "As to the language, I know nothing about that because I'm very deaf."

Mr. Geo. Hunting, a veterinary surgeon of Stalham, was found dead in a roadside ditch at Hickling, Norfolk. His trap had overturned, and he was thrown out into the ditch, where he was stunned and drowned.

The Suffolk Institute of Archaeology has secured a valuable door-knocker of the reign of Henry VIII. The relic was found in some scrap iron, which was sent from Flixton to Orwell Smelting Works to be melted down.

IRELAND

The outbreak of spotted fever in Belfast is spreading, and the cases total 261, and the deaths 136.

A call from the May street Presbyterian congregation in Belfast, has been forwarded to the Rev. William James M'Caughan, pastor of the largest Presbyterian church in Glasgow.

The opening ceremony of the Dublin Exhibition on May 6, will be performed by the Lord-Lieutenant. King Edward has lent Lady Butler's famous picture, "The Roll Call," for the Exhibition fine art collection.

William Murdock, 35, night stationmaster at Lagan Great Northern Railway Station, was struck by an engine passing through to Portadown, and was hurled into the six-foot way, where he expired within a few minutes.

The Hon. Albert Yelverton Bingham, sixth son of the third Baron Clanmorris, of the Irish peerage, and uncle of the present peer, died at Kirtley, near Plymouth, the other day. He was sixty-seven years old, and was deputy-lieutenant for Co. Mayo.

The Venerable Archdeacon Orpen was recently consecrated Bishop of the united dioceses of Limerick, Ardfert, and Aghadoe, to which office he had been elected in succession to the late Bishop Bumbury. The ceremony took place in St. Patrick's Cathedral, Dublin.

Thomas Simon, an inspector of the Dublin Metropolitan police, who has just died, played an important part in the suppression of the "invincible" movement a quarter of a century ago. He was allotted the difficult task of conveying safely out of this country to South Africa, Carey, the informer, through whose evidence the five Phoenix Park murderers were hanged, and who was himself subsequently assassinated under sensational circumstances.

An interesting wedding took place recently at Belfast Cathedral, when Lieutenant Barnard Coote, late R. N., son of Sir Algernon Coote, Bart., wedded Miss Grace Robinson, daughter of the late Dean of Belfast. The Bishop of Ossory, the Dean of Clogher, and the Rev. J. L. Robinson, took the ceremony, and five bridesmaids and a little page followed the bride, who was given away by her father. Mrs. W. Wilson lends Belvour Park, Belfast, for the reception, and Mr. and Mrs. Philip Warren have placed Cobham Court, Surrey, at the disposal of the happy couple for their honeymoon.

A wild scene took place on Easter Monday in the mountain district near Coalisland, County Tyrone. The disturbances arose out of a series of cock fights. Several carts containing whiskey and porter were brought to the spot without the knowledge of the police, and the liquor having been rapidly consumed, an altercation arose on the conclusion of the cock fight, which led to a general melee between the breeders of the birds, bludgeons being freely used. A general riot ensued, the scene being described by an eyewitness as "a battlefield of bludgeons and broken heads." No lives, however, were lost. The police, who appeared on the scene later, it is understood, will prosecute the offenders at next Petty Sessions.

LATEST HAPPENINGS FROM LASSWADE

Lasswade, April 22.—Spring is here again, although the weather is quite cold, and snowstorms appear just the same as in winter. We had a fall of snow on Tuesday and Wednesday last of six inches.

Mr. Edward Youmans, Mr. John McFadden and others are doing rushing business in the manufacture of maple syrup and sugar. It has been a fine season for that business.

Miss R. E. Young, Dartford, commenced duties at the Lasswade School on April 8.

The authorities of the Methuen School have engaged again Miss Mattie Bullied, last year's teachers.

Mr. H. Emmans and wife have moved to Cordova.

Miss Katie Bullied returned home from Lakehurst last week. We are glad to see that she is improving in health.

Mr. Gunter, our stage driver, makes very irregular trips, owing to the bad roads.

As increased expenditure for works of ing his departure for the Ridge, to take charge of a cheese factory there.

A WONDERFUL CURE OF RHEUMATISM

THE CAUSE An excess of uric acid and ureates are deposited in the tissues of the body and joints, causing aches and pains which are called rheumatic.

All the various causes of rheumatism, such as the acute, articular, muscular and gout, have the same common cause—Uric Acid.

To effect a satisfactory cure the uric acid must be removed. This can only be done by introducing into the circulation a remedy which will dissolve the uric acid and stimulate the action of the excretory organs.

No Case That Ferrozone Can't Cure

The remarkable success of Ferrozone is due to the fact that it attacks the disease in the blood. It goes right to the root and cause of the trouble.

Ferrozone is a perfect solvent for uric acid and quickly destroys its evil effect. It stimulates and quickens the sluggish circulation and drives every trace of rheumatic poison out of the system.

Rheumatism Can't Last If FERROZONE is Used.

We have conclusive proof of this. The strongest possible endorsements from people who have been cured after all else failed. If you suffer from rheumatism yourself, or in case you have a friend or relative subject to this disease, read the following—they tell their own tale.

LIFE-LONG CRIPPLE CURED

Mr. Louis Noll, 15 Fulton street, New York, N. Y., writes: "Ever since boyhood I have been a sufferer from rheumatism. My joints were twisted and swollen, and the pain at times was really intense. I used gallons of liniments, vapor baths, and other treatments, but was first noticeably relieved by Ferrozone. It cured me perfectly after taking twelve boxes."

Mr. Henry Heer, Pharmacist, 23 Eldridge Ave., New York, vouches for Mr. Noll's absolute cure. He says: "Mr. Noll has been freed from chronic rheumatism by Ferrozone. For years he has not been so well, and today shows no signs of rheumatic trouble. It is a pleasure to recommend Ferrozone."

The BEST remedy for rheumatism that science has produced is Ferrozone—it is unquestionably the only sure and lasting cure. Sold everywhere by druggists. Price 50c per box or six boxes for $2.50—by mail to any address if price is forwarded to N. C. POLSON & CO., Kingston, Ont., and Hartford, Conn., U.S.A.

FERROZONE, THE ONE SURE CURE.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST

HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry must be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land is situate.

The homesteader is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year for three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased) of the homesteader resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for, the requirements as to residence may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

Six months' notice in writing should be given to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa of intention to apply for patent.

W. W. CORY,

Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

IN FASHION'S REALM.

Modish Fads and Fancies Noticeable in Late Models.

KIMONO SLEEVES AND WRAPS.

Japanese Type in Line and Decoration, Wool or Cotton Voile Trimmed With Taffeta—Rough Silks Adorned With Tartan Plaids.

"Early Victorian" is the phrase the fashionable modiste uses to describe the melange that makes up present modes. That phrase as well as another fits the situation, but does not give credit to the Japanese motifs, which are so evident in the fashions of the hour. The seamless sleeve of the kimono rules, and nine wraps out of every ten suggest the kingdom of Nippon.

Embroideries also have caught the Japanese swing in design and treatment, which is an excellent thing, for in this field the clever orientals are artists hard to equal.

Whether the wrap worn with one's new costume is evolved from a kimono or takes the form of a fichu or pelerine or some other truly Victorian shape, it is apt to differ in material from the rest of the costume in texture, though matching it in color.

Often the trimmings of the gown built of silk, wool or cotton voile will be made of taffeta silk.

In this case the third piece is apt to be a chic little wrap of the same silk, and more often than not it is decorated with embroideries which consist of a good deal of fancy braiding, combined with a few telling stitches.

Foulards are heralded as having once more regained their place in the "smart set" of dress materials and promise to run the rough, woven pongees very close as materials for summer tailor mades.

Either silk is excellent for hard wear, and both are to be had in the cravenette finish, which makes them impervious to rain or dust.

The rough silks are fashionably trimmed with tartan plaids in taffeta, surah or lonisine. The foulards have garnitures of linen and cloth in fancy tailored bands and shaped empiecements. Not much lace is used as a rule for silk tailor mades, though occasionally one sees revers and cuffs of Irish lace or lingerie sets of linen with lace.

No material is too light or thin to be pressed into service for the fancy tailored suit. These are more often of voile than of heavier stuffs, and mousseline de soie makes the trimmings for these as well as for broadcloth and silk costumes.

Bands of mousseline braided with narrow soutache or the square mesh filet lace nets similarly braided or embroidered in darned work done in heavy worsted, chenille or silk are seen in many of the best of the newer models.

AMY VARNUM.

A New Device For Wavy Locks.

To produce wavy locks without resort to a heating apparatus there is a little device which seems delightfully simple and has a very similar effect to that of marcel waving. It is light in weight, though of metal, with a patented fastening to prevent slipping. Strand after strand of hair is caught fast into deep undulations in these little steel devices, making a large natural wave without any of the burned, fuzzy appearance apt to appear in time where hot irons are used. After a shampoo the hair is very susceptible to such means of waving, and, if the curlers are slipped in while it is still damp and allowed to remain till the hair is dry, deep, decided waves will be the result, and these should not loosen for at least two days under ordinary conditions.

Colored Linen Popular.

Predictions indicate that more colored linens than ever are to hold sway, and indeed the prophecy has everything in its favor for its ultimate materialization, for some of the smartest linen dresses that have been designed this season were in soft colors made on simple lines with no trimming save a few stitched straps and dashes of hand embroidery done with coarse white linen thread. A good many of these little frocks are made with separate guimpes or chemisettes with blouse and skirt attached by means of a fitted girdle.

The Jeweled Slides.

Together with several other attractive fashions that have been revived from those of our grandmothers' day is that of wearing a band of black velvet around the neck.

As usual, however, we go our grandmothers one better, and the becoming band of velvet is made still more fetching by the addition of a jeweled slide.

These slides are of various shapes, the one shown in the illustration being one of the simpler designs. In some the crosspieces are curved, while others are so elaborately set with diamonds that they look quite like the one time popular sunburst.

With the single stone in the center, either a pearl or a diamond, the crosspieces of the slide are thickly set with tiny stones, so that the setting is scarcely visible, and the effect is quite stunning.

Some of the slides have little clasps for joining the ribbon at the back of the neck. This consists of a single straight bar the same depth as that of the slide, set in the same design. As yet the slides are to be had only in the most expensive jewelry, as the fashion is too new a one for them to have been duplicated in cheaper stones.

SAVE YOUR HAIR

WITH

NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE

The time to save your hair, is while you have hair to save. Newbro's Herpicide kills the germ that caused dandruff, itching scalp and falling hair, after which the hair is bound to grow as nature intended (except in cases of chronic baldness.) Herpicide stops itching of scalp almost instantly.

I find that Herpicide will do all you claim for it. I am now on my second bottle and it has cleansed my head nicely and I can see new hair coming in It also stopped my hair from falling out and I am well pleased and will, and do recommend it to all.
(Signed) R. L. LEIGH
Hopkinsville, Ky.

I wish to say that I have used part of the bottle of Herpicide that you sent me and I think it is a good tonic and have recommended it to quite a number of my friends. I believe it will cure dandruff and it is a splendid and delightful hair dressing. (Sgd) H. J. FORSDICK, Memphis, Tenn.

I have given your Herpicide a thorough test. I can cheerfully say that it is the best Hair Tonic I have ever used It will be one of our household remedies from now on and will surely recommend same to all my friends and acquaintances. (Signed) PETER PEHL Sedalia, Mo.

You very kindly sent me a bottle of your Herpicide and I gladly answer your inquiry as to its qualities. I have used it now for some time and know it to best thing for the hair I have ever used and it keeps my hair free from dandruff and as soft as silk. I have induced several of my friends to use it and they are pleased with it.

MOTHERS FEEL SAFE.

Mothers who have used Baby's Own Tablets for their little ones say they feel safe with the Tablets at hand, for they are a never failing cure for all the minor ills of babyhood and childhood. Mrs. Urias Cressman, New Hamburg, Ont., says: 'I have used Baby's Own Tablets for stomach trouble and constipation, with marked success. I always feel that my little one is safe when I have a box of the Tablets in the house." Baby's Own Tablets are sold under the guarantee of a Government analyst to contain neither opiates nor other poisonous drugs. They always do good—they can't possibly do harm. For sale at druggists or by mail at 25 cents a box, from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

CYNICISM SMART.

Very Latest Thing For Up to Date Lovely Woman.

It is the fashion of the day to be a cynic, and a woman cynic is ——!

She no longer throbs with good will toward men or exudes loving kindness. That is too much to expect. She speaks of love's young dream with a curl of the lip and has not one tear to shed over the misfortunes of childhood. It is easier to be witty when this pose is assumed.

There are greater opportunities for conversational distinction in finding "nor Lancelot brave nor Galahad pure" than in adoring their chivalry. A woman cannot, of course, be nearly so entertaining if she praises her neighbor's good works as if she suggests that she has an unseemly motive for them.

Deplorable, but true!

It is not a consequence of woman's heart being desperately wicked. It is rather a consequence of the heart not being a warehouse for the storage of sweets. The gush of philanthropy is rather sugary stuff. Our mothers and grandmothers took a debauch of it, and the result is that this generation looks at it with a somewhat bilious and distrustful eye. The fathers have eaten sweet grapes, and the children want something bitter. This is natural, inevitable and perhaps not wholly distressing. It is not creditable to the sane mind, it is not of any use to humanity, that people should indulge in transports over every decent action. That Scrooge should pay Bob Cratchit a fair wage is good and desirable, but we need not weep upon Scrooge's neck because he has ultimately done what he ought never to have left undone.

No real philanthropy will suffer in the end because it is regarded with the critical eye. We talk of sentiment and the cant of philanthropy in a scornful way, but there is a cant of criticism which is far more stupid and much more devastating. The mind which searches for and finds nasty motives erywhere is not the most enviable of possessions. We all know it only too well.

It meets the story of any action not motived by self interest with a smile of superior wisdom. It has the lowest opinion of every one and everything except itself. Therefore it requires you to admire it for its peculiar wisdom, while in fact it is merely stupid.

"Every man," said Walpole, "has his price." (It is, by the way, interesting to remember that the man who said it was not to be bought.) But that price cannot always be paid in the things of this earth, and cynicism is so cheap a thing who wants to possess it anyway?

No one but the— But one doesn't like to say "fool." It doesn't sound pretty, does it?

Small Boy Suggestions.

Give the small boys a room of their own, where they may be allowed to work, play, read or whatever the boyish fancy may dictate. If they be fond of reading, give them plenty of good books and magazines and an easy chair to sit in while they read.

A boy loves comfort just as much as a girl does, and money spent in making him comfortable at home goes a long way toward keeping him off the street.

Some boys are not content to spend a whole evening reading. They should be provided for in some other way. Let them have games and invite their boy friends into their room and feel that they have a share in the home.

If the boy wants to make money and can do it without interfering with his school work, let him do so. It will teach him to be industrious and will cultivate business habits.

Boys like to be trusted, and it makes them manly. If a boy deserves praise, give it to him freely.

There are boys and boys, but there was never yet one who was not susceptible to kindness and who could not be managed if the right course was pursued.

Every Buttonhole of a 1900 Shirt

Any 1900 Shirt fits better than any ordinary shirt. One reason is the accurate, careful spacing of the buttonholes. Unless they meet each other perfectly—if one were even a little higher or lower than its mate—the bosom would pucker—pull—bind.

Buttonholes on 1900 shirts are placed right, are made right, and stay right, even after many trips to the washtub.

MINERS RETURN TO WORK

Government Financial Policy Attacked—No Negotiations Regarding Trade With Other Countries—Nearly 200 Bills Passed During Session—Ontario Marriage Bill Defeated—Hamilton Radial Bill.

Ottawa, April 27.—The process of winding up the Parliamentary session dragged somewhat yesterday, but notwithstanding the waste of precious hours ever such topics as the financial policy of the Government, the form of affidavits used in Dominion elections, dredging at Port Arthur, and the Quebec Railway bridge, the end, it is announced will be reached to-day. The Hamilton Radial Electric Railway Co.'s bill had its last chance at the evening session, and met the fate anticipated for it. With strange irony the final stroke was administered by Mr. A. Campbell, one of the sponsors of the bill.

Attacks Financial Policy.

The attack on the Government's financial policy was on familiar lines, and was effectively countered by Mr. Fielding, who dwelt eloquently upon the progress of the Dominion under the Liberal regime. In accordance with his promise to keep the House fully posted regarding the western coal strike, Mr. Lemieux read telegrams from Mr. Mackenzie King and Mr. Sherman, to the effect that the Fernie miners had returned to work, and that by to-day it was expected there would be a general resumption. A question by Mr. Foster elicited the statement from Mr. Fielding that there had been no formal negotiations on the subject of trade with other countries.

Parliament will be prorogued by his Excellency Earl Grey this afternoon at three o'clock. The Senate is expected to conclude its labors at the morning sitting. Many of the members of both Houses have already left for home, and only a few remain for the final ceremonies to-day.

The third session of the tenth Parliament of Canada has lasted five months and five days, counting the Christmas and Easter vacations. The actual number of days on which the Commons sat is 94. About one hundred bills will receive the royal assent to-day, making the total for the session nearly two hundred.

Marriage Bill Defeated.

The House went into committee to consider the bill introduced to empower the Ontario courts to dissolve marriages between boys and girls under eighteen years of age without their parents' consent.

Mr. Lennox and Mr. C. Devlin (Nicolet) urged that the bill be dropped until next session, the latter moving that the committee rise.

Quebec Bridge.

Mr. Robitaille, opposing the second reading of the Quebec bridge bill, complained of the mismanagement of the bridge works.

Mr. Fielding stated that the total cost of the works in connection with the bridge was $4,415,398 up to March 31st last.

Mr. Foster complained that an important measure of this kind should have been kept back until so late a period of the session. What was proposed was to give some seven millions to a few men that subscribed a few thousand dollars.

After Mr. Sproule had spoken the House went into committee.

Mr. Fielding said that in view of the fact that not one cent was added to the Government's obligation the member for North Toronto's speech was ridiculous.

The bill was reported and passed.

The House then went into supply and considered the remaining estimates. All the estimates being passed, the committee reported progress and Mr. Fielding announced that prorogation would take place at 3 p.m. to-day. Mr. Lemieux announced the minimum salary of rural postmasters would be $50 a year.

The House adjourned at 1.45 a.m.

Battle in the Senate.

In the Senate last night, there was an unpleasant encounter.

Senator McMullen, in replying to Senator Ferguson's remarks on the provincial subsidies, twitted him with having once resigned from the Senate, only to be defeated for the Commons, and dared him to test public feeling again. He added that Senator Ferguson had not been infallible. From a department over which he had presided in Prince Edward Island there had been a mysterious disappearance, which had never been accounted for.

Senator Ferguson: That is a slanderous and noxious statement and I demand that the words be taken down."

Senator McMullen said he had made no statement reflecting on Senator Ferguson, who continued to demand that the words be taken down.

Mr. Speaker said that the expression of Senator McMullen, as far as he had proceeded before being interrupted, seemed to contain an insinuation.

Senator McMullen: If it is taken that an insinuation has been made, I withdraw it.

Senator Ferguson said nearly all Senator McMullen's statements were inaccurate. One inaccuracy was that he had resigned from the Senate and had been defeated in a contest in Prince Edward Island.

He promised to have Senator McMullen's and Hon. Mr. Scott's speeches well circulated in Prince Edward Island.

CITY TEMPLE MARKED

Strangers Disfigured Sacred Edifice in London.

London, April 27.—Passers-by were astonished yesterday morning to see the word "Ichabod" (the glory is departed from Israel), in glaring letters 18 inches high, over the portico of the City Temple. It had evidently been written by a skilled hand as the letters were perfectly formed and spaced. Persons not aware of the significance of the word thought that it was merely a new decoration and passed on.

Eventually somebody sufficiently curious found the Temple caretaker and enquired why the word was on the portico. The caretaker, who until then was not aware of its presence, promptly obtained a ladder and washed the letters off.

A subsequent investigation revealed that two well dressed men, with a long ladder, had inscribed the word early in the morning. Nobody interfered with them, it being assumed that they were orthodox Christians, who, saddened by Dr. Campbell's heresy, conceived it to be their duty to fulfil the invocation of the late pastor of the church, Dr. Parker, who on a memorable occasion declaimed from the pulpit of the Temple: "Should it ever come to pass that the great truths of Christ's death and resurrection be denied by any future occupier of the pulpit, or should the fact of His gracious Godhead and Divinity be questioned, may the word Ichabod be written over the doors of the City Temple."

SUGAR BUSH TRAGEDY.

Young German Murders His Sweetheart—Jealousy the Cause.

Parry Sound, April 27.—Frank Varasko shot and killed Renny Supelsea, a 15-year-old girl in a sugar bush near the village of Arnstein, and then committed suicide. Jealousy was the cause.

In a farm house near Arnstein lived an old couple, named Supelsea, a 15-year-old daughter of the husband, and a son of the woman by a former marriage named Frank Varasko.

Varasko had been paying or trying to pay his respects to the girl and was jealous of her speaking to or being seen with any of the other young men of the neighborhood. Varasko and a number of other young men of the place had been drinking rather heavily for some time.

The tragedy occurred at about 5 o'clock Monday evening. The girl was employed in a sugar bush boiling sap. After the finding of the body of the girl search was made for Varasko by C. K. Arthurs, J.P., and Anton Wagner, and his body was found a short distance away in the woods.

The old couple, the father of the girl, and the mother of the young man, were both confined to their beds by illness at the time of the tragedy. The parties are all Germans and members of considerable settlements in that vicinity.

Montreal, April 27.—The C.P.R. 88. Empress of Japan of the Pacific service is quarantined outside Victoria, B.C., where she has been for the past eight days with several cases of smallpox on board. She had only set out for the Orient when the disease was discovered, and she turned about and went into quarantine, where she will have to wait for some days yet. There was a large party of tea buyers on board, bound for China and Japan.

Famous Scientist Drowned.

Vienna, April 27.—Prof. Albert Ritter Von Mocstig-Moorhof, the famous surgeon and introducer of todoform, while walking on the bank of the Danube yesterday, fell in the water, and was drowned. It was at first thought he had committed suicide, but enquiries tend to prove that his death was accidental.

Charged With Manslaughter.

Montreal, April 27.—George Sheard, accused of causing the death of Joseph Gariepy by striking him on the head with a nickle rod, has been bound over by Judge Choquette to stand trial for manslaughter.

GUNS FIRED AS THE BIG FAIR OPENED

Opening of Jamestown Tercentennial Exposition By President.

BRITISH SHIPS TAKE PART

Naval and Military Review—Great Fleet of Foreign Vessels Present—Much Pomp and Ceremony Marked Function—Weather Was Dull—Many of the Buildings Are Still Incomplete.

Norfolk, Va., April 27.—The Jamestown Ter-Centennial Exposition — a land and water display such as never before was attempted in this country or on foreign shores—was opened yesterday with that pomp and ceremony which always attend an event where the President of the United States is a central figure and diplomatic representatives of foreign nations, governors of States and like dignitaries are honored guests and participants.

President Roosevelt reviewed from the deck of the yacht-cruiser Mayflower the war vessels anchored in Hampton Roads. He reached Discovery Landing, having been transferred in a naval launch from his yacht, shortly before noon, and amid applause from the thousands gathered to voice their welcome, he was received by the exposition management.

Then followed the program for opening to the public the enterprise commemorating the 300th anniversary of the first English settlement in America.

Salute of 300 Guns.

At sunrise the ceremonies were begun by the United States artillery firing a salute of 300 guns to usher in the day. This was a signal for the trend of humanity to railroad trains, street cars and boat lines, which from that moment poured people into the grounds.

It was some minutes before President Roosevelt could proceed with his address. The people repeatedly gave vent to their enthusiasm. As he pressed the gold button, which formally opened the Exposition, it was the signal for the unfurling of a thousand or more flags on the various buildings. At the same time a signal was given to the warships, and to the garrison at Fort Monroe, and all fired a salute. When the echoes of the last gun died away all of the bands on the Exposition grounds played the "Star Spangled Banner," the troops presenting arms, and all persons present baring their heads.

After the review the naval detachment returned to the vessels and the army detachments went to camp Captain John Smith, the post at the Exposition grounds.

Pressed the Button.

The pressing of a button in connection with the opening of an exposition was not so important a function in itself as has been expected. On account of the unreadiness of the buildings and the grounds, there was little machinery to set in motion, and many of the buildings had not been supplied with flags to be unfurled. The coldest and most backward spring in the annals of Virginia, marked by severe rainstorms in the past month, is responsible for the opening ceremonies being marred by incompleted structures and uninstalled machinery. May 15 has been fixed as the day when the directors hope to be able to open all features of the show.

The day opened cloudy, but by 8 o'clock the sun shone forth and a strong breeze from the southeast soon drove the cloud banks beyond the horizon, leaving a clear sky. The breezes sweeping across Hampton Roads also tempered the heat, which had a tinge of mid-Summer in it by the time the President landed on the Exposition grounds.

President Was Early.

Norfolk, Va., April 27.—The Mayflower, bearing the President and Mrs. Roosevelt and party, arrived at the head of the column of war vessels yesterday morning almost an hour before the usual call for quarters. The American flagship Connecticut, Rear-Admiral Evans commanding, boomed out the first guns of the Presidential salute, the other American ships and the foreign vessels immediately following.

The Mayflower headed toward Norfolk, passing along the outer line of foreign ships, the crews of which were drawn up in close order along the forward and upper decks and superstructure and stood at attention.

The first of the British ships encountered was the Roxburgh, then the Hampshire, and next the Argyll. President Roosevelt was especially interested in the flagship Good Hope, and exchanged personal salutes with Admiral Neville, who stood on the bridge.

The Good Hope, together with the German Imperial flagship Roon, were assigned berths to the right and left of the Connecticut. These three flagships formed a triangle, where the Mayflower at the end of the review dropped anchor. The President received the flag officers of the American and foreign warships, who then proceeded to the Exposition grounds. The President, in a small launch, followed.

Canada Buys Buffaloes.

Denver, April 27.—A message was received here yesterday that the Pablo herd of buffalo on the Flathead Reservation, Montana, has been sold to the Canadian Government. The bulls will be removed to Canada about May 1 and the cows and calves will be sent north in July. There are between 400 and 500 buffaloes in the herd, which is the largest in the world. The price is said to be $150,000.

Tunnel Bill Withdrawn.

London, April 27.—The bill introduced in the House of Commons authorizing the construction of a tunnel under the English Channel, from England to France, which aroused strong opposition, has been withdrawn.

Suicide of E. G. Russell.

Vancouver, B.C., April 27.—E. G. Russell, executive agent of the Grand Trunk Pacific in British Columbia, committed suicide at Prince Rupert, by shooting himself with a revolver.

GUESTS OF LIBERAL CLUB.

Colonial Premiers Assured of Forbearance and Good Feeling.

London, April 27.—(C. A. P.)—A great banquet was given the Colonial Premiers at the National Liberal Club, at which Earl Carrington presided.

Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, Premiers Laurier, Bond, Ward and Botha were present. Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman proposed the toast, "Our Guests," in a felicitous speech, remarking that they had come to advance ideas which, perhaps, might not in all particulars be identified with the Liberal party, but there was no antagonism on that account, and nothing but mutual forbearance and good feeling.

He ventured to say that the conference would bring about a great result, if not in the acceptance of any particular proposal, at least in developing, strengthening and securing the great commonwealth of states to which all belonged.

BISLEY MEN ARE COMING.

Will Take Part In Dominion Rifle Association Matches.

Ottawa, April 27.—An English rifle team will compete at the D. R. A. matches in September, and it is likely the Palma Trophy match will take place. At the meeting of the Program Committee of the D. R. A. the matter was discussed. The team will be chosen from the Bisley aggregates much in the same way as our Bisley men are selected. The English marksmen will remain over in Ottawa on their way to Australia, where they are entered in the Empire match to be shot in Sydney, N. S. W., in October.

SUNDAY LAW TIED UP.

Lord's Day Alliance Up In Arms Against Decision.

Victoria, B. C., April 27.—The Provincial Government, at the close of the session, announced its attitude on the Dominion Lord's Day Act, declining to assent to any prosecutions under the act.

The Lord's Day Alliance is already up in arms, declaring the Dominion had no power to leave it optional with the provinces to enforce the law.

The Government's reply is to go to Ottawa and fight that out in Ottawa.

Conservative Speakers Address Public Meeting In Grand Opera House

Provincial Secretary Hanna and Geo. Fowler, M.P., Were the Speakers at Conservative Rally Held Last Night.

MR. FOWLER'S DEFENCE

He Tells of His Western Land Deals—Mr. Hanna Deals With Provincial Matters — Lack of Enthusiasm Evident.

Those who attended the public meeting held under the auspices of the Conservative Association of West Peterborough, in the Grand Opera House last night, were told by a placard on the left side of the stage that "Laurier in London has betrayed us," while on the opposite side of the house a similar placard bore the inscription "Provincial rights at Petawawa," "No Surrender."

Instead of the "Big Four" speakers announced to address the meeting there were two addresses, the speakers being Hon. J. W. Hanna, Provincial Secretary of Ontario, and Mr. Geo. Fowler, M.P., for Kings and Albert, N.B. The meeting was fairly well attended, the first floor of the opera house being about two-thirds filled, with a fringe three seats deep along the first balcony, reserved for ladies and their escorts. The second balcony was conspicuous for its empty benches.

An Attentive Audience

Both of the speakers were attentively listened to, though at no time was there any irrepressible enthusiasm given evidence to. The chairman of the meeting was Mr. Jas. Kendry, and, seated with him on the platform were:—The speakers of the evening, Mr. T. E. Bradburu, M.P.P., Jas. Stevenson, ex-M.P.P., H. Winch, J. Carnegie, Alf. Pearson and J. W. Miller.

The Mandolin Club rendered a selection, prior to the opening of the meeting, and, following Mr. Fowler's address Mr. McLaren gave a solo and monologue, these constituting the musical features of the gathering.

In opening the meeting the chairman expressed his pleasure at seeing a representative gathering present to listen to a discussion of the public questions of the day. There never was a time, he declared when the public questions stood in greater need of discussion than at the present time.

Mr. Fowler's Address

Mr. Fowler was the first speaker introduced to the audience, and, in opening apologized for the absence of his colleague from Quebec, Mr. Pangerou, as well as for the absence of the silver tongued orator from Algoma, Mr. Boyce, both of whom, he stated, were unable to be present. In entering upon what he termed a discussion of federal politics Mr. Fowler stated that, unlike the times gone by there were not the same differences of policy existing between the two political parties, now. Prior to their return to power in 1896 the Liberals, according to Mr. Fowler, had denounced protection, but now, he said, they were avowed protectionists, though there was one industry to which they had refused to apply this policy and, as a result it had been ruined. This was the woollen industry.

No Difference in Politics

Referring to the differences between the Liberals and Conservatives Mr. Fowler stated that his party had opposed the building of the Grand Trunk Pacific in the particular way that the Liberals proposed that it should be built, though he recognized that there was a need for increased transportation facilities provided for the west. He objected to the stending of money in building the National Transcontinental Railway through a territory in which the Intercolonial Railway, built also at the people's expense, was operating, east of Quebec.

The loyalty question was also referred to, Mr. Fowler stating that, before they were returned to power they had no use for the old flag, "but," he continued, "who so loyal as they now?" He declared that there was no difference in the policy of the two parties; the difference is in the administration.

Condems Expenditure

Referring to the expenditure of the country, he stated that while in the last year of Conservative rule there was expended about $40,000,000, this year the expenditure had been increased to about $100,000,000. He did not believe in parsimony but he did believe in due economy being exercised in carrying out the public service. He stated that of

A Continuous Subscriber To The Examiner For Nearly Half A Century

Forty-eight years is a long time to be a continuous subscriber of one newspaper, and a publication which can command confidence for two years less than half a century must have something to commend it. In response to the Examiner's request to be furnished with the name of the oldest subscriber to this paper, the following letter was received by the Examiner from Mr. Robert Graham, of Lakefield:

To the Editor of the Examiner,—

Dear Sir,—I noticed your paragraph in the Weekly Examiner, entitled "A Hunt for the Oldest Subscriber is Instituted," and, being a regular subscriber to the Weekly Examiner since its early days, I think I can fairly lay claim to being one of your oldest subscribers.

When I first subscribed to the Examiner it was under the management of Messrs. Sawers and Murray, and then through the hands of Messrs. Sawers and Graham, and so on down to the present management, being a continuous subscriber for over 48 years.

When I first took the Examiner it was a small paper compared with the large 14-page issue of to-day. The city at that time was little better than a village, with not more than a dozen brick stores on George street, and the improvement which has taken place in that time is something marvellous.

Wishing your paper every success and that it may continue to grow and prosper, I remain,

Yours respectfully,
ROBERT GRAHAM,

Lakefield, April 25, 1907.

ULTRA-LOYALTY CRY AND ITS PROOF?

With a good deal of un-British spread - eagleism, Mr. Fowler said at the Opera House, that the Conservatives were the only loyal party — the only party that had respect for "the flag." Yet this super-loyal Conservative gathering evaporated last night without a cheer for the King, although the speakers got a little one.

DEAN PAKENHAM IN THE CITY

Peterborough Boy Who Has Distinguished Himself Educationally.

Dr. Packenham, Dean of the Faculty of Education of the University of Toronto, is spending a short visit with his Manning avenue, in this city, and is being warmly congratulated by his many friends in this city on the honours he has recently gained in educational circles. Mr. Packenham is a Peterborough boy who received his preliminary education here and who since has made a name for himself along the lines of educational work. His position as Dean of the Faculty of Education of one of the most important universities of the continent, is a decidedly important one and the selecting of him to carry out its duties shows the progress that he has made along the lines chosen by him as his life work.

ST. PAUL'S CHOIR IN NORWOOD

Gave a Delightful Concert in Village Last Night

The choir of St. Paul's church under the direction of Mr. John Crane, gave a delightful concert in the Presbyterian church, Norwood last night. The musicians left on a special C.P.R. train, reaching Norwood shortly after 8 o'clock. The choir gave a splendid programme consisting of choruses, duts, quartettes, solos, etc., and were very warmly received by the large audience present, who, judging by their applause, found the entertainment very much to their liking.

The visitors were very hospitably entertained after the concert by the ladies of the church, at supper, and many complimentary references were made by the people of Norwood to the excellent work of the choir. The visitors had a very enjoyable evening and speak in terms of highest praise of the hospitality of the Norwood citizens.

THREE STEAMERS FROM RICE LAKE

Rat Skins Formed the Principal Cargo—Several Thousand in Two Days

Navigation of the Otonabee River to-day was exceedingly brisk. Three steamers, the Water Lily, Monarch and Rainbow arrived in port at the Wolfe street wharf in the morning and returned to Rice Lake this afternoon. A large number of passengers were on board and the chief cargo was muskrat skins. Several thousand of these were brought to the city today from Rice Lake, as well as a large number from Chemong Lake, by the Indians. The skins have been mostly purchased by Lech & Sons, and the number taken in by them yesterday and to-day was about 10,000.

A LITERARY TREAT AT THE Y.W.C.A.

Professor Alexander, Toronto, Delighted Large Audience With a Comprehensive Address on George Eliot.

LADIES CONGRATULATED

Before an assemblage, representative of the cultured and literate ladies of this city, interspersed with a few gentlemen, Professor Alexander delivered an address on "George Eliot," in the comfortable parlours of the Y.W.C.A. last night. The subject was one that appeals to every student of English literature on account of the eminence of that author's work. Professor Alexander stated in his introduction that he would endeavour to make clear any vague feelings that readers of George Eliot might have as to how she approached her writing, and the underlying spirit of them all, and in an interesting style he accomplished this, and treated her character and works in a comprehensive manner.

The Address

Sheriff Hall, who has always taken a practical interest in the literary efforts of the ladies of the Y.W.C.A., opened the meeting with a short and appropriate speech, introducing the speaker of the evening.

Professor Alexander said that the only true purpose of reading was to acquire knowledge. A novel may bring literary relief, but unless it is properly read there is no real benefit to the reader. A novel, or, in fact, any book, is properly read when the mind is active. The ordinary purpose is to follow the plot to the end, which is only a method of killing time. The careful reader uses his judgment at all times, compares the incidents related with real life, probes into the motives of the various actions, and examines the characters of the different personages. This constitutes the greatest pleasure derived from reading, the speaker continued, and the literary student should always endeavour to do this.

Her Work Limited

The works of George Eliot are limited because she was a conscientious worker, and never turned out a novel in an unfinished condition. A second reason is because she did not begin writing until she had passed her 37th year. A third, and greatest reason, is because her productions were limited by a certain limitation of her experiences, and thus, of her imaginative power. The fact that her later novels are of inferior quality partly substantiates this. Her works may be divided into two distinct groups, thus:—Group 1 — "Scenes from Clerical Life," "Silas Marner" and "The Mill on the Floss"; Group 2—"Ramola Middlemarch," "Daniel Deronda," and "Felix Holt." Her earlier writings were most successful because she used knowledge that had been carefully worked into her mind. Dickens was somewhat similar as his best works were those depicting life as he had encountered it.

Her Early Life

Professor Alexander recounted her early early life in a manor house in the country, in England. She was reared 'midst beautiful rural surroundings, which left an indelible imprint in all her works. She was on friendly terms with the common village people, thus her characters were moulded from these. She was, on the other hand, well educated in the languages and in music; her temperament was extremely refined and her tastes were inherently cultured.

The settings of the most of her works is the charming rural scenery of England in the background, while the real drama was the inner lives of her characters. In Shakspere, the main actors are in the glaring foreground, but George Eliot dealt mostly with the spiritual natures of her minor personages. Her books are rich for students of psychology, and are thus drier than the ordinary style of novels, but more naturally and artistically laid bare.

Comparing her works with those of Scott's, the speaker said Scott's writings were superior in their breadth and variety, but George Eliot excelled in her subtlety and profundity of character. Her stories begin with some thought or feeling, and are gradually spun out step by step, until the story and the thoughts are dependently interwoven. Other great writers give the story the place of importance and the emotions and feelings are expressed incidentally.

Conclusion

Professor Alexander then dealt with the character of George Eliot, her love for old ideals and customs, her lack of individuality and strength, her selfishness, her scientific spirit and her philosophy, which is to-day in the ascendant. As an English author she ranks with Bronte and Jane Austin.

Mayor McWilliams moved a vote of thanks to the speaker for the excellent address he had given and for the pleasing manner in which he had described George Eliot and her works, and he assured Professor Alexander that he had accomplished his original purpose in making clear the general vague ideas of this great writer.

Mr. F. D. Kerr seconded the motion in happy style. Not only did he thank the speaker, but also the ladies who had been instrumental in providing the entertainment.

Rev. Father Kelly Presented With Purse of Gold After His Six Months Curacy in the Parish.

IS GOING TO HAVELOCK

Last night in St. Andrew's Hall, connected with St. Joseph's Church, Douro, an interesting event took place. It was a presentation by the men of St. Joseph's Church of a purse of gold, amounting to about $140, to Rev. Father Kelly, who for the past six months has been curate and assistant to Rev. Father Keilty. About 150 of the parish gathered to express their appreciation of the services of Rev. Father Kelly, who is leaving St. Joseph's parish for this city, where he will be attached to the cathedral staff, and will take charge of the Havelock parish in succession to Rev. Father Conway, who, through advancing age, has been obliged to give up his work in that town. The address accompanying the presentation was read by Reeve Frank Moher of Douro, while the presentation was made by Mr. P. G. Towns. The address was as follows:

Douro, April 24, 1907.

Rev. P. J. Kelly,

Dear Reverend Father,—We, the members of Douro parish, having learned with deep regret that you are, in a short time, to leave the parish in which you have, as curate, done such excellent work during the past six months, and to transfer your scene of activity to another field, have taken advantage of the opportunity in order that we might prove to you that we truly appreciate your admirable qualities.

During your short stay among us you have made many warm friends and acquaintances, and have firmly endeared yourself to everybody in the parish by your zealous devotion to religious duties, by your willingness to assist the needy, by your sympathy for the distressed, and by your gentle words of consolation to the sick and afflicted. Your pleasant disposition, your unselfish nature and your unceasing kindness have left an impression on the minds of the people which can never be effaced.

We would like to assure you of our continued interest in you, though your field of labour may be far removed from Douro, and as an evidence of our esteem and a mark of our appreciation of your services, we ask you to accept of this purse and hope that your will continue to prosper with the work to which you have chosen to devote your life.

We earnestly hope that you will remember us in your prayers, especially at the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass, and in return we assure you we will always remember you in ours.

Signed on behalf of the parish of Douro,

Frank Moher,
A. Whibbs,
J. Grady,

In addition to the gift from the men of the parish, Rev. Father Kelly was remembered handsomely by Rev. Father Keilty, whose assistant he has been during the past six months.

TOMMY BOYD IS HIGH IN SINGLE BOWLING EVENT

The high scores in both double and single events in the bowling tournament were smashed early this afternoon. In the singles Tommy Boyd put on a score of 538, just 84 pins higher than J. Houlihan's score of 454, which up to this afternoon was the highest. Boyd's score was as follows, a foul putting him back in the third game:— ... ...176 233 129—538.

In the doubles Claire Gutterson and Frank Lawless rolled 845, the highest to date, beating W. Mallroy and J. Connors by 7 pins. Their score was as follows:—

F Lawless	131	154	98	—383
O Gutterson	219	126	117	—462

EIGHT-YEAR-OLD BOY HAD LEG BROKEN

Delivery Waggon in Which He Was Riding Ran Away

Walter Moore, a young lad of eight years, whose home is on Perry street, near Aylmer, had the misfortune to break one of his legs in a runaway this morning at 11.30. Mason's delivery wagon was in front of a house with an order, it is reported, and the boy got on for a ride. The horse became frightened and ran away, and young Moore was thrown out and his leg broken. He was removed to his home, but this afternoon was taken to the Nicholls Hospital.

As Soon as Preliminary Preparations are Completed the Department Will Direct That Work Be Commenced.

THE TRENTON END FIRST

Work at Foot of Rice Lake Will Also Be Prosecuted Actively—Surveys for the Northern End, Too.

(Toronto Globe Special)

Ottawa, April 26. — Engineers of the Department of Railways and Canals, are now preparing specifications preparatory to calling for tenders for the completion of the southern outley of the Trent Valley Canal.

It is the intention of the department to proceed with the work as speedily as possible. This summer contracts will be let for a considerable portion of the canal.

One stretch starting at Trenton will also be begun, and work will also be started at the end of the present completed section, near Rice Lake. It will probably be two months or so, however, before actual construction will be begun, owing to the necessary delay in advertising for tenders, etc.

Engineer Walsh is now making a survey of the suggested northern outlet, via Notawasaga Bay, instead of by the Severn River, as now proposed.

As soon as his report is submitted, the northern outlet will promptly and finally be decided upon and the completion of the whole canal pushed with all possible speed.

Mr. E. R. Hall's persistent efforts in connection with the completion of the Canal are evidently bearing fruit, for, not only has there been a substantial amount placed in the estimates for the construction of the southern end of the waterway, the end in which Peterborough people are most deeply interested, but what is equally important—the work is to be commenced at once, news which will be learned with distinct pleasure in Peterborough, and credit will be given where it largely belongs, to the energetic member for this riding.

PETERBOROUGH VOCALIST PLEASED AUDIENCE

Miss Clara Bellegham Sang at Concert in Toronto on Thursday Night.

The Toronto Star, of last night had the following reference to a Peterborough vocalist, whose many friends will be glad to learn of her success in the Queen City:—Miss Clara Bellegham, soprano soloist, of Peterborough, Ont., sang at the concert given last evening in Wesley Methodist Church, Dundas street. Miss Bellegham possesses a soprano voice of rich, clear quality, and sang with splendid enunciation, being recalled each time she appeared.

ALREADY FISH REPORTED HAVING BEEN CAUGHT

'Lunge Are Now in the Small Streams Spawning.

The present fine weather is bringing the flowers, and nature as a whole back to life, and this season also is the spawning time for fish. Already the creeks are said to contain numbers of these, and, of course, would-be sports are getting after them. A week ago Sunday a fine 'lunge is reported to have been easily gaffed in a creek not far away and there are probably others that have not been heard about. If these men are not true sports enough to wait until the open season, then the law should deal with them as severely as possible. Men who would catch a fish in spawn are the same as would kick a man when he is down, or shoot a deer in the water.

One Section—640 Acres

Land for Sale in Alberta

One fine section of good land, about nine miles from the Town of Manfrerly on the Canadian Northern Railway. The district is first-class, settled by Americans, Scotch and English. There are no Galicians or Doukhobers in the immediate vicinity, and the country round and about is filling up fast. The class of people coming into that locality is good. The farmer owning the place adjoining this section threshed about 9,000 bushels of wheat last year. The soil is not quite so heavy, as in the Edmonton district and on that account is considered better and the crops are considerably earlier. On this property there is a fine creek. About three-quarters of the section is open prairie, the remainder having some brush upon it. Price $12.50 per acre, $2,000 cash, balance may be arranged mortgage at 6%. This is an excellent chance for two young enterprising farmers, desiring to locate in the West, to divide up the section between them and have a first class Farm. Further particulars may be had at the EXAMINER OFFICE, where full information may be had.

AN UNTENABLE CLAIM

The attempt of Mr. Whitney and the Conservative party to make capital out of what, in their new-born zeal, they call an invasion of Provincial rights is ludicrous and lame. Ludicrous, because the record of the party makes their reproach of the Dominion Government in the connection an analogue of Satan reproving sin. Lame, because the latest ground of attack proves to be founded on air—principally "hot air." The Whitney Government claims that the Dominion Government has invaded Provincial rights by expropriating under the Confederation Act Provincial lands for a site for a military camp at Petawawa. The history of the affair, in brief, will show that there are no grounds for Mr. Whitney's claim, but that, rather, the Dominion Government has a grievance. In 1904, the Ontario Government, through Hon. Mr. Davis, Minister of Crown Lands, offered to lease the Petawawa lands to the Dominion for ninety-nine years at a nominal rental, a practical sale and purchase. Accepting this offer as, in spirit, a solemn agreement, the Dominion Government declined the offer of Quebec to furnish a free site for a camp at Kazabazua, and selected the site at Petawawa as most suitable from a national, as well as military, point of view. As the Provincial area was not large enough, the Dominion proceeded to buy private lands in the vicinity and, relying upon the promise of the Ontario Government, proceeded in expending upon the site some $100,000. The Government acted in good faith and tried to satisfy the claims of timber licensees on the Provincial lands, but the figure was so exorbitant — one firm, the Pembroke Lumber Company, asking $98,000 for its interest in limits that had been out over for forty years. In the meantime, the Whitney Government came into power and repudiated, contrary to all precedent, the solemn agreement made by their predecessors in office, and wanted to swap Petawawa for the old Niagara camp site; and refused to give a lease of Petawawa till the claims of timber licensees were extinguished. The Dominion regarded this attitude as a breach of faith, and decided, on the advice of the Minister of Justice, to expropriate the lands, as the British North American Act warranted it in doing. The Minister of Militia does not confiscate any property. The lumbermen can go on with their lumbering operations as before, protected in all their rights, and the Ontario Government can collect its stumpage dues as before. There is nothing tenable in the claim of the Whitney Government that the Dominion has confiscated anything belonging to the Province, or taken land which they had not a right to do under the Act of Confederation, which permits the Federal Government to expropriate lands in any part of the Dominion, adjudged to be necessary for "purposes of defence."

The rights of the Province have not been invaded in any way. Mr. Whitney wrote to Sir Frederick Borden, Minister of Militia, engaging to lease the 52,000 acres of Provincial lands at Petawawa "for ninety-nine years at an annual rental of $10 for the whole quantity of land," "as soon as you have completed your settlement with the timber licensees." And thereby hangs a tale. Why was Mr. Whitney so solicitous for the timber licensees, whose interests would not be affected by the lease? Under the actual expropriation, the timber licensees own out their timber as of yore. Their rights have never been in danger. But Mr. Whitney had some political friends interested in Petawawa timber limits. Hence these tears. The president of the Pembroke Lumber Company, which demanded $98,000 for limits, four-fifths of which have been burnt over and have little value, is a member of the Ontario Legislature, a supporter of Mr. Whitney. Mr. E. A. Dunlop, M.P., another supporter; Judge Thomas Deacon, C. Chapman, and other stalwart Conservatives in the town of Pembroke, are members of the company. An alleged generous estimate of the value of the timber is $10,000, which would no doubt have been gladly accepted, if it had not been wanted by a Government, which is popularly regarded as a legitimate prey of the grafter.

LAST NIGHT'S MEETING

The Conservative "rally," which partially filled the Grand Opera House last night, whatever its object and aim, was, in point of numerical attendance, fairly successful. Only two of the announced orators were present, Mr. George Fowler, M.P., Kings and Albert, N.B., and Hon. J. W. Hanna, Provincial Secretary. Mr. Fowler's first appearance in Peterborough, was distinctly disappointing. His topics were scandals, Insurance Commission, and Fowler—principally Fowler. He declared that the Insurance Commission was an engine devised by a tyrranical government to politically crush Mr. Fowler and Mr. Foster. It would be a "sad day for Canada," Mr. Fowler said, "when Mr. Foster (and inferentially Mr. Fowler) left Parliament." The Insurance Commission having failed to politically destroy these gentlemen, Mr. Fowler prophesied that at the next election the Conservatives would sweep the country, seize the reins of power and save the Dominion.

Hon. Mr. Hanna, from his point of view, made a good speech, fluent and well delivered. It chiefly consisted in an attempt to make good the claim that the Whitney Government had kept in office the promises made in Opposition. In some respects, but with only one side of the shield displayed, he made a fair case. He however made many sweeping statements which, if made good by proof, would have strengthened his contention.

Hon. Mr. Hanna was diplomatic. He boldly wandered in fields, where he thought that he was sure of his ground, but he carefully avoided the boggy spots — skated clear of the thin ice. He made no word of reference — no attempt to conciliate, as one would have expected him to do—with an audience largely drawn from a city of workingmen, to justify his Government's position in regard to the Central Prison contract, which involves an insult to honest labour, and an invasion of, and an injury to, the interests of the working classes. This odious contract farms out prison labour at three cents an hour of a ten-hour day, in competition with honest labour, which has to contribute its share of feeding and maintaining criminals, who, at the price charged the contractor, for their work, do not pay for the salt in their "skilly." It would have been very interesting to the citizens of an industrial city like Peterborough, to have heard Mr. Hanna's explanation of the strange things done to labour in a department under his charge.

Hon. Mr. Hanna is also head of the License Department. He did not, as was to be expected, make one word of reference to the manner in which Mr. Whitney has kept his promise that he would remove the administration of the License Law from political influence. He did not try to explain why the Government in this respect, like the man mentioned in Scripture, "took unto itself seven other devils, and the last state" of the Government in the matter of politics in the license administration "was worse than the first."

Mr. Whitney in opposition promised a reduction of expenditure, and greater economy in administration. Mr. Hanna offered no justification, only increase of revenue, of the fact that since the Government came into office, the amount of provincial expenditure has increased nearly two million dollars, which is represented in part by the Government voting themselves an increase of salary amounting to $17,000 per year. No Government in Ontario, has, it is safe to say, increased the provincial expenditure in ten, or even twenty years, as much as the Whitney Government has in two years. In 1905, when this Government took power, the annual expenditure was $5,267,453. The annual expenditure is now $7,003,332, an increase of $1,767,897 in two short years.

Mr. Hanna made no attempt at explanation or justification of the action of the Whitney Government, in the last hours of the session, voting down Hon. Mr. Graham's resolution to abolish the two-fifths local option clause, which is regarded by those interested in temperance, as the worst handicap ever placed upon the temperance branch of the moral reform movement. Yet his interest in temperance was the platform upon which Whitney rode into power. Demagogues told the people that Codlin, and not Short, was their friend, and thousands of deluded Liberals believed them, and Mr. Whitney was elected. The three-fifths clause was the answer —showed how those that "sowed in tears, reaped in joy."

THE "SILENT SALESMAN"

The organizers of the Conservative "rally" last night, being disappointed in two of their speakers—Boyce and Bergeron—and the speakers present having evidently decided to handle only safe topics, adopted the "silent salesman" principle, and displayed two peculiarly insignificant and pointless placards affixed to the boxes on either side of the opera house. One placard read thus:

"Laurier in London Has Betrayed Us."

This is the first intimation of an act of treason which, so far, this country has survived. The placard was placed in front of the box occupied by a highly respected Peterborough French-Canadian and his party. It was the irony of fate that the latter occupied a box bearing a mendacious statement regarding a distinguished compatriot, a Canadian statesman of French extraction, whom Sir Charles Tupper declared was "too British for him," who has done more to reconcile the two great races in this Dominion, and unify the Canadian national spirit; who has shown more stalwart Canadianism, more practical loyalty to the Empire than any statesman that ever controlled the destinies of Canada. The placard, with its flaunted fiction, was a delicate compliment to the loyal compatriot of Sir Wilfrid Laurier. The opposing placard bore the remarkable legend:

"Provincial Rights at Petawawa; No Surrender."

This is absurdly and absolutely without point, as shown by an article on this page.

Although my prices and terms for Blocks, $10 cash and $5 per month bring them within the reach of all, man or woman, I have decided to sell a few single Lots for $75 each on easy terms, for a few days only. I will build a neat and substantial Cottage 1½ story to cost about $800, also on easy terms. Very little in addition to what you are now paying your landlord will make you a well off landlord yourself. A personal interview will give you a better understanding, and and do not forget that it means money for you. 100 acre Farm for sale, exchange or rent cheap.

AUCTION SALE

Of valuable Flour Mill, Water Power and Hotel property, under the powers of sale contained in two mortgages.

At the Clarendon Hotel, in the Village of Hastings, in the County of Northumberland, on Friday, the 31st day of May, 1907, at 10.30 o'clock, a.m.

The mill property, known as the "Trent Valley Flour Mills," consists of a large stone building three stories high, 45 feet by 54 feet, with four waterwheels and the right to use 200 horse power from the River Trent. There is also a flour store house, 42 feet by 24 feet, and two other store houses, one 24 1-3 feet by 48 1-2 feet and the other 49 feet by 24 1-2 feet, and there is a nice office building, 18 1-2 feet by 17 feet.

This property is along the shores of the River Trent and when the canal is completed, should greatly increase in value. The said property includes the following lots, namely, numbers 98, 99, 100, 101 and 153, according to Wilkin's plan of part of the Village of Hastings.

At the same time and place there will be offered for sale an undivided half interest or share in the Clarendon Hotel property, consisting of the large solid brick hotel building, three stories high, at the corner of Bridge and Front streets.

In this building are two stores, facing front street, one used as a jewelry store and the other as a millinery store.

This is one of the finest hotel properties in Central Ontario and it does a large commercial and tourist business, and since the recent fire in Hastings, it is more valuable than ever.

This property consists of part of Lots Nos. 1 and 2 at the northeast corner of Bridge and Front streets, in the said Village of Hastings.

The owners of the other half share or interest in this hotel property are willing to sell so that the purchaser may acquire an absolute title to same.

There will also be offered for sale, at the same time and place, a large number of vacant lots in Hastings, suitable for business and residential buildings, and also an undivided one-third interest in a number of power or water lots along the River Trent in Hastings.

TERMS OF SALE—Ten per cent. of purchase money at time of sale, balance in 30 days without interest.

For further particulars apply to the undersigned.

The sale is subject to reserve bids.

Dated at Hastings, Ont., the 16th day of April, A. D. 1907.

A PRETTY MATRON OWES HEALTH TO PE-RU-NA.

MRS. ANNA N. KAISER,
Had Suffered Severely From Pelvic Catarrh—Cannot Praise Peruna Too Highly—Read Her Letter.

MRS. ANNA N. KAISER, Two Rivers, Wis., was a sufferer from pelvic catarrh to such an extent that she could scarcely do her own work. In describing her symptoms, she wrote:

"I have such terrible backaches and pains below my shoulder blades, way down my back and across my hips, and at times pains in the pelvic organs, so that I am not able to lie down or sleep. I also have pains through my left side and am afraid I may be getting heart trouble."

After taking Peruna and following Dr. Hartman's instructions for several weeks, Mrs. Kaiser reported as follows:

"I feel much stronger and do not get nervous as I used to. The pain is entirely gone, except when I work a little too hard. The medicine has done me wonderful good. I am taking Peruna and Manalin. My bowels are also in good condition."

Reports Her Cure.

After continuing the treatment a short time longer, Mrs. Kaiser reports her cure, as follows:

"I must drop you a line to let you know that I am well now and cured with your medicine. I must thank you for the advice you gave me.

"The medicine is something wonderful. I cannot praise it enough for the good it has done for me and I hope many others will be freed from their suffering.

"I have advised others who are suffering as I did to consult you and many are taking my advice. If ever I need medicine again, I know that Peruna will help me."

Dr. Hartman's Advice.

To every woman suffering from the symptoms above indicated, Dr. Hartman extends an earnest invitation to write to him for medical advice.

CONSERVATIVE SPEAKERS ADDRESS PUBLIC MEETING

the expenditures voted in Parliament this year, from $20,000,000 to $25,000,000, would be wanted; certain favoured individuals would get it, as in the past.

Dealing with what he termed scandals, Mr. Fowler referred to the "Robins' land deal," the "Blairmore town site," "Moncton land deal," "Halifax land deal," the last two were identified with the Intercolonial Railway, and, incidentally, Mr. Fowler made a remark which singularly enough failed to awaken the applause which he evidently expected to follow its utterance: "As a matter of fact there never was a greater failure than Mr. Emmerson in the Department of Railways and Canals."

Surpluses are Large

"Our friends," he continued, "boast of the large surpluses they have now claiming to have something like $23,000,000 now. Our Liberal spellbinders would have us believe that they have some mysterious way of making money at Ottawa, but do not be deceived," he said, "every dollar comes out of the people of the country." He stated that only in one year since the Liberals were placed in power in Ottawa had the debt been reduced. This was the time, he thought, to prepare for the period when the prosperity would not be so great.

Immigration and Common Sense

Referring to the question of immigration Mr. Fowler expressed his belief that common sense should be used in selecting the class of people who were admitted to the country; and if a united country is to be built up, it will be necessary to exercise care in selecting the people who shall become residents of our West. The present Government, he declared, appeared to consider only the number, and had no thought of the character of the new comers to the country. It was better, he thought to get the population more slowly, and get the better class.

Insurance Commission

A considerable portion of Mr. Fowler's address was occupied with references to the report of the Commission on Insurance, and to his particular association with it. He repeated his contempt for the Commission which, he declared, was appointed with a view to discrediting Mr. Foster, but the man who swerved the commission from its proper course proved a very poor marksman, he stated, and instead of shooting Mr. Foster, it was Mr. Emmerson who went down.

Defends his Threat

A brief reference to, and a defence of his threat made in the house, in reply to a remark from the member for Yale-Caribou, was made by Mr. Fowler, who considered that he references flung across the floor of the House in relation to his private affairs had gone far enough; and he replied that if it was the intention to discuss his private affairs in the House, he would discuss those of members of the Liberal side of the House.

In concluding his address, Mr. Fowler declared that the Conservative party was united, and he predicted that in the coming Dominion elections they would be victorious.

The Provincial Secretary

Mr. Hanna, who last night made his first public address, as well as his first appearance in Peterborough, devoted his time to the discussion of the affairs of the province of Ontario, dividing his talk into discussion on the condition of the province prior to the election of 1905; the promises Mr. Whitney had made previous to his election, and the manner in which the promises had been carried out. The Conservatives, he said, had been in power in Ontario now two years, and it was pertinent to ask if, in view of their record since that time, the action of the electors at the time they were returned was justified. He claimed that if this question were asked there would not be a man in Ontario who could say that it was not. He believed that if the ballots cast in the election of 1898 had been counted as they were marked, the Conservatives would have been declared elected then. Following their return, Mr. Whitney took steps to redeem his promise to abolish the numbered ballot and to give an honest ballot, and count them honestly. Mr. Hanna declared that this promise had been redeemed, and, as proof, pointed to the fact that, in the three bye-elections which had been held since 1905, not a breath of suspicion had been raised that there was any impropriety in the actions of any officer or supporter of the Government in connection with these contests.

Taxing Railways

Railway taxation was the next question dealt with by Mr. Hanna, who stated that the revenue from this source had been doubled since the Conservatives took office, and instead of receiving $200,000, as was the case prior to 1905, the Province now receives, from this source, $400,000.

The disposition of the assets of the Province also came in for some reference from the Provincial Secretary, who claimed that the pine timber, mineral, and pulp-wood assets of Ontario were yielding, under the present regime, much more to the coffers of the Province than they did prior to it. He stated that in the past twelve months $1,607,000 had been received from the mineral assets of New Ontario, from mineral lands along the route of the T. & N. Railway, the construction of which was commenced by the Liberal Government, prior to the return of the present Government.

Money For Timber

The disposal of the pine timber was referred to, and the speaker stated that at the last sale the timber sold had netted the Province $80,000 a square mile at public auction, as compared with $30,000 per square mile at the last sale prior to 1905.

The City "Collared" It

The fact that Peterborough had been able to "collar," which Mr. Hanna said was the correct term to use, one of the new Normal Schools, was referred to, and the statement made that the decision to establish these schools had been reached by the Government, because it was believed that the teachers, by this method, would be better equipped.

Schools and Books

While dealing with the question of schools, Mr. Hanna went into detail in his references to the School Book Commission, and promised that the parents of the school children would, in a short time, be able to buy books much cheaper, and that, in addition, he would have fewer books to buy.

Mr. Hanna concluded his address regretting the statement to the effect that he had been pleased to address a Peterborough audience, and to meet the constituents of Mr. Bradburn.

After singing the National Anthem the meeting was declared closed, and Mr. L. M. Hayes, from his seat in the audience, as the speakers were leaving the platform, called for three cheers for the speakers of the evening, which concluded the cheering and the meeting.

An Insurance Man Talks On The New Insurance Law

"The Insurance Commissioners' report would seem to be, to a very large extent, an adoption of the Armstrong law recently passed in New York," said an insurance man yesterday.

"No such irregularities were shown to exist in the Canadian investigation as existed in the United States, and some of the provisions of the proposed insurance Act are not calculated to produce a sane and well balanced law. Most singularly is this the case with regard to the provision in the Act for the purpose of prohibiting rebating, whereby a penalty of $1,000 is to be imposed upon every director and manager of a company, any of whose agents pays, or allows, or offer to pay or allow, any rebate of premium, and that any person shall be authorized to sue for this penalty, one-half of the amount of the fine to go to the person suing. No such director or manager shall be indemnified in whole or in part, either in respect of the penalty or of any costs out of the funds of the company. This fine is collectable whether the rebate be given or offered with or without the knowledge of the manager or director sued.

In an editorial in the London Advertiser, the editor very clearly defines the situation when he says:

"It is hardly to be wondered at that this recommendation has caused a ripple of amusement. Our larger Canadian companies have over a thousand agents. If any of these agents, located say in British Columbia, should divide its commissions with an applicant, or even offer to do so, then he (the agent), the assured and the company shall all go harmless, but a penalty of $1,000 shall be collected from each director of the company and from its manager, even though they have prohibited rebating and did not know the agent even by name. Designed to prevent injustice, anything more unjust could scarcely be imagined. Why should an agent be satisfied with the bare living he can secure when he could make himself independent by merely offering to divide his small commission with half a dozen of his friends. Each one of them could then take suit against each of the directors of the company and its managers for $1,000 for each promise. It would be as fair to provide that if any agent commits forgery, all the directors of the company should be put in the penitentiary, and if any agent commits murder all of the directors should be hanged.

"The suggestion is plainly so unjust that it requires only to be stated to be rejected, but those who made this proposal have made several others with reference to life insurance which, if followed, will cause great injustice. They are unsafe guides. Their report, as a whole, deserves condemnation.'

"The Canadian managers are most anxious to make the insurance law as perfect as possible, and have made important recommendations to this end, but our Canadian Commissioners have seen fit to brush these aside in favour of the Armstrong provisions.

"The Commissioners eulogized the British system of freedom and publicity, but proceeded to frame the most distinctively un-British legislation that could be imagined, depriving the companies of almost every vestige of freedom.

"We want the best, whether it be British or American, and it is only by following this principle that we can hope to work out something distinctively Canadian, and better than either."—Winnipeg Telegram.

Synopsis Of Canadian North-West HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the North-west Provinces, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land is situate.

Homestead Duties.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:—

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased) of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act, as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

Application for patent should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa of his intention to do so.

THE CARNIVAL WAS A SUCCESS

Many Were in Costume at the Roller Skating Rink Last Night—The Prize Winners.

A very successful carnival was held last night at the Charlotte Street Roller Rink, and the crowd present was one of the largest of the season. There were many in costume, and some very clever comic and fancy dresses were exhibited. There was an unusually large attendance of spectators, who seemed to enjoy the pretty picture made by the gaily dressed skaters as they circled the rink.

The following were the prize-winners:

Gentlemen's Fancy Costume — J. White.

Gentlemen's Comic Costume — H. O'Brien.

Ladies' Fancy Costume — Miss Logan.

Ladies' Comic Costume—Miss W. Logan.

Girls' Fancy Costume — Miss Cavanagh.

The skating contests were, as usual, decidedly interesting, and the judges had great difficulty in selecting the winners as there were a large number of graceful skaters on the floor last night. Miss Nora Fitzgerald was awarded the prize in the ladies' event, and Mr. Frank Clancy that in the gentlemen's contest.

Great Opportunities For Investing Capital

Messrs. Wilson and Gibson, Members of Real Estate Firm, Both Going to Regina—Office Here Will Remain Open.

MR. McCANNAN IN CHARGE

Mr. Gibson, of the real estate firm of Wilson and Gibson, who have been doing considerable business in western lands in Peterborough during the last few months, will be leaving for Regina next week for the summer months, the great influx of settlers necessitating the presence in the West of both the principals of this firm. Their Peterborough office, however, will be open. Mr. H. J. McCannan has been appointed manager of the business at this end and will attend to the interests of the firm, the same office being maintained in the Market Block. It is the intention of Mr. Gibson to return to Peterborough again in the autumn, and, in the meantime, anyone interested in western lands will find Mr. McCannan ready to give any information in his possession. At the same time direct connection will be maintained with the office in Regina, and anyone who contemplates going to the West, either on an investing trip or on pleasure bent, will be given every facility for the gratification of their desires.

The opportunity for investments in western lands never was as great as at the present time, and this firm, in view of the fact that the members are in close touch with the situation, is in a position to give the best of service to those who have an inclination to reap some of the benefits from an investment in in western lands.

NEW SCIENTIFIC PROGRESS

A Preparation Discovered That Will Destroy The Dandruff Germ.

For some time it has been known that dandruff is caused by a germ that digs up the scalp into little white flakes, and, by sapping the vitality of the hair at the root, causes falling hair and, of course, finally, baldness. For years there have been all kinds of hair stimulants and scalp tonics on the market, but there has been no permanent cure for dandruff until the discovery of a preparation called Newbro's Herpicide, which destroys the dandruff germ. "Destroy the cause, the effect will cease to exist." Kill the dandruff germ and you'll have no dandruff, no itching scalp, no falling hair.

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to the Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. The Market Drug Store. Two sizes—50c and $1.

The DOMINION BANK will occupy PERMANENT PREMISES Corner of George and Simcoe Streets MONDAY, APRIL 29th.

HELD FIRST MEETING IN THEIR NEW HALL

Court Chemong I. O. F. is Experiencing Wave of Prosperity.

Court Chemong I.O.F., No. 530, met for the first time in their new hall on Hunter street on Thursday evening when a large class was initiated by their new form of initiation. Deputy Supreme Chief Ranger Bradshaw performed the ceremonies. The hall was well filled, among the number being several ladies. Court Chemong is at present experiencing a wave of prosperity with about ten initiations each month.

APPEAL ALLOWED THE C.P.R. CONDUCTOR

His Honour Judge Weller Quashed the Conviction Made by Magistrate Dumble Some Time Ago.

EVIDENCE WAS CONFLICTING

His Honour Judge Weller removed the fine of $20 that was imposed upon Conductor Barnes in the Police Court some time ago, quashing the conviction without costs, and the information was dismissed. Barnes was alleged to have blocked George street at the C.P.R. station for more than five minutes on March 21, and, in spite of the apparent violation of the law from the evidence given then, Barnes was cleared of all guilt today.

P. C. Newhall, Motorman Killenbeck and Conducton Sangirson gave evidence similar to that received in the Police Court. Mr. R. F. McWilliams appeared for Chief Rozel, and Mr. Angus McMurty and Mr. W. H. Moore for Conductor Barnes.

Defence

Mr. McInerny, engineer of the way-freight, gave an account of the work done that morning when the freight came into Peterborough. There were 12 cars in the train, counting the van. The first nine were cut off, leaving the last three on the bridge. Witness said that cars Nos. 7, 8 and 9 were thrown into the Cereal siding. The engine then went west, backed up again to the bridge, and got the van and two cars that had been left there.

Conductor Barnes, in his evidence in court, said that the cars to be cut off were the third, fourth and fifth.

Mr. McMurty said that he had evidently counted from the end.

Mr. Davidson, head brakeman on this train, said that he always counted the cars from the engine. He had received no instructions from the conductor after the train reached Peterborough.

Alex. Pierce, middle brakeman, also gave evidence. He said that Mr. Barnes had told him that the third, fourth and fifth cars from the van were to be thrown into the Cereal siding. The crossing was clear at no time during the motion of shunting. The day operator at the station showed his entry book, where records of arrivals are written. Barnes entered the city at 7.35 a.m. and left at 9.10 a.m.

Conductor Barnes was called, and said that he had had 18 years' experience. Mr. McWilliams cross-examined him as to whether he had reported at the station, as his former evidence had stated, and witness replied that the writing was wrong.

Mr. Moore interjected, "We all know that Mr. Dumble is somewhat deaf."

Regarding the counting of the cars, Mr. McWilliams said that witness was counting to suit himself.

Conflicting Evidence

From Mr. Barnes' counting, as he did yesterday, and from that which was done in the Police Court, there was manifest confusion. That is, the Magistrate understood that he was counting from the engine, and yesterday, witness stated, he was counting from the rear. There were no mistakes in Magistrate Dumble's numbering of the cars, according to the evidence he had written down at the preliminary hearing, so Mr. McWilliams said.

An argument followed between the opposing counsel as to whether memorands, taken by P. C. Newhall at the time of the trial, could be used, and His Honour decided that it should not be used. P. C. Newhall and Chief Russel swore that in the Police Court Conductor Barnes had said he reported at the station as soon as he arrived in the city.

Before Judge Weller yesterday he said that he did not report the arrival.

This concluded the evidence, after which the counsel summed up the evidence.

His Honour said that the policeman's evidence could not be taken entirely into consideration against that given by the railway men by one adjusting it. Regard must be paid their evidence as men knowing their business. P. C. Newhall, he said, is a careful policeman, but His Honour thought that he must have made some mistake. The doubt was in favour of the conductor, and His Honour quashed the conviction without costs, and the information was dismissed.

Interesting Report Of A Successful Season

A Comprehensive Review of the Meetings of the Ladies' Literary Society of St. Peter's T. A. S. Given by Miss Coleman.

MANY ESSAYS WERE GIVEN

At the closing meeting of the Ladies Literary Society, of the T. A. S., held last night, the report of the past season's meetings was presented by Miss Coleman, who has most ably filled the office of secretary during the season just closed. Her report was a comprehensive review of the operations of the society during a season which has been successful in every way. It is as follows:

Though it may seem like an echo from the past, yet I wish to place before the audience at this, the closing meeting of our society, a report of the work done by the society during the past season.

On Oct. 2nd, 1906, a meeting of the Ladies' Literary Society of St. Peter's T. A. S., was held in the assembly hall for the purpose of re-organization. The object of this society was to cultivate and stimulate literary power, as well as to provide elevating entertainment. A great deal of interest was manifested in this meeting and the popular vote raised the following members to the position of officers for the ensuing year:

President—Miss L. Deannard.
Secretary—Miss H. Cahill.
Treasurer—Miss O'Connell.

Members of Committee—Misses Carveth, Coughlin, Crowley, Coleman, J. Clancy, Cahill, Denneard, Desnatel, Fitzgerald, Holmes, Hurley, Heffernan, Lynch and O'Connell.

At a business meeting held a few evenings later, plans were discussed for the literary work of the season. Matters were briskly disposed of and it was decided to hold the literary meetings every second Friday evening. The committee spared no time and pains to make the first meeting a most successful one and their hopes were fully realized.

The meetings have been held regularly throughout the season and have been characterized by a genuine interest and hearty co-operation on the part of the members. They have not only been entertaining but most educative. Since the inaugural meeting the society has enjoyed a continuous and constantly increasing popularity, as evidenced by the large and enthusiastic audiences present at each meeting. Excellent essays and bright musical programmes were the characteristic features of these meetings.

The following is a list of the very interesting essays read during the season:

Oct. 12th—"Holy Congregation of the Index," Rev. Dr. O'Brien.
Oct. 26th—"French Canadian Life and Literature," Miss O'Connell.
Nov. 9th—"Shrine of St. Anne de Beaupre," Miss Coleman.
Nov. 23rd—"Shrine of Lourdes," Miss Desjocher.
Dec. 14th—"Edmund Burke," Rev. Father Kelly.
Jan. 11th—"Venice," Miss A. Holland.
Jan. 25th—"The Lily of Israel," Miss L. Sullivan.
Feb. 7th—"Western Canada," Miss W. Fitzgerald.
March 1st—"Famous English Poets," Miss Eva Tangney.
March 15th—"The Art of Shakespeare," Rev. Father Galvin.
April 19th—"The Lily of Quito," Miss V. Donoghue.
April 26th—"The Heroines of Shakespeare," Miss M. McGrath.

To those who prepared essays the thanks of the society are extended in a special manner. They have been the chief features of the literary meetings and always proved to be most interesting and instructive.

The number of tickets disposed of during the season by the members of the committee was two hundred and seventy-seven. The congratulations of the society are extended to Miss O'Connell and Miss Deannard for having sold the greatest number of tickets, thereby winning the pins presented by the society to those disposing of the greatest number of tickets.

The hearty thanks of the society is extended to those who contributed so liberally to the musical part of the programmes. To them we attribute much of the success of our literary meetings, as the various musical selections rendered, gave variety to the programmes.

To the editors of our local papers, the Review and Examiner, our thanks are in a special manner due for the unfailing courtesy shown us in our dealings with them. They have contributed not a little to the working out of our plans by their willing promptness in inserting notices of our meetings and have manifested a kindly interest in the success of our literary work by the prominence given the fortnightly reports of the essays, lectures, etc.

The success of the society was due in no small degree to the untiring efforts of the officers and members of the committee, while special mention must be made of the highly appreciated assistance of our worthy president, Miss Denneard.

In conclusion, we have but to tender our most hearty thanks to our highly esteemed director, Rev. Dr. O'Brien, who has always worked so zealously and assiduously for the interests of our society. The earnest wish of every member is that he may live long to enjoy many successful seasons of the Literary Society of St. Peter's T. A. S., and that the success which has attended his untiring efforts in the cause of temperance may continue to increase.

ONTARIO HORSES TO GO TO LONDON

Winners in Canadian Horse Show will Represent Ontario at International Show in London

The fact that winners of prizes at the Canadian Horse Show, to be held at the St. Lawrence Arena, Toronto, May 1, 2, 3, and 4, will be chosen to represent Ontario at the International Show in London, Eng., June 8 to 15, has increased the interest greatly. Entries and inquiries have come in from all parts of Ontario that have never previously been represented before. The prize list has also been increased by two cups, to be given by the Harness Horse and Saddle Horses' Society. The work of seating and decorating the new arena is being rapidly completed.

UNSOLICITED TESTIMONY

The Tate Optical Co., Peterborough:

DEAR SIRS,—During the last three or four years (prior to May last) my eyesight had failed to such an extent that I was unable to read or see anything at close range and could get no Glasses that would help me. I tried two different Opticians in Toronto and was told by both that they could do nothing for me, and that my sight would never be better. A statement of my case was sent to Montreal by a Hatters optician and several pairs of Glasses sent me, but with the same result my vision could not be improved. Last May, while looking at a Pair of Glasses you made for Mr. John Fife, Keene, and talking with him he advised me to consult your Mr. Babcock, and I am pleased to say that the Pair of Glasses he made for me have given me entire satisfaction and I can do now what I have not done for years past—read any ordinary print and see distinctly at close range. I feel very grateful, not only for the interest you have taken in my case, but particularly so for the blessing of good eyesight. Thanks to your knowledge and skill.

Yours truly,
(Signed) JOHN CARTER, Sr.,

"THE CALL OF THE SKY"

Flying Machines Of The Present And The Future.

A recent issue of The American Inventor contains a leading article from the pen of Mr. Harold Aylmer Littledale, formerly of the Examiner reportorial staff on "The Call of the Sky." In this article Mr. Littledale deals most interestingly with the problem of flying machines. It is as follows:—

Yesterday it was the steam locomotive; to-day it is the automobile; to-morrow it will be the airship. And after that, — goodness knows what!

This "Call of the Sky" is not without adventure nor without death. Many have lost their lives in answering it, but still they discover and still they invent, making ever and ever more practicable the wonderful problem of aerial navigation. And to-day, in America, aeronauts are probably as near the solution of it as are those of other countries, so that the flying machine seems to be assured for the very near future, and it seems within the bounds of probability that the honour of constructing the first really dirigible ship will fall to an American inventor.

For years and years the sky has been calling and calling, and man have answered — irresistantly. Apparently, the earliest attempts to fly were made very long ago. For instance, take the myth of Daedalus and Icarus. Daedalus was a descendant of the Erechtheidae, the old Attenian line of kings. He was a contemporary of Theseus and Minos and famous as an artist and a mechanician. According to the poetic fiction of his era he successfully sailed over the Aegean Sea by means of wings which he himself had fashioned. Icarus was his son and the poems tell us that he, too, heeded the call of the sky. However, it is recorded that he soared too near the sun, and the wax by which his wings were secured to his shoulders, melted, so that he fell into the Icarian Sea and was drowned.

Elsewhere it is written that Archytas of Tarentum, about 4000 years B.C., invented and constructed some kind of a wooden pigeon that sustained itself in air for the space of a few minutes; and Suetonius tells us that Simon Magnus was killed in Rome during the reign of Nero while attempting to fly from one housetop to another.

Of all that, however, we can believe little; but we do know by historical documents that Friar Roger Bacon, (1214-1294) constructed "a machine consisting of a pair of hollow copper vacuum globes which could rise from the ground and support a man seated in a chair."

Towards the close of the 15th century the experiments of Giovanna Batista Dante, a mathematician of Perugia, above Lake Thrasi, met with considerable success. The experiments however were discontinued by Dante after an accident to his apparatus, as a result of which he fractured his thigh.

The first great departure from this form of aviation came, however, after Henry Cavendish, in 1783, discovered the great lifting power of hydrogen gas. But Cavendish was a chemist and no aeronaut, and it fell to the lot of Dr. Black of Edinburgh, in the following years, to announce that a bladder inflated with hydrogen must necessarily rise.

This was the seed from which the balloon of to-day sprung, the balloon that is used, now, for pleasure, and for profit, for scientific research and for war.

As far as can be ascertained the first balloon was made by two brothers by the name of Montgolfier, sons of one Peter Montgolfier, a paper manufacturer of France. This ballon was a six sided silk bag, with a capacity of forty cubic feet, and inflated with hydrogen it ascended rapidly. The Montgolfiers and others, before acquiring the knowledge of hydrogen's lifting power were to a marked degree successful with heated air balloons, and after a number of captive ascensions the Marquis d'Arlandes made the first independent trip ever hazarded. He rose to an approximated height of 2,000 feet and descended in safety after a voyage of two miles. That was on November 21, 1873. From that day on ballooning became to be almost a popular pastime. Even on December 1 of the same year another ascension was in 1784 fifty two trips are recorded.

In the following year Blanchard, the first professional aeronaut, crossed the English Channel with Dr. John Jeffries, starting from Dover and landing in France. This led to Philatre de Rosier on June 14, 1785, attempting to cross from the French shore to the English side. The balloon on that occasion was filled with a mixture of hydrogen gas and heated air and it caught fire at a height of 3,000 feet. The aeronaut was unfortunately killed and the tragedy proved a temporary blow to all aeronautics; but as enthusiasts and professionals learned the wind currents ballooning became safer and more successful. So it all progressed wonderfully, developing the parachute and demonstrating its almost absolute necessity.

An America aeronauts took a firm hold, following a wonderful trip made in July, 1859, by John Wise, John La Mountain and two others. They started from St. Louis and landed at Jefferson, Henderson Co., N.Y. That is a distance of 1450 miles, but they covered it in less than twenty hours, by which it appears that they must have averaged a speed of almost a mile a minute. Apart from that however it is one of the longest flights on record. With such a flight before them it took but a moment for other American aeronauts to perceive and determine and proceed to do, and the names of Roy Knabenschue, the Wrights, Leo Stevens, and Dr. Julian P. Thomas are widely known. Knabenschue has an airship that has made truly wonderful flights, the Wrights have some secret apparatus that is said to be perfect; Leo Stevens has built a balloon of enormous proportions for the U. S. War Department. And of these men, Knabenschue and the Wright brothers (Orville and Wilbur) come from Ohio, the former being a native of Toledo and the latter of Dayton.

Concerning Knabenschue it may be said that he has an airship of his own invention and construction that has demonstrated its ability to propel itself satisfactorily and at a high speed under favourable atmospheric conditions; however, experiments under adverse atmospheric conditions have been almost disastrous. In other words, Knabenschue has an airship that is ideal in a perfect calm, just navigable in a breeze, and useless in a high wind. His ship is of the "cigar shape," so commonly known, and the propellor is in front; thus it is pulled through the air instead of being pushed, which is favoured by many. But Knabenschue has tried both ways, and finds his present method far more satisfactory.

Little is known concerning the machine which the Wrights have put together. They have maintained a strict secrecy, but a few have seen the apparatus and they are all of the opinion that it is far better than anything else in America. The two brothers have spent a large amount of money in constructing it, and they are trying to market it before letting their secrets be generally known, for they have found it impossible to patent the affair. As to their being accredited with having solved the problem of aviation, a member of the Aero Club of America, who witnessed some of their experiments in Dayton last summer, wrote as follows:

"The Wright brothers have a practical flying machine. I have seen it, and in my opinion they have solved the aerial problem. The Wrights are working with two propellers, which run along at twelve horse-power, but both brothers judge from the results attained, that six horse power is ample for a speed of thirty miles an hour.

"In 1904 they went with their machine around a field of seventy-five acres, no fewer than thirteen times and they guided it as they wished." And it was done at a speed of 60 miles an hour. This is an achievement no one else has equalled, for the machine possessed lifting power, sustaining power and guidability. But they have made great advances since 1904. In their experiments in 1906 they have flown 160 miles altogether through the air. Their longest flight was twenty-four and a half miles in thirty-eight minutes three seconds, and in the face of this it is a surprise to know that their machine weighs half a ton."

In recent years Paris has been the centre of the world's aeronautical experiments, and it was at the establishment of Louis Goddard, near the French capital that the airship for the Wellman Polar Expedition has been built. Artic explorers say that Wellman cannot possibly fly to the pole in an airship, but that does not come into the bounds of this article. However, Wellman's ship, now at Tromsoe, whence he will begin his flight northward, is of gigantic proportions, and has many departures from the usual scale of dimensions. For instance the length of the ship is only three times its greatest diameter, which is exceptional. The following interesting table gives additional information concerning this strange machine, upon which so much is banked:

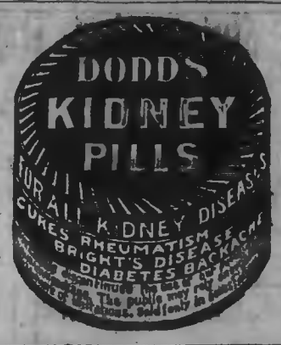
Length, 104.04 feet.
Greatest diameter, 53.49 feet.
Surface, 21,098 sq. feet.
Volume, 224,244 cubic feet.
Lifting power, (hydrogen at 1 k. 110 per metre cube) 15,558 pounds.
Lifting power, (hydrogen at 1k. 140 per metre cube) 16,000 pounds.
Weight of airship complete, 6,000 pounds.
Weight of crew, instruments, etc., 9,400 pounds.

The greatest fame as an aeronaut to-day is that of Santos Dumont, whose notable flight on October 19, 1901, has never been equalled. On that occasion he sailed from the Aero Club Park, near Longchamps, and sailed around the Eiffel Tower covering the distance of eight miles in 29 minutes, winning the Deutsch prize of $20,000. He has built a dozen or more airships and aeroplanes and has met with remarkable success in all his experiments.

One of the strangest statements imaginable was made at a dinner of the Aero Club of America a few weeks ago, when Edgar B. Bronson told the remarkable story of Dr. Solomon Andrews of Perth Amboy, N. J. It was like a voice from the grave for Dr. Bronson told of a remarkable airship constructed by Dr. Andrews in 1862, that, according to several written statements was capable of perfect flight. Dr. Bronson is a business man, who is interested in aeronautics. The writer interviewed him at his office, No. 100 William street, for the American Inventor and there learned that Dr. Andrew's ship had long since been destroyed but that there was in existence the full drawings and memoranda. The ship had three cigar shaped balloons set side by side but the method of propulsion could not be ascertained, for Mr. Bronson said that the Aero Club had become convinced of the perfection of the apparatus and intended constructing a similar one. If Dr. Andrews really succeeded in flying it is remarkable that the invention proved abortive and laid so long in oblivion. But according to Dr. Bronson, and he quotes from Dr. Andrews' personal memoirs, the inventor received scant notice. He offered to fly over the Confederate lines and return safely to a Union Camp, but the War Department did not give him an opportunity and he died disheartened.

But the methods of the War Department are strangely unfathomable, Capt. Chandler at the very same Aero Club dinner, announced that the War Department at Washington was receiving on an average ten complete drawings of airships daily, and was paying no attention to them, returning the papers with printed letters of refusal! And that is incredible. It is unjust if it is true. Yet Captain Chandler should know of what he speaks, for he is in charge of the balloon corps at Fort Leavenworth. This futile effort on the part of workmen in general is humorously touched by Kipling in the "Conundrum of the Workshops:"

When the flush of a new-born sun fell on Eden's green and gold,
Our father Adam sat under a Tree and scratched with a stick in the mould,
And the first rude sketch that the world had seen was joy to his mighty heart,
Till the Devil whispered behind the leaves, "It's pretty, but is it Art?"



FREE TO YOU—MY SISTER

FREE TO YOU AND EVERY SISTER SUFFERING FROM WOMEN'S AILMENTS.

I am a woman.
I know woman's sufferings.
I have found the cure.
I will mail, free of any charge, my home treatment with full instructions to any sufferer from women's ailments. I want to tell all women about this cure — you, my reader, for yourself, your daughter, your mother, or your sister. I want to tell you how to cure yourselves at home without the help of a doctor. Men cannot understand women's sufferings. What we women know from experience, we know better than any doctor. And I know that my home treatment is a safe and sure cure for Leucorrhoea or Whitish discharges, Ulceration, Displacement or Falling of the Womb, Irregularity or Painful Periods, Uterine or Ovarian Troubles, Inflammation, also pains in the head, backache, bearing down feelings, nervousness, creeping feeling up the spine, melancholy, dizziness, faintness, weakness, tremors and nervousness, for which cases my treatment is a positive cure.

I want to send you a complete 10 days' treatment entirely free to prove to you that you can cure yourself at home, easily, quickly and surely.

Remember, that it will cost you nothing to give the treatment a complete trial; and if you should wish to continue, it will cost you only about 10 cents a week; or less than two cents a day. It will not interfere with your work or occupation. Just send me your name and address, tell me how you suffer, if you wish, and I will send you the treatment for your case, entirely free, in plain wrapper, by return mail. I will also send you free of cost, my book—"WOMAN'S OWN MEDICAL ADVISER" with explanatory illustrations showing why women suffer, and how they can easily cure themselves at home. Every woman should have it, and learn to think for herself. Then when the doctor says—"You must have an operation," you can decide for yourself. Thousands of women have cured themselves with my home remedy. It cures all, old or young. To Mothers of Daughters, I will explain a simple home treatment which speedily and effectually cures Leucorrhoea, Green Sickness and Painful or Irregular Menstruation in Young Ladies. Plumpness and health always result from the use. Discover yourself, I can refer you to ladies of your own locality who know and will gladly tell any sufferer that this Home Treatment really cures all woman's diseases and makes women well, strong, plump and robust. Just send me your address, and the free ten days' treatment is yours, also the book. Write to-day, as you may not see this offer again. Address;

COOD SUGGESTION FOR PETERBOROUGH

Edmonton Engages Expert Gardener to Report on System of Public Parks

The City of Edmonton brought an expert landscape gardener to examine the city and report as to a scheme of parks, boulevards, play grounds and drives. The city is determined to provive for making the Capital of a new province a beautiful city, and they are taking time by the forelock. By so doing they will avail themselves of all natural advantages and not by delay permit required lands to get built on—and reach prohibitory prices. What is Peterborough doing in this line? Is it not time to get a move on? What about a park for the South Ward?

MR. AND MRS. R. J. TODD FIRST READERS

Annual Meeting of Church of Christian Scientists Held Last Night—Mr. Todd's Annual Address.

The annual business meeting of the First Church of Christ Scientist was held last night in the church building on Aylmer street. The several reports showed that the church was in a very harmonious condition and in good financial standing, all accounts paid up to date and a substantial balance on hand to begin the year with.

After the business of the year was concluded, the president, Mr. R. J. Todd, addressed the meeting in part as follows:

"Beloved brethren, in the great work of Christ, now, at the winding up of another year in connection with our work, I wish to thank you all for your hearty co-operation and support in carrying on and upholding the great cause of Christian Science. As you all know, our path has not all been roses, many thorns and briers, obstacles have been put in our way by the one evil, trying to overthrow and retard the progress of this little branch of the great mother vine. Knowing this, makes our joy and gratitude to God all the greater, when we find ourselves in health and harmony, with a clean balance sheet, as our auditors' report shows all demands met and a balance on hand.

As you know, Mrs. Todd and myself have each served our term of three years, as First Readers, which is the limit for large churches, where they have ample material to choose from. It is to be remembered, however, that Christian Science is common sense, and we have been told that small branch churches are to use common sense, and act to their highest sense, in the best interest of the cause in that locality. Mrs. Eddy says: "Wisdom in human action begins with what is nearest right under the circumstances, and thence achieves the absolute."

It is with you to use your best judgement, guided by Divine Mind, in selecting your officers. Mrs. Todd, myself and family have tendered our resignation to all offices. The way is fully open for you to carry out your wish. In reviewing the work of the past six years we perhaps feel a little humiliated that we have not grown more in numbers. However, we have much to rejoice over, in seeing a most wonderful growth, from a metaphysical standpoint.

We have two evening daily papers that are without a doubt a credit to our city, for the clean, respectable management. The past opposition was not against Christianity as taught by Mrs. Eddy, but the wrong impression the public had of it. In some cases caused by false opinions from those calling themselves Christian Scientists.

I am pleased to see that our noble body of Christian ministers are getting to see and feel that we, as Christian Scientists, are one with them in striving to save mankind from sin, as well as from sickness. And I am sure, as they gain more knowledge of Mrs. Eddy's true character and teaching, they will appreciate it, and wish it Godspeed.

In conclusion, I am pleased to remind you of one fact, for which we have a right to bow in holy reverence to our beloved Father-Mother, God, that the six years I have managed the affairs of this church, I have not had an occasion to read a burial service over one of our members.

Just yesterday I received a letter with $5.00 for treatment of a case of rheumatism, and the doctors said one of the ligaments was broken. The mother had no money to pay until now, and is very happy over her boy being in perfect health. I simply mention this, that you may know that our theory is losing none of its healing power.

As Paul says: "Prove all things, hold fast that which is good." And the God of peace shall be with you."

The election of officers was then proceeded with, Mr. R. J. Todd was elected First Reader and Mrs. Todd Second Reader.

They accepted the position subject to the approval of Rev. Mary Baker G. Eddy. The clerk being instructed to write Mrs. Eddy, asking her advice on the action of the members of this branch of the Church in selecting the former readers. All offices were filled after which the meeting was closed.

MERCHANTS ROLLED TOP SCORE

Won the Five-Man Open Event in the Bowling Tournament With a Score of 2009—Doubles and Singles To-day.

GREAT INTEREST IN EVENTS

The Merchants with a score of 2,009 pins yesterday captured the open five-man event in the bowling tournament and as a reward will receive the handsome lockets donated in this contest. The Pleasure Club opened the event on Thursday night with 1,935 pins and yesterday afternoon the Merchants raised the mark to 2,009 pins and were never headed, although the High Lifes for a while last night threatened to make things interesting for them. They put on 1,923 pins; the Independents 1,916, while the Farriers' best was 1,622. Much interest is being taken in the tournament and a large gallery watched the bowlers at work last night. The attempt of the High Lifes to overhaul the top notchers made the evening's bowling decidedly interesting.

Wm. McIlroy and Jack Connors led in the doubles at the end of the day's bowling yesterday. They rolled up 838 pins in the afternoon. Wm. Crowley and W. Wareham made it close, however, last night, getting within 9 pins of them, with a score of 829. T. T. Boyd and C. E. Frost were also close with a score of 819.

In the singles, J. Houlihan's score of 154 was still the highest last night, while his score of 291 for a single game was also the top notch figure, and, if not beaten to-day will entitle him to the special prize donated by Mr. J. T. Smythe. W. McIlroy has the highest pinnage made so far in the nine games, his score being 1,316, while J. Houlihan is next with 1,301. There is a docket donated by Mr. C. E. Frost for the bowler whose total score is the highest.

The doubles and singles are being bowled to-day and it is likely will be finished to-night.

Following are yesterday's scores with the exception of those published last night:—

PRESIDENT WON THE FIRST RACE

An Exciting Athletic Event on the New Athletic Grounds at the Y.M.C.A.

The first and no doubt the most interesting foot-race of the season was run last night on the Y.M.C.A. new athletic grounds. The competitors were the President, Mr. Harding, and the Secretary, Mr. G. H. Williamson. The President was foxy and took a head-start, but by an extra hard sprint the Secretary overtook him, and it is hard to say who would have won out, but the President cut corners and came in ahead, after a most exciting contest amid the cheers of the spectators. The time for once around the field was a trifle less than 1 hour and 61 minutes.

BLACKSOD BAY ROUTE.

Fast Line of Steamers Under Consideration By Sir Wilfrid.

London, April 27.—(C. A. P.)—Premier Laurier's presence in London has been taken advantage of by the promoters of the Blacksod Bay to Halifax route to Canada.

A long conference, the Canadian Associated Press understands, has taken place between Sir Wilfrid and the promoters, during which the Premier enquired minutely regarding the proposal.

It is said the promoters did not receive much substantial sympathy from Laurier, but the C.A.P. is assured on good authority that the project of a fast service, with steamships equal to any New York route, is receiving most earnest consideration, and that possibly before Laurier leaves an important announcement in connection with the establishing of a fast line of steamers to some port in England may be made.

Sir Frederick Borden, interviewed by the Canadian Lloyds declared the premiums required here on St. Lawrence business are too high, in view of the Government's improvements to the St. Lawrence.

A Wellington, New Zealand, despatch says the Attorney-General states there is considerable prospect that, through Premier Laurier and Sir J. Ward a mail service may be arranged via Vancouver.

Civil War Veteran Dead.

Brockville, April 27.—A civil war veteran, J. Bolton, has passed away at his home in Morristown. He joined B Co., 106th N.Y.V., in 1862, and in June of the following year was made a prisoner of war at Martinsburg, Vt., being held for nearly two years. He was a native of Ontario, born at Lansdowne in 1838.

FIRED ON RIOTERS

Castries Town, St. Lucia, In Hands of the Mob.

THE RABBLE TAKE CHARGE

Police Fire Upon the Crowd—Market Is Looted and People Beaten—Many Shops Are Wrecked—News of Burning and Wrecking Sugar Estates In Country—Coal Carriers On Strike.

New York, April 27.—A despatch from Castries, Island of St. Lucia, says:—The speech of the new British Governor having been construed as encouraging to the aspirations of the workmen, the coal carriers organized an agitation for a big advance in wages and struck work. They intimidated all who were willing to work and were joined by the rabble. All coaling was stopped.

There is here only a small police force, inadequate to repress disorder or to protect property. Being pressed by the rioters they fired on the crowd and wounded four persons. The police and special officers were confined to their barracks and the town was left in the hands of the mob. Several shops were wrecked, the market was looted and several persons were beaten.

The general public was not molested. The coal carriers formulated their demands and the merchants were compelled to yield. The advance in wages is considered ruinous, but work has been resumed. Castries is now quiet.

News of the burning and wrecking of sugar estates is now coming from the country. Armed police are preventing rioters coming into the town.

More Riots in St. Lucia.

Bridgetown, Island of Barbados, B. W. I., April 27.—The rioters in the Island of St. Lucia are again turbulent. A despatch has been received here from the Governor of the island, announcing that he needs assistance.

DYNAMITE EXPLOSION.

Samuel Johnson Blown to Pieces Near Rochester.

Rochester, N. Y., April 27.—Samuel Johnson, aged 55 years, of Millville, was killed by an explosion of dynamite yesterday, his body being blown to pieces. Johnson had been employed blowing up stumps and rocks for various farmers. Yesterday morning he was in a barn warming dynamite for the day's work, when a terrific explosion, which was plainly heard in Medina, occurred, wrecking the barn and setting it on fire. A horse and a cow were blown through the side of the barn and killed. Johnson's body was badly burned in the fire, which destroyed the barn. He leaves a wife and daughter in Lockport.

SHOT SALOON KEEPER.

The End of An All-Night Carousal In New York.

New York, April 27.—An all-night drinking bout in a West Side saloon ended in a general fight early yesterday, in which one man was shot to death, another was arrested on a charge of murder, and eight others were held as witnesses. The dead man Patrick J. McCarthy, a saloon-keeper, and the alleged slayer is Frank Cassidy. When the police searched McCarthy's pockets they found a loaded revolver and a blackjack.

WANDERED INTO SWAMP.

Disappearance of Mrs. McKay Is Now Cleared Up.

Southampton, April 27.—Search parties yesterday afternoon found the body of Mrs. John McKay in a swamp two miles north of here. Last Saturday morning Mrs. McKay wandered away from the home of her son, D. N. McKay, and until yesterday search parties were unable to find her. Mrs. McKay was over eighty years of age. She evidently lost her way and perished with the cold.

FIRE LOSS WAS $900,000

Investigation Shows Flames Started In Five Places.

Toulon, April 27.—The fire at the Arsenal had been completely extinguished. The authorities estimate that the damage done to the Arsenal amounts to $900,000.

The enquiry into the cause of the fire has resulted in establishing the fact that flames started simultaneously in five places.

Seattle, Wash., April 27.—In an explosion yesterday in the Morgan Slope Mine at Black Diamond, four men were killed and five were fatally hurt. Fourteen other were severely injured.

Special Meeting

In the Union Hall, Simcoe street, above Brown's feed store. Sunday at 7 p.m., W. P. Douglas will preach, and nightly during the week at 8, except Saturday, Mr. Robert McClintock, of Toronto, and W. P. Douglas will conduct services. All are cordially invited.

At Mark Street Church

At the Mark street Methodist church to-morrow morning Mrs. Alex. Morrow, who was for a number of years a missionary to British Columbia, will give an address in connection with the Women's Missionary Society. At the evening service the pastor will preach on "Privilege and Duty."

Teams First Practice.

With the fine weather to-day summer sports in Peterborough got under way with a swing this afternoon when the lacrosse and baseball teams worked in their first practice. Both teams were out in full force on the Riverside Park.

Annual Camp Supper

The annual camp supper of the Y. M.C.A. boys will be held in the building on Wednesday evening, May 1st, at 8.30 o'clock. The committee met last evening to complete arrangements. It promises to be an enjoyable event. All members of the camp will be invited. Invitations out on Monday.

Irish Evening

On Tuesday evening, April 30th, "An Irish Evening," under the auspices of the Ladies' Literary Society of St. Peter's T.A.S., will be held in the assembly hall. The musical portion of the programme is under the direction of Miss M. McCabe, and promises to be a rare treat. A brief essay on Ireland will also be read. 5d

Pictures Frames

Our new picture framer is turning out the best work in town. If you have a picture to frame, send it in; if not a perfect job, will charge you nothing. A nice lot of new styles of mouldings. To boom this department we will give you 20 per cent. discount for balance of the week. A. H. Stratton & Co., 417 George street.

Campbell's Varnish Stains

Back in 1886 Campbell's Varnish Stains were originated and offered to housekeepers for restaining and refinishing furniture and interior woodwork. The makers claim, and rightly too, that twenty years' experience making varnish stains enables them to make a better article than can be made by those new at the business. Ask for Campbell's Varnish Stains. The Peterborough Hardware Company sell it.

Rev. Dr. O'Brien Presented With Club Bag and Address on Eve of His Departure on Trip to Ireland.

LITERARY SOCIETY'S GIFT

The most pleasing feature of the meeting of the Ladies' Literary Section of St. Peter's T. A. S. last night was the address and presentation of a beautiful club bag, with fittings, and a purse of gold by the Ladies' Literary Society to Rev. Dr. O'Brien, before his departure for Ireland. The address, expressing the warm esteem and friendship in which Rev. Father O'Brien is deservedly held by the literary society, was read by Miss L. L. Coleman, and the presentation was gracefully made by Miss O'Connell. The Rev. Dr. was completely taken by surprise as he had not anticipated anything of that nature. However, in his usual happy manner he made a neat speech in reply to the address, thanking the Ladies' Literary Society for their kind remembrance of him and assuring them that their kindness was fully appreciated.

The following is a copy of the address presented:

Rev. Mr. J. O'Brien, D.D., Spiritual Advisor of St. Peter's T. A. S.

Rev. M. J. O'Brien, D.D., Spiritual members of the Ladies' Literary Society, having heard that in the course of a few days you will leave for Ireland to enjoy the rest which has been earned by your unceasing work and untiring efforts in the interests of the parish at large and in the welfare of St. Peter's Total Abstinence Society, desire to express our pleasure that you should enjoy the recreation which you have so well deserved. We most heartily and warmly wish you "bon voyage" and hope that the trip you contemplate will lack no element of enjoyment or pleasure.

The deep interest which you have at all times manifested in our society, your help in planning and carrying out our work, your attendance at all our meetings, and your words of encouragement and approval have been an incentive to renewed effort on our part.

The noble work which you are accomplishing in the cause of temperance is, we feel sure, to you its own reward, and as members of the Ladies' Literary Society of St. Peter's T. A. S., we have felt proud that we were allowed to help in that great work. Therefore we are pleased to have an opportunity of expressing to you our esteem and gratitude.

We pray that Almighty God may continue to bless the work to which you have dedicated your life and that you may soon return much benefitted by your voyage.

In conclusion, Reverend Father, we ask you to accept this gift. In enjoying the pleasure of viewing again the emerald hills and vales of "Fair Erin," and the many historic sites of that far-famed "Home of Saints and Scholars," may it serve to remind you that in Peterborough you have won many warm friends who will find their greatest pleasure in wishing you a glad "Welcome Home."

WILL DO WORK IN NEW ONTARIO NOW

Mr. J. A. Tully Will Leave Next Week for Six Week's Work in That Part of the Province.

Mr. J. A. Tully, who is in charge of the outside work of the I.O.O.F. Relief Association for Canada, will leave the city on Monday or Tuesday on an extended trip to the far north and north-west part of the province. He expects before returning—which will be probably a month or six weeks—to visit the towns of Port Arthur, Fort William, Sault Ste. Marie, Sudbury, Sturgeon Falls, Powassan, Bunks Falls, North Bay, also Latchford, Cobalt, Haileybury, New Liskeard and Englehart in New Ontario, as well as the smaller places. Mr. Tully reports Oddfellowship as booming as it never has before and attributes a great deal of success to the recent visit of the Sovereign Grand Lodge to Canada, the meeting of which was held in Toronto last September. Mr. Tully has made a grand success of this work since his appointment to this important position about two years ago. The Examiner congratulates him and with his many friends wishes him continued success in the good work.

BACHELORS' DANCE WAS A SUCCESS

Delightful Affair in the Foresters' Hall Last Night

One of the most delightful and enjoyable dances of the season was that held last night in the Foresters' Hall Simcoe street, under the auspices of the young bachelors of the city. Some seventy couples were present and the affair was a success in every way, reflecting great credit upon those who had the arrangements in charge. Splendid music was provided by Mr. Harding of Scott's Colloseum and the floor was in excellent shape.

COUNCIL TO MEET ON MONDAY NIGHT

Fire Engine By-law Will be Taken Up Then—Other Business.

The Council will meet in Committee of the Whole on Monday in the committee room when the business left over from the last meeting will be taken up and disposed of.

The fire escape bylaw is one of the most important matters to come up and it is expected that it will be finally settled on Monday night. The committee meeting will be followed by a meeting of the Council in the Council Chamber, but people who wish to attend the meeting cannot expect the council to be there at 8 o'clock as the committee business will have to be got one through first.

THE WEATHER

An unusual event in the line of weather occurred yesterday, but it is doubtful if it was noticed by a single citizen. As a rule the or dinal variation in temperature during the 24 hours—that is the difference between the highest and the lowest temperature—is from 15 to 25 degrees. Yesterday, however, was an exception and the variation during the 24 hours was but two degrees, from 42 to 44 degrees. This is a rare occurrence and only occurs during the prevalence of an easterly wind.

MORNING'S MARKET HAD THAT SPRING FEELING

Marked by Quietness and a Small Number of Sellers and Purchasers.

The Saturday market was not very good to-day, and the attendance for this time of the year was anything but encouraging. There were two changes in the various prices. Eggs were sold at 14 and 15 cents, and butter at 28 cents. There was a small showing of poultry, and a fair quantity of maple syrup. There was plenty of potatoes, but somehow the market was quiet and nothing new occurred. Young pigs sold at $6 and $7 a pair, and pork at the old prices of 10 and 11 cents.

The price list was as follows:

Potatoes, per bag		to	95
Apples, per bag		to	1 80
Onions, per peck	25
Beets, per peck	15
Cabbage, per head	5
Parsnips, per peck	15

Peterborough and Otonabee Lodges Attend Church Service

Attended All Saints' Church Last Night in a Body--Splendid Sermon Delivered by Rev. Wm. Major on the Duties of a Conscientious Member of That Society--Oddfellowship Increasing in Strength and Numbers

All Saints' church was "au complet" last night owing to the presence of the Peterborough and Otonabee lodges of the Independent Order of Oddfellows. Every seat was filled and chairs placed in the front of the church and in the aisles. There were one hundred and twenty-five members present and they almost half filled the church. The sermon was preached by the rector, Rev. Wm. Major and his remarks, applicable to all his listeners were especially helpful to the members of the two Orders. On behalf of the congregation and himself he extended a cordial welcome to the I.O.O.F. stating that it was a pleasure to have them come and worship with the congregation.

The Oddfellows he remarked, were typical of truest manhood, at least those who lived up to the principles of the Order, namely, Friendship, Love and Truth.

The foundation of the cis-Atlantic Oddfellows dates back to 1819. Five of them gathered together in Baltimore and instituted the Washington Lodge, No. 1, of Oddfellows. In spite of many vicissitudes and obstacles the Society's principles were enunciated with such success that there are 1,500,000 members in America, with an income last year of $8,000,000. Six millions of this sum was expended on the sick and in funerals, also for homes for the orphans and widows of departed members. The Oriental degree has done an excellent thing in erecting a home for the aged and lonely Oddfellows, and it is proving its worth.

Local History

The Otonabee Lodge, No. 13, was founded in this city in 1846 and has grown and flourished. It has done a vast amount of good in providing for families bereft of fathers, and relieving illness. The influence the society has exerted in this city must be very great. The members of the Otonabee and Peterborough lodges living up to the principles of their Order must impress their fellowmen with the same motives that dominate themselves. So long, Mr. Major continued, as the Oddfellows are strong in public esteem, as they remain true to their fraternity, so long will they continue to grow. As an example of what this Order has accomplished, their ritual is published in 14 different languages. It has been successful in all save the Latin countries where it is under the ban of Rome.

Friendship upheld by truth, prompted by self-sacrifice, is the basic guide for Oddfellows. They take for an example the self-sacrifice of Moses. Here the speaker detailed the life of Moses, and pointed out motives that may have prompted him to refuse the highest position in the land of Pharaoh and to give himself up to the improvement of the condition of those who were held in abject slavery. He saw oppression and the utter disregard for human rights and he chose to take up the cause of those who suffered rather than wear the purple of his royal position. On his part this meant the abandonment of wealth, a total forgetfulness of the society that he had been a member of, the torturing thoughts that the power which he had laid aside might fall into less worthy hands and be used for evil pursuits. He also lost his great influence, for those of the court did not realise what his actions meant. Thus it must have taken considerable resolution to make this great sacrifice. Rev. Mr. Major then urged the Odd Fellows to be morally courageous and make self denials the same as Moses did. Let them be satisfied, he said, with their position in life, and be contented and happy; also to exercise fidelity towards the basic principles of Oddfellowship.

St. Peter's T. A. S. Remember Rev. Dr. O'Brien, Their Adviser

Was Presented With a Purse of Two Hundred and Fifty Dollars —Also an Address—Will Recuperate on the Emerald Isle and Likely on the Continent.

At the regular meeting of St. Peter's T.A.S. yesterday afternoon the principal feature was the presentation to Rev. Dr. O'Brien of an address and a purse of gold amounting to two hundred and fifty dollars, donated by the members of the society during the past two days. The assembly hall was filled, the members being glad to show their respect for their Spiritual Adviser, if only in this slight manner.

Rev. Dr. O'Brien will leave on Tuesday, if his plans are carried out, for St. John, and will embark for Queenstown, Ireland, on Friday. His purpose in this journey is to recuperate his strength and obtain a needed rest, as during the past eight years he has laboured continuously in different ways, in behalf of his people. He received word on Tuesday that he was to go, but this was not definitely settled until Friday. Thus from that day until Saturday night was the time during which the members of the T.A.S. raised $250.

It speaks well for the esteem in which Rev. Dr. O'Brien is held by every member of the society, that this sum was collected with such despatch.

The Address

Mr. M. J. McDonnell read the address, which was artistically prepared by an expert penman. Mr. D Cushing, president of the society, made the presentation.

The address read as follows:

Peterborough, April 28.

To Rev. M. J. O'Brien, D. D.,

Dear Reverend Father, — We, the members of St. Peter's Total Abstinence Society, having learned that you are about to depart from our midst for a short time, on a voyage to the Emerald Isle, feel that it would not be consistent with the deep love and esteem which we entertain towards you if we allowed you to go without showing in some way our appreciation of your untiring efforts and zeal in our behalf.

It is however gratifying to know that your stay will be but temporary, and our earnest desire is that your voyage will not only be one of pleasure, but will also be productive of new health and vigour, to enable you to continue the great work, which you are accomplishing in our midst.

It is with feelings of gratitude that we recall the care and assiduity with which you have laboured on behalf of the Total Abstinence Society, in your effort to vanquish that dread demon of intemperance, heretofore so prevalent. The active interest you have taken in every member of the society, the advice and direction you, with pleasure, afforded us at all times, and the enthusiasm your untiring energy infused into our work, has been to us a tower of strength and encouragement in our endeavours to succeed.

The foundation you have laid will go down to future generations as a lasting memorial to your relentless zeal, and the prayers of the many wives and families, rescued from untold misery and sorrow, will ascend to the throne of God, in your behalf; and we pray that God may grant you length of years and health of mind and body to labour in His vineyard—to labour for the souls of Christ and to advance the cause of temperance.

It is therefore, our earnest desire that the good seed which you have planted will continue to grow, so that when the trumpet shall sound and God's elect shall rise, we may join you in singing with the angels a happy "Gloria in Excelsis Deo."

We feel assured, Reverend Father, that any praises we may bestow upon you are inadequate to convey an impression of the good you have done amongst us, and we therefore ask you to accept the accompanying purse which we are pleased to present you, as a small token of our affection and regard for you, and to remind you that your numerous friends in Peterborough will be anxiously awaiting your safe return from the beloved island beyond the seas.

Signed, on behalf of the society,

M. J. McDonnell, Daniel Cushing, Nicholas Bobbey, Jas. Drain, P. O'Donnell, J. A. Sharpe, Alf. H. Lehane, J. L. Bolin, Jas. Maher, Jos. J. Duffus, Martin Neary, John J. Hanrahan, Jas. H. Primeau, Geo. Abearn.

Rev. Dr. O'Brien

It was a pleasant surprise to Rev. Dr. O'Brien, who declared that he hardly knew how to express himself. However, he said that he needed no other proof of the appreciation of his work than the good-will which was plainly shown. He is a pleasure, he said, to work with such a body of men, who are ever ready to respond and act upon any suggestions. Besides, the bishop, the rector, Rev. Father McColl, and the other priests have a deep sympathy with the work, so that it is easy to proceed. Rev. Dr. O'Brien stated that the past eight years of his life were the most pleasant he had ever experienced, mostly because the success of the T.A.S. was due to the hearty co-operation of all the men. He thanked the society sincerely for this, as well as for such kindnesses.

His remarks elicited applause from the members.

During the absence of Rev. Dr. O'Brien, Rev. Father McColl will act as spiritual adviser.

DR. ARMOUR WON THE JACKSONIAN PRIZE

A Clever Young Professional Man Well Known in Peterborough is Winner of Notable Prize

Word has been received of the success achieved by Dr. Donald Armour, F.M.C.S., in the competition for the Jacksonian prize, Dr. Armour having been awarded the prize for 1906, by the Royal College of Surgeons, England. In this competition which is of special importance is attached to personal observation and original work. It is the first time the prize has gone to a Canadian. Dr. Armour's essay was the diagnosis and treatment of these diseases and morbid growths of the vertebra column, spinal cord and canal, which are amenable to surgical operation. Dr. Armour is a son of the late Hon. Chief Justice Armour, is a graduate in arts, 1891, and medicine, 1894, of the University of Toronto. He is a lecturer in the Royal College of Surgeons, England, and is assistant surgeon of Queen's Square Hospital, London. In surgical circles the award won by Dr. Armour is considered a high honour.

They were certainly a flashy, high stepping team, and could travel some. Mr. Francey likes good horses and will raise only the best.

TO ENGLAND IN 1908 FOR THE OLYMPIC GAMES

Party From This City Will in all Probability Take the Trip—Eight or Ten Young Men Are Interested

It's early to be thinking of spending one's 1908 vacation, perhaps, but it is not too early for some Peterborough young men. The Olympic games will be held in England in that year and already a party of Peterborough persons is being organized to take a trip to the Old Country, and, in addition to seeing the games they will go to Ireland and Scotland. Mr. H. R. H. Kenner, who has already taken more than one trip to Europe intends to go again at the time of the Olympic games, and it is probable that, taking advantage of this fact a party of eight or ten young men will take the trip and, under his guidance take in the other portions of the Old Land.

Finally, the scientific student has discovered a certain remedy for dandruff. When it first became known that dandruff is the result of a germ or parasite that digs into the scalp and saps the vitality of the hair at the root, causing falling hair and baldness, biologists set to work to discover some preparation that will kill the germ. After a year's work in one laboratory, the dandruff germ was discovered; and it is now embodied in Newbro's Herpicide. It prevents baldness, stops falling hair and speedily eradicates dandruff. "Destroy the cause, you remove the effect."

LACROSSE GROUPS ARE ARRANGED

Peterborough in With Some of the Intermediate Clubs

The Peterborough senior club will be in a district this year that should provide the enthusiasts with the fastest brand of lacrosse ever seen here.

The C. L. A. grouping was compiled at a meeting held Friday night in Toronto, which was attended by Secretary Regan of the local club.

The locals are grouped in the intermediate with five of the strongest intermediate teams in Ontario. Following is their group:

The junior group is as follows:

No. 10. Peterborough, Talagous, Newmarket, Orillia Checkers, Beaverton, Bradford, Young Torontos, North Ends, Toronto; convenor, P. McMillan. Meet at Beaverton.

No. 3. — Peterborough II., Uxbridge II., Bowmanville, Lindsay, Millbrook, Shamrocks, Oshawa, Ontarios, of Port Hope. Convenor, H. B. Clemes. Meet at Lindsay.

GOLD WATCH FOUND BY THE EXAMINER

This is a plain statement of fact. The moral is obvious. Yesterday a lady lost her gold watch. She advertised for it in the Examiner, and within an hour after the publication of the paper it had been located. The lady who found it was honest and as soon as she saw the advertisement in this paper telephoned to the office, and the lost article was restored to the delighted owner.

Velvet Skin Soft And Clear

What one or two applications of Dr. Chase's Ointment will do for a rough, inflamed and irritated skin, is almost as wonderful as the complete cure of eczema by its persistent use. By its healing, soothing and antiseptic influence, Dr. Chase's Ointment quickly cures chafing and skin diseases, and eruptions, and leaves the skin, clear, soft and velvety.

A Truly Wonderful Remedy For Rough Skin

One application of "Cream of Violets" will do more to cure roughness of the face or hands than a week's use of Glycerine, Petroleum, Vaseline, etc.

It dries in quickly and is not sticky. We have sold hundreds of bottles to people who say they never had anything that acted so quickly.

It is an excellent thing to use after shaving.

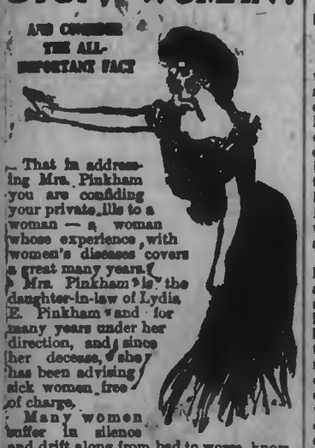
STOP, WOMAN!



That in addressing Mrs. Pinkham you are confiding your private ills to a woman — a woman whose experience with women's diseases covers a great many years. Mrs. Pinkham is the daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham and for many years under her direction, and since her decease, she has been advising sick women free of charge.

Many women suffer in silence and drift along from bad to worse, knowing full well that they ought to have immediate assistance, but a natural modesty impels them to shrink from exposing themselves to the questions and probable examinations of even their family physician. It is unnecessary. Without money or price you can consult a woman whose knowledge from actual experience is great.

Mrs. Pinkham's Standing Invitation.

Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to promptly communicate with Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. All letters are received, opened, read and and answered by women only. A woman can freely talk of her private illness to a woman; thus has been established the eternal confidence between Mrs. Pinkham and the women of America which has never been broken. Out of the vast volume of experience which she has to draw from, it is more than possible that she has gained the very knowledge that will help your case. She asks nothing in return except your good-will, and her advice has relieved thousands. Surely any woman, rich or poor, is very foolish if she does not take advantage of this generous offer of assistance.

If you are ill, don't hesitate to get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once, and write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for special advice.

When a medicine has been successful in restoring to health so many women, you cannot well say, without trying it "I do not believe it will help me."

HONEYMOON IN PRISON.

English Bride of a Foreigner Subjected to Many Indignities.

The peril to which the English girl who marries a foreigner exposes herself is illustrated by the pathetic case of Signora Andalo, formerly Miss Nellie Penberton, an assistant in a cigar shop in the West End of London. Her husband was arrested in Brussels on March 3 on a charge of thefts of jewelry and on suspicion of being the assailant of Miss Low, the English nurse, who in January last was the victim of a brutal assault in a train in the Mont Cenis tunnel.

Andalo and his wife were on their honeymoon when the arrest was made, and both were imprisoned and kept apart. She was kept for nearly 12 hours without food on the first day of her imprisonment, and underwent all the degrading processes of measurement, photography, etc., to which criminals are subjected. She was only discharged after two dreary weeks of solitary confinement in a cell. Unable to speak French, she could not even exchange a word with her warder.

When she was released she was allowed to visit her husband in jail, and informed him, to his great surprise, of the charges against him. Andalo was suddenly released only to be hurried over the Dutch frontier, whither his wife is following him. Their money is exhausted, and she has not at present the $25 necessary to secure admission as an alien to her native country, where, however, she intends to return.

During the examination which preceded her release the magistrate asked her whether she knew anything of her husband's career. It appears that in his youth he was the associate of Italian anarchists, this being the reason why he has been deported from Belgium. She replied that she knew nothing of Andola's history. The magistrate observed: "That is how English girls get into trouble. They marry foreigners without knowing anything of their past history."

A LADY OF RESOURCE.

Beautiful English Countess Goes Into Fruit Business.

Most Canadians have heard or read of the beautiful Countess of Warwick, who has for many years been an ardent socialist. The name and fame of Warwick are so closely associated with feudal privileges and king-making power that it is difficult to associate a countess of that line with anything so modern and undecorative as socialism. Lady Warwick's views are described by one writer as a kind of pink-tea democracy, rather than the red variety.

Her sister, also a woman of physical charms, Lady Algernon Gordon-Lennox, has recently shown that she holds in light esteem the convention that a feminine aristocrat shall be useless. Not content with being known as a perfectly-gowned woman and one of the cleverest amateur gardeners in England, she has also undertaken to carry on an industry which appeals to every housewife. She is going to establish a fruit-bottling business at Broughton, Oxfordshire and is confident of success, as the trade in bottled and tinned commodities has greatly increased of late. The gardens at Broughton Castle are the most beautiful in the county, with their hundreds of different kinds of tea-roses. If equal success crowns her efforts in fruit bottling, Lady Gordon-Lennox may prove a formidable competitor to Californian and Chicagoan firms, which have been rather unpopular in England since last year's "exposures."

The Baffled Lion.

(Near Lake Albert Edward Major Powell Cotton was saved from being killed by a wounded lion by a folded copy of Punch which he had in his pocket.)

The lion in his wounded pride,
His victim mauled with tears and scrunches,
And all resistance he defied,
Until he met at last with "Punch's."

If "Punch" could thwart these wild-cat schemes,
And all a lion's efforts cumber,
Just as it should have been, it seems,
It must have been a funny number.

Yet "Punch's" lovers with disgust
Must own that when a lion rages,
It's clear his sense of humor must
Be but in embryonic stages.

He tore at "Punch" with all his strength,
And sorely he began to rue it,
Because he was compelled at length,
To own that he could not get through it. —J. S.

NO WOMAN CAN BE STRONG AND HEALTHY UNLESS THE KIDNEYS ARE WELL

When the kidneys are ill, the whole body is ill, for the poisons which the kidneys ought to filter out of the blood are left in the system. Then how important it must be to see to it that this system of sewerage be not clogged up. Those who have never been troubled with kidney trouble know not the misery and suffering which these afflicted undergo.

Doan's Kidney Pills

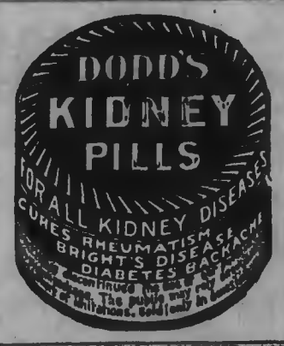
are a specific for all kidney troubles. They begin by healing the delicate membranes of the kidneys and thus make their action regular and natural.

They help the kidneys to flush off the acrid and poisonous impurities which have collected, thus clearing out the kidneys, bladder and all the urinary passages.

Doan's Kidney Pills are entirely vegetable, and may be safely taken by young and old.

Let Doan's Kidney Pills do for you what they have done for thousands of others, that is, cure you. Mrs. John Young, Harwood, Ont., writes: "I was troubled with my kidneys for some time and my back was so lame I could scarcely get around. After using two boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills, I am completely cured. I find there is nothing like them for the cure of all kidney troubles."

Doan's Kidney Pills are 50 cents per box or 3 boxes for $1.25 at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The Doan Kidney Pill Co., Toronto, Ont.



PERILS OF PIONEERING.

How Canada's Mountain Pathfinders Do Their Work.

People loll in cushioned Pullmans or leisurely discuss their dessert in the diner as the train whirls them through the mountains, clattering across trestle-spanned gorges, now rushing along the edge of dizzy cliffs, where the roadbed, a narrow shelf carved in the rock, clings to the face of a precipice.

Those travelers in luxurious high speed trains, how many of them, as they gaze indolently toward the towering snow peaks and the shadowy depths of the canyons, pause to think of the surveyors who mapped the road, and whose pioneer work has made it possible to travel de luxe through this grand scenery?

Pathfinders at Work.

To the average occupant of the parlor car the thought of camping out in deep snow of the winter woods would be no less abhorrent than the idea of crawling for hours in the broiling sun along steep side-hills and over rock-slides bereft of shade, one's tongue akin to dry flannel, and water—well, perhaps half a mile away. But these are commonplace events in the life of the railway surveyor.

Let the reader imagine that he has taken conge of civilization, and that he is one of the sun-burned, smoke-scented, overalled crowd that constitutes a survey camp—fifty miles up the pack trail that winds off through the mountains from the very last jumping off place on the railway.

The "Get Up" Call.

Early in the morning—horribly early—just as a faint light—the first pale shafts of sunrise—is pushing up over the big mountain across the valley, and while yet the stars gleam in the frosty sky, above the black tops of the pines, comes the reveille, an abominable din of tinpan and stick, harshly discordant. This melody produced by the cookie (the chef's assistant) means "get up," and fifteen minutes later a similar, but greatly modified, alarm suffices to call the faithful to breakfast. During the progress of the meal the daylight gets a chance to expand, and soon after the last man has satisfied his hunger comes the call "All out."

Now all hands "hit the trail" for the line, marching in single file, eyes downcast, and ever on the alert for the wind-fallen logs which beset the path, and the slender branches that fly back like whips to sting the unwary. It is a sad procession. There is little conversation, and that little generally anent the disposal of the cumbersome lunch pack, of which every one is glad to eat his share, and equally undesirous of packing on his shoulders, turn about.

Perils of the Work.

Lunch finished and a pipe smoked, and the afternoon grind commences. If the survey has had easy ground that morning there are now perhaps some bluffs to be negotiated. They can't be avoided by detours. For grade must be followed, and, unlike the wagon road, there is no flexibility allowed. This rigid adherence to a fixed line often places the surveyors in most unpleasant positions, and quite frequently it is on some narrow ledge or projecting rock on the face of a bluff that the transit man must place his mark. This means that he has to clamber there with his instrument, set up the tripods, squint through the telescope, and read angles—and probably all this careful adjustment whilst standing precariously on a place that might be quite comfortable for a mountain goat.

When Footing Is Bad.

If the footing in bad places appears precarious, the rope is used, and with the end of this the more agile of the men proceeds to surmount the obstacle, the rest of the party following, aided by the rope. It is a most reassuring auxiliary is a good, strong rope securely attached to a reliable tree. Picture yourself scrambling along the wall-nigh bare face of a rock slope—a slope not so alarmingly perpendicular in itself, but nevertheless a remarkably easy place on which to start sliding — and below, a dozen yards or so, a precipice sheer down, eighty feet! But it isn't all mountaineering, even in the mountains, else the job would rank with that of steeplejack, and there would be a dearth in the land of engineers and their assistants.

Return to Camp.

The return to camp is a veritable triumphant progress as compared with the doleful sortie of the morning. True, it is down grade instead of uphill, but even that consideration hardly accounts for the rapidity with which the distance is covered, and the celerity and ease with which the obstructing logs are hopped over. But there is a whole lot in knowing that the day's work is done, and that a good meal awaits you at the end.

His Idea of Water.

At one time the bailiff in charge of an English jury was sworn to keep them "without meat, drink or fire." It was Justice Maule who gave the classic reply to the bailiff, who inquired whether he might grant a juryman's request for a glass of water: "Well, it is not meat, and I should not call it drink. Yes, you may."

The Tower of Babel.

The tower of Babel at Babylon was composed of eight square towers, one upon the other, the pile being 660 feet high. Babylon was a square, fifteen miles on each side, the walls being eighty-seven feet thick and 370 feet high.

CANADIAN BLUE MARBLE.

Gift to Princess of Wales Leads to Its Extensive Use.

The Princess of Wales has to her credit one of the greatest sensations in building material in many years, nothing less than the reintroduction of "blue marble" for interior decoration. It is used in the outer entrance hall of Brook House, London, the great Park Lane Palace that Sir Ernest Cassel bought two years ago from Lord Tweedmouth, and that he has fitted up in marble and with a richness of detail that even the Caesars never dreamt of. The work now nearing completion makes London stare. The main staircase contains 800 tons of statuary marble from Sarravezza. Michael Angelo, sent from the Vatican in 1490 to prospect, was amazed at the beauty of this material, and it is said his report to the Pope depreciated its quality so that he might obtain a monopoly of the mine for his own sculptures. From that date all Angelo's masterpieces were chiselled from these Tuscany marbles.

In contrast with this dazzling white marble is the great outer entrance hall, pilastered with unique blue marble, knowledge of which had lapsed for many years. Credit for the rediscovery of this marble belongs entirely to the Princess of Wales, whose attention was drawn to some fragments of the blue stone presented to her at the time of her voyage with the prince to Canada.

When Marlborough House was undergoing overhauling and improvements the princess showed her specimens to Mr. Allom, expressing great enthusiasm as to their beauty of color, and her desire to have the quarry found and the beautiful blue sodalite made use of. Mr. Allom set out to prospect for the blue marble, and with the able help of the Geological Survey Department of Canada discovered the mine in Hastings county, in the centre of Ontario.

With a few friends Mr. Allom promptly bought the mine outright, and the blue stone now beautifies many of the Princess of Wales' rooms. The peculiar hardness of the mineral renders the work of cutting most difficult, and much time and ingenuity, both here and on the continent, have been expanded, but at last the difficult process of cutting and moulding appears to be solved.

At Brook House the same blue Canadian marble mixed with pavonazzo will adorn the sumptuous outer entrance hall when it is completed. Hundreds of men are now working to get the necessary quantity of 60 tons cut and moulded to form the cornices and pilasters of the apartment.

Why a Swelling Follows a Blow.

The swelling which follows from a blow is nature's effort to protect the part from further injury and to keep it at rest while repair is going on. What actually takes place at the seat of injury is not even now quite understood. The injury to the smaller blood vessels interferes with the flow of blood through them, and the white corpuscles, with part of the serum, the watering part of the blood, escape into the surrounding tissues. At the same time the blood vessels in the neighborhood dilate, and the increased flow of blood with the thoroughfare obstructed increases the swelling. It is probable that the white corpuscles of the blood pass into the tissues to assist in the repair, as bees or ants assemble at an injury to their storehouse, but with this difference—that the substance of the corpuscles is probably converted into the tissue of repair. From one point of view the human body is only one gigantic colony of individuals and the swelling that follows injury but the rush of these to repair the breach.

A Quaint Scotch Wedding Custom.

A quaint wedding custom still prevails in many of the little country towns and mining villages in Scotland. When a wedding is held the contracting parties make their guests pay in full for the eating, drinking and dancing facilities which are usually provided on such occasions. The practice still seems to survive even in Glasgow. A correspondent observed a notice posted up in the Cowcaddens, a low class Glasgow thoroughfare, informing the public that a soldier would shortly enter into the bonds of wedlock and that twopence would be charged for admission to the ceremony and an additional sixpence imposed for attendance at the wedding feast. The practice seems to be peculiarly Scotch, but sixpence certainly seems moderate enough for a marriage supper.—Westminster Gazette.

The Reader Who Skips.

A good work of fiction, whether in prose or in verse—we are here speaking only of good works—is a work of art and can be rightly enjoyed only by entering into sympathy with the artist's mind and accepting his work according to his intention. In a perfect poem the place of every word, in a perfect novel the place, if not of every word, of every episode and of every paragraph, is important, and the reader who skips throws away the pleasure he has meant to derive from the harmony of composition, in which very possibly the beauty of the whole may chiefly consist, and despises the best part of the artist's labor. He might as well go to see a good play and then willfully miss every alternate scene.—Exchange.

Atmospheric Temperature.

The temperature of the atmosphere cools on an average about 1 degree for every 300 feet that we ascend or warms at the same rate as we descend. The mean temperature at the north pole is 0 and at the equator between 80 and 90 degrees. We can, therefore, get into a temperature 1 degree colder for every seventy or eighty miles that we travel north and in a temperature 1 degree warmer for every seventy or eighty miles that we travel south.

Happy Accident.

Passenger (about to leave the cars, sees his heavy satchel fall from the rack on a lady's head)—That's very fortunate. I had just forgotten it was there.

RARE BOGUS GEMS.

Small Rubies and Sapphires Enlarged to Any Size.

The discovery of a Parisian manufacturer who is making rubies and sapphires of large size by an ingenious process is likely to cause trouble among English, as it has done already among French, jewelers and dealers in precious stones.

A London gentleman, who has learned the secret of the process from the manufacturer himself, said that these rubies and sapphires are made by taking the remnants of cut stones, and also small and badly shaped stones, which by themselves are of little value, and making them up by means of the electrical furnace and high-pressure moulds to any size required.

"I have seen rubies and sapphires thus manufactured ranging in size up to half an inch," he said. "These stones are called 'constructed' rubies and 'constructed' sapphires, and they possess all the quality of the original stone. Indeed, the only way to detect the difference between the 'constructed' and original stone is to look at the grain, or 'silk,' as jewelers call it, through a powerful microscope.

"The 'silk' is straight in the original stone, and curly or cloudy in the 'constructed' one. A firm of London pawnbrokers advanced more than $2,000 a month ago on a 'constructed' ruby. Of course, it was not worth anything like $500; but that was the market price of an original stone of the same size. The ratio of value between the 'constructed' and original stone is about two-fifths.

"You can see, however, that one is perfectly safe in wearing these stones. I am told that the ruby trade in England is already suffering in anticipation, for jewelers, who are fully aware of the existence of these 'constructed' stones, also know that large quantities of them will soon appear in the English markets."

Invalid Averts Eviction.

Exciting eviction scenes were witnessed near Dublin when the house of a widow named Maher was raided by bailiffs and twenty policemen.

Barricades placed in front of the house were broken down, and the police then effected an entrance by breaking the windows and the door. They removed the furniture, but afterward a doctor certified that one of the inmates of the house, a woman 95 years old, was an invalid, and that her life would be imperiled by the eviction.

The High Sheriff was appealed to, and he ordered the furniture to be taken back. This was done, and the barricades were again erected.

A Colliery Record.

What is claimed to be a record day's winding of coal for any colliery in the United Kingdom was made last week at the Bargoed colliery of the Powell Dyffryn Company, Cardiff. The quantity of coal raised during the day was 3,245 tons.

CORRECT BREATHING.

Fresh Air in Lungs and Exercise Keynote of Health.

TO ACQUIRE BEAUTIFUL ARMS

Acquire the Habit of Deep Breathing. It is Better Than All the Medicine You Can Buy—Don't Be Afraid of Overdoing It.

If a woman, says a physical culture specialist, wants perfect arms or a man well developed ones, care must be given to the triceps as well as the biceps. Here is what I do. I place two chairs side by side and grasp the edge of the bottoms with my hands. Then I raise myself as far from the floor as I can and lower myself until my knees touch the floor. I always practice this dip at least fifteen times every morning. When you get expert at this, try using the back of the chairs. These three exercises for the arms have developed them "before and after," as the saying goes.

Next comes the development of the lungs. You know as well as I that this is the key to the whole. Without well developed lungs you are going to fall to the others. I have tried many stunts, but have found nothing better than the ordinary breathing exercise—breathing in slowly fresh air to the full capacity of the lungs, with shoulders drawn back and head erect, then exhaling slowly.

Make a practice of doing this many times daily. Don't be afraid of overdoing it. Whenever you feel dull and weary at your work get into the open for a minute or two and try this deep breathing. It's better than all the medicine you can buy. It means good lungs, and for the woman it means development of the bust. Did you ever hear of the old saying that any one who can hold his breath one minute after a full inhalation need not fear consumption? It is a pretty sure test.

For abdominal treatment I come back to my chair. I lay my full weight on my stomach. The exercise strengthens and hardens the muscles in a way that most gymnastic exercises will not do.

I take my same old chair for back treatment. I grasp it from behind and bend backward as far as possible. I do this twenty to thirty times. Try it. If you need a doctor for kidney troubles, you will soon find it out.—Brooklyn Eagle.

For a High Tea.

When a menu is limited to three articles and it is for an afternoon affair, it should include one substantial article, one sweet and sandwiches. A salad like green peppers scooped out and filled with all kinds of vegetables cut up and dressed with mayonnaise is popular, and with this sardine sandwiches; as a sweet, fruit jelly with whipped cream.

A pretty idea for this jelly is to use orange, apple and banana skins and serve the jelly in these, having the dish when passed look like a dish of fruit. Have the whipped cream sauce passed with the jelly.

If you do not wish the salad, you could have a hot dish, like scalloped crab or lobster, served in individual dishes, or you could have jellied chicken and sandwiches. The chicken is pretty if made in individual molds, using hard boiled eggs in the molds so that the slices of egg are on top when the mold is turned out.

Newest Note Paper.

A compromise between a postal card and letter paper are the cartes lettres of the French, which are finding favor for short notes. They are shaped like an envelope, the letter part being written on the inside, with a little gum around the edges for sealing purposes. These come in all styles and varieties, some of them opening out long and others containing extra sheets inside, while still others hold only as much as a postal card. At the less fashionable places where utility stationery is found a tablet can be found in cartes lettres form in cheap paper, the whole costing at some stores as little as 35 cents.

When the Stopper Sticks.

The quickest way of removing a glass stopper is to pour a small quantity of alcohol around it and on the mouth of the bottle. Touch a match to make a flame. When it is done burning pull out the stopper. This is the easiest and quickest way if bottles are large, but somewhat dangerous if they contain combustible ingredients.

Atmospheric Weight.

At the sea level, with the barometer marking 30 inches and the thermometer 32 degrees F., a cubic foot of pure dry air weighs about 565 grains troy. The weight of a cubic foot of water vapor under the same conditions is only 352 grains. When vapor is mixed with dry air, therefore, the resulting compound is lighter—that is to say, damp air is lighter than dry air. In stormy weather the air is lighter than it is in fair weather and not heavier, as many persons suppose. When smoke hangs about the surface of the earth, it shows that the air is lighter than the smoke. When the air is dry, it is heavier than the smoke, and the latter therefore ascends. The weight of the earth's atmosphere, or, in other words, the pressure exerted upon the earth by the atmosphere, is about the same as would be exerted by a flood of water thirty-three feet in height over the globe. At the sea level the pressure of the atmosphere is about fifteen pounds to the square inch. A man of ordinary size thus bears all the time a pressure of about 30,000 pounds, but he does not feel it, because the pressure is exerted in every direction—above, below and around him—and because his body is filled with air and other fluids that press outward, thus maintaining a state of equilibrium.

Are You Strong?

Do You Eat and Sleep Well? —Or Are You Pale, Weak and Miserable?

Has your nerve given out? Have you lost confidence in yourself? Has work become such an awful burden that you look upon it with horror?

There's just one thing left to do, and that is to take Ferrozone and get your system into good shape again.

It's quite impossible for anyone to be weak or nervous that uses Ferrozone. It contains so many strength-giving properties benefit is bound to result from its use.

Ferrozone possesses the power to kindle new vitality and vigor where almost a dying condition of weakness exists.

It is an extraordinary and magical tonic, containing more actual nourishment and strengthening elements than you can get at in any other way. As a blood purifier, nerve strengthener and appetizing tonic there is simply no equal to Ferrozone. Of this we are positively sure.

It is crowned with the success of splendid cures; will restore anyone to health who uses it. The following letters from people who have actually experienced what Ferrozone can do will clearly show you just how beneficially it acts:—

No Medicine Ever Did So Much Lasting Good as Ferrozone.

"It would be difficult to express my thanks for the benefit I have received from Ferrozone," writes Miss Eva Wight, of Florenceville. "I was so weak and miserable that I could scarcely go around the house. My head ached, there was a dragging weakness in my limbs, and I felt as if every spark of life had left me. Ferrozone improved my appetite, toned up my blood, and soon made me well. Nothing I ever used did me half the good I got from Ferrozone."

The Great Tonic, Ferrozone, Brought Back Life.

"I am anxious to speak a good word for such a meritorious tonic as Ferrozone," says E. P. Gerow, of Yorktown. "I was wretchedly worn-out. I was apprehensive, and lacked confidence. It was simply due to my very weak state. The only remedy that really did me lasting good was Ferrozone. It rebuilt my strength, has made me as vigorous and happy as a man could be. In the whole range of medicines I never used anything with half the merit I found in Ferrozone."

Though you spend a thousand dollars on doctors, you can't get a more vitalizing, strengthening tonic than Ferrozone. It is the best that money, combined with scientific research, can produce. If anything in this world will make you strong it must be Ferrozone. Others have proved its worth. You can easily do so for yourself. It will send new vital energy and renewed youth singing through your veins. It's nature's own remedy—a true food tonic.

WARM WEATHER is Sure to Bring Out the Hidden Poisons, Germs and Seeds of Disease that have accumulated in the Blood and System, caused by the eating of rich and heavy foods during the long winter months. The Blood becomes Thick and Sluggish, and Causes that Tired, Listless, Dull, All-Gone, No-Ambition, Don't-Care-to-Wook Feeling. The Cleansing, Blood-Purifying Action of—

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS

Will Drive Out all the Poisonous and Decaying Matter from the System and Put You Into Shape to Withstand the Approaching Warm Weather

TIRED AND WEARY

Mrs. Gideon J. Hamacher, New Dundee, Ont., writes: "I took your Burdock Blood Bitters for my stomach. I was very much bothered with it one spring, and was tired and weary all the time, and did not feel like working at all, but after taking the medicine I felt all right again."

USED FOR YEARS

Mr. Ambrose Logan, Smith's Falls, Ont., writes: "We have used Burdock Blood Bitters in our family for years as a Spring Medicine, and find it cannot be beat. I can recommend it highly, and would advise any person not feeling well to use it."

GLIMPSES OF THE MODE.

For the Post-Easter Wedding—Some New Corset Covers.

Rainbow weddings are most attractive. This idea can be carried out in two, three, four or five colors if the bridal procession is sufficiently long. One couple in pink, two more girls in mauve, others in green, blue and yellow or whatever shades are desired are sure to make a charming effect, provided the colors are carefully chosen so as to harmonize perfectly together.

Simple tailored suits are showing almost entirely some sort of kilted skirt, often a genuine kilt. There will, however, be gored circular models as well. Coats to be worn with these skirts are severely tailored. They are almost without exception single breasted, with collars and cuffs of velvet, often in contrasting colors.

All of the new corset covers have a shaped piece fitted closely over the hips to do away with unnecessary fullness. This is ornamented in some way at the armholes and top. Many of the corset covers and skirts are in one, being joined at the waist line. These are very essential to the perfect fit of the lingerie gown. It is also quite the fad to have the corset cover and petticoat trimmed to match. This idea is most effective under a sheer summer gown.

A well made light wrap adds tremendously to the rounding out of a smart toilet. Some extremely attractive styles are shown in cloth and silk combinations. A great number of loose semi-fitting and tight fitting shapes are found among the importations.

Tan pongee, with lines of green forming a check, make this an exceedingly pretty spring costume. The bands are of the plain pongee, edged with green velvet.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

THE DRESSMAKER.

Practical Points For the Woman Who Does Her Own Sewing.

In hemming a lot of bias ruffling there is nothing more aggravating than to have it twist in the machine. This is because there is a right as well as a wrong bias. Which is which can be determined only by testing.

Take your length of goods and fold over your bias corner from both ends. Lay your rule parallel to this, so that you can cut off the short corner from both ends. Try these in the machine in order to discover which one it is that will run askew and produce the twisting so often seen. The other will run easily. One little idea as to the fastening of vents in dresses in the case of both wash materials and the thin, transparent laces and nets is to use, instead of hooks and eyes for the placket fastening, small lace buttons and worked loops. And then another way is to use a strip of silk cord on the eye side of the placket and small hooks on the opposite side which catch into the silk cord. This keeps the placket firmly fastened. The placket of a skirt is considered one of the most important parts of the skirt on account of its finishing, as this adds to the general appearance of the skirt. One reason why so many plackets are gaping is because the hooks and eyes are placed too far apart and insufficient room is given against the strain at this point. Care should be taken in arranging and sewing on fasteners of any kind, as a few extra stitches will help to hold them firmly in place and prevent the fasteners or hooks and eyes from falling off. A placket may be made at the back, front or side of a skirt, the location depending on the style of skirt. The skirt closes at the center of the back and forms an inverted plait, leaving an opening for placket from ten to twelve inches, which allows the skirt to be put on and off easily.

THE TUB GOWN.

Snugness and Trigness Hall Marks of Wash Frocks.

A noticeable snugness and tightness is the hall mark of many of the smartest tub gowns. The skirts are simply treated, and their length widths are unbroken except for a band of needlework above the hem or a few tucks in a group. The top of the skirt is mounted with a slight gathering frontward, something more across the back, says a writer in Vogue. The bodice, while gathered, admits of no outward fullness, because the material is drawn into the figure lines so snugly and belted. A bolero of the same fabric, short and very close fitting, embraces the bust and gives an excellent effect upon the figure, simple as it is.

There is a tailor suggestion about all this, but the handiwork in finish takes away the severity somewhat, as the edge of the entire bolero is embroidered by hand. So are the high chemisette and stock and the turnover flat cuffs of the elbow sleeve. It requires little imagination to fancy how becoming such a gown may be with a bodice belted in with rose pink ribbon and a single pink rose of great beauty fastened to the corsage just where the bolero meets.

A straw hat, a cluster of roses and some tulle, fresh white gloves and shoes and a white embroidered parasol, coupled with youth and beauty, make as captivating a picture.

Newest Leather Belts.

Wide soft belts are plaited into a slender long buckle at the back and, finished with a buckle in the front to correspond, are popular. Coral and topaz and amethyst and cameos are mounted on leather belts in dull shades, which make the best of all backgrounds for the shades in semiprecious stones.

Often the smartness of the belt depends upon the leather work rather than upon the buckle, and skins of different colors and different finish are combined with great success. Patent is effective with dull finished leather, and some of the prettiest of the new belts are made of soft black patent leather, with cutwork designs over dull white kid.

The best of these models is comparatively narrow at the back and widens into a deep dip at the front. Another patent leather belt has a line of gold leather let in along the middle of the belt, with a slender gold silkie at the back and corresponding buckle in front. Another fashion is a belt of one leather run through with narrow strips and laces of contrasting leather. Altogether, the possessor of any pretty buckles or slides cannot do better than to work out her own belt to go in them, having it accurately fitted as to the distance of the holes, a thing next to impossible to get right in buying.

TWO USEFUL TRIFLES.

That Make Convenient Places to Keep Handkerchiefs and Veils.

Most women have odds and ends of silk, brocade and fancy material generally, which they wonder "what on earth can be done with," that perhaps the accompanying sketch may give another idea for the utilization of these scraps and unconsidered trifles.

The design shows a case combining two purposes—viz, to keep veils and handkerchiefs, the former of which will last much longer if some little care be given to them when not in use.

The sachet sketched could be made of silk, brocade or pretty cretonne, lined with pongee silk. It is twelve or fourteen inches in length and wide enough to fold over and form a pocket for the handkerchiefs and leave the flap for the veil. On the inside of this are sewed two strips of elastic, through which the folded veil is slipped, as the sketch clearly shows. The edges are outlined with cord to match the silk or harmonize with the colors if a patterned material be selected.

We're All Leather Eaters.

"And then," said the arctic explorer, "I ate my leather belt."

"Pooh, what of that? Every mother's son of us eats a pair of shoes a year."

The explorer frowned. "This," he began, "is no laughing"—

But the scientist interrupted him. "I am not jesting, sir. I speak the solemn truth. What is leather? Is it not albumen and tannin? Well, when you add milk to your tea or coffee, the tannin of the one and the albumen of the other unite, and leather results. The leather is in minute particles. Nevertheless it is there. And down it goes. All who drink tea or coffee daily," the scientist concluded, "consume in a year enough leather to make a pair of shoes."

The explorer sneered. "To resume," he said, "I then ate the lining of," etc. —Exchange.

HEAD OF FLYING ROLLERS.

Is Madame Dis de Barr, Famous Woman Convict.

"Mother Elinor," sometimes known as Mrs. E. L. Mason, head of the Flying Roller Colony, of Detroit and Windsor, Ontario, has been proven beyond all doubt to be none other than the notorious Anne Dis de Barr. Also it has been learned that she was known in England as Editha Loleta Jackson, where she served time with a man reputed to be her husband for a serious offence.

The Editha Loleta Jackson, of London, was positively identified as the "Mother Elinor," of Windsor. F. E. Swinden, a member of Mother Elinor's cult, made the identification in a sworn statement.

Madame Dis de Barr was liberated last August on ticket-of-leave from Aylesbury Prison, in England, to which she had been sent on Dec. 20, 1901, sentenced to seven years' penal servitude for connection with an alleged immoral cult of which her reputed husband, Theodore Jackson, was the head. It was her third imprisonment during a singularly sensational career. For years she had been known as the "notorious" Madame Dis de Barr.

Her Trump Card.

The trump card of her life was probably played when Mme. de Barr wheedled Luther R. Marsh, the New York lawyer, out of a fortune and made him the laughing-stock of his old age. In the seventies she traveled about America representing herself as a medium who could reveal hidden truths. While living in Madison Square she met Mr. Marsh. By means of alleged spirit manifestations and spook-painted pictures she so infatuated the old man that he gave her large sums of money and deeded to her his house in Madison avenue. There she officiated as a priestess of spiritualism, and got fame and more riches.

Finally she was sued for conspiring to defraud Marsh. The grand jury indicted her, the Gerry Society took her children, she was convicted and sent to prison. After experiences in Europe after her release she turned up in Chicago and under the name of Vera P. Ava was sent to the Joliet penitentiary for two years. Free again, she married William J. McGowan, in Chicago, in 1895. He had money but quiet domesticity didn't suit her.

Brotherly Love Colony.

In 1899 she was run out of New Orleans with Theodore Jackson, whose wife she claimed to be. They were spirit materializing again, and were also said to be running a "fruitarian" colony in Florida. As "Helena" and "Horos" they performed in South Africa, Mme. Dis de Barr incidentally getting some money from a rich contractor to establish a brotherly love colony.

They turned up in London, where their Theocratic Unity scheme turned into a scandal, and wound up with their arrest.

Mme. de Barr has claimed to be the child of Louis I. of Bavaria and Lola Montez, a famous dancing beauty. She really was the daughter of a school teacher in Harrodsburg, Ky., John C. F. Salomon. At the age of 14 she was taken by her father to Louisville, and soon became a "medium" of powers. She was born in the forties.

Flag For Canada.

A new design for a Canadian flag has been prepared by Mr. Ernest Girardot of Sandwich. The design includes a Union Jack in the upper left corner, a beaver and maple leaf below and perpendicular bars to represent the nine provinces of the Dominion. The groundwork of the flag may be either white or read.

"I think it is time, now that we have just added two new provinces to the great Canadian confederation, to adopt a new flag, a national emblem that every Canadian citizen may cherish and revere, one that has no objectionable features for any race or creed, and one on which every province is equally recognized," writes Mr. Girardot.

"Herewith is a design for a Canadian national flag which, in my humble opinion, embodies all the desirable features which should pertain to the flag or standard of the Dominion of Canada.

"The Union Jack on the upper left corner represents our fealty to England and the tie which binds us to her. Our emblems, the maple leaf and the beaver, dear to all, are preserved. Each perpendicular bar represents one of the nine provinces. When any other province will be created another bar may be added to the flag.

"I believe I am saying the truth when I state that there is not one per cent. of the Canadian people who know or understand the semi-barbaric symbolisms expressed by the coat-of-arms which appears on our present standard.

"We are asserting ourselves more and more every day as a distinct nation. The growing importance of our commercial relations with foreign countries and the glorious success we have achieved through our participation at the Liege and Milan exhibitions, where we have given evidence of Canada's greatness and inexhaustible resources, demanded that we should without any further delay adopt a national flag, one which does not recall any conflict between any of the races which compose the Canadian nation or remind one of any tradition cherished by one class of people and hated by another — a flag which does not symbolize any particular creed, but one that is an emblem of peace and prosperity."

Dr. Blyth has reported to the Marylebone Borough Council that a few of the canned meats from America, which he analysed, were distinctly unfit for human food and made from dirty material, "probably enough the sweepings of the factory." Samples of the latest consignments of canned foods from the United States examined were wholly unobjectionable.

FOOTING IT TO VANCOUVER.

Seventy-Four Year Old Tramp Seeks Pleasures of Outdoor Life.

Sergeant McLellan of Port Arthur had a queer character at the police station recently. He was a regular Rip Van Winkle of the up-to-date type. The man's name is Robert Henderson, and he hails from a town near Edinburgh, Scotland. He states that he is now 74 years of age.

When he was seen by a scribe in the police station he certainly presented an odd appearance. His feet were wound up in canvas bags, to take the place of boots. For clothing he had two pairs of overalls and an old coat. His hat was a home-made affair, being an old felt hat with large ear flaps sewed on.

Quit Work Years Ago.

Henderson stated that he quit doing hard labor four years ago, and since that time has done nothing but tramp around the country. He has been half through the States, and he is now taking a walk from Montreal to Vancouver.

"I left North Bay on New Year's Day, and since that time I have been on the tramp between that place and Port Arthur. I scorn a ride on the cars, and I have walked every step of the way. At night I usually make my quarters in shacks along the line."

"What do you do for food?" asked the scribe. "I live principally on the stuff that is thrown out of the dining cars, and sometimes I beg a meal by the way. That food agrees with me better than anything else. Owing to the fact that I have no teeth I cannot eat meat or other hard foods, therefore I do not appreciate that kind of food, If I should take steak I would have to swallow it whole, and it is just like a piece of leather to me."

"How long is it since you have worked?" asked the scribe.

Would Sooner Travel.

"I did a little work over four years ago. Work does not agree with me, I cannot stand the confinement? It would kill me. When I used to work the people who hired me thought that when I took a job I was always looking after my own interests and not after my employer's, and, therefore, I did not last long. I would sooner travel, however, as I always feel all right outside."

When the sergeant suggested that he go on the hill for a few weeks until the weather moderated the old fellow stated that it would kill him. He could not stand the confinement. "I must go on," he remarked.

His hair is long and his whiskers are matted, and from appearances it is not likely the man has used a comb for several years. He states that he has no destination in view, but that he is merely on his way.

ARMY IMMIGRANTS.

General Booth's Proposal to Purchase Land in Ontario.

In connection with the recent visit of General Booth of the Salvation Army it transpires that the great organization of which he is the head laid before the Ontario Government some months ago a colonization scheme of considerable magnitude. In advancing the tentative plan, the Army pledges on their part the utmost care and effort toward success. Briefly the plan contemplates the setting aside by the Government of ten townships suitable for agriculture in the northern Ontario "clay belt," and preferably townships that would be tapped by the Transcontinental Railway. The area would aggregate some 230,000 or 250,000 acres of land. It is not asked by the Army that this shall be given free. They are reported, however, to have suggested Government aid in this connection to the extent of obtaining the land at somewhat less than the fifty cents per acre usually charged settlers in those districts, and also that payment be extended over a period of years, probably ten, without interest. The price they offer, it has been estimated in Government circles, would pay for the cost of the necessary surveys of the townships.

If the plan goes through the Army will undertake to settle on the usual sized locations—160 acres—immigrants of the very best selected class. In this regard the Government would co-operate very closely by selecting a number of experienced men who would assist members of the Army staff in locating the settlers, building suitable homes, clearing the land, and teaching the rudiments of agriculture.

The settlement would be gradual; there is no idea of bringing in thousands of people together and having them live in tents or rough shanties. As a further aid to the settlers there will be the new experimental farm for New Ontario, the site for which was selected some time ago, and which will be a sort of agricultural headquarters. For a considerable time after location began the settlers would, it is believed, be able to make enough money from the pulpwood on the lands and in railway construction work to help them considerably toward becoming permanent citizens of the country. At no time would they be left to their own resources, but would always have the experienced assistance mentioned at hand.

Popular Approval of Theft.

The idea of private property has never been fully accepted by the masses of the people, and never had their cordial approval as an institution. The most popular songs and ballads of our nation in all ages, it may be noted, have been those which described sympathetically attacks on private property, from the Robin Hood cycle to the broadsheets in which Turpin and Sheppard were made heroes.

Even nowadays the literature that really touches the people, the literature that the educated classes seldom so much as see exposed for sale, the literature that is sold in the small "general" shop in the back street, and costs fewer pennies than the novel we know costs shillings, still very largely deals with the romantic exploits of the robber. He is never a villain; he is noble and generous to a fault; but he is convinced of the impropriety of persons having too much money.—London News.

WINNIPEG'S BOULEVARDS.

Big Street Improvemnets Made In Prairie City During Year.

Winnipeg is proud of its parks and boulevards, of which there are a great many. All the urban parks are now practically beyond the stage of primary improvements and expenditures on these in future will be chiefly for maintenance. In Assiniboine Park temporary shelters have been built for the animals, which include nine buffaloes, two moose, two jumping deer, one elk, three bears and three eagles.

The boulevards maintained during the past year have a total frontage of over 60 miles. The average rate of maintenance is less than five cents per front foot, which is fully 50 per cent. below the average rate of last year.

Cost of Construction.

This year boulevards were constructed on 24 streets, having an aggregate frontage of over twelve miles. The average cost of this work per front foot was slightly over 23 cents, which is considerably higher than last year. This is accounted for in the fact that the boulevards laid down this year are of a greater width than those put down last year. The average cost, per yard, was less than 15 cents, or nearly four cents less per yard than the average cost last year. Of the 12 miles laid down about two and a half were seeded, while the balance was sodded. Experience gained in the past shows that the seeding produces a boulevard superior in every way to the boulevard that is sodded, while there is very little difference in the cost. And while it might be ill-advised to seed some streets in preference to sodding them, yet each year sod is becoming more difficult to obtain and the quality inferior, so that it is only a natural consequence and a question of time when all boulevards, for the most part, will be seeded.

Miles of Trees.

The properties benefitted by tree planting extended over seven streets, with a total frontage of about three miles. The average cost of the work was less than one and three-fifths cents per foot frontage. Great care is exercised in the planting and handling of trees—the percentage of replacing was much lower than in any other previous year. Following the custom established some years ago flowers from the parks were sent from time to time to the hospitals and the various other charitable institutions throughout the city.

POLITICS IN ALBERTA.

Candidates Lining Up Already For the Next Election.

Alberta's voting force in the next Parliament of Canada will total seven, and already candidates are lining up in the various constituencies.

A new constituency, taking in a great expanse of territory, is Victoria, and rumor tells us that Duncan Marshall, manager of The Edmonton Bulletin, and the prince of stump orators in Sunny Alberta, will be the Liberal nominee. Marshall, who is known to most people in Ontario, "caught on" very quickly in the West, and an announcement that he is going to talk, fills a building.

Dr. McIntyre, the present member for Strathcona, will surely be a candidate again. J. R. Lavell, ex-M.P. for one of the Lazarks, is now practicing law in the city of Strathcona, and he is mentioned as the man who will carry the Borden banner.

Scramble For Nomination.

In Red Deer there is already a scramble for the Liberal nomination. J. T. Moore, M. P. P., once a Toronto alderman, and the man after whom Moore Park, a Toronto suburb, is christened, has a strong following. "John T.," as he is best known here, is an orator. Words fall from his lips as freely as water passes over the Falls at Niagara. He is ambitious. Another Red Deer man, George V. Smith, a native of Nova Scotia, is eager to wave the Liberal flag.

The Tories of the Red Deer riding seem to favor Gillmor of Lacombe, son of a former Commons' representative for one of the Middlesexes. Cornelius Hiebert, one of the two Tories sitting in the Alberta Legislature, also has his eyes on the Ottawa seat.

Chosen by Patriarch.

By the way, it is said that Robertson, the Tory leader in the Alberta Legislature, was chosen by the patriarch of the House, J. P. Marcellus of Pincher Creek, Robertson and Hiebert, who constitute the party, left the choice to Marcellus, a red-hot Liberal, who claims to be a descendant of the Romans.

Calgary is now represented at Ottawa by Maitland S. McCarthy, a relative of the late D'Alton McCarthy. He was elected an M. P. after less than two years' residence in the West.

He is generally admitted to be the strongest man in the party in Alberta, and is mentioned as leader of the forces in the next provincial election. That he will again contest Calgary is certain, and that he will be opposed by Dr. Stewart, who was the Liberal candidate in 1904, is also admitted.

Frank Oliver is a strong force in Alberta, and this province is pretty certain to give him at least five out of seven seats.

Canadians' Adventures.

Two wealthy Northwest Canadians who went to England in December holidaying, were robbed at London in January of £215. By pawning clothes they settled their hotel bills, and walked to Cardiff, where they expected money from Canada. It did not arrive, so they got work on a cattle steamer for a voyage to the Mediterranean. On their return, destitute, they were kept several weeks by a man in humble circumstances until the arrival of long-delayed funds, and have just sailed for Canada.

The number of irregulars engaged in the Boer war—infantry, mounted and artillery — was about 80,000, of which 50,000 were supplied by the South African colonies, the oversea dependencies furnishing the remainder, viz.: Australia, 16,415; New Zealand, 6,513; Canada, about 6,500, and India and Ceylon 500. Of the 50,000 South African colonials who took part in the war over 3,000 were killed or died of wounds or disease, whilst about 3,300 were wounded.

SIR CHARLES TUPPER.

Veteran Canadian Statesman Receives Portrait of Himself.

This is an age of grand old men. Mr. Gladstone set the happy fashion in the 'eighties, when we saw one who was well past the apportioned three score years and ten conceiving a piece of constructive statesmanship of unprecedented daring, and leading his party unflinchingly through victory and defeat in its behalf. The two grand old men whom all friends of Canada delight to honor are more happily employed in the vigorous evening of their days. Lord Strathcona and Sir Charles Tupper have in their time, and in their several spheres, fought hard battles, political and personal; holding strong views, they were prepared to defend them against all comers.

But to-day the conflicts are over and done with; they have become a part of the treasured political and commercial history of Canada's upbuilding, and the tireless gladiators, with their armor still on and their zeal undiminished, are content to forget that they were ever partizans, and remember only that they are Canadians.

These facts are most pleasantly recalled by the recent presentation to Sir Charles Tupper by a few friends of Canada in London of a handsome portrait of himself as a token of their esteem. The subscribers were of both political parties, who united in their appreciation of the strenuous and patriotic labors for Canada which have marked Sir Charles Tupper's long and illustrious career.

Most fittingly, the presentation was made on behalf of the subscribers by Lord Strathcona, and most fittingly, also, it was made at the Westminster Palace Hotel, on the very spot, that is, where the Magna Charta of Canada's nationhood, the British North America Act, was framed in consultation between British Ministers and the delegates of the people of Canada, among whom Sir Charles Tupper is, alas, the sole survivor. The occasion was thus one of peculiar historic interest to all friends of Canada.

The picture is an excellent presentation of the veteran statesman. It was painted by the late Mr. E. J. Turner, and depicts Sir Charles Tupper as we knew him in this country during his indomitable activities on Canada's behalf as High Commissioner. Mr. Turner, the artist, painted many important pictures in his day, among them a portrait of the late Queen Victoria, which Her Majesty herself bought, and another of his mother for King Edward. Mr. Turner also painted portraits of the late Duke of Edinburgh, the Duke of Connaught, the late Duke of Cambridge (ordered by H. R. H. and now hanging in the King's Military Gallery at St. James's Palace), the late Lord Napier of Magdala, the Earl of Rosebery, and Admiral Lord Charles Beresford.

LORD STRATHCONA.

Lady Minto Ill.

India's trying climate has been too much for Lady Minto, and she sailed recently from Bombay, bound for England, and will spend four or five months recuperating her strength in Europe before returning to India the latter part of the summer. The Mintos have so many friends here, acquired during the term of office of the earl as Governor-General of Canada, that the news of the countess' breakdown will cause much regret. Lady Minto is accompanied on her voyage home by her two elder daughters, the Ladies Eileen and Ruby Elliot, while the youngest of the three, Lady Violet, will remain with the viceroy, to do the honors as hostess in the place of her mother during the latter's absence. The Mintos have achieved no end of popularity in India, among the Europeans and natives alike—more so, indeed, than any viceregal family since the Dufferins, and they seem to have given universal satisfaction out in the Orient, as well as at home, by the extremely successful manner in which they have managed the state visit of the ruler of Afghanistan.

SKIN DISEASES

Salt Rheum, Pimples, Erysipelas, Ringworm, Shingles, Scald Head, Itching Sores.

All diseases of the skin are more or less directly caused by a bad state of the blood, which produces sanid humors and corrupts the secretions.

No one can expect to have a clear, bright skin when the blood is in a disordered condition, and the stomach, liver and bowels acting feebly in consequence.

All the above skin diseases, in fact, any disease arising from a bad condition of the blood, are curable by through its wonderful cleansing, purifying powers on the blood, and its renovating action on the system.

Mr. A. Squire, Dominion, N.S., tells how he was cured of Salt Rheum. He writes: "For years I suffered with Salt Rheum, and was unable to find a curable remedy out of all the medicines I took, and Physicians consulted. Finally I was urged by a friend to try Burdock Blood Bitters, and after a very short space of time I was completely cured. I shall always recommend B.B.B. for such cases, as I consider it an indispensable remedy."

Northwest Mounted Police.

The present strength of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police is now 55 officers, 949 non-commissioned officers, and constables, and 80 guides, interpreters, scouts and special constables, making a total of 684, and 576 horses. The total strength of all ranks is 129 less and 30 horses less than last year.

The force is divided as follows: Alberta 227, Saskatchewan 270, Northwest Territories 30, Yukon 141, and Peace Yukon trail 16. The strength in Alberta and Saskatchewan is 497, only three under the number agreed upon.

Smugglers Killed.

A remarkable discovery of ammunition smuggling has been made here, after a fight, in which two Pathans were shot, says a correspondent from Lucknow, India.

Two constables, returning from patrol duty, found three Pathans with several camels, preparing to cross the bridge of boats connecting the Nowshera cantonment with the North Bank of the Kabul river. When questioned, they said they were going to Swat, and had nothing except empty bags and fodder for their camels.

The police asked to see the bags, and were then offered bribes, which they refused. They insisted on the search, and when they were joined by a third constable a free fight ensued.

Two Pathans were shot and the third surrendered.

Examination of their packs showed that they had ninety packages of Martini-Henry ammunition concealed among the bags.

Palace As a Club.

The old royal palace at Enfield, which was once the abode of Edward VI. and was given by him to Queen Elizabeth, has been opened as a Conservative club. The Tudor rose, the royal monogram and the ancient coat-of-arms are still conspicuous in the mural decorations.

Taking the Initiative.

There is a certain satisfaction in taking the enemy unawares on his own ground, in downing him with his own weapons. President Polk evidently took comfort in his method for mitigating the hand shake, that curse of the chief executive office, and he must have chuckled when he wrote in his diary the bit which is given in James Schouler's "Historical Briefs:"

If a man surrendered his arm to be shaken by one horizontally, by another perpendicularly and by another with a strong grip, he could not fail to suffer severely by it. But if he would shake and not be shaken, grip and not be gripped, taking care always to squeeze the hand of his adversary as hard as the adversary squeezed him he would suffer no inconvenience by it I can generally anticipate a strong grip from a strong man. I take advantage of him by being quicker than he and seizing him by the tips of his fingers. This is stated playfully, but it is all true.

Former Instruments of Torture.

Instead of gymnastics or games, instruments of torture were used for modeling the figure of the young lady of 1831. An English writer of that year says that "could the modern schoolroom be preserved it would pass for a refined inquisition. There would be found stocks for the fingers (the cheiroplast) and pulleys for the neck, with weights attached." Fanny Kemble, to whom nature had been by no means unkindly, was found wanting in deportment, and she writes that she wore a "back board made of steel, covered with red morocco, which consisted of a flat piece placed on my back and strapped down to my waist with a belt and secured at the top by two epaulets strapped over my shoulders. From the middle of this there rose a steel rod or spine with a steel collar, which encircled my throat, fastened behind." The machine proved a failure, and she was put under the tuition of a drill sergeant, who did for her all that was required.—"Social England."

Four Bad Snakes.

Snakes are much maligned creatures, although they are, for the most part, of considerable value to man, as they live almost entirely on insects and the small rodents that are injurious to crops. Of all the snakes that inhabit North America there are really only four that are dangerous. These are the copperhead, the moccasin, the rattlesnake and a little snake of southern Georgia and Florida known as the coral snake. Of course there are a number of different species of the rattler (about thirty), but they inhabit different parts of the country and are all to be known from the fact that they "rattle" when approached. All the rest of our snakes are absolutely harmless, and their bite is to be less feared than that of a mosquito.—Scrap Book.

CANADIAN'S GREAT PLAN.

Would Change Climate of North America By Drastic Action.

Undo the awful work of Noah's flood, change North America into a semi-tropical paradise, make Minnesota and North Dakota and Manitoba and Winnipeg like to California or the Carolinas, destroy our winters within five years.

That is the legislation before the Canadian Parliament today. It isn't a dream of a lunatic. It is as hard-headed a proposition as ever legislators considered. The scheme in a word, is for the United States and Canada to unite to destroy the rigors of the North American winter by blasting out the channel between the Arctic and the Atlantic, melt the long sunken ice and allow the warm current from the milder Atlantic to permeate the frozen fastnesses of the Arctic.

The plan is R. A. McLennan's.

He lives at Russell, Manitoba, where it is nothing to see the mercury down to 40 below zero on a cold winter's morning. He is a farmer on a large scale, one of Canada's rich men. His hobby is to make all North America a continent with very mild winters and less torrid summers.

The plan has just been presented to the Canadian Parliament. It involves the aid of the United States as well. It is now in the hands of Frank E. Oliver, Minister of the Interior for the Dominion of Canada. He has gone over it very carefully, and as proof of his own conviction that it is possible he has communicated the details to several scientists of worldwide fame with a request for an opinion.

Gets Encouragement in Scheme.

Lord Kelvin has been consulted and will report later. Minister Oliver has communicated with Mr. McLennan, informing him that he may be encouraged in his scheme and asking for more particulars.

Once upon a time, as geology plainly proves, North America enjoyed as balmy a climate as there was in the world. The remains of mammoths and trees and semitropic shrubbery are to be found all along the edge of the Arctic circle and in northern Siberia.

The great flood of Noah's time undid all this. It made North America a land of bleak winters and scorching summers. It blocked up the channel to the Arctic and kept the warm waters of the Atlantic from laving those ice locked northern shores. All this and more has been Mr. McLennan's life study.

He speaks about it frankly. His arguments seem unanswerable. As he talked about his plan with a writer to the World Magazine he grew enthusiastic.

"Now, what caused the mild winter in which these fossil trees once lived?" he asked, and he answered the question himself.

"Undoubtedly," he said, "it was caused by a greater stretch of open ocean to the north than now exists. Labrador is in the same latitude as the British Isles, the south of Greenland corresponds in this particular to Norway and Newfoundland to the north of France. Were it not for the modifying influences of this great stretch of open ocean the winters in Europe would be of Arctic severity.

"What caused the once open ocean to the north of Canada to be turned into an icefield? Beyond doubt the fact that the great ocean current which at one time flowed from the Atlantic into the Arctic became impeded by some barrier.

"It is a scientific fact which you can verify by consulting any geographer that in the bed of the Atlantic there is a channel on the east side extending from south of the equator northward and passing between the Faroe and Shetland Islands at a depth of 670 fathoms. This passage is about 350 miles wide and I believe that it is through this channel that the current between the Atlantic and Arctic oceans formerly flowed.

"Now, precise scientific calculations will show you that a current flowing through this channel at the rate of four miles an hour and at a temperature ten degrees above freezing point would allow of sufficient water to pass through to melt 1,000 cubic miles of ice a day.

"That is to say, in four or five years this would melt all the ice in the Arctic Ocean, and Canada, from being a country of rigorous winters, would become almost semi-tropical, and all the land which stretches in such vast areas to the north of us would share in that climate and become habitable."

"My proposition," he went on, "is to petition the British Government and to get it to approach the United States Government also with the object of detaching a section of the fleets of both Powers to undertake the work after the several countries interested have given pledges and such securities as may be considered adequate.

"If the icefield of the Arctic be stranded on one large island or on two small ones, besides coming against the north of Greenland, I would propose to break up the ice by starting in to work at the east of Greenland and then proceeding north and west. The work could also be commenced at the head of Davis Strait and Behring Strait.

"The work of breaking up the ice could, I believe, be done by shooting great torpedoes under the ice, so fixed that they would explode at a considerable distance. Ice floating on the surface, as the ice in the Arctic Ocean does, would be very easy to break up, as experiments have proved.

"And once broken up, the ice east of Greenland would flow out into the Arctic and melt. If the whole mass of ice were found to float out when its connection with Greenland were severed, we should probably have to depend on Davis and Behring Straits to convey it away.

"I might point out to you that when this scheme of mine has been carried out, as it will be some day, the area of habitable land in Canada will be more than double that of the whole United States. Moreover, Greenland, with a mild climate, would unquestionably become valuable, and you can depend upon it that the United States would try to get possession of it in that case."

England and France.

It has been playfully observed that the mutual antipathies and attractions of England and France resemble to a curious degree those of man and woman, perhaps one might say of men and woman attached to each other by a mariage de convenance-geographique. "We do all naturally hate the French," Mr. Pepys observed long ago. (Does any nation, by the way, love its neighbor?) France has never ceased to interest us or indeed to inspire part of our ideas and conduct.

Rightly do her historians descant of the glorious role she has played in the general work of civilisation, of the "sympathetic genius which has seized and translated for Europe the ideas of reason, justice and all the theory of life, private and public," which has "preserved even in the useful and frivolous the tradition of art," of the idealist perseverance, whose experiments have saved the world so much suffering and "made of her follies the wisdom of other nations."—George H Powell in Fortnightly Review.

A Remarkable Church.

A small watering place in Austria named Eichwald can boast of possessing a most remarkable church. It was first built by an Italian architect at Venice at the expense of Prince Carlos Clary-Aldringen, a great admirer of Italian architecture. When it was finished, the church was taken to pieces again and packed in thousands of numbered cases for transportation to Eichwald. At this place in Austria it was eventually rebuilt and then made over to the inhabitants as a free gift from the prince.

A Literary Curiosity.

Some years ago a Paris newspaper ordered a story of adventure from a well known novelist. The price agreed upon was 1 franc a line. The novelist straightway hunted up an old man of letters—the unknown collaborator of many more famous authors—who agreed to write the story for 25 centimes a line. When the work had reached its second part in the course of publication the novelist learned that his old client was seriously ill. Hastening to his bedside, he found him dying. In agony for the fate of his story, the novelist rushed to the office of the newspaper, got hold of some back numbers in order to pick up the threads of the romance and brought it to a speedy end in a few brief chapters. Then he went to the office with the manuscript.

"What's that?" asked the editor.

"Why, the continuation and end of my story."

"Oh, then, you want to change it, I suppose, because, you know, you sent in the last chapters three days ago."

Admirable self possession on the part of the novelist prevented disaster, and he finally found this explanation: The old man, whose price was 25 centimes a line, had himself sublet his task to a third writer at 10 centimes, and thus the work had been finished in safety.

Excited Nerves, Twitching Muscles

SYSTEM EXHAUSTED BY WORRY AND LOSS OF SLEEP—PERFECT HEALTH THE RESULT OF USING

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food

Such cases as this make it impossible to doubt the restorative influence of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Mrs. E. J. Vanderburgh, of Eastern Welland avenue, St. Catharines, Ont., states: "For twenty-one years I was badly afflicted with heart trouble, nervousness and cramps in the limbs, also twitching of the muscles, and nervous headaches. I became weak, debilitated and emaciated. My condition was distressing and I was made worse through worry and loss of sleep.

"I tried a hundred remedies in vain, and, reading about Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, I decided to try it. After having used half a dozen boxes of this preparation, my old trouble had entirely vanished and I was enjoying better health than I had since girlhood. I am now past middle life and am in perfect health. I would not take worlds to-day and go back to my former state."

There is more or less mystery and doubt as to the specific action of many drugs, but it is positively and definitely known that iron forms new, red corpuscles in the blood, or, in other words, makes the blood rich and nourishing.

But iron alone cannot be taken into a delicate stomach. The great secret of the success of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is the way iron is combined with certain other restoratives so as to make a preparation that can be used with the greatest benefit by even the most weak and delicate person.
